SIGN FOR A SIT-IN—Stanford University students and sympathizers raise clenched fists in voting to conduct the school's second sit-in in two weeks. Last night's decision and the following occupation of the campus administration building were short-lived, however. Some 300 demonstrating against Stanford links with military research left the building this morning after police were summoned. (AP Wirephoto)

State Shaping Guides For Saving Bay Panel

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Major compromises in the hot legislative fight to save the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission from extinction are being prepared by the Reagan administration, it was learned yesterday.

The amendments, to be incorporated in the bill the administration is supporting, will ignore the commission's proposed master plan for the bay. Instead, they will spell out "general objectives" for the commission to follow in regulating bay filling and dredging during a two-year study of the plan by a joint legislative committee.

The general guide line will be keyed to such objectives as air and water quality and protection of fish and wildlife, but will not be presented in detail for a week to 10 days, reported A. Alan Hill of San Rafael, assistant to Norman B. Livermore Jr., secretary of the Resources Agency.

If the commission's life were extended, but without giving it some standards to judge filling and dredging permit applications, the commission would have nothing to hang its legal hat on when it rejected an application. Its current standards were designed to protect the bay while the plan was being drawn during the past three years.

The compromise avoids the plan's controversial recommendations that its jurisdiction be extended to salt ponds and a band of the shorelines around the bay.

"There are a multitude of issues involved," Hill told the Independent-Journal, "but the central issue to us that is absolutely vital is that BCDC be extended. There is no question about that, and the governor and all of us are going to fight for that position.

"The question of whether to go to regional government, and whether to extend jurisdiction, and whether to endorse the bay plan are separate questions. They are equally important, but they're separate," he said.

The administration's proposal "would save the BCDC with its powers intact so then we can move on to these other questions, but only after we make sure that we have a BCDC and controls over dredging and filling," Hill declared.

The bill being supported by the administration is SB 117, by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, and AB 827, by Rep. Don Mulford, R-Oakland. They are virtually identical.

As initially introduced, the bill simply would have deleted the 1969 expiration date from the act that set up the BCDC. Later, it was amended to adopt the plan, but then amended again to delete this provision.

Conservationists generally have termed the bill "a minimum," instead throwing their support to a stronger bill by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, which would extend the BCDC's jurisdiction to the salt ponds and shoreline.

Other legislators, including Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, have introduced bills which conservationists contend would end the effectiveness of the BCDC.

Nixon Selects Colombian Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon announced today he will nominate Jack Hood Vaughn, former director of the Peace Corps, to be ambassador to Colombia.

Vaughn, 48, will succeed Reynold E. Carlson who is resigning.

A former instructor of French and Spanish at the University of Pennsylvania, Vaughn served as ambassador to Panama and as assistant secretary of state for Inter-American affairs before moving to the Peace Corps in 1966.

Dixie Strike Charges Hit By Lawyers

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Attorneys fought a courtroom battle today over contempt trials for 98 demonstrators arrested in the six-week-old strike by Negro workers at two Charleston hospitals.

Defense lawyers argued an injunction restricting picketing at the hospitals was void because it was vague and was issued without notice to defendants. Union attorneys also contended the hospitals were not exempt from the National Labor Relations Act which permits collective bargaining, an issue in the strike.

State Attorney General Daniel R. McLeod sought to try groups of the defendants, including the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. Defense lawyers want separate trials.

The SCLC has led demonstrations supporting the strikers.

In Columbia today, Gov. Robert E. McNair said at a press conference he is considering declaring a state of emergency in Charleston and placing a curfew on the city. "The situation grows more serious minute by minute, day by day," he said.

The mass picketing took place despite a court order prohibiting more than 10 pickets at a time at the South Carolina Medical College Hospital and the Charleston County Hospital. Arrested last Friday, Abernathy and the others were jailed when they declined to seek bail.

About 525 persons have been arrested as a result of demonstrations, and National Guardsmen were called in Friday to

Carole Tregoff Wins Parole In Finch Case

The once sleek and shapely receptionist in the then wealthy physician's office was sentenced to prison April 17, 1961. She was released from the California Institution for Women here.

Dr. Finch, her co-defendant in three sensational murder trials, is serving a life term at the California Institution for Men at Chino.

Iverne Carter, superintendent of the women's prison, said Miss Tregoff, 31, got the news she had been paroled after a hearing at the prison yesterday.

"She made a specific request that there be no publicity surrounding her release," said Mrs. Carter.

Mrs. Carter said she was unsure where Miss Tregoff went, but she has parents in the Los Angeles area.

"She's trained as a medical secretary," said Mrs. Carter. "She'll have to get a job after she's out."

Miss Tregoff, she said, is still "a good-looking young woman, but she's much thinner than when she came here."

The red-haired Miss Tregoff worked as a medical secretary in prison.

Miss Tregoff was sentenced to five years to life on a second-degree murder conviction and to a life term for conspiracy to commit murder. Finch is serving life terms for first-degree murder and conspiracy.

Finch and his attractive wife were active in Los Angeles society and members of the country club set in the suburb of West Covina.

She was found dead outside her home the night of July 18, 1959, shot in the back, her skull fractured.

The prosecution charged that Dr. Finch surprised her when she returned from an evening out, pistol whipped her and shot her when she ran. He was found asleep the next day in Miss Tregoff's apartment. Miss Tregoff was arrested after telling conflicting stories.

The prosecution charged the lovers conspired to eliminate Mrs. Finch to keep her from getting a share of $750,000 assets she listed in a suit for divorce.

Both Finch and Miss Tregoff became eligible for parole last year but both lost pleas for freedom.

'Free Huey' Rally Draws 1,500 Outside Courtroom

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Demonstrators gathered outside the Federal Building today chanting "Free Huey Newton" as a hearing went on inside on a petition to release the imprisoned Black Panther leader.

Marching around the building and gathering in the plaza, the demonstrators, predmoninantly Negro, carried placards bearing a picture of Newton superimposed on a red star.

Police estimated the crowd at midmorning at 1,500 but it appeared to be growing.

Black Panthers distributed placards as demonstrators arrived.

Authorities said virtually all available U.S. marshals were on duty and General Service Administration guards were called from other federal buildings.

Tight security measures were imposed inside the Federal Building with limited access to the floor where the hearing was in progress.

U.S. District Judge Alfonso Zirpoli took the case under submission after an hour-long hearing, and said no ruling would be issued for at least two days.

Today's rally, planned for weeks since the hearing was set, took on added significance amid hints of federal legal action against the militant Negro party Newton heads.

The outgoing federal Grand Jury, just before dismissal yesterday at the end of its one-year term, spent most of the day questioning several Negroes brought here on short notice from other cities.

However, the jury returned no indictments against either the witnesses or the Black Panthers.

Property Tax Rebate Wins In Lower House

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly voted today to give an estimated 500,000 to one million confused taxpayers another chance to get some money back from the state.

After a brief debate, the lower house approved and sent to the Senate an administration-backed bill reopening the period for filing for a $70 property tax rebate. The vote was 64-2. Only Republican Assemblymen William T. Bagley, San Rafael, and Robert H. Burke, Huntington Beach, voted against the measure.

Stanford Sit-Ins Routed By Police

Students Avoid Arrests

About 300 demonstrators, protesting military-related research at Stanford and the Stanford Research Institute, seized the four-story sandstone Encina Hall on the Stanford campus at 1 a.m. after brief fist fights with other students seeking to bar the doors.

BROKE DOORS

Many started drifting away about dawn as word spread that officers had been called.

The remaining 100 quickly cleared out at 7:20 a.m. when 100 officers deployed in front of the building and Deputy Sheriff C.D. Marron walked through the halls with a bullhorn, ordering dispersal.

A force of 50 Santa Clara County sheriff's deputies then made a sweep of the building.

No arrests were made.

About 75 faculty members joined the officers in sweeping through the building in accord with university administration arrangements to protect the rights of the students.

FACE SUSPENSION

The sheriff's deputies, reinforced by 50 San Jose police, were called to the campus by Stanford President Kenneth S. Pitzer and Provost Richard Lyman.

The university announced that any student identifiable as a demonstrator was automatically suspended.

Deputies remained on duty at the closed hall. Some militant students returned and made speeches to one another on the steps. Police snapped pictures.

Other demonstrators in groups of 30 to 40 wandered

Writer Allowed To View Logging

A Berkeley Barb writer was told in Northwest Marin Justice Court today by Judge David R. Baty that he is forbidden from demonstrating at the Bolinas Ridge logging site but that he may appear there as an observer for the underground periodical.

The four adults, Lampe; David L. Horowitz, 18, of 200 Ethel Avenue, Mill Valley; Bennett D. King, 18, of 29 Glen Court, Sausalito, and Leslie A. Ferris, 18, of Overlook Road and Elm Drive, were arraigned today.

Ferris pleaded "not guilty" and his trial was set for 11 a.m. next Wednesday. Time for plea was continued to the same time for the other three, clerk Stella Phillipscheck reported.

All were booked into Marin County Jail yesterday afternoon on investigation of refusing to disperse and all, except Ferris, were also booked for investigation of blocking a roadway.

Two juveniles, a 15-year-old from Sausalito, and a 17-year-old from Mill Valley, were booked into Marin Juvenile Hall yesterday afternoon on suspicion of failure to disperse and blocking a roadway, sheriff's deputies reported.

Lampe, according to Mrs. Phillipscheck, asked Judge Baty what bail money, should it have to be posted, is used for and the judge replied to train peace officers. "I think they're already overtrained," Lampe told the court.

The adults were arraigned in court today despite the sheriff's office report earlier that they were to appear next week.

Meanwhile, about 20 gathered today and picketed quietly along the side of the road without interrupting work. Highway Patrolman Irwin W. Cantieri reported the group said it believed it was succeeding without being a public nuisance.

Shoreline Crash Kills Drake Student; Companion Serious

One high school junior was killed and another severely injured last night when their car smashed into trees on a twisting section of Shoreline Highway north of Bolinas, the California Highway Patrol said.

Michael John Ross, 16, of 81 Laura Lane, Fairfax, was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital. Bruce Jay Holler, 17, of 2109 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax, was reported in poor condition today with a head injury in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital.

Sheriff's deputies had to cut the top from Holler's small foreign car with hacksaws to free the two youths, the patrol said. Both were students at Sir Francis Drake High School.

The patrol said the accident occurred at 9:45 p.m. three miles north of Bolinas when Holler's car, traveling at high speed, went off a sharp curve, severing and eight-inch diameter tree, then smashing top-first into a larger tree.

Ross's death was the 10th traffic fatality in Marin this year and the third in a week. There were eight traffic deaths in Marin by this date last year.

Ross, born in Scotland, was a citizen of the United Kingdom. He had lived in California eight years and in Marin six years. He is survived by his parents, John A. and Olwen Ross, and a brother, Harold, all of Fairfax.

Funeral is pending at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Policeman Killed; Quartet Hunted

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Policeman Joe Brodnik was killed and his partner, Paul McGoran, of the famed Mission 11 antiburglary team, was wounded today while on a routine investigation.

Police reported they were shot when they checked a suspicious car occupied by four young men in front of 433 Alvarado Street, in the Noe Valley distirct.

The suspects fled into a house.

The house was saturated with tear gas and officers burst in and make a quick search without result.

"We think they have skipped," a police spokesman said.

Wind Snaps Line

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — High winds snapped an electrical line yesterday leaving parts of the Hunters Point housing project without power for five hours.

Columbia Protest Flares Again; Other New York Campuses Boil

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Protesters led by Students for a Democratic Society have seized two buildings at Columbia University, repulsed a counterattack by other students and jeered a sheriff who warned them to leave. (See also Stanford University story, page 1.)

Four other New York City campuses are beset by student turmoil, but elsewhere around the nation fewer campuses reported trouble.

Several hundred students at Columbia stormed into Mathematics and Fayerweather halls yesterday, clubbed in the face a professor who got in their way and barricaded the doors.

The double sit-in, in support of black students' demands for a larger role in the admissions process, came exactly one year after 1,000 police ended an eight-day sit-in in five Columbia buildings by making more than 700 arrests.

Under Sheriff William H. Kehl tried to enter Mathematics Hall to give the protesters a court order requiring them to show why they should not be charged with contempt of court for breaking an earlier injunction against disruptive protests.

Turned away by a blockade of furniture and sprayed with a fire extinguisher, Kehl took up a bullhorn and said, "It's my duty to inform you that if you violate this order you can be committed to 30 days in jail plus $250 fine."

Supporters of the sit-in, clustered in front of the building, shouted, "Pig!" and, "We don't want to hear you!"

When scuffling broke out in Mathematics Hall, university Proctor William Kahn stepped in between the opposing groups and ordered the counterdemonstrators to leave the building. "There could have been real violence if I hadn't cleared this building," Kahn said.

Nine professors remained in Fayerweather, and said they would not leave until the sit-in ended.

The Student Afro-American Society, which first advanced the black demands, remained aloof from the SDS sit-in. The crowds on the 17,500-student campus were far smaller than last year.

More than 100 students broke into the president's office at Brooklyn College, sprayed paint on the walls, smashed an end table, ripped out a telephone and started a fire with mail in the office.

The vandals raided the office as officials of the 28,000-student school met with student representatives to discuss demands for open enrollment of all high school graduates and abolition of attendance and required courses.

At City College, negotiations continued between President Buell G. Gallagher and black and Puerto Rican students who have seized half the campus to demand enrollment of more minority group students and a separate school of black and Hispanic studies.

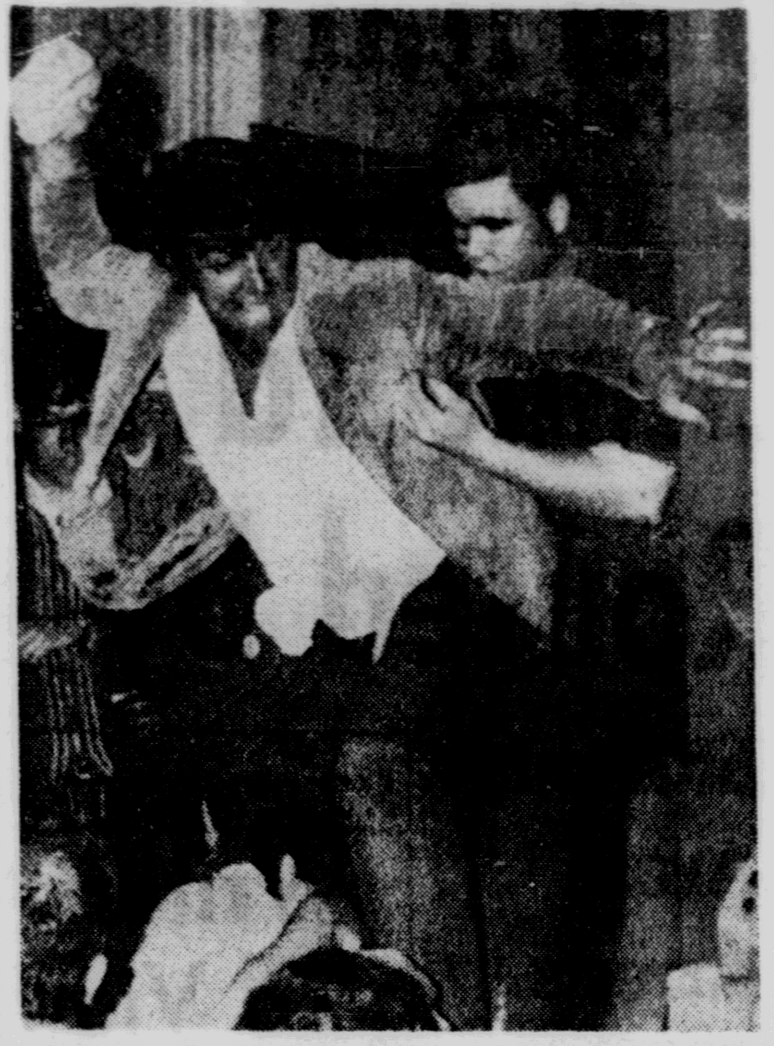
Gallagher told a meeting of 500 faculty members that progress was being made. City College has 20,000 students, about 4,500 of them Negroes and Puerto Ricans.

At Queens College, several hundred students remained in the administration building and barred all workers for a second day. They refused to allow any food to go to a handful of administrators who remain in their offices. Some food was hoisted to them by rope.

The students demand amnesty for 38 students and a professor arrested in an earlier demonstration. Queens, with 25,000 students, canceled morning classes to hold faculty meetings today.

At Queensborough Community College, a sit-in continued over President Kurt R. Schmeller's refusal to rehire a leftwing English professor. Schmeller said he would reinstate for the fall term two of the three professors he fired for joining the sit-in. The faculty has voted to support student demands.

Black and Puerto Rican students at Manhattan Community College ended a two-day sit-in after discussing with faculty members their demands for a minority studies program and a larger role in decision-making.



COUNTERATTACK REPULSED — A Columbia University sit-in threatens to use a brick to fend off conservative students attempting to roust SDS demonstrators from one of two buildings occupied on the campus last night. (AP Wirephoto)

Cairo, Ill., Race Tensions Ease Under Heavy Patrols

CAIRO, Ill. (AP) — Heavy police and National Guard patrols and an all-night curfew enforced a second night of quiet in racially troubled Cairo.

The second session of a special Illinois House committee investigation was to meet today in Springfield to seek an answer to the conflicts that led to three nights of firebombings and shootings.

A Civil War-era building, used until recently as a tuberculosis sanitarium, and a nearby small building were destroyed and six other buildings were damaged slightly in the disturbances that reached their peak Monday night.

Illinois National guardsmen and state police were sent to aid the city's 15-man police force Tuesday. Both white and Negro residents of this city of 9,000 at the confluence of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, expressed fear that violence would flare again if some settlement were not reached before the National Guard is withdrawn.

Roger Nathan, executive director of the Illinois Human Relations Commission, met yesterday with city officials and leaders of the Negro community in an effort to bridge the gap between them.

"We have a real communications hangup here," Nathan said in an interview. "The basic relations with government that white people take for granted just don't exist here for blacks."

Agnew Makes ABM Pitch To Governors

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew appealed to the nation's Republican governors today to support President Richard M. Nixon's decision to deploy the Safeguard missile defense system (ABM).

A check in advance of the speech showed strong support among the GOP state executives for the missile system.

Agnew argued at a closed business session of the conference that Safeguard would preserve the equilibrium of U.S. and Soviet nuclear capabilities and leave the way open for diplomatic negotiations with the Russians.

"If a major political breakthrough leads to disarmament, construction can be immediately stopped," he said. "If a major research breakthrough leads to the development of a genuine national defense umbrella, it is because Safeguard's expenditures were research oriented."

Agnew said the President's decision ought to be supported by the governor "if for no other reason that it is less expensive than the Sentinel system proposed by the previous administration."

Twelve of 21 governors reached in an Associated Press survey said they support the decision. These included Govs. Ronald Reagan of California, chairman of the conference; John A. Love of Colorado, former chairman; Daniel J. Evans of Washington, keynoter at the Miami Beach, Fla., convention, and Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, co-chairman of the Governors Association Policy Committee. Rockefeller and Evans did not attend the conference.

Only Govs. Don Samuelson of Idaho and former chairman Francis W. Sargent of Massachusetts expressed public doubts about Safeguard.

In the midst of dining and watching a "Governor's Stakes" race last night, the governor themselves became horsemen as their host, Kentucky Gov. Louie B. Nunn, presented them—all 30 of them— with a yearling Kentucky thoroughbred.

All of the governors will own n equal share of the colt and ny money he wins will be doated to their favorite charities.

Sonja Henie Gets Award Of $15,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sonja Henie, the former skating star and actress, was awarded $15,000 damages yesterday in Superior Court.

Judge Stevens Fargo ruled that a fence and other structures of Dolly Doris Bright, widow of industrialist David E. Bright, are encroaching one and one-half feet on Miss Henie's Bel Air property.

BEIRUT (UPI) — Iraq yesterday became the first Arab country to extend full diplomatic relations to east Germany, Baghdad Radio announced. The radio said the move was taken to confirm "ties of friendship."

Ask Asylum

BERLIN (AP) — An engineer and a woman conductor drove one of East Berlin's interurban trains to the end of the line in West Berlin today and asked for asylum, the West Berlin police reported.

Normally trains into West Berlin on the S-bahn, or elevated railroad, are operated by West Berliners although the system is controlled by the East Germans. The police refused to say how the 58-year-old man and 54-year-old woman managed their escape.

New Leader Selected

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Maj. James Chichester-Clark, a 46-year-old former soldier with little experience in politics, today won the battle to become prime minister of Northern Ireland by one vote.

A caucus of the ruling Unionist Party elected Chichester-Clark party leader 17-16. Prime Minister Terence O'Neill, who gave up the party reins Monday because he could not reconcile the province's Protestant majority and Roman Catholic minority, will now turn the government over to Chichester-Clark.

Israelis Killed

TEL AVIV (AP) — Five Israelis were killed and one was wounded in the heavy fighting along the Suez Canal yesterday, the Israeli army announced today.

The five men—three soldiers and two civilian army employees — were wounded near Port Taufiq at the southern end of the waterway and died during the night, a spokesman reported.

The spokesman said one of the soldiers, a 19-year-old private, was hit by a sniper, and two others were shot trying to get him to safety.

A communique from Cairo said there were no Egyptian casualties.

Watch Levees

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP) — Residents of Mississippi River towns in Iowa and Missouri stood guard today as levees continued to hold up under pressure from waters risen 2 to 6 feet over flood stage.

The Army Corps of Engineers said 700 miles of the Mississippi remained in flood stage and warned there was danger — even upstream from the crest — that battered levees could cave in.

The worst of the Mississippi flooding yesterday was in a stretch from Burlington, Iowa, to Clarksville, Mo.

There was no threat of flooding on the Illinois side of the Mississippi because of high levees and high natural terrain.

Natalie To Wed

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It will be a May 30 wedding for actress Natalie Wood and English movie producer Richard Gregson, her spokesman announced yesterday.

Miss Wood, 30, won Academy Award nominations for "Rebel Without a Cause" in 1955 and "Love With a Proper Stranger" in 1964. She and actor Robert Wagner were divorced in 1962.

Gregson, 38, was divorced in 1967 from his first wife. Their three children, Sarah, 10, Charlotte, 9, and Hugo, 7, will participate in the ceremony at the Church of the Holy Virgin Mary, the spokesman said.

Approves Nominee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee has approved President Richard M. Nixon's nomination of James E. Allen Jr., of New York for U.S. commissioner of education.

The nomination, approved yesterday without dissent, will also make Allen an assistant secretary in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. He has been New York State commissioner of education for 14 years.

Steam Bus Talk

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Industrialist William P. Lear says he hopes to have a steam-powered bus ready for testing around the middle of July or the first of August.

Lear, designer of a jet plane which bears his name, said yesterday the government should subsidize one of the major automobile manufacturers to develop a steam-powered private car which would emit virtually no air pollution.

He estimated it would cost $100 million for a company to tool up for production of such cars.

Allied Toll Ebbs; Red Losses Heavy

SAIGON (AP) — American battlefield deaths in Vietnam last week dropped to their lowest total in nearly four months while the enemy toll remained high, the U.S. Command reported today.

A U.S. spokesman attributed the reduction in American casualties to a decrease in the Viet Cong offensive. He said enemy casualties remain high because there has been no slackening of U.S. and South Vietnamese offensive operations.

The weekly casualty reports said 163 Americans, 237 South Vietnamese government troops and 3,662 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed in action last week.

The focus of the war appeared today to be shifting to border areas where the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops are in a more advantageous position.

Military spokesmen reported allied forces killed 186 North Vietnamese in seven clashes, and six of them were along the Cambodian border northwest of Saigon or just below the eastern flank of the demilitarized zone.

North Vietnamese gunners firing from inside the DMZ and from near the Laotian border also made two heavy mortar attacks on American troops during the night. The U.S Command said casualties were light but some Americans were killed or wounded.

In Washington, Pentagon sources say a recently captured Viet Cong staff document indicates the enemy plans to try for a political uprising in conjunction with major attacks on Saigon this summer.

Officials said the paper was believed to have figured in a Viet Cong military staff conference in late March.

The document, captured as the Viet Cong's winter-spring assault appears to be petering out, outlines plans for continuing enemy offensive activity, the sources said.

Disclosure of the new paper comes at a time when Pentagon authorities are challenging reports of major enemy pullbacks into Cambodia and disputing arguments of some critics that the enemy winter-spring offensive was in retaliation for intensified allied operations.

The military authorities claim that two North Vietnamese and two Viet Cong divisions, plus various units adding up to a fifth division, remain within striking distance of Saigon.

Citing other captured documents and interrogations of prisoners and defectors, the military sources also say it is clear the enemy was preparing for this year's winter-spring offensive as early as last August.

DESIGN WINNER

The Sonoma State College cafeteria building has been cited as a winner in the International Design Awards Program for 1969, according to Donald G. Due of "Institutions" magazine. The award for the building, known as "the Commons", will be presented on May 25 at the Knickerbocker Hotel, Chicago. Designed by architects Marquis and Stoller of San Francisco, the building seats 300 persons and has six alcove rooms for small groups off the main dining room.

Laird Blames Soaring Jet Cost On LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon's Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has blamed mistakes in the expensive C5A supertransport airplane program on the Johnson administration and promises they won't happen again.

Almost as punctuation to his remarks, Laird mentioned replacement of two high civilian appointees of the Democrat era including an assistant secretary of the Air Force accused a day earlier of sanctioning cost-juggling on the C5A to prevent jeopardizing Lockheed Aircraft Corp. position in the stock market.

In his statement yesterday, Laird said, "I am very concerned by the situation which was inherited surrounding the C5A contract and procurement actions. Rapid corrective action is essential and is being taken.

"I am determined to insure that full and accurate information on C5A procurement, and on all other procurement matters, is given to the Congress and to the public promptly.

"I also am determined to insure that past mistakes in the procurement of this transport aircraft will not be repeated," said Laird, a former Republican congressman.

Meanwhile, Deputy Air Force Secretary Aaron J. Racusin went to Capitol Hill and denied the charges laid by Col. Kennedy N. Beckman, the officer in charge of the C5A contract.

Beckman had testified Tuesday before the House government operations subcommittee that Air Force officials knew as early as Feb. 2, 1966, that Lockheed costs on the C5A contract were soaring. That was 15 months before Air Force officials testified to Congress the program was coming in near target cost—$2.9 billion for 120 of the giant aircraft.

The latest Pentagon estimate on cost of the program, including research and development, is $5.2 billion.

Racusin told the subcommittee Wednesday cost estimates were withheld rightly. "There were not any doctored reports to Air Force management officials,' he said.

Traffic Up On Richmond Span

Traffic on the Richmond-San Rafael bridge showed a 3.55 per cent during the first quarter of this year as compared to 1968, according to the state Division of Bay Toll Crossings.

In the first three months of this year, 1,318,580 vehicles crossed the bridge, compared to 1.273,301 in the first three months of 1968.

The 1969 traffic count has been 416,215 in January, 406,150 in February, and 496,215 in March.

Retiree Kills Neighbor On A Gun Spree

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A retired security guard went on a shooting spree Wednesday, killed a neighbor woman, wounded her husband, and fired several shots at a second woman.

It took four policemen to subdue Fred Martin Thomas, a husky six footer still physically powerful at 66. One of the officers received a broken arm in the struggle.

Police said Thomas killed Mrs. Leta Griffins, 64, resident of an apartment complex next door to the one where Thomas lived, and fired three shots at close range into her husband Louis, 65.

"He shot us for no reason at all," Griffins told police before he was rushed to County-USC Medical Center. He was reported in critical condition with bullet wounds in the chest and arms.

Officers said Thomas approached Griffins with a drawn pistol while Griffins was mowing his lawn, and forced Griffins into his apartment. They were met in the kitchen by Mrs. Griffins, and Thomas allegedly opened fire.

As Mrs. Griffins fell mortally wounded, Thomas turned the gun on her husband, police said.

Then he went to the apartment of Mary Lou Fisher, 35, in the same building as the Griffins' dwelling, and demanded to be admitted. Mrs. Fisher refused. Thomas tried to force the screen door, then fired several shots into the apartment. Mrs. Fisher was not hit.

Bilingual Cards In Hijackings

MIAMI (AP) — Pilots of planes likely to detour to Cuba have been given bilingual cards of what to say when the hijacker comes.

The cards include eight numbered phrases—in English on one side and Spanish on the other. A note to the pilot instructs him to circle the Spanish phrase with the number corresponding to the English he is trying to convey.

"This is to prevent misunderstanding of the pilot's actions by a Spanish-speaking hijacker," said a spokesman for Eastern Air Lines, one of several issuing the cards. "If he doesn't get the message some hijacker might do something he doesn't want to do."

FEDERAL BLESSING

James Frazier, acting area manager of the Federal Aviation Administration, said the cards were discussed with the FAA before they were issued. He said National and Delta Airlines also have issued the cards.

"Some pilots have to reach into flight bags for maps or make radio contact," Frazier said. "This way he can explain to allay the hijacker's fears somebody is going to try preventing him from reaching Havana."

WHAT CARD SAYS

The cards carry instructions to the pilot at the top, telling him to circle the appropriate statement. The cards also inform the pilot he will routinely receive landing instructions from Havana Air Traffic Control and that approach maps for airports in Havana, Santiago, and Varadero, Cuba.

The card texts: 1. Proceeding to Cuba as directed.

2. I must open my flight bag for maps.

3. Not enough fuel to reach Cuba.

4. The weather will not permit landing in Cuba.

5. The aircraft is too heavy for landing, we must circle to burn fuel.

6. Traffic control has instructed us to circle ---- hours-minutes.

7. Aircraft has mechanical problem—can't make Cuba.

8. Emergency — must land nearest airport.

Sign Ordinance Suggested By Peninsula Group

The City of Tiburon's proposed sign ordinance should limit signs to one square foot for every four feet of building frontage, Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee directors agreed last night, according to publicity director Bea Mann.

The latest revision in the proposed ordinance establishes the sign ratio at one square foot of sign for every two square feet of building frontage with the sign not to exceed 48 square feet.

Mrs. Mann said the board's recommendation will be forwarded to the city council for action.

Directors also agreed to urge Tiburon and Belvedere to bring more pressure on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad to suggest a purchase price for the railroad right-of-way along Tiburon Boulevard.

The railroad has been promising to announce and acceptable purchase price since January 1968, Mrs. Mann said.

She also said directors reviewed the Buskirk-Noble plan for downtown Tiburon but took no action on it.

India's Pickpockets Show Some Honesty

NEW DELHI (AP) — Almost 16 per cent of the graduates of India's institutes of technology have gone abroad, a survey showed.

The survey, which indicated a serious drain on badly needed Indian brainpower, said 85 per cent of those who left India had passed in the first division (highest ranking) of studies.

James Orange, a SCLC organizer, said there would be demonstrations at the airport in Columbia when President Richard M. Nixon flies there Saturday to visit former Secretary of State James F. Byrne, who is 90 today and has been in poor health. Nixon planned to stop en route from Washington to the Kentucky Derby.

"We are going to welcome Nixon, and he is going to have to hear us before he leaves," Orange declared.

Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., widow of the former head of the SCLC, led a parade of about 2,000 marchers yesterday in support of the strike.

The 400 striking maids, orderlies, nurses aides and food service workers want higher pay and union recognition.

The South Carolina House approved yesterday a resolution supporting the hospitals' position that they cannot deal with a labor union because they are government agencies and their budgets are set by legislative action.

Drugs Are Studied In Heart Tests

JERUSALEM (SS) — The effectiveness of certain drugs in blocking the effects of scorpion venom on the hearts of dogs may have clinical application in the treatment of patients with acute heart attacks.

About seven per cent of the victims of scorpion sting die of heart failure and pulmonary edema. In research work on the effects of the sting of the yellow scorpion on dogs, Prof. Karl Braun of Hadassah-Hebrew University of Jerusalem has demonstrated that the damage occurring in the heart and the lungs is mainly due to the overactivity of hormones known as catecholamines. These hormones at first cause hypertension in the circulation of blood in the body and lungs and then result in damage to the heart muscles due to a lack of oxygen.

Experiments with dogs have shown that certain drugs, if given immediately after the sting, are effective in blocking the formation of catecholamines and thus in preventing the marked alterations in the cardiovascular system.

Teens Booked In Burglary Probe

Three teen-agers were booked into Juvenile Hall Tuesday on suspicion of burglary after two Marinwood homes were allegedly entered by two of the trio.

Booked were William Buttner, 14, of 2041 Huckleberry Road, Mainwood; Nadya Winters, 14, of 101 Nova Albion Way, and Amy Krohn, 15, of 594 Wake Robin Lane, Terra Linda.

The Independent-Journal yesterday omitted the name of Nadya Winters and gave her address for Buttner.

Deputies said Buttner and the Winters girl allegedly entered the houses while Miss Krohn waited outside, apparently as a lookout.

Buttner and Miss Krohn were released to their parents last night and the Winters girl was detained, juvenile authorities said.

India Feels Impact Of The Brain Drain

NEW DELHI (AP) — New Delhi pickpockets have a conscience, at least in part.

They remove the purse, help themselves to the money and deposit the purse in the nearest post box. With the help of the identity card, the post office has the purses delivered to the owners.

The burro descends from the North African gray donkey and probably was first tamed by man in the New Stone Age some 12,000 years ago.

Save-The-Bay Law Urged By Planners

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The California chapter of the American Institute of Planners has urged the Legislature and Gov. Ronald Reagan to set strong controls over filling of San Francisco Bay and development of its shoreline.

Noting that the BCDC is to go out of existence this year, the chapter urged legislation that would "continue controls over filling in San Francisco Bay, initiate minimum controls over shoreline development essentially as recommended in the San Francisco Bay Plan (by the BCDC), and exempt no individual corporation or any public agency from uniform regulation under the enacted controls."

The chapter, with 700 members throughout the state, warned that without new legislation "indiscriminate filling of San Francisco Bay will resume."

All bills extending the life of the BCDC have been bottled up in Senate and Assembly committees, and lobbyists for bay fill interest are waging a strong campaign either to kill the bills or come up with one that would take away all the BCDC's regulatory powers.

Stereos Taken From Two Auto

Cars parked at Albert Field and Terra Linda High School have been entered by thieves who took stereophonic tape players and tapes, police said.

James E. Standard of 29 Warner Court said a player and 10 tapes — total value $150 — were taken from his car parked on Albert Park Lane Tuesday.

James C. Watson of 1121 Idylberry Road, Marinwood, told police yesterday that a thief had entered his car March 15 at Terra Linda High and taken his tape player and 16 tapes.

Child, 4, Is Run Over By Front Tire

Anthony Williams, 4, of 31 Meadow Drive, Mill Valley, was reported in fair condition today in the intensive care unit of Marin General Hospital with possible internal injuries following an automobile accident at 10:30 a.m. yesterday.

Mill Valley police said the child apparently fell out of a car driven by his mother, Mrs. Robert B. Williams, and was run over by the front tire while she was backing out of a parking space. No other details of the accident were available.

40 Officers Quell Pinole High Brawl

PINOLE (UPI) — More than 40 police, deputies and California Highway Patrol officers quelled a melee among 200 high school students yesterday, arresting 25 persons, most of them juveniles.

Three injuries, none serious, were reported in brawling among white, Negro and Mexican-American youths at the 1,700-student Pinole Valley High School, scene of recent racial tensions.

Clam Limit Fine

Richard A. Camozzi, 44, of 2399 Stony Point Road, Petaluma, was fined $25 in Northwest Marin Justice Court today for reportedly having collected more than his limit of clams at Dillon's Beach on April 20. Camozzi's fishing license was also suspended for the balance of the year, clerk Stella Phillipscheck reported.

STUDENTS

aimlessly from building to building on the spacious campus but made no attempt at a new seizure.

The take-over of Encina Hall came after a night of rallies and speechmaking.

More than 1,000 counter demonstrators on Encina lawn chanted "Out! out! out!" to those holding the building shortly after the occupation, a Stanford spokesman said.

This was the second time in two weeks that students led by the April 3 coalition, have held a Stanford building. The Applied Electronics Laboratory was occupied peacefully for eight days through April 18 before demonstrators voluntarily left as the threat of federal action loomed.

"No university in the U.S. has done more to make its internal governing processes work than has Stanford," they said. "We do not despair that they can work in the future, but we are convinced beyond a doubt that they have failed to work in this case."

After five hours of debate last night in Tresidder Memorial Union there was a near tie vote on whether to hold a sit-in. A second ballot wound up 450-280 for an immediate sit-in. There were about 100 abstentions.

Pat Shea, recently elected student body president, had appealed to students to avoid "coercion" since the faculty's Academic Senate already is considering the relationship between SRI and the university.

In the afternoon, about 25 students walked out of a hearing when members of a trustee committee declined to answer questions about their personal feelings on military research.

Top officials of SRI defended the nonprofit institute.

Charles A. Anderson, SRI president, sharply attacked the "arrogant suggestion that a small group that does not represent a majority viewpoint should rule on the moral acceptability of research."

"This work must be done," said Don R. Scheuch, SRI vice president for engineering.

He said the Army recognizes that "it cannot expect complete objectivity from a manufacturer who could potentially sell a multibillion-dollar system. Precisely because the military services need objective advice, they turn to not-for-profit organizations such as SRI."

Fisherman Dies After Boat Tips

EMERYVILLE (AP) — Wesley E. Ingram, 65, of Berkeley, died of exhaustion and exposure Wednesday after struggling to shore from a capsized fishing boat.

His companion, L. T. Smith, 57, of Berkeley, said they had clung to the 12-foot boat for two hours before it drifted to the shore of San Francisco Bay.

Ingram collapsed after reaching the bank, Smith said.

Two Teeners Face Petty Theft Counts

Jerry Paul Ambrose, 18, and William Don Schmidt, 18, both of Santa Rosa, were arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of petty theft and possessing stolen property Sunday in Sausalito.

The two were ordered to appear at 1:30 p.m. May 21 for a report on possible certification to juvenile court. Sausalito police reportedly found them in their truck with property taken from a car owned by Nancy K. League of Sausalito.

Guitar Valued At $550 Reported Taken

The theft was reported by Joseph Douglas Puskar, store owner.

Statue-Makers' Counsel Quizzes County Official

A county official conceded yesterday he had no personal knowledge of any building code violations in the 65-foot statue the county is trying to have demolished, according to the attorney for Statue-builders Christopher Roberts and Andrew Loveman.

Attorney Carl B. Shapiro said John W. Wolf, county housing inspector, also said under cross-examination that he had been on board the barge-based structure but had never gone above deck level into the towering wooden statue.

The hearing in Marin Superior Court adjourned to 10 a.m. Tuesday after Wolf's testimony. The county is asking that the statue, which Roberts calls a madonna and child, be abated as a public nuisance.

The county contends the statue may topple in a high wind, and that Roberts and Loveman have never applied for a building permit. The county first issued a stop-work order, then started abatement proceedings when work continued on the giant statue, which surmounts a 130-ton piledriver barge.

Cycle Driver Hurt In Wreck

Robert D. Elrod, 17, of 128 Evergreen Avenue, Mill Valley, was treated at 5:04 p.m. yesterday for a back sprain, multiple scrapes and a possible concussion at Marin General Hospital following a motorcycle accident at Tiburon Boulevard and Reed Ranch Road.

Tiburon sheriff's deputies said a car driven by Jane V. Cook of 1750 Lagoon Drive was also involved in the accident.

No other details were available from sheriff's dpeuties today.

Valley Square Group Names New Officers

Clorinda Schenoni was elected president today of the Village Square Association of Corte Madera for a one-year term. She succeeds Dwane Borkenhagen. Also elected were Auda Bordanaro, first vice president; Has Simpson, second vice president; Janice Valk, secreatry and Hanni Butter, treasurer.

Association members also agreed to enter a float in the Marin Traditional Fourth of July Celebration parade, Mrs. Valk reported.

Burglars Unable To Open Store Safe

San Rafael Patrolman Harold Pennington, noticing an open rear door at Seawy Marine, 145 Third Street, Tuesday night, found the office safe had been tampered with by burglars using tools from the office.

Though damaged, the safe had not been opened and nothing in hhe office appeared to be missing, police said.

Survey Of Social Security Recipents

A survey of Social Security recipients in Marin will begin soon to aid the government in improving Social Security programs, Ed Leuin, district manager, has reported.

Leuin said all Social Security recipients will receive questionnaires but emphasized participation is voluntary. Information will be used for statistical purposes and will be kept confidential, he said.

$1,825 In Clothes Stolen From Auto

Thieves took $1,825 in men's clothing from a car owned by Warren A. Brown of 601 Main Street, Sausalito, while the car was parked in front of his home between midnight and 7:30 a.m. yesterday, police reported.

Brown told police he had left the clothes in his locked car overnight because he planned to take them to his new residence today.

$18,324 Budget Liked By Panel

Stinson Beach Fire District directors last night approved a preliminary budget of $18,324, an increase of $1,341 over this year's budget, according to Harriet M. Greene, secretary.

Mrs. Greene said directors hoped that the normal increase in property values would allow the district to maintain the 39 cents per $100 assessed valuation tax rate charged during the current fiscal year.

The preliminary budget allocates $2,040 for salaries, $10,560 for maintenance and $5,724 for capital outlay including $1,025 for department improvements, $1,500, for purchase of a small pickup truck or Jeep, and $3,199 for installment payment on the fire truck.

A public hearing on the proposed budget will be held at 8 p.m. June 25 at the community center.

grand jury on May 14. They are Fred Crawford of Indianapolis, Larry Carter of Minneapolis and Sam Shead of Denver.

But no federal attorney — including two from the Department of Justice in Washington — would say what was afoot.

Attorneys for some of yesterday's witnesses said they will move to have the May 14 summonses quashed on grounds that their clients were "threatened and intimidated" by federal attorneys.

Attorneys Allan Brotsky and Fay Stender claim their clients were threatened unnecessarily with contempt of court action when they sought to take advantage of the presiding judge's ruling that they could leave the courtroom to consult with their lawyers.

Others who were summoned yesterday were Harvey McClendon and Wilfred Holliday, both of Oakland, and Walter Bell of San Francisco.

Tommy Jones of Berkeley, who was expelled from the Panthers last January as a troublemaker, appeared with a subpoena but without a lawyer.

Motorist Reports Rock Hits Auto

A San Anselmo motorist reported to Ross police last evening that a rock was thrown at her car as she drove through the intersection of Shady Lane and Norwood Avenue.

Alice Gade, of 222 Floribel Avenue, said the incident happened at 6:40 p.m. Police said the rock struck the middle of her windshield, spraying glass inside her car.

$3,400 Haul From Home Near Fairfax

Household items valued at more than $3,400 were taken from an unlocked home west of Fairfax Tuesday, sheriff's deputied reported today.

Robert M. Zweig, who lives near Sir Francis Drake Boulevars, west of Fairfax, reported Tuesday his home had been entered and a quantity of Stereo equipment, kitchen appliances, a painting, several antiques, a sewing machine, a television, clothing, bedding, a camera and lenses, jewelry and an electric typewriter were missing.

AMONG EIGHT

The burglary was among eight reported today by sheriff's deputies.

James Carl Pack of 112 La Pasada, Santa Venetia, reported Sunday that sometime Saturday night his vehicle had been forced open and seven stereo tapes stolen, deputies said.

Martin A. Tacoront of 301 Orange Blossom Lane, Terra Linda, reported Tuesday two slalom skis, valued at $165, had been taken from his car while it was parked at Miramonte Marina, two miles north of Novato Sunday. Entry was made by breaking a car window, deputies said.

A bottle of narcotics and $90 in cash were taken Tuesday from his home at 730 Pine Lane, Terra Linda, Bennett J. Valdez reported Tuesday evening. Entry was made by cutting out a window screen, deputies said.

Steve J. Newland of 351 Olema Drive, Fairfax, reported Tuesday three clothing bags containing a large assortment of men's clothing samples were taken from his car Monday night. Entry was forced, deputies said.

CASH TAKEN

Patricia A. Verrier of 27 Reed Boulevard, Mill Valley, reported Tuesday her apartment had been entered, possibly through an unlocked window, and $18 in cash taken.

An auto stereo valued at $110 was taken from his unlocked car while it was parked at his home, 14 Eden Roc, Sausalito, Monday night, Edmund E. Thornton reported.

Robert Rose of San Francisco reported Tuesday that a radio valued at $280 was taken from his open convertible while it was parked on Mount Tamalpais Sunday afternoon.

Postpone Session

The Kentfield Fire District board postponed its meeting last night to May 14 in order to give the commissioners more time to study the proposed 1969-70 budget, Asst. Chief Ray N. Vogel said today. They will meet at 8 p.m. at the firehouse.

Youths Ask Column Idea On Activities

Why not have a youth column appear regularly once a week in the Independent-Journal to keep youth advised of activities throughout the county, Youth Commission Formation Committee members asked at a meeting last night at Civic Center.

The idea came from Mark Litchfield, president of San Rafael High Schoool student body.

The youth committee, headed by summer youth coordinator Christopher Harris of Tamalpais High School, appointed young Litchfield as chairman of the communications committee and asked him to contact the I-J about the weekly column.

The group also set up three other committees: A juvenile delinquency committee to discuss such problems as drugs and curfew laws, a transportation and jobs committee to study summer employment and the problem of transportation to and from jobs and a recreation committee to discuss activities such as teen centers and drop-in centers.

The chairmen and members of these committee are still to be named.

The youth commission formation committee is the planning group that will lay the foundation for the appointment of a permanent younth commission of 11 members when school starts in September.

The next meeting of the formation committee will he held at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Room 426 at Civic Center, Harris announced.

ABAG Due $96,694 In Federal Aid

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — The Association of Bay Area Governments yesterday received approval of a $$96,694 federal grant for its regional planning program next fiscal year.

The grant will be matched by $48,347 in ABAG funds.

About $475,000 has been spent on ABAG's regional planning program since it started five years ago.

The new grant by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development was for the full amount sought by ABAG.

The coming fiscal year's program includes an economic resources study, a first draft of a capital improvements budget listing priorities for the region, and work on designing a five-year planning cycle.

A Kidney Donor Needed For Teen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— Unless a kidney is donated to Robert Maionchi "in the next year or so, he will very probably go blind and possibly die," his physician says.

Maionchi, 18, went into Franklin Hospital yesterday to have his diseased kidneys removed to abate a high blood pressure problem. He is being kept alive by an artificial kidney machine.

The physician, Dr. Sam Kuntz, kidney surgeon at the University of California Medical Center said he had a list of 80 persons who need kidney donors.

Cycle Injuries To Fairfax Man

Two Fairfax men were injured in a motorcycle accident at 10:18 p.m., yesterday, in San Anselmo when their cycle struck a tree at Ross Avenue near Kensington Road, police said today.

Ideas Viewed On Police Training Plan

Two-man teams composed of an attorney and a police officer could visit high schools to describe the rights and obligations of citizens, under a $97,000 police training program planned in Marin County with federal aid.

This was one of several ideas presented last night at a meeting of the Human Rights Commission's police-community relations committee, headed by Bella Aaron.

Another plan is to assign youth police aides to help regular officers with routine duries, said Mrs. Aaron.

Police chiefs and high school students, about 20 in all, met with the police-community relations committee at Civic Center.

Mrs. Aaron and Austin J. Thompson, executive director of the Human Rights Commission, asked each police chief to list facilities or speakers they can contribute to the police training program. Such contributions in kind can be used instead of cash as the county's 40 per cent share to match the 60 per cent which the federal government will provide for the training program.

You need as much rubber on the road as you can get
The Flat Tire.
The more tire you have on the road, the better you can control your car.
Provided you don't move.
Because under the stress of high speed driving, even the widest of tires lift off the road. In fact, they usually wind up just as much off the road as on.
A glance over at the dotted line in the diagram will show you what we mean.
The other tire in the diagram, the one that's smothering the road, is the Pirelli Cinturato CN72, The Flat Tire.
Even at speeds up to 130 MPH.
In fact, so fierce is its gripping power, many people use it as a snow tire.
But The Flat Tire doesn't just out-grip ordinary tires.
It out-drives ordinary tires. The Flat Tire can do a blinding 130 MPH . . . for 24 hours straight.
It out-turns ordinary tires. The Flat Tire can cut a corner at speeds that other tires can't.
It out-handles ordinary tires. The Flat Tire is less prone to skid than any other tire on the road. Be it wet or dry.
And it out-stops ordinary tires. The Flat Tire can stop faster than any other tire made.
What's more, The Flat Tire rides smoothly and silently on any surface. At any speed.
The Flat Tire costs anywhere from $40 to $65 for American cars, depending on the size.
For foreign cars, there's the Cinturato 367 Flat Tire. It has tread patterns specially designed for European and Japanese suspensions.
And it sells for anywhere from $21 to $48, depending on the size.
Both kinds of Flat Tires are worth every penny. Unless you think you lead a charmed life.

Marin Is Wooing Quiet Industry

By DAVID DIETZ

Hamilton Air Force Base transformed into a huge industrial park. A large research facility constructed on the East Corte Madera tidelands. Revenue-producing businesses lining the waterfront at Waldo Point.

Dreams or bold forecasts?

Dreams, most likely. And so runs much of the present thinking about the future of industrial development in Marin County. No one is certain where the county is headed.

One thing is sure: Marin's character as a bedroom or dormitory county will not change. If, then, you're one who thinks that Marin may develop like its bustling Bay Area neighbors, Santa Clara and Contra Costa counties, that's a mistake.

More industry will locate in Marin, but not in the scope that would ease property taxes. Planners, developers and chamber of commerce officials generally agree on the type of industry that will be attracted to Marin, but no one knows the county's potential.

A March report compiled by Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning for the County of Marin, cites the county's apparent growth toward a self-service economy.

Noting employment had decreased in Marin in the manufacturing, agriculture and mining trades but increased in people-related services such as banks, insurance and government in the past decade, Solnit said:

"What these figures indicate is that Marin is increaaingly developing an economy that seems to fit the classic description of a place getting along by taking in its own washing."

On the surface, Marin lacks three ingredients to become a large manufacturing market: inexpensive, readily marketable land; a large work force and transportation facilities. An underlying roadblock is the political desirability of an influx of big manufacturers.

Forecasters generally agree that the industrial destiny of the county is office buildings, warehousing and distributing — like the McGraw Hill Book Co. distribution center in Novato — tourism and some small manufacturing.

Carroll Snyker, executive director of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau, says there is a small office boom going on in Marin right now.

"Administrative offices are the thing," he said. "They've become something the past years." He mentioned the $5 million Quail Hill commercial and residential development underway at Northgate and plans by the Western Travelers Life Insurance Co. to move its headquarters from Los Angeles to San Rafael, where it and an affiliate will employ about 75 persons.

Of this type of industry, Snyker says: "It's adaptable and compatible. They're stable employers. And they divert persons from commuting."

Snyker, also eager to promote tourism in Marin, sees a future for facilities such as the Holiday Inn under construction opposite the Northgate Shopping Center.

"If that succeeds others will come," he said. We get 750,000 visitors a year. We're going to have to have facilities to keep them."

What's better than tourist business, Snyker said, is the convention trade. The banquet and meeting facilities at the Holiday Inn already have attracted two conventions for the fall, he added. Snyker said figures supplied by the City of San Francisco indicate that a conventioneer spends nearly $25 more per day than a visitor.

Tourism as an industry will be studied soon in the Marin County Planning Department. Director Paul C. Zucker said the county has applied for a one-year federal grant of $28,000 to determine how to capture more tourist dollars.

Zucker believes industrial research and development would be compatible in Marin. Solnit's report makes special mention of this so-called knowledge industry and carries a picture of the new Kaiser Research Center at Pleasanton on the cover.

"These centers are staffed by the kinds of people whose peers already live in Marin," according to the report. "They are therefore usually found in good environments on campus-like settings where their highly specialized staffs can feel both creative and happy."

Former supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, a land investor, sees Marin as a center of medicine, culture and education in the future of the North Bay, while preserving its recreational, suburban environment.

But he added, "We'll be a transportation corridor whether we like it or not. Santa Rosa will be the biggest city in the North Bay area. We can't be the isolated little Marin that we'd like to be. If our growth includes rapid transit and second decks, that's the way it'll be."

"Marin has gotten a bum reputation for being too damned demanding in zoning and planning aspects," Snyker says. "We've chased away a lot of business and industrial realtors don't steer clients here anymore."

"I don't buy the argument we're chasing industry out of the county," says Zucker. "The trouble is that Marin's efforts to attract industry are as poor as hell. The chamber may think its doing a good job, but it's just twiddling.

"If Marin wants industry, it should do more to sell itself. The question is, what are we doing to attract industry in the broad sense? Planning is only a little piece of it."

Zucker added, however, that he didn't think the county wanted to develop industry "at the expense of its recreational and residential environment."

"This is not an antidevelopment statement," he said, "but if you weighed industrial development and residential environment, I think the people would be willing to pay another $50 a year to save that environment. People don't move to Marin because of the tax rate; they move here because of the environmental qualities."

Kettenhofen argues that planning red tape is long in Marin, but also deplores inaction by Marin businessmen. He noted that San Rafael merchants had expressed an urgency to save the downtown area but had done little to plan the future of the soon-to-be-abandoned courthouse square.

Kettenhofen argued for a greater voice for private capital in its own projects. "If you let the planners run things," he said, "everything would be the same. But the other way, we'll have variety. Imagination is provided by private capital. Who did Ghirardelli Square? Not the planners. Who did the Alcoa Building? Not the planners."

Court-Martial Hears Doctor

FORT ORD, Calif. (UPI)—A psychiatrist told a court-martial board yesterday one of 14 Army prisoners on trial for mutiny couldn't stop himself from participating in a sit-down strike at the San Francisco Presidio stockade.

Dr. Martin Blinder testified that his client, Pvt. Ernest Trefethen, 20, of Buffalo, N.Y., knew right from wrong but was an "emotionally unstable, impulse-ridden individual with problems which manifested themselves by a compulsion to keep moving."

Trefethen was among 27 GI prisoners charged with mutiny for the Presidio demonstration last Oct. 17. They said they were protesting conditions at the stockade and the fatal shooting of a fellow inmate during an escape attempt three days before.

Wiretaps Lead To 263 Arrests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. courts report that 263 arrests have resulted from legally-tapped telephone conversations in a little more than six months.

More than 66,000 telephone conversations were overheard on 174 wiretaps in four states, 167 of them in New York.

The other states in which wiretaps sanctioned by judges were reported are Georgia with three and two each in Arizona and Massachusetts.

The wiretaps were directed toward crimes involving drugs, extortion, gambling, homicide and larceny with 71 of the taps on drug cases.

Veterans Officer Will Be Honored

W. P. (Doc) Duhamel, former veterans service officer for Marin County, will be honored by San Anselmo American Legion Post 179 at a past commanders dinner Saturday.

The dinner is set for 7 p.m. at the San Anselmo American Legion Log Cabin. No-host cocktails will begin at 6 p.m. Chairman will be Commander Richard D. Brown.

Andy Klapak, post historian, said Duhamel will be given a life membership gold card, "For long and outstanding service" as veterans service officer and for his role in pushing for the Civic Center Veterans Memorial Auditorium now under construction.

New Gains In Steam Auto Design May Conquer Smog

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Racing car designer Andy Granatelli has joined the swelling ranks of industrialists who believe steam-powered automobiles could be a practical answer to the smog problem.

Granatelli, president of STP Corp., told a news conference that his firm and Planning Research Corp. have joined forces to achieve "a significant technical breakthrough" in steam-engine design.

A proposal to draw up plans for a passenger car using the new design, which he said reduces the size of the power plant system, has been submitted to the National Pollution Control Administration.

The agency recently asked industry for proposals to design steam automobiles as a way of reducing the smog emitted by internal combustion engines. A dozen proposals have been received, including one from industrialist William Lear of Reno, Nev.

Granatelli said the joint proposal is only for a design study but added: "We are capable of producing such engines within our organization."

Granatelli, who formerly headed the Studebaker division which produced the Paxton steam car in 1957, said the design team includes PRC's computerized systems analysis facilities and STP's engineers, best known for a controversial turbine racing car.

Granatelli said the proposed engine would amply meet government requirements of 100 horsepower and be able to propel a six passenger car at a cruising speed of 75 miles an hour.

The breakthrough he cited was a reduction in the size of the condenser needed to convert steam back into water after the steam has been used to drive pistons. His design calls for a small jet condenser, which uses water spray to cool steam instantly, in place of a bulky radiator-condenser that collects water as the steam cools.

Like most steam engines, the PRC-STP power plant would run on cheap fuel such as unleaded gasoline or kerosene.

BRIDES TO PANCAKE MIXER

Rent-An-Anything Trade Booming Business Today

LONG BEACH (AP) — What does a wedding dress have in common with a cement mixer, a poker table and a massage machine?

They all can be rented.

The poker table? Complete with set of chips and ashtrays, it goes for $4.50.

Massage rollers are $24 a month. Also for the weight-exercise set are exercise bicycles at $15 and mechanical joggers for $22.50.

About that cement mixer. It went for free, the first time around.

A young lady from Anaheim, throwing a bash for 1,800, wanted, along with a dance floor for $30, something to mix pancake batter for the gang.

The rental agency, having a brand new cement mixer, suggested that and threw it in for free.

It worked just fine. But a year later when the lady came back and wanted to do it again, no go. By that time, the mixer was encrusted with crumbs of concrete. "I figured," said rental agent Jim Dizney, "it would be a little rough on the digestion."

There are many generalists, renting tools, trailers, machines and the like. Sporting goods stores rent camping gear and the whole gamut of sports equipment.

You can rent musical instruments at from $8 to $12 a month. Clarence L. Morey rented a piano to a man for 17 years. "He paid $10 a month and could have owned it a couple of times over but said he didn't want any responsibilities."

A local furrier will rent a mink stole for $12 a night, or a $200 rabbit coat for $7.50. Sparkling china dinner plates go for 10 cents each, a silver tea set for $10.50, a silver champagne fountain for $20.

And then there's the story about a housewife who rented a bolt cutter and sprung her husband from the calaboose.

Ed Hill, operator of a rental outlet says people are rent-minded. Part of this, he says, is due to lack of storage facilities.

"Years ago," he says, "you tried to own one of every tool on the market. This denoted wealth or equity. You used it once and your neighbor used it 20 times and then it just sat there."

Carpentry Students To Vie In East Bay

Carpenter apprentices in their last year of training will compete for the title of outstanding carpenter apprenctice in the Bay Area in a contest at 8:30 a.m. May 10 at the Sun Valley Shopping Center, Concord.

Marin contestants will be John Krummes, Doug Waterhouse and Barry Withers, all of Carpenters Union Local 35, San Rafael.

Car Looted

Golf clubs and clothing valued at $631 were stolen Tuesday from their car parked on Princess Street, Arthur MacNichol of Roseville and Harley Hooper of Sacramento told Sausalito police. They said they returned to the convertible at 1:45 a.m, and found the items missing.

Weather Scientist Makes Tiny Tornadoes In A Lab

Ward is a veteran researcher on tornadoes and thunderstorms at the National Severe Storm Laboratory at the University of Oklahoma and is a 30-year employe of the Weather Bureau.

In his work to help understand and perhaps eventually control the turbulence in the "tornado alley" of Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas, Ward has constructed what he calls a "model device for studying vortex motion."

His machine is a circular apparatus 10-feet across and 8-feet high. A rheostat controls the rotation of a 30-inch wire mesh screen around a platform, creating various wind directions and velocities.

"We've got a lot to learn about tornadoes," he said in an interview, "but we have amassed a great deal of information."

He inserted titanium tetrachloride smoke into his machine so that you could see the patterns in the wind—and then spun off one, two three and four dancing tornadoes.

He raised and lowered the platform to force various depths of converging air into the spiraling columns. An attached barometer recorded the swirling characteristics as a full-blown tornado.

He's trying to help predict what direction a tornado will take and how much damage it will do.

The most likely time for twisters is from April 1 to June 15 but they can occur any month of the year and anywhere in the United States.

Ward said because of normal temperatures in the Gulf of Mexico last winter there probably "will be a normal storm pattern of activity" this spring.

Working in conjunction with Ward and the tornado researchers are Air Force RB57s, which can photograph storm clouds from high altitudes and can measure developing turbulence. F11 jets probe turbulence at the edges of clouds. The F11s, like the RB47s, work with assistance from ground radar operators.

Ward, who developed his interest in storms as a boy in Lexington ,Okla., says he has yet to be in his first tornado.

"I did see one form back in 1964," he recalled. "We picked up a storm on radar and I went with a highway patrolman and watched a tornado build."

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Sex Education Exemption Bill Reaches Senate After Revision

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill giving parents authority to withdraw their children from sex education courses today was before the full Senate.

The bill, by Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, was approved yesterday by the Senate Education Committee.

Also before the upper house is a companion resolution by Schmitz calling on all school districts to hold off implementing any new sex education courses until the Senate can study the controversy swirling around the courses.

As rewritten by the committee, the measure allows parents to refuse permission for their children to take sex education courses; requires schools to furnish parents with the materials used in the classes for their review and requires district attorneys to enforce the law in the courts if parents believe their children are taking sex education courses without their knowledge.

"This puts teeth into the whole situation," Schmitz said.

However, the author conceded his bill was weakened by the committee amendment that reversed the provision requiring parental permission before sex education could be taught any children. The committee changed it to give parents authority only to keep their children out of sex education classes.

Schmitz said the resolution urging a freeze on new sex education courses will not affect sex education courses already in operation but was aimed at districts on the verge of introducing them for the first time.

BILL AMENDED

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill extending the state law against paramilitary organizations to include groups that disrupt schools by violent activities cleared the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee yesterday.

But the committee, which sent the bill to the floor, amended the measure to add the words "by violence" after Coleman Blease, attorney representing the American Civil Liberties Union, pointed out that in its original form, the bill would class the American Federation of Teachers as a paramilitary organization.

Blease said the AFT disrupted education when teachers it represents went on strike.

The present law provides fines up to $1,000 and up to a year in jail for two or more persons who gather to practice with weapons and obtain training in guerrilla warfare and sabotage.

Author of the bill is Assemblyman Frank Lanterman, R-La Canada.

DRUG CURBS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill making it a misdemeanor to be under the influence of LSD, amphetamines or other hypnotic drugs has reached the Assembly floor despite contentions the measure is "window dressing."

The Republican-controlled Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee approved yesterday the bill by Assemblyman Peter F. Schabarum, R-Covina. The voice vote was split with all Democrats opposing it.

Present law covers the sale and possession of marijunana, narcotics and dangerous drugs but covers only being under the influence of narcotics.

Assemblyman John Vascencellos, D-San Jose, called the bill "some more window dressing to wave at the public" rather than a constructive solution to the problem of drug abuse.

DAM OPPOSED

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The vice chairman of the Senate Water Resources Committee today asked Gov. Ronald Reagan to meet with him for discussions over the proposed Dos Rios Dam.

Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, who said he opposes the controversial project on the middle fork of the Eel River in Mendocino County, told Reagan in a letter that dam could affect the water quality in the Sacramento-San Joaquin delta.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has recommended the $400 million dam be built for flood control purposes and also to furnish 900,000 acre feet of water per year to the state water project.

Nejedly, a member of the Sierra Club which is opposed to the dam, said the flood control value of the dam would be minimal in relation to the cost of the project.

ANNUAL FAILURE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — This year's effort to get legislative passage of the Liberty Amendment was defeated yesterday by the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee.

The measure, by Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, would have called on Congress to submit a constitutional amendment for ratification by the states to prohibit the federal government from levying an income tax.

It is perennially introduced in the legislature but has never passed either house.

SACRAMENTO SUMMARY

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

THE SENATE

Killed

Primaries—Moved the date of gubernatorial primary elections from June to August. (AB266—Macdonald, D-Ojai. 33-20.)

Youth Service Founder Nabbed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Rev. Jesse J. James, founder of the Mission Rebels youth service group, has been ordered to jail pending trial on misdemeanor charges of loitering and interfering with the activities of a school.

"There are just too many incidents involving this man," Municipal Court Judge Albert Axelrod said Wednesday as he revoked an order which had released James on his own recognizance.

James was arrested Tuesday at Mission High School after school officials complained to police that he used obscene language while urging students to go back to school.

Pair Narowly Misses Dunking

An Olema couple narrowly missed a dunking and escaped with minor injuries Tuesday when their car swerved off Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Jewell, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

A puppy was responsible for the accident at 9:10 p.m., Gwen Lee Beeman, 39, of Highway 1, Olema, told the patrol. She said the puppy crawled under her feet as she approached the curve, preventing her from braking. Her car went through a fence, taking out 75 feet of slats, and hit a tree next to the house — and swimming pool — of Richard Fallon.

Youth's Case To Juvenile Court

The case of Paul Christopher MacGowan, 19, of Tiburon, has been accepted by Marin Juvenile Court, it was reported yesterday in municipal court. The youth is charged with possessing methedrine and being in a place where narcotics were used on April 7 in Sausalito.

A preliminary hearing for two other young men arrested with MacGowan was set yesterday for May 20. The other defendants are Steven Michael Juracich, 20, of San Francisco, and Charles Michael Goldy of Berkeley.

Yorty Protests; Audience Hisses

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Sam Yorty charged to the podium, shouting: "If he intends to do this, I'm going to . . . ."

The crowd of about 500 booed and hissed. Councilman Thomas Bradley the mayor's opponent in the May 27 runoff, shook a finger at Yorty, saying: "I didn't interrupt you, Mr. Mayor."

"Let me say just one thing," replied Yorty.

That's the way things went yesterday as Yorty, seeking a third term, and Bradley had their first face-to-face meeting since the primary. Bradley, a Negro, tallied 41 per cent of the primary vote to 29 per cent for Yorty. A runoff was required since no one achieved a majority.

Tunney To Inspect

Rep. John V. Tunney, D-38th District, Riverside County, will tour the controversial flood control project in Kent Woodlands between 10 and 11 a.m. tomorrow, his Washington staff reported yesterday. Tunney is a declared candidate for the U.S. Senate seat held by Sen. George Murphy.

Frankly, we're ashamed to have to sell off such superior luxury broadloom at such incredible low prices, Friday & Saturday

"If they're so good, how come you're cutting their prices so drastically?" Good question. The sad answer is simply this. Our stocks didn't sell as quickly as they should have...(mainly because of the rains that tied us up, remember?) and new merchandise keeps pouring in till we're ready to burst. Something's got to go, and these gorgeous carpets are on the block. If it's dream-quality carpet you have been waiting to buy, wait no more. The selection's never been better, the prices never lower, and the time never better than now...at W. J. Gilbert, of course!

AIRMAN OF MONTH— Airman 1/C David A. Peters, 23-year-old information specialist at Hamilton Air Force Base, has been named the base's airman of the month. Peters, who lives at 2 Liberty Street, Petaluma, is assigned to the 78th Fighter Wing and works in the base's joint information office.

East Bay Pair Held As Suspects In Burglary

Two Oakland men were arrested on suspicion of burglary yesterday by Petaluma police after employees of the Western Auto store, 120 Petaluma Boulevard North, sounded the burglar alarm at 3 p.m. when they saw men attempting to steal merchandise.

Scheduled for arraignment in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court today were Sherman Lee Shaw and Lonnie Cooper, both 23.

When police arrived at the store, employee Dan Jorgensen pointed to Shaw and said he had stolen a portable television set by placing it under his coat and trying to walk out of the building. Jorgensen said Shaw's accomplice was still inside the store.

After the arrests, officers reported finding in the men's car clothing identified as having been stolen from Lombardi's men's store, 195 Petaluma Boulevard North, earlier in the day.

Officers said they also found a hypodermic needle and drug paraphernalia in the car and booked Cooper on suspicion of possession of a narcotics kit.

Two Autos Hit, Stereos Stolen

Louis Espinerre, 33 Jess Avenue, said a stereo tape player, two tapes and four packs of cigarettes had been taken from his car while at his home. He estimated the loss at $115.

Dorothy Stipp, 26 Payran Street, said her car was lotted of a stereo tape player, tapes, a bowling ball and a transistor radio, while parked at her home. Value of the items was set at $150.

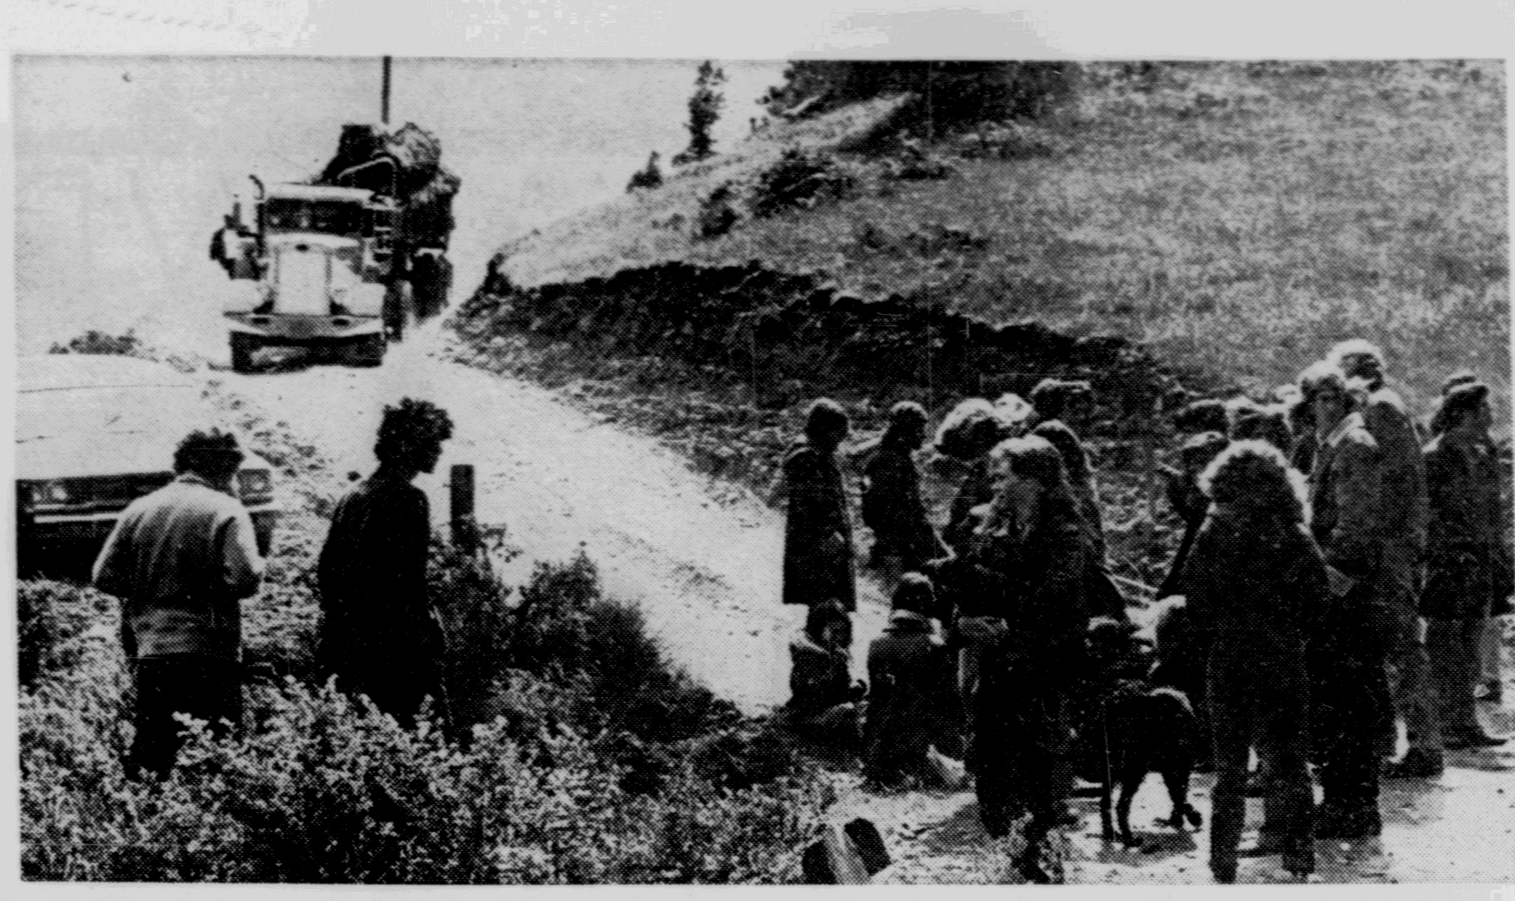
REMOVAL OPERATION — Highway Patrolman Harold Drady gently asks Keith Lampe, 38, of Berkeley, if he heard the order to move. Lampe held his ground until being removed to Marin County Jail. Standing stoically in front of the truck is Bennett D. King, 18, of Sausalito, while Patrolman Richard Treadwell urges his companions to move. (Independent-Journal pohtos by Bob Hax)



BARRICADE—Determined to save the trees on Bolinas Ridge and prevent what they claim will be additional siltation in Bolinas Lagoon, a group of about 30 conservationists plant themselves in the middle of a logging road. They were ordered to leave by the sheriff's department, and most of them did.

Antiloggers Return To West Marin

Undaunted by the Tuesday arrests of five of their group, conservationists turned out again yesterday to continue their campaign to stop logging in West Marin.

They halted work on the Righetti Ranch for about 10 to 15 minutes while four more persons were peacefully arrested and the rest of the loosely-organized group moved out of the way of the giant timber trucks.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of failure to disperse and failure to yield to a vehicle were Leslie A. Ferris, 18, of Bolinas, son of Melton Ferris, a member of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission; Keith R. Lampe, 38, of Berkeley; David L. Horowitz, 18, of Mill Valley, and Bennett D. King, 18, of Sausalito. Two younger teen-agers were turned over to juvenile authorities.

All were released on their own recognizance to appear at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Northwest Marin Justice Court.

The group started its campaign Monday and stopped logging for about two hours. Members returned Tuesday and were successful in halting work for another two hours.

A spokesman for the conservationists, Michael Alan Bond, 26, of Bolinas, said the group is worried about what the logging will do toward increasing siltation in Bolinas Lagoon.

The loggers, however, said there will be little or no more siltation than normal from the logging operation.

The owners of the timber, Matthews, Humbert and Walker Timber Co. of Coos Bay, Ore., plan to strip 80 per cent of the trees from the 1,700-acre ranch.

Proposed Timber Cut Only For U.S. Needs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An increased cut of timber from federal lands proposed by the Nixon administration to help relieve a domestic lumber shortage will not be eligible for export, according to Chief Edward P. Cliff of the Forest Service.

Cliff, who appeared yesterday before a Senate appropriations subcommittee, told Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., that the increased cut would be used to meet domestic housing needs.

The chief's statement came in response to a question as to whether any logs cut from national forests under the administration plan would be available for export to Japan.

Cliff appeared before the committee to urge a supplemental appropriation of $460,000 for the current fiscal year ending June 30 to help increase the timber harvest by 270 million board feet.

Additional funds for the program also have been requested in the regular budget for the 1970 fiscal year beginning July 1.

Crane Strikes Wire, Causing Traffic Jam

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A crane struck an overhead trolly-bus electrical wire at Montgomery and Sutter streets yesterday, producing a 50-minute traffic jam.

Buses were halted on Sutter and Kearny streets snarling vehicular traffic in the Market and Third street areas.

To Juvenile Court

The case of Philip J. Parker, 19, of Santa Rosa will be tried in Marin Juvenile Court, it was reported in municipal court yesterday. He is accused of stealing a car from a Novato man on March 30.

Prison Guards Return To Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The Ohio Penitentiary returned to normal today when a majority of its guards ended a two-day work stoppage over a wage dispute.

National guardsmen, who had been called in to maintain security at the 134-year-old institution, were relieved last night by Ohio Adj. Gen. S. T. Del Corso when a full shift of prison employees reported for work.

Officials at the Mansfield Reformatory said some National Guard troops remained on duty late Wednesday when an "insufficient" number of guards showed up for work.

Elderly Men Routed Out In Blaze To House

Two elderly men were routed yesterday when fire wrecked the roof of their rented home at 15 Mariposa Street, San Rafael.

Firemen identified the occupants as Joseph Sanchez, 78, and Joseph Camizas, 76.

The blaze began shortly after 10 a.m. when sparks from an incinerator fire wafted onto the shingle roof of the two-story frame home, firemen said. The flames had begun to spread into the attic when they were checked.

Fire Chief Vance Trivett said the building, owned by L. Joe Vierra of San Rafael, was in such poor condition no damage estimate was made.

Sanchez is being cared for by the American National Red Cross, which said it is seeking a furnished room with kitchen privileges for him. The whereabouts of Camizas was unknown.

Stolen Property Warrant Issued

A bench warrant was issued yesterday by Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court for Robert Charles Baldi, 19, of San Rafael, who failed to appear in court for arriagnment on a charge of receiving stolen property on March 20.

Bail on the warrant was fixed at $2,500.

No complaint has been issued yet by the district attorney's office against Baldi in connection with his arrest Tuesday on suspicion of burglary. Police said they found an auto stereo, radio, several stereo tapes and a tachometer in the trunk of his car.

Bay Council Elects Enemark As Secretary

Fred F. Enemark, executive vice president of the Marin County Savings and Loan Association, has been chosen secretary of the San Francisco Bay Area Council, a civic and economic development orgarization of business and industrial leaders.

John E. Countryman, chairman of the board of Del Monte Corp., was elected chairman of the council at the council's annual dinner Tuesday, succeeding William E. Roberts, presidnet of Ampex Corp.

B. F. Biaggini, president of Southern Pacific, and Roy Brandenburger, vice president of Monsanto Co., were re-elected as council vice chairmen.

Newly elected council vice chairmen are Ernest C. Arbuckle, chairman of the board of Wells Fargo Bank, and Quentin Reynolds, president of Safeway Stores Inc.

Federal Probe On Bay Pollution

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House hearings on the pollution and filling of San Francisco Bay will open here May 15, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., announced today.

Reuss, chairman of the recently established conservation and natural resources subcommittee, said hearings also would be held Aug. 21-25 in San Francisco.

"There is grave national concern over the future of the world famous San Francisco Bay," Reuss said. "We intend to ascertain how federal policies against improper filling and pollution of our fast-disappearing natural waterways are being carried out."

Doctor Masquerade Ends In Probation

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A former hospital orderly with a flair for acting, masqueraded as a doctor for five months at a hospital here before he was detected.

Manuel Mendez Estrada, 39, Sacramento, yesterday was placed on probation for three years after he pleaded guilty to three counts of practicing medicine without a license.

TURNING BASIN—The largely undeveloped harbor in Petaluma is new home part to a score of fishing and pleasure boats, but plans for a face-lifting will offer facilities for more mariners. Plans for the vacant land around the turning basin include a seafood restaurant and specialty shops which will reflect the river's atmosphere.

Petaluma River A Pastoral Route To Port

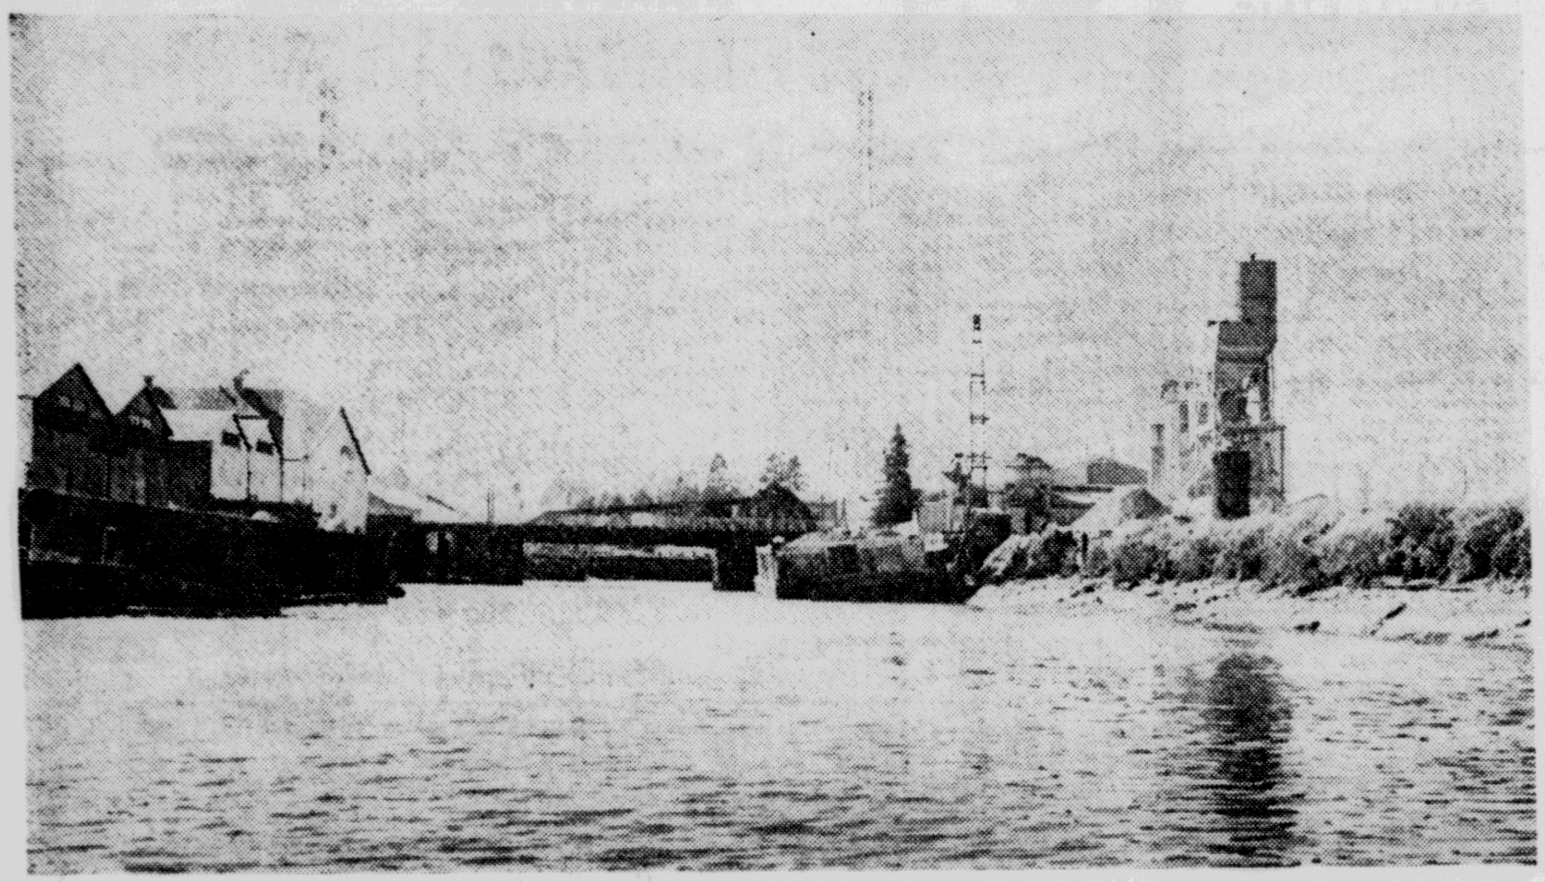
Petaluma River — the boundary that binds rather than divides Marin County and Southern Sonoma — roams through a placid valley edged by the scenic Sonoma Mountains and offers serenity and unusual solitude for mariners.

Largely undiscovered by area boating enthusiasts, the river meanders from the mouth of San Pablo Bay through rolling countryside that still wears the barb of spring greenery. The gentle river offers a cruise that could remind that with vivid imaginations of years when explorers and settlers first discovered the waterway.

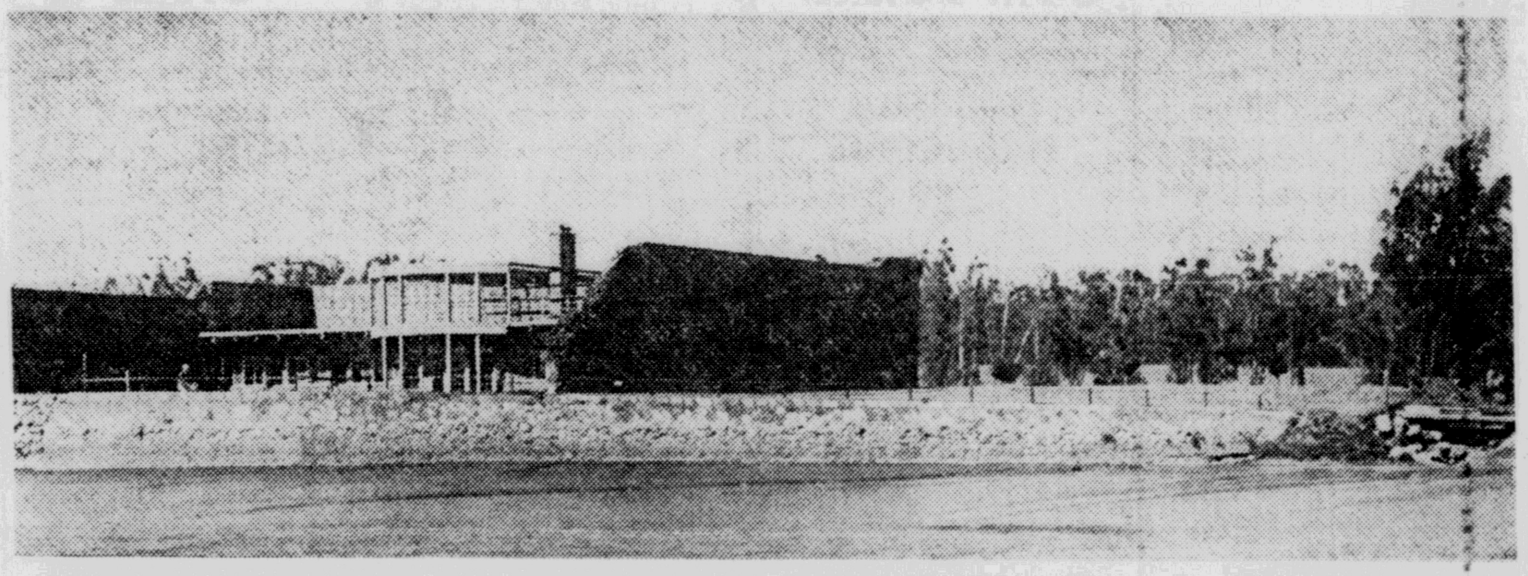
Recently dredged by the Army Corps of Engineers, the river accommodates virtually all pleasure vessels and low levees allow a panoramic view of the calm dairyland and background mountains.

Untouched by the encroachment of the twentieth century, the river scenes offer little to indicate the hectic era of rapid development until reaching the headwaters in Petaluma.

City officials, viewing the river as the center of the community, plan improvements to port facilities. They include a new boat launching ramp south of the city and plans to enhance the turning basin as a charming yacht harbor.

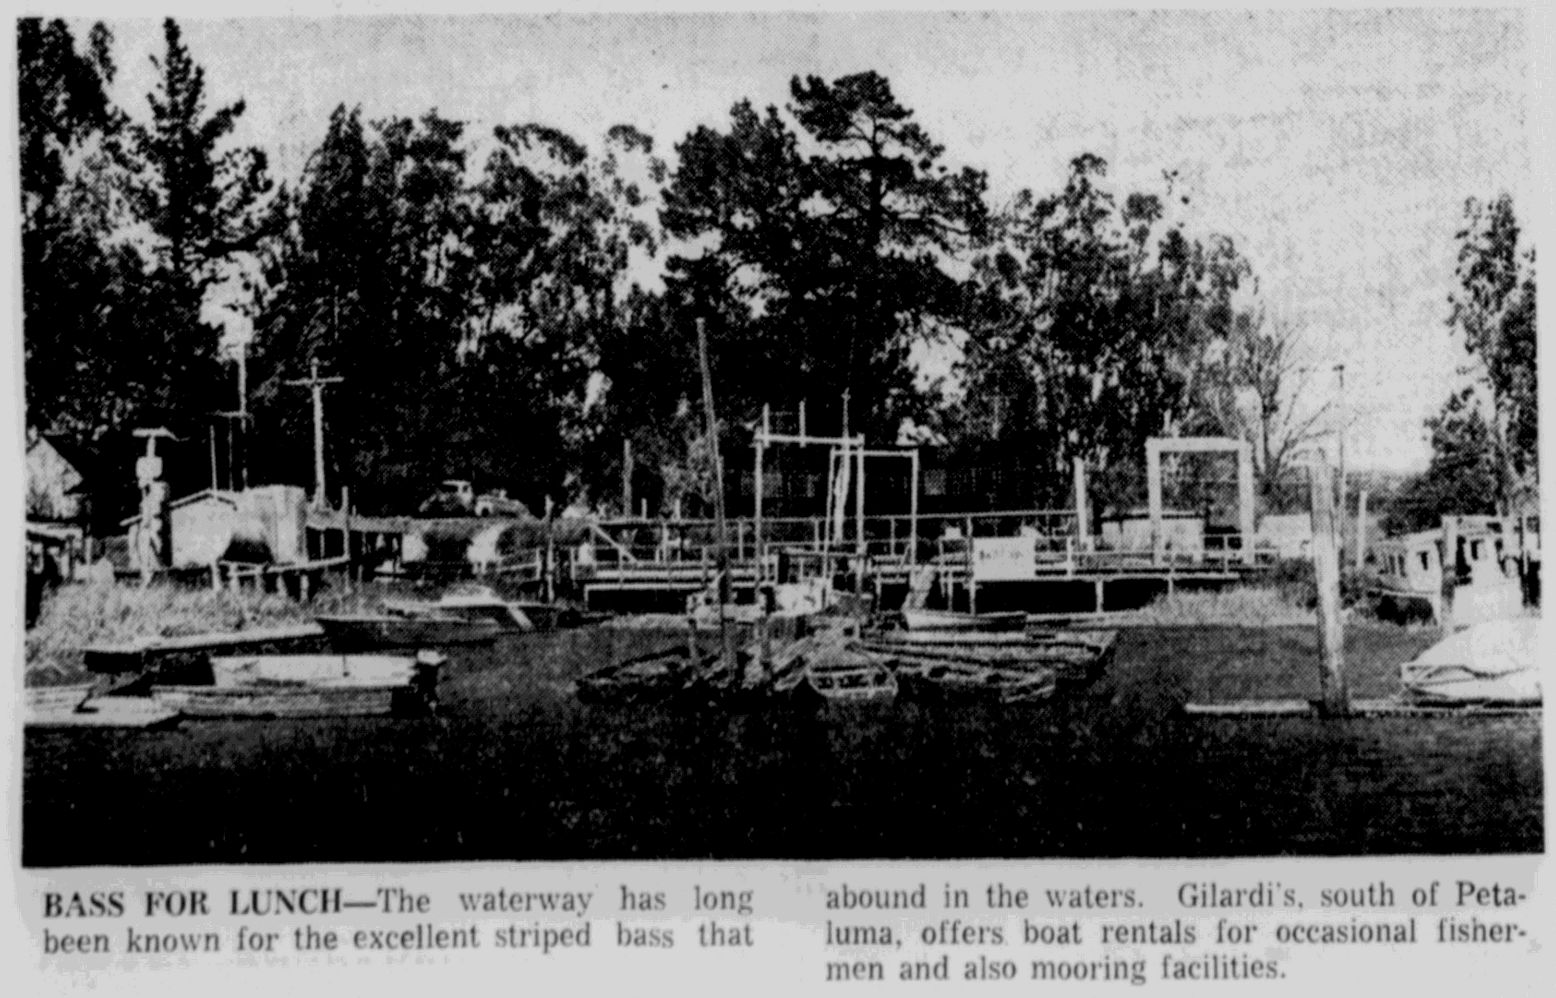


INDUSTRIAL ZONE—As boatmen approach the D Street bridge in Petaluma, barges are often seen unloading material for riverside industries. On the right, a barge containing shell is unloaded at the Pioneer Shell Co., which specializes in fertilizers.

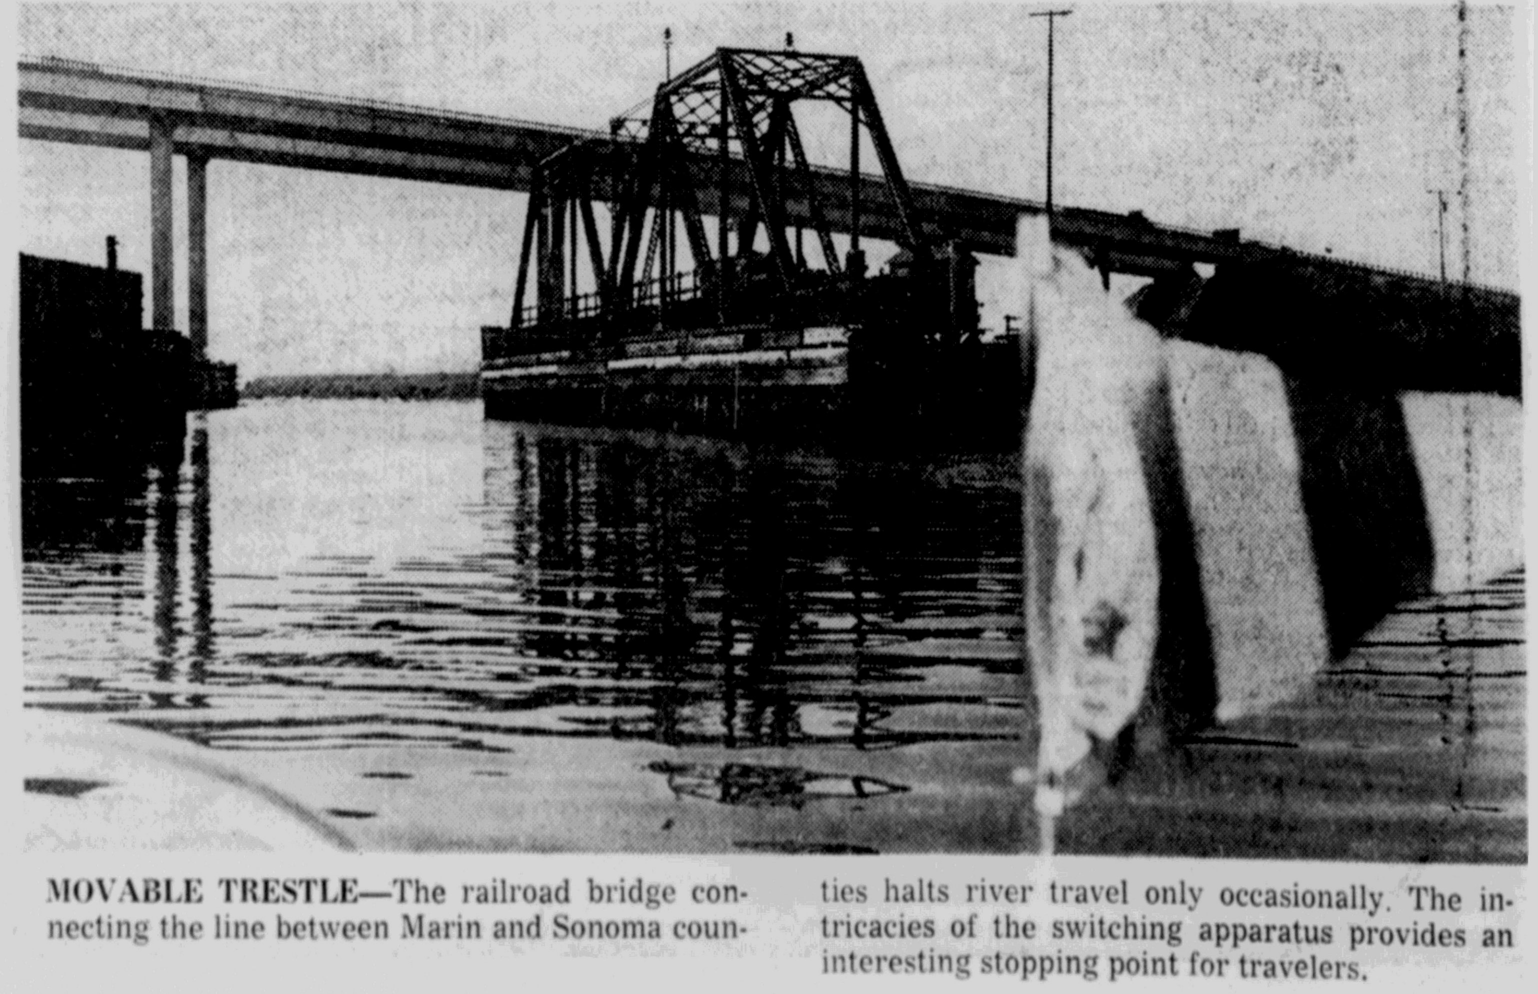


COMPLETE SECLUSION—One of the unusual homes fronting the river is one that is built within the shell of an old winery. Completely hidden from view on the Lakeville Highway, the modern home includes a swimming pool in the front yard.

CURIOUS COWS—Not yet adjusted to the increasing river traffic, the herds of dairy cattle that feed along the river banks always watch in amazement as crafts go by. When startled by sudden noise, the cows will run along the edge with speed that surprises city dwellers. The river binds Southern Sonoma and Marin counties. Recently dredged, the stream accommodates boats.



BASS FOR LUNCH—The waterway has long been known for the excellent striped bass that abound in the waters. Gilardi's, south of Petaluma, offers boat rentals for occasional fishermen and also mooring facilities.



MOVABLE TRESTLE—The railroad bridge connecting the line between Marin and Sonoma counties halts river travel only occasionally. The intricacies of the switching apparatus provides an interesting stopping point for travelers.

Himalayan Accident Kills Seven Mountain Climbers

NEW YORK (AP) — Five of the 10 Americans who challenged the world's seventh highest mountain have died on its icy slopes in western Nepal.

"Two native guides also were killed in the accident, somewhere along the forbidding southeast ridge of Mount Dhaulagiri, 26.810 feet high.

First reports of the tragedy came from the State Department last night. A spokesman for the American Alpine Club in New York, sponsor of the expedition, confirmed the deaths.

Dhaulagiri, which means white peak, was first scaled by a Swiss team in 1960, after seven unsuccessful attempts. This was the first attempt on the southeast ridge.

"It's all very high up," French mountaineer Gaston Rebuffaut once said, "and above all it's technically very difficult: great walls and towers of ice, some rock, broken ground . . . There's absolutely no possibility of going that way."

But the Americans disagreed, and left New York March 31, led by Boyd N. Everett Jr., a 36-year-old New Yorker and the only man to climb North America's four highest peaks.

Everett and Vin Hoeman of Anchorage, Alaska, were among the victims, the State Department said. Other names were withheld pending notification of families.

Dhaulagiri is part of the Himilayas, as is Mount Everest, the highest mountain at 29.002 feet.

News accounts at the start of the expedition identified the other Americans as William A. Read of Moose, Wyo., deputy leader; Drs. Jeffrey Duenwald of Pullman, Wash., James Morrisey of Olivette, Mo., and Californians William Ross of Portola Valley; Paul Gerhard, 26, of Lagun Beach and Louis Reichardt 26, of Palo Alto and James G. Janney III and David A. Seidman, both recent graduates of Dartmouth college.

In Seattle, Maria Duenwald said her brother had sent the family a message saying he had survived the accident. She said he provided no other information

Driver Is Treated For Bruised Ribs

Mavis A. Gilmore, 39, of 1423 Monte Maria, Novato, was treated for bruised ribs and a head bruise at Novato General Hospital Tuesday after her car hit a light pole on Highway 101 in Santa Venetia, the California Highway Patrol said.

The accident occurred at 1:20 p.m. as she was entering the freeway from North San Pedro Road, the patrol said.

Zucker's Goals For Marin's Future

By WAT TAKESHITA

The number one goal for Marin's future is to preserve and enhance the residential-recreational environment, in the opinion of Marin County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker.

PAUL C. ZUCKER
Planner tells goals

But beyond this primary emphasis on residential and recreational development, the future of Marin's physical growth is difficult to pin down, said Zucker, who retained his directorship last week by a cliff-hanging 3-2 vote of the board of supervisors after a marathon hearing at Civic Center.

"We are no absolutely certain where the county should go. We believe this is not a sign of weakness in our program but a sign of recognizing reality. The suburbs in their fully developed state across the country have left much to be desired. We're not certain Marin can avoid the direction other suburbs have taken. Nor are we certain what kinds of suburbs will be the most viable 10, 15 or 20 years from now."

He said he thinks planning has tried to deal too simply with extremely complex problems. "We must not only examine citizens hopes and aspirations for today but examine their viability for the future. The important point is that Marin's planning program is starting to ask and examine some of the important questions."

"I define my job as injecting my point of view in any debate. I have no right to insist on my point of view, and certainly no right to insist my point of view is accepted. The only thing I insist on is being allowed to express my point of view whether or not that's what they want to hear."

He acknowledged that tourism and industrial development are important for Marin. "In fact, the county really hasn't done much to capture the tourist market." In trying to attract tourism and service industries, Zucker believes a more intensive advertising campaign is needed to stress the quality side of Marin, the environmental qualities, and as a "place for executives to live."

But tourism and industrial development must be geared to the goal of protecting environment for pleasant homes and recreation, said Zucker. "To the extent that industrial development is a detriment to that environment, it has to be looked at very carefully. Industry can live with this environment, but with controls."

He said developers might disagree, but he is convinced that people in Marin are willing to spend a little more for an attractive environment.

"We don't have large parcels of flat, cheap land. We don't have much of a labor force for many types of industry. We have three strikes against us as far as industry goes. What we do have is a hell of a good place to live. So we've got to stress tourism, research or service type of industry, and quality residential."

Transportation is a major problem. A commuter county like Marin must move toward public transportation and away from the private automotible, says Zucker.

"I am convinced the people will choose public transit if the only alternative is more and wider freeways destroying the natural environment.

"Frankly, I think a lot more population is allowed in our general plans than transportation facilities can handle. This is what our balanced transportation study will look at. It will take all the general plans in the whole county and predict how much traffic we will have if we build the county the way the general plans say we'll do. It'll tell us how much traffic will be generated, where it will be going. Then we can start planning and making policies — either build more traffic facilities or change the land uses."

The transportation model which will come out of the study will be a research tool that can be kept current so that any new plans like Marincello or a ferry system can be "plugged in" to the model to see what the effects would be.

Zucker stresses the importance of research tools that can be used on a continuing basis instead of something that is completed and filed away to be forgotten.

"Through the years, we've concentrated too much on the end product approach to planning," said Zucker. "For example, we say here we have the Nicasio general plan to 1990 and it's all done. That's a bunch of baloney.

"The old kind of master plan is a bygone thing. It's useful to look ahead, but you can overdo it. The main thing we are emphasizing is that planning is a continuing process. It's what you do day by day, and each Tuesday at the board meetings that's important. We are not content to sit back in the back room and only think about the next 50 years."

It is his conviction that every variance from established standards must be carefully weighed because their sum total will determine what the county will look like 20 years from now.

So he wades in, arguing against a sign that he considers too tall, or a service station which he feels does not belong in Richardson Bay, or an apartment structure that has wall-to-wall paving with little or no landscaping. On occasion, he argues for industrial and against residential. In the area around Gnoss Field, the county airport, he argued for retention of industrial zoning and against residential and mobile homes.

How about the charge that his department hasn't accomplished much in the way of specific projects?

That is not true, says Zucker. And he ticked off these projects accomplished since he took over in January of 1966:

Landscaping and grading requirements for subdivisions have been strengthened.

The mobile home ordinance was drawn up and approved, whereas formerly the county had no such ordinance.

Ordinances regulating houseboats and marinas have been completed.

The county's sign ordinance was updated, revised and made more specific.

The processing of planned developments has been simplified so that developers are able to reduce processing time by a month.

The county's subdivision ordinance and zoning ordinance, up to date, are available to any citizen. In fact, subscriptions may be taken for these ordinances, and the latest amendments will be mailed to keep the ordinances current.

An antilogging ordinance and an ordinance to control encroachments on Tomales Bay are also in the works, and the interim zone for all of West Marin was adopted.

One of the biggest and most time consuming projects is to rezone throughout the county to implement the master plans, said Zucker. "This need was sorely neglected for the last 10 to 15 years. Methodically, we have to go through the county and rezone all over — Kentfield corners, Muir Beach, Almonte, Black Point, the airport area, and others.

"There is no question that this caused bitterness among developers," said Zucker. "But rezoning is essential. Without rezoning, there's no use having a master plan."

Other projects in the works are the current experimental ecological study of Nicasio Valley, which will eventually result in a master plan, followed by rezoning, and may pave the way for several new planning approaches, said Zucker.

"Social planning and housing is also a whole new area. That's an area we'll be getting into — more housing for low and moderate income families."

One of the major accomplishments, he feels, has been the creation of the City-County Planning Council. This council is directing the balanced transportation study and is about to receive federal funds to undertake studies on tourism, environmental quality, housing and other related studies. "For the first time, the cities and the county are moving together to prepare a countywide plan."

Saigon Envoy Flying Home

PARIS (UPI)—Ambassador Pham Dang Lam, South Vietnam's chief negotiator at the Vietnam peace conference, left unexpectedly for Saigon today to report to his government.

Lam flew to Saigon 24 hours after the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front (NLF) said it was ready to discuss with "other parties" moves to make the deadlocked conference progress.

South Vietnamese delegation officials said Lam would be back in time for next Thursday's 16th scheduled session of the conference.

Deep cabinets for bulky items, narrow drawers for small things, space and more space to hold everything from cuff links to sweaters . . . and more. A mirror, a private electric outlet, a hanger area . . . even space for his own TV! What man could ask for anything more! A handsome addition to any Early American room in solid hard rock maple with a hand-rubbed cinnamon finish, by Heywood Wakefield.

$169,000 Rec Budget Is Endorsed

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission last night accepted without change an operating budget for fiscal 1970 of $169,000 for the recreation division.

The proposed budget, which was sent to the city manager for approval before going to the city council, was up $35,000 from the current fiscal year.

Parks and Recreation Director Andrew J. Snyder Jr. said the added money will provide two new full-time employees, a recreation supervisor and a clerk-typist, as well as part-time recreation leaders for summer programs, a half-time clerk-typist, supervised after school, evening and Saturday programs aimed at teen-agers and after school recreation programs at four schools which do not presently have such programs.

The budget also provides for an increase of $5,500 for supplies and services and $1,350 more for capital outlay.

The commission already has passed on a $83,407 budget for the street, tree and parkway division of the parks and recreation department and $119,846 for the parks division.

The street, tree and parkway budget is up from $72,846 this year, and the parks budget is $6,000 higher than the present budget.

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission also:

SCHOOLS — Approved $24,000 contribution by the schools for the city-school recreation contract for the current fiscal year.

BAHIA VISTA — Accepted a petition bearing 200 signatures from residents of the East Canal area asking that six acres of city-owned land near Bahia Vista School be provided for recreational use for students and residents of that area. The commission told Snyder to make a study of the proposal.

GERSTLE — Received a letter from Mrs. Louis Canevari asking for improvements in Gerstle Park. Snyder said most of the requested improvements are on the department's spring sprucing-up schedule.

BIKES — Heard Brian Wittenkeller, park planner for the County Parks and Recreation Department, review proposed plans for bike pathways throughout Marin County.

Thieves Take Tires, Wheels From Autos

Thieves took tires and wheels, valued at $85, from two Volkswagens parked in the 500 block of Miller Avenue between 8 and 9:45 p.m. yesterday, Mill Valley police reported.

The two cars belonged to Robert E. Evans, 239 Glen Park Drive, San Rafael, and Gloria Paula Makowitz, 2 Shelly Drive, Mill Valley, police said.

Only Minor Injuries In Overturned Auto

Six Mill Valley teen-agers were injured yesterday when their compact car overturned on Highway 101 in Corte Madera, the California Highway Patrol reported. All six escaped with minor injuries.

The accident occurred at 5:30 p.m., the patrol said, when driver Mark C. Jandura, 17, of 15 Vasco Drive, was changing lanes. A witness said the car suddenly turned onto its side and skidded across two lanes onto the shoulder, where four girl passengers were thrown out.

Three were taken to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael. Didier Van Moppes, 16, of 11 Amicita Avenue, was treated for a scraped left arm; Jeanne Byrne, 15, of 16 Alameda Way, for scrapes and bruises, and Sally Madison, 13, of 6 Upper Hill Road, held for observation with multiple bruises and scalp and ankle cuts. She was to be released today.

Physician Due Court Hearing

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Dr. Donald A. Churchill, 50, a Sausalito physician, was to appear in Municipal Court for arraigned today on charges growing out of the alleged sale of a cure-all medicine called Vitarth.

He is accused of misbranding a drug, unlawful advertising and unlawful sale of a new drug.

Churchill, of 106 West Street, is on probation after pleading guilty to earlier charges of illegally prescribing narcotics and falsifying medical records. The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in reporting that Churchill was awaiting trial on these charges.

Petaluma Driver Hurt In Wreck

A Petaluma man was injured yesterday at 8:50 p.m. in a three-car accident on Petaluma Boulevard South at D Street, Petaluma.

Thomas Preston, 35, of 1096 Lindberg Lane, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for a neck injury.

Police said the accident occurred when a car driven by Mildred Rossen, 31, of 11490 Valley Ford Road, Petaluma, failed to stop for a traffic signal and struck the rear of Preston's car. In the chain reaction, Preston struck the rear of a car driven by Clarence R. Poncia, 22, of Sonoma.

Seven Youths Nabbed At Drug, Liquor Party

Seven San Marin high school students were arrested yesterday at a drug and liquor party attended by about 20 students, Novato police reported.

Two boys were booked into Marin Juvenile Hall for truancy and resisting arrest, and two girls and four boys were cited to the juvenile probation department. All were 16 and 17 years old.

Mescaline and marijuana were found in the yard of the San Marin home where the party was held, police said. They stressed that investigation of the incident was expected to lead to the arrest of more students. No adults were present.

Police were called at 11:12 a.m. to the home, where one of the girls resided, and the studnts fled throughout the neighborhood. The seven, who were caught by the five officers, were chased a block before being apprehended.

Innocent Plea

Martha Ann Woods of San Francisco pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Muncicpal Court to signing another person's name to a credit card March 7 in order to obtain a rental car which she didn't return. A preliminary hearing was set for June 12.

Civic Affairs Group Picks New Slate

New chairman Margaret Azevedo and a new slate of officers were elected last night by the Marin Council for Civic Affairs at the Civic Center.

Other new officers are George Ellman of Tiburon, vice chairman; Mrs. Fred Cowden of San Anselmo, secretary; Milen C. Dempster of Mill Valley, treasurer; and Mrs. Dewey J. Forry and Jack Schoop of San Rafael, members at large on the executive committee.

The council voted unanimously to join the Ecumenical Association for Housing in Marin, a group of organizations each pledging $200 to help promote low and moderate rent housing. Mrs. Harold Watkin and Henry Arian will be delegates to the ecumenical association.

The civic affairs council directors also agreed to set up a committee to study functions of the grand jury, but no chairman for that committee was named last night, chairman Azevedo reported.

The MCCA will continue to meet on the last Wednesday of each month at the Civic Center.

Driver Hurt In Sausalito Crash

A San Francisco man was injured at 2:20 a.m. today when his southbound car skidded over the double yellow line and hit an oncoming car on Alexander Avenue at South Street in Sausalito, police reported.

Police said Cohen's car hit a car driven by Keith Arthur Renshaw, 25, of San Leandro.

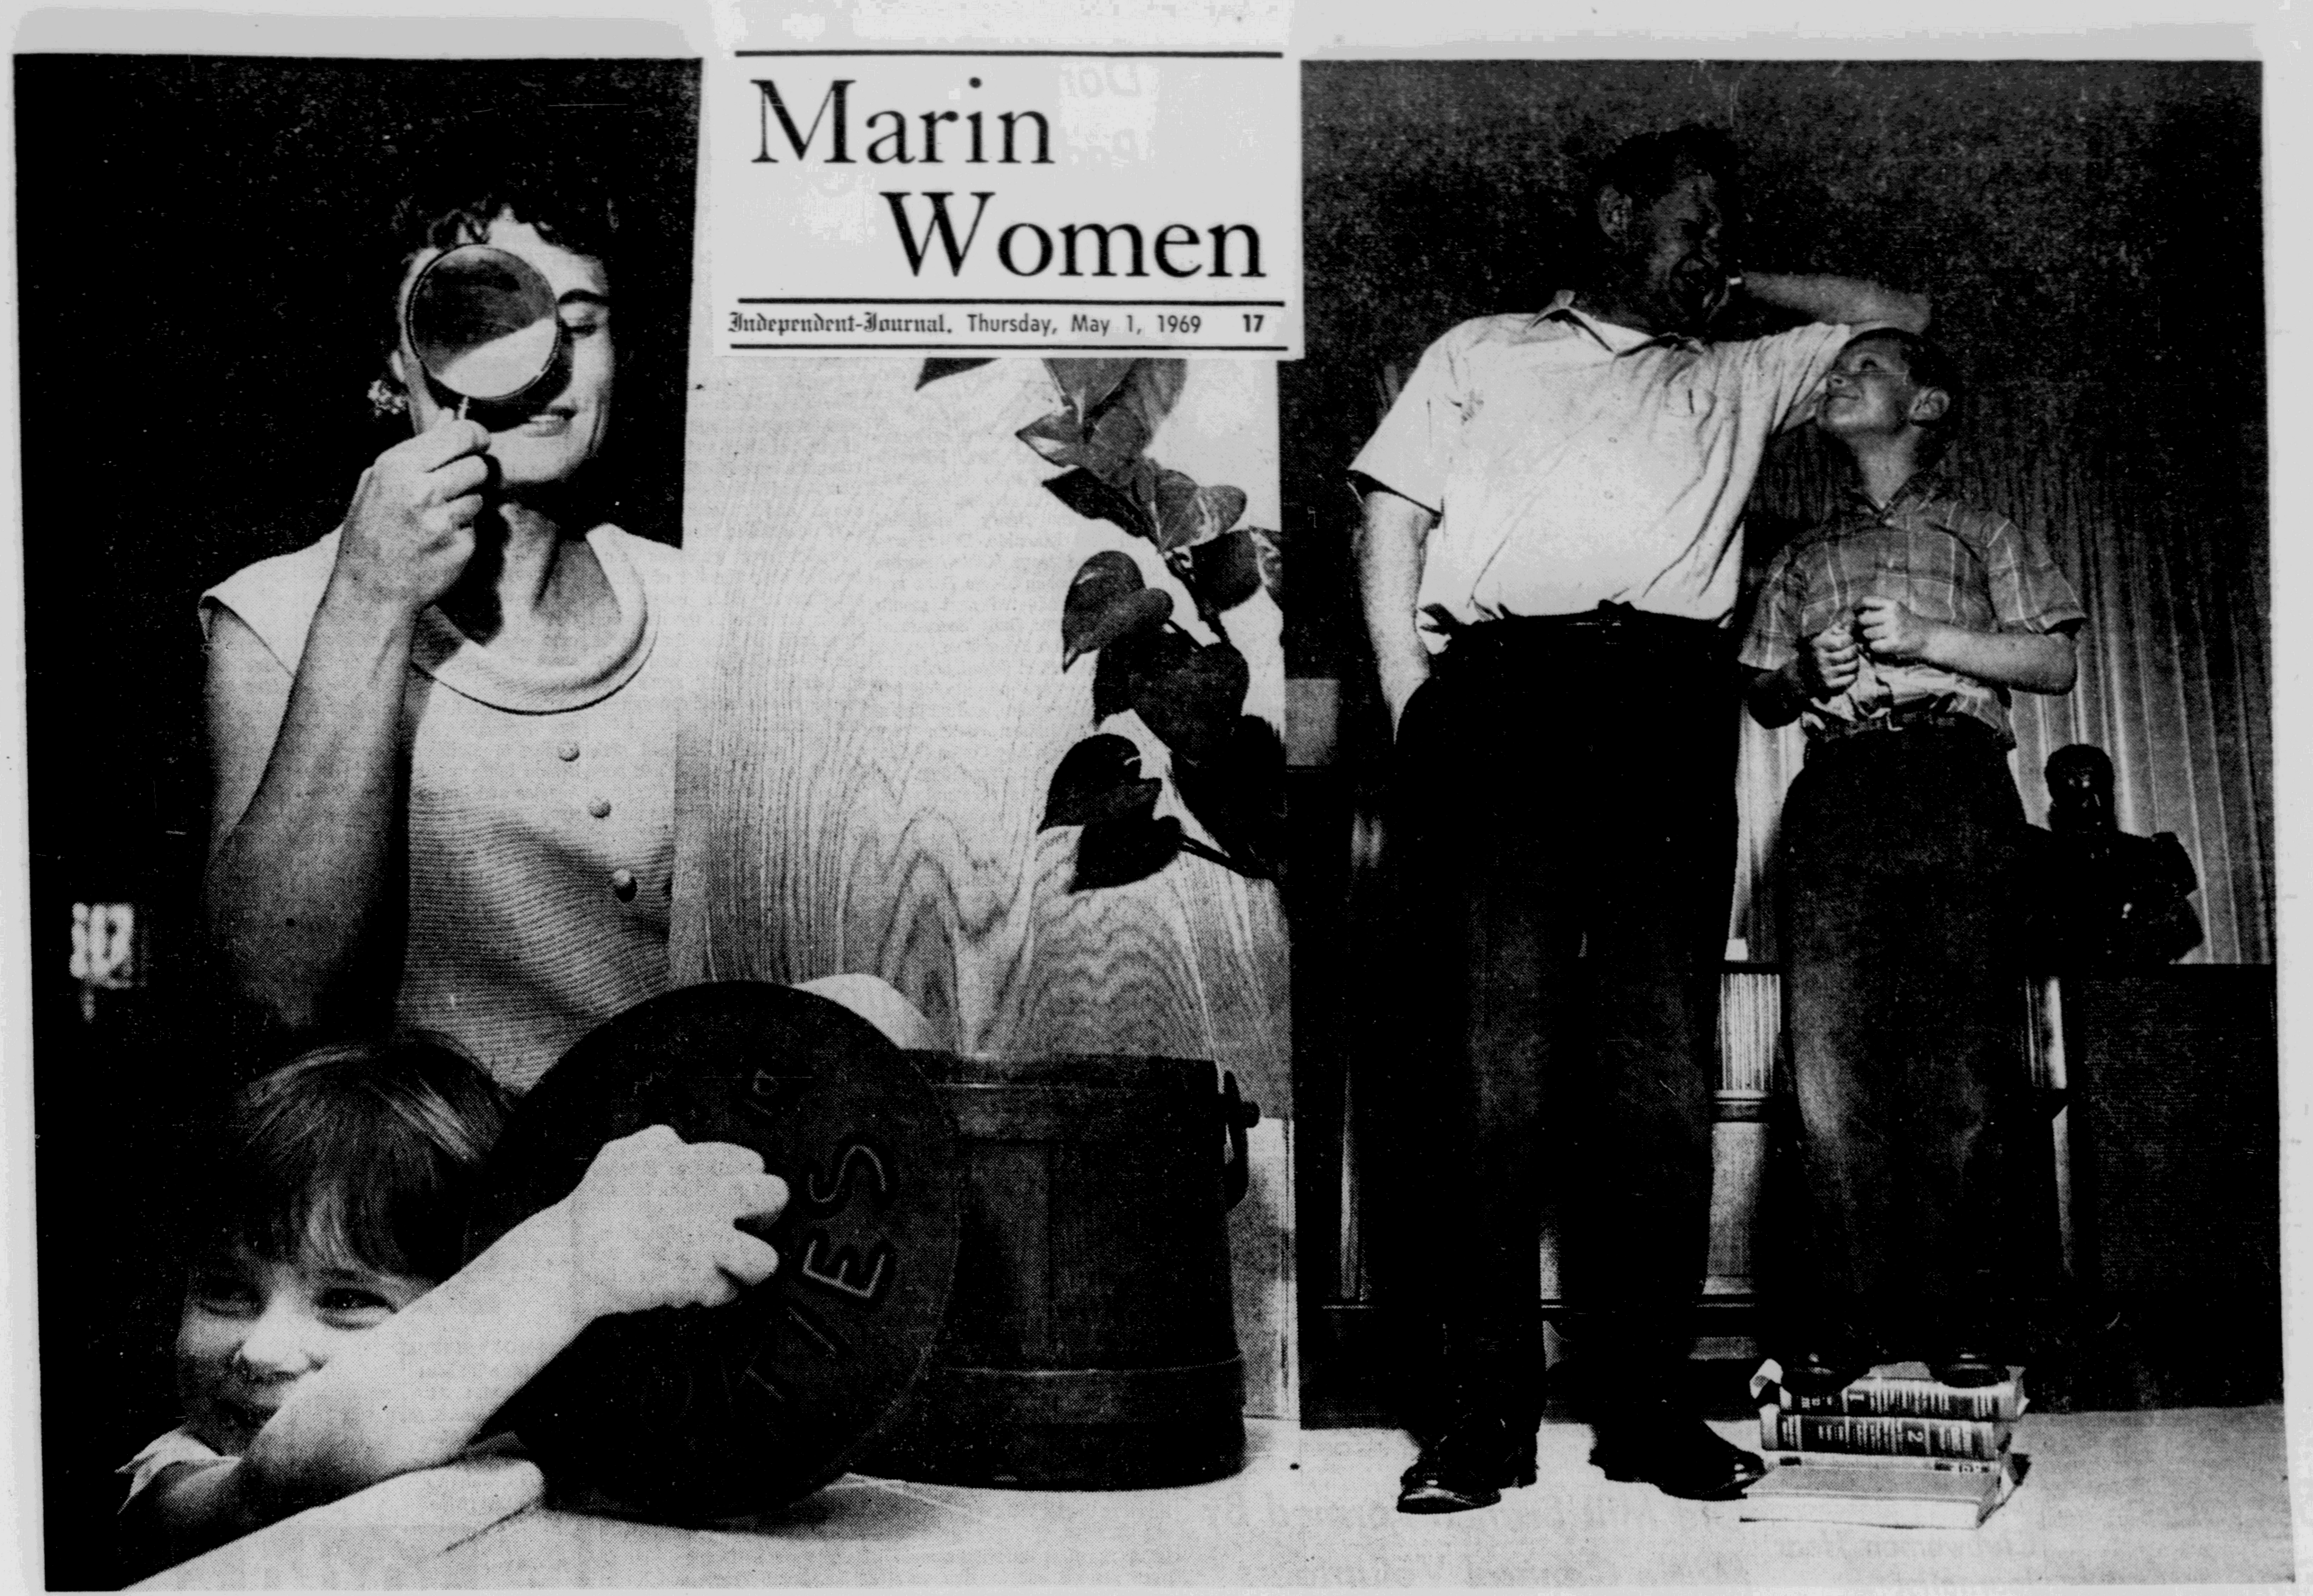
Marin
Women

Independent-Journal, Thursday, May 1, 1969 17



ENFORCING THE LAW in the Ernest Zunino home in Fairfax is Mrs. Zunino, left, as she 'spies' on daughter Laura — only this is one law that bends. Laura, 4, attends Alouette Nursery School in San Rafael and knows that cookie jars are made for 'snitching' from. In an attempt to measure up to his dad, eight-year-old Mark Zunino, right, stands on a stack of law books but he has a ways to go to reach the height of Marin County's deputy district attorney, his idol. Mr. and Mrs. Zunino are graduates of the University of California where they majored in criminology and Mrs. Zunino was employed in the Alameda County juvenile department for four years. The family has lived in Marin for seven years.

Attorney's Wife Says 'We Need Laws'

By GRACE HENDERSON

"It's the inside information — about exciting things going on. You feel you have a stake in contemporary history as it is being made, here and now," is the way Mrs. Ernest Zunino describes her role as the wife of the Marin County deputy district attorney. She is a supporter of laws and the part they play as emphasized on this Law Day, 1969.

That she knows her subject well is evident in the deep interest in, and backing of, laws as they relate to people and communities. For Sally Zunino is, herself, a student of law and a graduate of the University of California where she majored in criminology. It was there that she met Ernest Zunino, then an assistant professor of criminology at the school. "It was in the pre-hippie days," she recalls.

HOW DID SHE meet her future husband? "Those notes were the cleverest thing I ever did," said Sally, telling of messages written to her instructor and placed in Blue Books prior to their introduction.

Was she the teacher's pet? "I don't know. I got poor grades — but he married me," she reminisced.

Speaking of plans for her own future which was to follow her career, Sally said "I was always going to be a doctor's wife so that when the kids got sick in the middle of the night, he could take care of them," but this didn't materialize.

FOLLOWING her college graduation, Sally accepted a position as probation officer in Alameda County, working from Juvenile hall there for four years. She feels her thoughts on the need for good laws is based on education and experience.

In fact, Sally was so interested in law that her parents purchased her one and only gun, upon hearing of her plans to be a policewoman.

Now Sally looks back to compare the rapid changes in laws. Quoting from Socrates and relating the troubles of his time to American turmoil today, the former juvenile officer related the similarities by saying "Today so many things are accepted as proper — that we acknowledge as understandable and good behavior that which should not be — we excuse that which should be stopped. These are immature outlooks with no regard for tomorrow," she concluded.

WHAT ABOUT LAW and order in the future? The blue-eyed mother of two expressed her views. "We should stop loosening laws to the detriment of society as a whole — go back to protecting the innocent instead of the guilty — have passion for the victims of crime instead of excuses for aggressors," she related.

As to her husband's work and his role in county government, his former student emphasized "My husband's work is important, he is devoted to service in the district attorney's office and I have a deep respect for his occupation. Every wife should respect her husband's labor and my husband has a vital job to perform."

What about the daily life of a couple whose college majors were in criminology? The home and its activities as the basis of a disciplined society is brought out by particiaption in everyday responsibilities for the Zuninos.

SALLY IS PRESIDENT of Delta Zeta Marin County Alumnae; treasurer of Beta Sigma Phi sorority city council and vice president of her chapter (Gamma Omicron); and room mother for son Mark's second grade class at St. Rita's Catholic School in Fairfax. Laura, who is enrolled at a San Rafael nursery school, promises to demand more time from mother later as she becomes involved in activities linked with her education.

Ernest is past president of the Marin County Peace Officers Assn.; member of the Elks; Native Sons, Fairfax Parlor; and a vice president of Marin Chapter of Alpha Lambda Epsison. He was assistant producer for a Douglas-Kelley series "The Criminal Man" produced in San Francisco in 1957.

Following graduation from Berkeley, Ernest joined the Marin County Probation Department where he organized the work furlough program, the first of its kind in the state. He enrolled in San Francisco State School of Law from which he graduated in 1964.

HOW HAVE LAWS changed since the Zuninos studied criminology? "The laws were stricter then, regarding behavior and the attitudes toward law-breakers was different," Sally explained, adding (referring to trails), "Because I'm a lawyer's wife no one will allow me to serve on a jury — I'd be a dandy jurist."

LAW DAY
MAY 1
RESPECT THE LAW · IT RESPECTS YOU

The Zunino family has lived in Marin for seven years. And Mr. Zunino doesn't see enough of his family. Being in court every day he spends his evenings at work in his courthouse office preparing for the following day. What does his son think of Dad's occupation? He is happy his father "is getting rid of the hippies" and plans to be a deputy district attorney himself some day.

'Let's Get Rid Of The Middle Generation' Says Journalist

By BARBARA HOSMER

"You're not going to like me when I'm through," Adela Rogers St. Johns told her audience of 900 clubwomen at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel Wednesday. But they did, despite her challenges and admonitions.

Speaking at the convention of the California Federation of Clubwomen in San Francisco, the 75-year-old author and journalist surveyed her brightly attired audience, then remarked, "I look at all the power and glory out there and know we're failing. The state of the world depends upon the spiritual integrity of American women. You've got to reach more women every day and bring them in.

"We have to show young people something to trust, something to hold," Mrs. St. Johns stated. "Parents and teachers are responsible for the younger generation, and don't you ever forget it!"

AS TO THE generation gap, it's always been here, she said. "Let's get rid of the middle generation — the kids haven't yet lost hope and the older generation has regained hope. Younger and middle-aged parents are afraid of their children. Why?" she asked.

"And whatever happened to the Parent-Teacher Association? The single greatest power in the United States should be the Parent-Teacher Association. Why isn't it?"

"The spiritual authority of motherhood has to be there, even when we've come down to be equal with men," she remarked dryly, bringing cheers and applause from the clubwomen.

The highest authority should be the women, who has to be responsible for the home and the family, said the journalist, who covered top stories for the Hearst newspapers through three decades, and whose daughter and grandchildren were in the audience.

Children should be taught what discipline and authority are, she said. "Everything there is is on the straight and narrow path. To paint one of those abstract paintings you'll have to mix the colors on the straight and narrow path that Rembrandt used. We're gonna have to stand up and be counted much more than we do," she challenged the women.

ADELA ROGERS
ST. JOHNS

When Chet Huntley reported on the astronauts reading from Genesis during their flight, the woman who got religion out of the schools and her supporters made 3,000 calls to the network objecting to Bible reading on a U. S. space ship, she said.

"Where were you? Did anyone write favorably?" she asked, adding, "I didn't because I never thought anyone would disapprove."

"AND YOU SAT still, too, over the television commercial showing how women got the vote and then continued, 'you have your own cigarette now, baby, you've come a long, long way'. You didn't say one word. Even the account executive I checked with was stunned that nobody complained. No one."

"And who buys the dirty books — middle-aged women," the peppery, weathered grandmother said. "Young people don't, generally. They're not the people who pay the $5 or 95 cents. In New York better bookstores they cover the books with bags for the ladies, she said.

"And who cares about hair — we've been going on about hair a long time," and it's not the important thing, Mrs. St.

This is a jumper.

We have jumpers too. A whole little collection of them. We have jumper dresses that can be worn with blouses or without. (Which would be especially clever of you to buy because it's like getting two for the price of one.) We have dresses with jumper jackets and others with jumper coats. (Which makes them the first completely right weight for the warmer days of spring and the cooler ones of summer.) We have jumpers that go over pants. We even have jumpsuits for you who are about to go to the moon. In other words, there are two places that are jumping with jumpers. One's Australia. The other's us. Take your pick.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Bad Eating Habits Bring Misery To Oversensitive And Others

DEAR HELEN:

I must live for another six months with a family that has atrocious eating manners. They smack, slurp, gulp and guzzle. My horse makes less noise!

My spine tingles when these people eat — and they do, constantly. I either have to leave the room or suffer, and sometimes I feel like screaming, but I only drop hints which are ignored.

Is it true that certain people can't help being noisy eaters?

—ABOUT TO CRACK

DEAR ATC:

True: Certain people are somewhat noisier eaters — and swallowers — than other perhaps because they're built that way. Even with their mouths closed, they can't help making unpleasant sounds. Add careless manners here, and wow! . . . Then there are those who are oversensitive to noise.

I doubt either side can change much, but it's only for six months, so bear up and try to tune out. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My father has never been inside any of the schools my sister and I have attended, and he never goes to our church. He sleeps until noon on weekends, then goes golfing, flying or fishing but never with the family.

He has never helped us with our school work or shown any interest at all, yet when we make poor grades, the restrictions are unbelievable. We can't talk on the phone, watch television or go anywhere, not even to church parties. Even if my grades come up to the usual B average, I can't do anything through the week and can go out only once on weekends. I'm 16, my sister is 14. She's so bitter she does nothing but sit in her room. The teachers have told my mother that we're being treated too strictly, but my father says "that's the way it's going to be."

He hardly ever speaks to us unless to criticize. We aren't bad looking, but I don't think he has ever told us we looked nice.

My mother is no housekeeper and smokes one cigarette after another. I can understand why now. He does nothing but criticize her too, and never listens to what she has to say.

Sometimes I think I hate my father for his meanness, and my mother for being so weak. I'd run away, but where would this leave my sister? I'm the only one she can talk to. Nothing has ever been done for love in this house.

JEAN

DEAR JEAN:

You've seen what "giving up" has done to your mother. Don't let it happen to you and your sister! A domineering father can make your life miserable but he can't ruin it, not unless you bow down and quit.

Develop an "I'll show you" attitude. Achieve in spite of his downgrading. Each time he criticizes, go out and prove him wrong. And when you feel bitterness taking over, exchange it for pity — not self-pity, but sympathy for a man and woman who have lost out on love. — H.

Saylors-Smith Vows In Novato

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold L. Smith of San Rafael, Linda chose her sister Jacqueline Smith of San Rafael as her maid of honor. Mrs. Karen Clark and Marilyn Hanson were the bridesmaids.

Best man for Richard was Gary Hugoboom of San Rafael and escorting guests to seats were Jack Frank of Novato, Gary Farrington of San Rafael and Ray White of San Anselmo.

The Lodge in Novato was the location of the wedding reception. After a trip to Washington, D. C., and the East Coast the newlyweds will live in San Rafael.

A graduate of Terra Linda High School, Linda attended College of Marin and is employed with the Permanente Medical Group in San Rafael.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Saylors of Chattanooga, Tenn., are Richard's parents. He is a graduate of Central High School in Chattanooga and attends Sonoma State College. He is employed with the American Service Bureau in San Francisco. Susan and Paula Saylors of Chattanooga and Mrs. James DeFoe of Florida are his sisters.

Urging a movement toward more spiritual belief, she said, "We've come to the moment in history when all science supports a belief in God. The spiritual mystery is still behind it."

CONTINUING ON her theme of training youth, she said that records today are very important.

"Did you go out and make 'Abraham, Martin and John' (a song about the assassinated humanitarians Abraham Lincoln, Martin Luther King Jr. and John F. Kennedy popular with youth) one of the great songs? You should. We ought to support them and use them as illustrations," Mrs. St. Johns said about such recordings.

"There is no communications gap with youth if we pay attention. This country is going to come out on top again when there is a widespread regeneration," she finished to a standing ovation from the women who represented 60,000 members in 610 clubs in California.

Russian Orthodox Rite For Mayer-Leonoff Vows

Tanya Leonoff was wed to Andrew Judson Mayer Sunday at Holy Trinity Russian Orthodox Cathedral in San Francisco.

Mrs. Robert Vannucci of San Francisco was matron of honor for the bride, who is the daughter of Anatole Leonoff and Mrs. Frank Bauman of San Francisco. The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Richard Neely of Longview, Wash.; Mrs. Ecrole Rava and Gala Maria Norton of Sausalito; Natalie Zavialoff of Oakland; and Arlene and Diana Schandelmier of San Francisco were bridesmaids.

Best man was Michael Tiernan of San Mateo, and Dr. Alva Owyang of San Carlos, Guy Hopkins of Mill Valley, Richard Neely, Peter Sternloff of San Rafael and the bride's brother, Glenn Leonoff of Fairfax ushered guests to their seat.

Tanya attended George Washington High School, City College of San Francisco and San Francisco State College. She is employed in the marketing department of the Pacific Telephone Company in San Francisco.

Andrew is the son of Mrs. Elinor Rogers of San Rafael and Joseph Mayer of Honolulu and the grandson of Mrs. Otto Mayer. He is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and attended the University of California at Los Angeles. Jeff Mayer of Los Angeles is his brother. The bridegroom is the president of Profinancial, Incorporated in Menlo Park.

The couple will make their home in Menlo Park following a wedding trip to Puerto Vallarta and Mexico City.

Old Mill Branch Formed By Marin General Volunteers

The ninth branch of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers, Old Mill Branch, has been formed to raise funds for the hospital.

The new branch, limited to 30 members who are Mill Valley residents, is headed by Mrs. John Burnham, president. Other officers are Mmes. Joseph Witherow, vice president; Edmund Pearson, recording secretary; Francis Keene, corresponding secretary and Willaim Penn, treasurer.

Members' husbands will be associates of the branch.

Other charter members are Mmes. Joseph Brewster, Ernest Brymer, Leroy Everett, Jack Heard, John Holm, J. Paul Hurd, Robert House, Lowell Jett, George Kaehler, Roland Kelly, E. H. Laird, J. J. Linker, William Moen, Earl Reinke, Gordon Reynolds, Robert Stott and Fred Wight.

Mrs. William Pemberton of Mill Valley, president of the Founders Auxiliary, directed organization of the new branch, assisted by Mmes. Vincent White and Eugene McGeorge, co-chairman of the branches committee of the auxiliary.

Donna Paddleford Is Engaged

Donna is the daughter of George S. Paddleford of Mountain View and Mrs. Kincaide Paddleford of Palo Alto. She is the sister of Diane, Robert, George and Henry Paddleford and Joel Kincaide. Donna was graduated from Menlo-Atherton High School in Menlo Park and will be graduated next month from Grace Ball Secretarial School in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Soden of Greenbrae are parents of the future bridegroom, and he has a brother, James Soden of Pacifica. Mrs. Lily Cuneo of San Francisco is his granmother.

Thomas is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and will be graduated in June from the University of San Francisco. He plans to continue studies toward a secondary teaching credential after the wedding.

Meat And Poultry Supplies Good For First May Weekend

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U. S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food shoppers will find good displays of meat and poultry and adequate supplies of some fresh fruits and vegetables in food stores and supermarkets this first weekend in May.

Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys head the list of abundant meats. Beef roasts and steaks are also in the abundant class and so are these pork items — bacon, ham and smoked picnics in all areas and chops, roasts and sausage in some areas.

Maine sardines, canned pink salmon, and fish sticks and portions continue to be the fish buys to watch for, according to the U. S. Department of the Interior.

Asparagus, cabbage, carrots, onions and potatoes are the most abundant fresh vegetables. Fresh fruit in best supply are grapefruit, oranges and strawberries.

On USDA's plentiful foods list for May are these additional foods — canned and frozen green beans, canned and frozen corn, canned beets, and canned tomatoes and tomato products.

In the West:

Beef prices generally are advanced in all Western markets while pork prices are mixed. Spring lamb is lower in all markets and chicken is higher in California.

Butter remains firm and eggs are lower only in San Francisco.

Beef loins are higher in California markets and other cuts are higher. Briskets and short plates are higher in San Francisco.

Fresh pork loins are higher in San Francisco. Spareribs are higher in California markets. Boston butts are higher in Los Angeles and lower in San Francisco. Smoked hams are lower and sliced and slab bacon are lower in all markets.

Medium size eggs are lower in San Francisco. Chicken hens are higher in San Francisco and broiler-fryers are higher in Los Angeles. Young tom turkeys under 22 pounds are lower in San Francisco while fryer-roaster and young hen turkeys are higher in Los Angeles.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include: Apples, avocados, bananas, grapefruit, oranges, strawberries, asparagus, cabbage, carrots, onions and potatoes.

Leftover Ham

Serve leftover ham in apple cases. Saute ¼ cup of chopped green pepper and 1 tablespoon of chopped onion in 2 tablespoons of butter until tender. Add 2 teaspoons of aromatic bitters, 1 teaspoon of dry mustard and 2 cups of finely diced ham. Hollow out 6 firm red apples, fill with ham mixture, brush with butter and bake 30 minutes in covered casserole in preheated 350 degree oven. Uncover and bake 15 minutes more Makes 6 servings.

Community Efforts Bring Recognition

The 60,000 member California Federation of Women's Clubs announced its radio - television and its motion picture awards at the convention in San Francisco Wednesday. On a vote of each district, film awards went to "Chitty-Chitty Bang Bang," "Finian's Rainbow," and "Yours, Mine and Ours."

Television and radio awards were voted to George Putnam for news presentation, "Family Affair," "The Hollywood Palace," and "Mayberry RFD." Programs were selected as meeting the CFWC family viewing standard.

For the first time individuals were singled out for the new outstanding service achievement award, an Oscar-like female statuette.

Winners were Mrs. Charles Strope of Redwood District for fostering the mental health program in Del Norte and Humboldt counties; Mrs. Franklin Evenson of San Diego for furthering a community effort toward tasteful development of the San Diego Airport and Harbor area; Mrs. Ralph Reynolds of San Francisco, Golden Gate District, for volunteer work toward scenic highway development; and Lawrence E. Martin of Fresno for furthering American Indian education.

Gwendolyn Bryant Education Award winners were, Area A, Colusa Woman's Club; Area b, Porterville, Women's Club; Area C, Tuesday Afternoon Club; Area D, Banning Women's Club.

The Josephine Seaman Award winners were Saratoga Federated Women's Club, Orinda Women's Club, Richmond Women's Club, Sierra Madre Civic Club, Progressive Home Club (Fresno District); and Claremont Women's Club.

For motion picture education, winners were Orange, and Marina, Loma Prieta and Kern districts. Club award winner was Tustin Area Women's Club.

Radio and television awards were given to Sierra Cahuenga and Kern districts. The Woman's Club of Arroyo Grande took the club award.

State Initiates Program For Eliminating Poisonings

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Pennsylvania has taken steps to reduce the possibility of lead poisoning in children—a hazard which threatens the young nationally.

Since most lead poisoning occurs as a result of eating chipped paint, standards of the state health department now provide that "when interior painted surfaces are readily accessible to children, paints shall contain less than one per cent lead by weight."

Previously, the standards specified only the use of "non-toxic" material.

New Concept In Music Education

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A new concept in music appreciation — one that ties in live performances with the general educational program — is creating much excitement among students and teachers in San Rafael schools.

Instituted last year by Hugo Rinaldi, head of music in the San Rafael Schools, it has reached a peak this year with a full fledged chamber opera, Menotti's "The Old Maid and the Thief." It is being presented for five weeks on Wednesdays from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. in the San Rafael High School auditorium. The first performance took place yesterday.

The opera is completely staged with costuming, sets, and orchestra in the pit composed of members of the San Rafael City Schools music department and some members of the San Rafael High School Orchestra.

In leading roles are three professional singers: baritone Byron Jones, who is also head of vocal music in San Rafael schools, soprano Marian Marsh and mezzo soprano Rosemary Bryans. Another major lead is sung by soprano Jan Leidel, and San Rafael High principal Dr. Alan Ellenberg has a walk-on part as a hippie at the end.

For each performance 500 youngsters, ranging from kindergarteners through third graders to fourth graders through high school seniors, are bussed to San Rafael High.

An important objective of the program, Rinaldi explains, is "to expand the musical horizon for all youngsters in the schools, regardless of ability or background, so that it is really a music appreciation program exposing them to different kinds of performances that tie in with what they hear and see in their school work." This may include other subjects than music, such as history, literature and art.

"Most of the kids had never even seen an orchestra or gone to a concert," Rinaldi says.

While entertainment and enjoyment are legitimate aims of going to concerts, preparation on the part of both students and teachers insures maximum participation and educational results.

Before performances each student receives a folder containing material explaining the music he will hear, something about the composer and thought provoking questions that he is to think about at the concert. Sometimes the boys and girls meet the musicians and may ask them questions.

The teacher is provided with a guide to help lead discussions, after the concerts the youngsters are expected to report on what they have seen and heard and their personal reactions.

The cost, such as the fees for professional musicians, is not paid by the school district. All it pays is the expense of bussing the children to San Rafael High. Proceeds from public admission to the San Rafael Schools' annual vocal concert in February provide funds for all other expenses.

33 Marinites To Receive PG&E Honors

Pacific Gas and Electric Co.'s North Bay Division will honor 33 employees from Marin with more than five years of service at a dinner next Thursday at the Los Robles Lodge in Santa Rosa.

Enid Monteiro will receive a 35-year award; Ben B. Dell'Era and Melvin A. Cox, 30 years; Lewis Wehrer, Robert T. Burkell, Leon Millsap, John Silva and Fred O. Carlsen, 20 years.

Thirteen employees from Marin will receive 5-year awards; seven will receive 10-year awards and two will receive 15-year awards.

Typewriter Stolen

Frank Pinkard of 30 Waverly Place, San Anselmo, reported to police at about 10:30 p.m. yesterday that, while his car was parked on Austin Avenue near Waverly Place, someone forced open a wing window and stole his $60 typewriter and threw his brief case onto the sidewalk.

Fairgoers Will See Pacific Ballet Again

The Pacific Ballet of San Francisco will perform July 6 at the Marin Art and Garden Fair, Ross, climaxing the annual four-day county fair.

It will be the fourth appearance of the group, the first since 1966. The performance will include selections from the ballet's spring season.

London Goes Wild Over Betty Grable

LONDON (AP) — World War II's favorite pinup girl, movie actress Betty Grable, made a smash comeback on the London stage last night dodging bullwhips and gun fights and emerging intact from a burning saloon. But she didn't get a single review from British drama critics.

The blonde glamor girl, now a matronly 52 years old but still equipped with million-dollar legs, won six curtain calls in the opening of the musical "Belle Starr" and then got hit by a May Day strike of newspaper workers that kept the critics silent.

Dressed in an ankle-lenth pink peignoir that hid her famous legs, Miss Grable broke into tears as applause erupted from 1,462 customers at the Palace Theater, and she told the sell-out audience: "This is wonderful, wonderful—thank you very much." Men in the crowd shouted back: "We love you, Betty."

"It looks to me like the show could run for 20 years," said theatrical agent Frank Rainbow, "but we won't really know until the newspapers come out again."

The applause began as soon as Miss Grable appeared on the stage and strutted down from a Wild West saloon balcony. It burst out again as her long negligee parted and revealed a glimpse of the Grable legs, and then erupted throughout the show, which is punctuated by such unmusical frays as a bowie-knife fight, a bull-whip duel and 16-man brawl. Plumpish Miss Grable plays the saloon owner, but every night the saloon burns down.

Man Arrested As Petty Theft Suspect

Loren J. Liptak, 26, who gave his address as Pennsylvania, was placed under citizens's arrest yesterday after he reportedly walked out of Disco, a department store at 1 Larkspur Plaza, Larkspur, with an unpaid-for leather punch and some brads, police reported today.

Disco employee David Hebel made the arrest. The items were valued at $1.82.

Vermont was the 14th state to join the union.

'George M!' To Open Civic Light Opera

By GARY TISCHLER

The San Francisco Civic Light Opera begins its 32nd season with the premiere of "George M!" complete with its original Broadway cast at the Curran Theater next Thursday.

The original cast, of course, includes Joel Grey in the starring role of George M. Cohan. The production is choreographed and directed by Joe Layton.

The San Francisco Symphony Orchestra will present its gala Spring Concert, under the baton of Maestro Josef Krips at the Civic Auditorium next Thursday.

Featured will be pianist Git Karasik, a Symphony Foundation Award winner, and violinist Stuart Canin.

The symphony's regular subscription performance tomorrow at the Opera House will feature conductor George Cleve and pianist Firkusny at 8:30 p.m.

Guest artist at the Oakland Symphony's regular performance Tuesday through Thursday at the Oakland Auditorium Theater will be mezzo-soprano Donna Petersen and the San Francisco Boys' Chorus.

Christopher Parkening, the boy wonder of the classical guitar and Segovia's own acclaimed heir, will make his San Francisco debut as part of the San Francisco Music Series in a one-shot concert at the Masonic Auditorium Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

French chanteuse Beatrice Arnac will appear at the Zellerbach Auditorium Thursday, May 8, at 8:30 p.m. with a program of French folklore and poetry set to music. She'll be accompanied by French classical guitarists Daniel Dossman and Bernard Pierrot.

Pianist Robert Helps and violinist Isidore Cohen will give a concert in Hertz Hall tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. A concert of contemporary music with the University of California Symphony, Chorus and Repertory Chorus will be given in Hertz Hall Sunday and Monday at 8:30 p.m.

The University of Michigan Symphony Band will appear in concert in Zellerbach Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday.

On the rock and pop scene, sultry songstress Lainie Kazan will headline at the Circle Star Theater along with folksinger-composer John ("Gentle On My Mind") Hartford beginning tomorrow for four performances.

Rock entrepreneur Bill Graham has a special lined up at the Winterland tomorrow and Saturday. Headlining are the Jefferson Airplane and the Grateful Dead along with congo drummer Mongo Santamaria. The regular show at the Fillmore features Santamaria, Cold Blood and the Elvin Bishop Band through Sunday.

The Cow Palace will also shake a little tomorrow with a special "Cow Rock Show" Saturday featuring the Guess Who, the Youngbloods, the Classics IV, the Sir Douglas Quintet, the Grassroots, People and Delaney and Bonnie.

DRAMA

"Pyramus and Thisby," an adaptation of the mechanics' scenes from Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," opens at the Theater in Berkeley Saturday. Performances are at 11 a.m. each Saturday for the next ten weeks.

ACT schedule through Thursday:

Geary Theater—Friday "Rosenkrantz and Guildenstern," 8:30 p.m.; Saturday "The Three Sisters," 8:30 p.m.; Sunday "Rosenkrantz and Guildenstern," 2 and 7:30 p.m.; Tuesday and Wednesday "Rosenkrantz and Guildenstern," 8:30 p.m.; Thursday "The Three Sisters," 2 p.m., "A Flea in Her Ear," 8:30 p.m.

Ghirardelli Square—"The Fantasticks," 8 p.m. Tuesday, 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Little Fox Theater—"You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown," Sunday at 2 and 5 p.m.; Saturday 7:30 and 10 p.m.; Tuesday through Friday at 8:30 p.m.

San Francisco Museum of Art—Edward Corbett Retrospective through Sunday; "The Rose," through May 25; Photographs by Frederick Sommer, through May 18; "The Vibrating World," through May 18; "Just Yesterday," through June 1.

M. H. de Young Memorial Museum—Paintings by William Sidney Mount, through May 31; Masterprints of five centuries, through May 11.

California Palace of the Legion of Honor — Pre-Columbian Art, through May 13; paintings by Manuel Villalamor, through May 11; "Artists Look at Themselves," through May 18.

Identification Of Cast Is Corrected

The Independent-Journal's review of "The Impossible Years" incorrectly identified Janice Richey as playing the part of Alice Kingsley. Miss Richey plays the part of Abbey Kingsley, the bratty young sister in the play.

Marinite Takes Colorado Post

G. R. M.CConnell, administrative consultant in the Marin County Schools office and superintendent of the Mill Valley School District from 1957 to 1967, will start work June 1 at a $21,000 a year as assistant superintendent for personnel in the Adams-Arapahoe School District Aurora, Colo.

McConnell left the Mill Valley job to conplete doctorate work at the University of California, and had worked in the county schools office while completing graduate work.

The Colorado district has 18,000 pupils in 26 schools.

This important purchase and clearance sale of inexpensive and extra high quality carpet is so big and one of the most sensational sales in the last 12 years that you can buy carpet at a price far below regular prices. Frankly, we have not always sold this high quality carpet because we did not think many people would pay up to $15.00 a yard for carpet, but now this same carpet can be purchased at a fraction of that price.

Mary Sees How Sheep Get Haircut

LARRY D. HATFIELD

THE BARBER—Phil Jensen, a Tomales High School freshman demonstrates his sheering technique for the Greenbrae School youngsters at yesterday's visit to the West Marin School. Instruction in sheering is part of the Tomales school's agricultural science program.

The city kids went to the country yesterday to see the sheep shorn.

"It was very fantastic," said 8-year-old Daniel Popovich.

"I thought it was scary. I closed my eyes," said 8-year-old Maxine Blumberg.

Both Daniel and Maxine are third graders at the Greenbrae School and were among first, second and third graders from the school who visited Tomales High School to witness a special demonstration of sheep shearing by agriculture students there.

The controlled chaos of putting together two four-day-old lambs, several older sheep as unwilling shearing models, 69 wide-eyed kids, some curious high schoolers and a school board president who is also a sheep rancher was a solid educational experience, all hands agreed.

"That machine is amazing . . . unbelievable," said 9-year-old John Heffernan, also a third grader, as students John and Bill Jensen and Mike Furlong wielded the shearing clippers under the direction of Tomales High School District board president Roy A. Parks.

To dark-eyed and serious-faced Mary Ann Maggi, 7, it was "very interesting." She had, she said, never seen a sheep before.

"It was kinda good," said 7-year-old first grader Greg Fermbacher. "I liked it when they showed the teeth."

"Look at his funny face," said Marsha Pizzo, 8, a third grader holding one of the lambs. "He stuck his tongue out at me," giggled another 8-year-old third grader, Mark Tognotti.

Another girl, Andrea Green, also held a lamb and announced, "I've seen sheep before because they have sheep in Santa Rosa where my dog is."

Smith had to be patient because he arranged the whole expedition. "He doesn't have a name," Smith solemnly told the youngster. "There are just too many sheep around here to give them each a name."

POPULAR LAMB — Susan Kuizenga, a Greenbrae School teacher who led the expedition to the farmlands of West Marin, is surrounded by first, second and third graders trying to pet the 4-day-old lamb in her arms.

PLANS FOR HARMONY

It's Geronimo! In The Valley

The truce between previously warring factions in the San Geronimo Valley was reinforced last night in a burst of harmony and cooperative planning for the future at another "town meeting."

About 90 people attended the session although leaders of the sponsoring San Geronimo Valley Association insisted that only 32 people should have attended.

That was the number of people who signed up for a committee at a previous meeting to work to bridge the gap between old-line property owners and newcomers to the valley.

The meeting was not announced publicly and the press was not invited.

Despite the unhappiness of a few of the association members, the meeting was generally friendly and orderly and everyone seemed to be trying to get along with everyone else.

After a lengthy general discussion of the valley's problems, including a question and answer session with Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom and Deputy Sheriff Weldon C. Travis, the group elected Lagunitas artist Jean Berensmeier and Ron Thelin, who said he represented the valley's hip community, as its co-chairmen.

Mrs. Berensmeier and Thelin then set May 18 for a sort of community day for the valley's four villages.

Mrs. Berensmeier said the morning would be devoted to organized clean-ups in Lagunitas, Woodacre, Forest Knolls and San Geronimo, followed by lunch and "conversation so we can get to know each other better."

After that, she said, there would be dancing, outside and inside Lagunitas School, with both rock and more sedate music. "Those of us who don't care for the noisy music (rock) can always go inside and dance to music we like," Mrs. Berensmeier said.

It was loud music that made the long brewing feud in the valley erupt last month after a rock band played on two Sundays near Shirley's Cafe. Subsequently, the cafe was the target of arson and shotgun blasts.

It was Shirley's Cafe that sparked the only angry exchange at last night's meeting. After a woman said that one of the valley's problems was "militant harassment and vigilante type vandalism," a long-time resident shouted for proof.

This brought an angry reaction from Richard Green, owner of the cafe, who said a friend of his, Gary Shafer, had had his nose broken as a result of the feud in an altercation last Sunday.

The woman said it had nothing to do with the valley as such, but was a personal problem. Green disagreed, saying, "This is very much apart of community . . . this is what this community has spawned."

He went on: "The problem here is a bunch of people saying what they don't like. Let's find out what people do like and then try to get it."

Earlier, Mrs. Berensmeier had asked members of the audience to list problems in the valley to be attacked. There were two dozen suggestions, including narcotics (Travis said San Geronimo Valley has a reputation for being a haven for big-scale drug dealers), litter, noise, fire, theft, ecological versus job culture, transportation and environmental health.

A variety of speakers agreed that the biggest problem probably was a failure to communicate with each other. One speaker, Winifred Frederick, was applauded when she said, "We are all here on one side . . . to solve the problems of the valley."

The nearly three-hour meeting frequently bogged down in repetitious exchanges between members of the separate factions in the valley.

During one such exchange, R. D. Poppe of Forest Knolls said, "A lot of the straight citizens are uptight and afraid if we have this loud music, it would attract people to a 'happening.' We are really concerned that San Geronimo might become the Haight-Ashbury of Marin County."

A member of the audience countered, "At a happening, nothing happens but people enjoying themselves. People's children ars not going to be corrupted by loud music."

The new group, which agreed on the name Geronimo!, decided to meet the first Monday of each month.

San Quentin Is Back To 50 Pct. Operation

San Quentin Prison was reported "about 50 per cent back in business" today after a general lockup ordered Monday in the wake of a series of killings.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park also reported that about 1,200 inmates in the north and west cell blocks were unlocked this morning to return to their normal work routines. Also, about 300 to 400 inmates nn the south and east blocks have been unlocked to resume essential jobs, he said.

Asked how long the lockup would continue for the other 1,600 inmates, Park said "I have no idea at this time."

The inmates who were released, he noted, "are a better class of prisoner. The tensions are less and the problem potential is much less in these two blocks," Park added.

Meals, served only twice on Tuesday, are on "a relatively normal schedule," he said.

The shakedown of the prison is almost completed, and has turned up about 48 assorted weapons. The shakedown will continue today, he said.

Thirty-six inmates have been locked up for investigation in the racial incidents, and "there probably will be some more" held for investigation, Park said.

Several of the suspects being locked up for investigation are from the "militant white element," Park said, and were found circulating near incidents when they should have been at work assignments elsewhere.

Inmate Dies In Prison Hospital

Earl Hughes, 51, a sex offender due for release Monday on parole from San Quentin Prison, died early today in the prison hospital.

Prison officials said he apparently died of a heart attack.

He was serving a sentence of one year to life for a 1959 conviction in Kern County on a sex offense.

A farm laborer, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hughes, address unknown.

Three-Car Crash Injures Driver

A San Rafael man suffered minor injuries yesterday when his auto was involved in a chain-reaction crash on Third Street, west of A Street, in San Rafael.

His car and ones driven by Herbert Robinson, 29, of 31 Latham Street, and Ernest Handy, 25, of 1567 Fourth Street, both San Rafael, collided at 3:50 p.m. Police said Handy was unable to stop his vehicle in slowing traffic, triggering the crash.

Teener Accused Of Shoplifting

Miss Schindler, booked into Marin County Jail, was released in her own custody to appear tomorrow in Municipal Court.

Candidates' Night Reset In Petaluma

The candidates' night program planned by the Petaluma Young Republicans Club for next Thursday has been postponed until May 15 because of conflicts in candidates' schedules, club officers reported.

Scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Sonoma Joe's restaurant, aspirants for mayor, city council and board of education in the June 10 election will be invited to present their views.

Petaluman's Husband Dies In War

Marine Pfc. Richard A. Walker, 19, husband of Ann Owen Walker of Petaluma, was killed in action in Vietnam on Saturday, the Defense Department has reported.

Officials said Walker died in a bomb explosion while on a search and clear mission south of Da Nang.

A native of Bedford, Ind., he had lived in Winnemucca and Reno, before entering the Marines. He had been in Vietnam for two months. His wife, who is expecting their first child this month, lives at 210 Bodega Avenue.

Alexandre Gustave Eiffel, the French engineer known for his work on the Eiffel Tower, also designed locks for the Panama Canal and built the framework for the Statue of Liberty.

Muir Beach Nude Capers Due Study

Citizens of Muir Beach will confer with county officials tonight at Civic Center to map strategy on coping with increasing vandalism and nudism at Muir Beach.

The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the supervisors' chambers on the third floor.

County Supervisor Michael Wornum said he had been notified of tonight's meeting by Muir Beach resident Ernest Emig. Wornum said he will attend for a few minutes, but must leave for another meeting in Tamalpais Valley, which starts at 8 p.m.

County officials including the sheriff, district attorney and the county counsel will attend or send representatives.

The meeting is an outgrowth of last Sunday's disturbance at Muir Beach, where sheriff's deputies were called because of a large gathering of people, some of them frolicking in the nude, who littered the beach and damaged adjacent property.

Plea Date Set On Loitering Charges

Freddie Leon Center, 22, of San Rafael, was arraigned yesterday in Marin municipal Court on two counts of loitering on private property and ordered to plead to the charges at 1:30 p.m. May 19.

Center was arrested Sunday after he knocked on the front door of a Bret Harte residence shortly after midnight. The resident said he had been prowling around the house four months ago.

Tape Deck Stolen

Ralph Glotzer of 22A Circle Drive, Tiburon, reported to the sheriff's department Monday that someone had stolen a stereo tape deck from his car while it was parked in his carport, officers said yesterday.

Indians Give Legislators Lesson In Citizenship

The American Indian is noted for his taciturnity; but he is also known for reaching decisions affecting the tribe in open council.

Now a group of Indian organizations has broken the traditional taciturnity to demand that the state's commission that controls Indian affairs reach its decisions in open council.

It hasn't been doing so, declared the Indians in a suit filed last week in Sacramento Superior Court.

THE COMMISSION is the California Advisory Commission on Indian Affairs. Its membership includes two state senators — John L. Harmer and Randolph Collier, and three members of the Assembly — Pauline L. Davis, Eugene R. Chappie and Kent H. Stacey. It also includes Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction.

These worthies and the other commission members have been meeting behind closed doors, the suit contends. It charges this constitutes "contempt for Indian wishes, California law and democratic principles of government."

Attorney George F. Duke, representing the Indians, filed with the court copies of six letters sent to Senator Harmer, the commission chairman, and Berenice Pate, its executive secretary, since last Aug. 9, all asking for notification of meeting dates and times. He filed one reply, from Mrs. Pate last Oct. 29, saying "you will be notified when hearings or meetings are scheduled."

However, charged the attorney, meetings have been held and no notice has been received.

The complaint, on behalf of the California Indian Education Association, Susanville Indian Rancheria General Council, United American Indians of Santa Clara Valley, and Mission Indians of Soboda Reservation, plus several individuals, calls up memories of the red man's tragic past as it alleges:

"THE AMERICAN INDIAN generally and Indians in California in particular have been dominated by non-Indians for over a century. The federal and state governments have been unmitigatingly paternalistic." But, it declares, there is "renewal of Indian pride and increasing desire for self-determination."

Such self-determination, it continues, is blocked when the commission violates the Ralph M. Brown Act by meeting behind closed doors and without proper notice.

Further, it claims, the commission has violated the Bagley Open Records Act by keeping secret from the plaintiffs copies of most of its records.

WE'RE ALL for the Indians on this one. That a commission set up by the California government is continuing in the year 1969 the arrogant paternalism that marked dealings with the red men a century ago is almost unbelievable.

Also, we doff our head dress to the California Indian Education Association et al for going to court to give their white brothers — including two state senators, three Assembly members, and the state superintendent of public instruction — a basic lesson in American citizenship.

The Imbalance Of Nature

There exists an imperfectly understood myth that mankind has disturbed the balance of nature in recent decades and that, as a direct result, we are headed on the road to perdition. In reality, mankind has been disturbing the balance of nature ever since he gave up hunting and fishing for the cultivation of fields and animal husbandry. By producing far more of certain plants and animals than would exist naturally, man destroyed the balance of nature and at the same time took a long step forward toward being civilized.

But what man has been destroying in recent years is a certain always precarious stability in the imbalance of nature. There is a classic case we read about in a natural science magazine not long ago which illustrates our point. In New Guinea a large village as sprayed with DDT to kill the malaria mosquitos. It got rid of them allright, but it also make the little lizards that fed on the posioned mosquitos sick. The sick lizards were eaten by the village cats. The cats died and within weeks the village was overrun with rats, spoiling food and threatening the village with a potential outbreak of bubonic plague. The DDT also killed a variety of wasp which fed on a species of caterpillar which eats wood. As a result, the village houses fell down.

With more second-thoughts, tragedies like this can be avoided. And the stability in the imbalance of nature can be preserved.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Everybody Has A Tax Plan, But Most Are Full Of Holes

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — With the controversy over the method of tax reform, the big question now is whether the people of the state will get any reform at all this year.

Legislators as well as Gov. Ronald Reagan and his administration are well aware that there is a growing demand for tax reform, but the big question is how to achieve the goal.

Sen. William E. Coombs, R-Rialto, says there are nearly a half dozen proposals before the legislature. Coombs has one of them himself, the "gross margins" method, whech he presented after nearly two years of study as a substitute for the property tax.

GOVERNOR REAGAN has presented a tax reform program which proposes about a 50 per cent increase in personal income tax. This is meeting, Coombs says, with strong resistance from middle income and young family groups.

Coombs also points out that extension of the sales tax to repair labor and packaging materials is being attacked as an additional tax on low-income groups.

Coombs challenges as ridiculous the estimates of yield of a compulsory withholding tax, also opposed by Governor Reagan.

"They tell us," he says, "that California is losing many millions of dollars in personal income tax through failure to withhold. I have heard figures ranging from $90 to $115 million. . .

"The figure on it's face is ridiculous. If it were correct, it would mean that 900,000 persons, each with an average of $5,125 on net taxable income, would be leaving the state without paying their tax or leaving a forwarding address. This is approximately five percent of the population. The mere statement is enough to throw serious question on the validity of the entire argument for withholding."

THE GROSS margins tax proposed by Senator Coombs, would be, he says, a "neutral" tax.

"This plan," Coombs states, "creates a tax system which is very sensitive to changes in the economy, and provides permanent relief to overburdened and over-taxed property owners."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

College Welcomes Help For Students

The report in the April 25 edition of the Independent-Journal about the College of Marin Board meeting of the 24th indicated that some of the citizens present felt that students could go to the people and raise plenty of money to help them remain in college.

This letter is written to encourage all who may be interested in either making a cash contribution (or other asset) or in hekping to solicit funds for student financial aid to contact A. E. Rucker, president of the College of Marin Foundation; Galen Foster, chairman of the fund-raising campaign, or Mrs. Earlene Jones, in charge of publicity for the college. All may be reached through Mrs. Jones, c/o College of Marin Foundation, College of Marin, Kentfield. Such assistance would be most welcome.

The College of Marin Foundation was formed about five years ago for the express purpose of raising money to help students. A few dedicated people have worked very hard on this project and with some success. It is evident, however, that many of our citizens do not know of this organization. It is also clear that much more could be done than is being done and it is hoped that all of those who expressed an interest in financial help for students at the meeting Thursday night will come forward and lend a hand.

Nothing could be more encouraging to those of us who have been working to raise money for students than to have dome new, eager hands join the effort.

THEODORE C. WELLMAN

April Cruelest Month For Marin

"April is the cruelest month" for Marin County's youth and general citizenry. Perhaps they don't even know that it is. The first cruelty was the landslide defeat of the tax override issue April 15.

The second involved the total absence of communication between the College of Marin students and the board of trustees at the board meeting April 24, in which the board adjourned under difficult circumstances 25 minutes after it called the meeting to order, leaving the students to speak to the only people left with whom, it would seem, communication is still taking place — each other.

The third cruelty developed at Tamalpais Creek today (April 28) when the Army Corps of Engineers vivisected and mutilated the lush greenery that flanked the creek in preparation for pouring cement into its bowels.

Perhaps the last cruelty is symbolic of a final loss of innocence and not just for the students who peacefully dissented there. Many citizens who represent the establishment, the taxpayers and property owners suffered a loss of innocence too. The totally admirable efforts of Marty Kent Jones, in my mind a heroine, to work within the system, to try legal recourse, to present rational arguments and alternatives to the larger power structure failed, and the trees and creek and other living things she and her friends courageously defended still met a violent death. We who wait too long to help can now write the epitaphs for the dead.

Drunken Driving Deserves Penalties

Reader Jack Anthony's letter (I-J, April 24) protesting our drunk driving laws, coming just two days after the senseless death of Sen. (Alan G.) Pattee (courtesy of a drunk driver) has left me with an irresistable urge to volunteer my sentiments on this subject.

Each year more Americans are killed by drunk drivers than by the Viet Cong. When the state of Connecticut had the courage to enact really severe penalties for drunk and reckless driving, its high traffic fatality rate fell dramatically. . .

Given sufficient social and monetary penalties, the plain, it-could-have-happened-to-anyone type of motorist would make very sure it didn't happen to him again. A healthy individual would have learned his lesson. To this end, your policy of publicity does a real public service.

Still, our society has never faced up to the problem of the individual who is so sick that he allows such an arrest to occur again and again. He is the inadequate person who truly needs a keeper for his own and society's protection.

Until we ever do reach the stage of enlightenment where compulsory treatment, in a custodial setting, is routinely provided for these social inadequates, any effort on your part to warn (via embarrassing publicity) those in danger of becoming a public nuisance, or an involuntary killer, is all to the good.

Montecito Center Hardly An Excuse

I leave it to the owners and builders of Montecito Center to take him to task for maligning their pet property. But if Mr Cascone has an idle afternoon, he can stroll through this shopping center and buy his drugs and sundries, purchase his groceries and booze, have his shoes repaired, suit pressed and hair cut, and then cash a check and apply for a loan. Not necessarily in that order.

After eating his lunch, he can do his own laundry, repair his TV, get lumber for his deck and paint for his boat. Then with light afternoon snacks of fish and chips, pizza and beer under his belt, he can shop for a bridal gown for his daughter, a dress for his wife and clothing for the kiddies. After tasting sample wines, he can order a cat, pet a dog and gaze at goldfish. And leave his old jacket for resale. As the sun sets, he can go home with a fondue pot and a record album — and even find a special gift for Mother's Day.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

An obstreperous youngster made the mistake one afternoon of crawling all over the cantankerous W. C. Fields. "Our little Wilfred is certainly a problem," apologized his mother. "We don't know what to make of him." Fields seized a moment when Mama's head was turned the other way to give little Wilfred a neatly aimed kick on the shin and rasp, "How about a nice rug?"

A six-year-old girl, trying to dress herself, was overheard complaining to her mother, "How can I fasten my dress when the zipper is in the back and I'm in the front?" Another lass, about the same age, approached her hour of decision in the lingerie section of a fashionable department store. She examined a variety of brassieres, finally selected the most elaborate and asked the clerk, "Have you anything like this for beginners?"

Legend Of DeGaulle Lives As Hero Retires To Shadows

WASHINGTON — The legend is greater than the man, and it is the legend, now that Charles de Gaulle is in retirement, that will shed luster on the glory of France. Already the name of de Gaulle is being linked with Napoleon, the two figures in the Pantheon symbolizing for Frenchmen the immortality of La France.

Again and again he defied the hazards of assassination with lofty disdain. Returning to Paris in the first days of the liberation in 1944, he strode into the Cathedral of Notre Dame, ignoring the sniper fire that persisted as the last pockets of enemy resistance were wiped out. The looming, erect figure in the cavernous shadows of the ancient cathedral put a thrilling period to the long nightmare of the German occupation.

While it may be apocryphal, the story of the general's narrowest escape has a legendary quality. He was being driven with Madam de Gaulle down to his modest country place at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises when the car was fired on from an ambush. Madame de Gaulle instinctively, so the story goes, threw herself down on the floor of the car. Sitting bolt upright, the president-general said, "No, Yvonne, No!" Although several windows were shattered, they rode unscathed through the hail of bullets.

ENDING the Algerian war was de Gaulle's greatest act of courage, and one that only he could have performed. The Bitter colonial war, with incredible cruelties on both sides, had divided the French people in somewhat the same fashion that the Vietnam war has been deeply divisive in the United States.

It was beacuse he was the prisoner of the legend as well as its hero and author that de Gaulle exceeded the reach of a nation of 50 million people with limited resources. His was the romantic concept of the France of the sun king, Napoleon, and the empire of the 19th Century, to be recreated in the age of the super-powers.

He set out to give France a nuclear capability, a card in the nuclear power game. At the time of its initiation this may have made a certain amount of sense, reducing French dependence on America's nuclear shield. But even as France's first nuclear test explosion occurred in the Sahara desert nine years ago, the giant strides of the super-powers in missilery and toward multiple warheads had reduced the French venture to a meaningless token.

There is little doubt that this costly venture contributed to the inflationary price rise and diverted funds that might otherwise have gone to modernize the economy and enlarge the educational system to provide the technical training essential to a modern nation.

THE FAILURE to expand the educational framework, leaving the old rigidities out of an earlier time and a serious overcrowding in all institutions, was one reason for the "revolution" of a year ago. Rebellious students, joined by the trade unions, nearly brought France down, preparing the way after big wage hikes for the monetary crisis of November. This was the price for a glory out of the romanticized past with litte relation to the realities of the last third of the 20th Century.

Whatever else the weekend vote on the reform package meant, it showed the people of France were at last weary of de Gaulle's dramatics. They were prepared to elevate him in the Pantheon while nervously confronting a France without a national hero.

History, Bomb Restrict Freedom Of U.S. Action

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Secretary of State William P. Rogers said it when he declared: "The weak can be rash; the powerful must be more restrained."

It long has been accepted as a fact that the over-kill capacity of the United States and the Soviet Union has limited the maneuverability of both super powers while the smaller nations operating under the protective umbrella of either or both have assumed increasing freedom of action.

President Nixon's measured reaction to the downing of the EC121 American reconnaissance plane by two North Korean MIG jets took accounting of both.

He is committed to an end of the war in Vietnam as quickly as possible and does not want to become involved in another.

Retaliatory action against North Korea would have forced the Soviet Union to support Pyongyang, further reducing any chance for agreement between Washington and Moscow.

THE PRESIDENT also is committed to a policy of negotiation in the Far East, the Near East and the arms race, and so, despite some embarrassment caused by the fact that many were recalling his own pre-election demands for retaliation in the case of the Pueblo, he chose the soft voice.

Historically, the President also is bound by policies enunciated nearly 20 years ago.

In early 1950, the then secretary of state, Dean Acheson, defined the U.S. defense perimeter in the Pacific as including Japan, Okinawa and the Philippines. He omitted Korea and Southeast Asia.

Within months came the North Korean invasion of the south and President Harry S Truman's overnight decision to intervene in defense of South Korea.

As a result of that decision some 50,000 American troops remain stationed along the artificial boundary dividing the two Koreas.

THE DEFENSE of another artificial boundary, the one in Vietnam, also came about because of a U.S. policy switch.

After the fall of the Chinese mainland to the Communists in 1949, the official U.S. position was that it could not prevent the ultimate fall of Formosa to the Reds nor could it prevent a take-over of Southeast Asia because the people there had neither the ability nor the will to protect themselves.

Then came the defeat of the French in Indo-China, the birth of SEATO and a string of bilateral pacts designed to contain Red China.

THE MILITARY defend continuation of such spy flights as that by the downed EC121 on the grounds that satellites can not yet do the whole job.

Both the Soviet Union and the United States conduct extensive intelligence networks to keep track of each other and the remainder of the world. Between them a sort of gentlemen's agreement has been worked out.

The Russians may not approve of the bellicose actions of their tiny ally. But neither can they prevent them.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

I firmly believe that freedom of information is one of the most important weapons we have in the great struggle for freedom now going on around the world. — Robert F. Kennedy.

Troubled With Pigeons? Here's Marinite Who Invites 'Em In

The other day we went to see the pigeon lady of Coogan Gulch.

Vera Rivers said, "come in," showed us a picture of a band-tailed pigeon in a book and boasted: "They are real wild."

Then she got a two-pound coffee can of chick feed from the hall and took it out into the gulch and poured it into a feeder. She returned.

"See that one up there in the oak!" she cried.

In a couple of minutes, Mrs. Rivers heard a noise and we hurried to look out the kitchen window to see a band of blue pigeons with white ringed necks swooping down to the feeder.

"They swoop down just like airplanes in the war," said the amiable lady with daisy ear rings, "and, in the morning they look down on me like vultures."

Mrs. Rivers explained that she feeds them at about 8:30 a.m., even before she breakfasts.

She used to feed them twice a day but that got to be too expensive.

THE BAND-TAILS, also called blue pigeons, first send down a scouting party of two or three after the feed has been set out, then when the coast is clear, the rest follow, sometimes tumbling on top of each other on landing.

"My neighbor feeds them, too," Mrs. Rivers said, and during our visit, in walked the pigeon man from the hill — Donovan Lange.

Lange said there are 50 to 200 pigeons who come to his feeder. "They fight like everything," he declared. "They push each other around like chickens. In fact, they have a pecking order, too. But the young squabs are the most nervy."

Mrs. Rivers said that her late husband used to hunt wild pigeons in Napa County and, when they moved to San Anselmo, was delighted to have some in the area. He didn't hunt them, however.

"I catch one in my house once in awhile," Lange said.

"Yes, but don't cook it!" exclaimed Mrs. Rivers.

The pigeon lady goes to Petaluma for her feed where she buys 16 sacks of 100 pounds each at once. This lasts for six months.

THE BLUE PIGEONS do not bother Mrs. Rivers' swimming pool, she noted. She said, however, that one day she was answering a letter from a friend who had said, "I wouldn't have those dirty pigeons with your pool."

"I was writing her that nothing like that happened here when, all of a sudden, a pigeon came by and dropped something on my husband's stomach," Mrs. Rivers said.

She has fed the birds for four or five years, Mrs. Rivers continued. She thinks they go to Phoenix Lake for their drinks because the gulch is absolutely dry. At night, they roost in the bay trees.

"They've got a good thing in the gulley," said the lady with the daisy ear rings.

Saddest Day For Francophobe: Le Grande Charlie Says Adieu

WASHINGTON — The first person I called when I heard De Gaulle had resigned was my Aunt Molly in Brooklyn. If you recall, Aunt Molly was so mad at De Gaulle about a year ago that she wouldn't make French toast or buy French mustard or eat French fried potatoes. To show how really angry she was, she cut off all of the French cuffs on my uncle Phil's shirts.

I thought she'd be overjoyed by the news that De Gaulle was out of power, but she wasn't. As a matter of fact, she sounded as if she had been crying.

"WELL AUNT MOLLY," I said. "You finally got rid of him. I guess you're happy now."

"It's funny. I thought I'd be, but somehow I'm sad."

"But why, Aunt Molly? You were so mad at him all the time."

"That's just it. Who am I going to be mad at now?

"There will be another French president."

"A pipsqueak compared to De Gaulle," Aunt Molly said. "De Gaulle had breadth, height and majesty. When you were mad at him, you knew exactly who you were angry at. There will never be another Frenchman in his class."

"YOU SURPRISE me, Aunt Molly. I thought you would be celebrating."

"What's to celebrate? Tomorrow morning I'm going to pick up the newspaper, and there's going to be nobody there. At least with De Gaulle we had some excitement."

"There are always the Soviet leaders, Aunt Molly."

"Name one," she said.

"I can't name them offhand. But I'm sure there is a Soviet leader you can hate."

"NO ONE could get my blood boiling like De Gaulle. I owe him everything. He personally made me into a Francophobe."

"That's high praise coming from you, Aunt Molly. But don't forget De Gaulle isn't dead. He's alive and well and living at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises. Can't you still be mad at him now that he is out of office?"

"It would be a waste of time. The appeal of disliking De Gaulle was that he was a know-it-all. He was always sticking his finger out on television, and I used to yell at him, 'Don't stick your finger out at me, Charley-boy.' I won't get a chance to do that any more."

"Probably not," I admitted. "But you're going to have to find somebody else to vent your anger at. What about Castro?"

"DON'T YOU DARE mention him in the same breath with De Gaulle."

"I'm sorry, Aunt Molly. What about Mao Tse-tung?"

"It's not the same thing. Mao Tse-tung never attacked the American dollar."

"He would if he could," I said.

"Please. Don't try to cheer me up. A De Gaulle comes only once into a person's lifetime. I'll never forget when he announced France was getting out of NATO. I was aggravated for a month."

"And what about when he said Quebec was part of France?"

"Oh," said Aunt Molly, "what nerve that man had! And what about when he wouldn't let the British into the Common Market? I was furious, and I'm anti-British."

"THOSE WERE the days," I said nostalgically.

"Do you think there's a chance he might come back?" Aunt Molly asked wistfully.

"There's always a chance," I said. "But I wouldn't count on it. You're going to have to find somebody else to get mad at."

I could hear her crying on the phone. "It isn't that easy. Last Sunday France only lost a president, but we American French-haters lost a way of life."

New Tiburon Planner Gets Tasks Before Job Starts

Tiburon's new planning director won't go on the payroll until Monday, but he got his first orders Tuesday night.

The Tiburon Planning Commission told planner Wayne Moody to prepare a streamlined procedure for city action on planned development projects, saying present procedure is too cumbersome.

The commission also handed Moody two reports from planning consultant George Gatter for study. One proposes a master planning program be drawn up so the city can get federal planning funds. The other outlines possible development plans for a civic center and cultural buildings at Blackie's Pasture.

Moody is to comment on the reports at the June 2 meeting.

The commission also reviewed a proposed rezoning in Strawberry which will come before the Marin County Planning Commission Monday. The commission said density control on the L. N. Fleischman property should "reflect current zoning density," supported cluster development to maintain open space, and opposed an increase in multiple-residential zoning. Fleischman is seeking multiple-residential zoning for the land, now in the agricultural-residential district.

Artist To Present Talk Plus Slides

Ann O'Hanlon, Mill Valley artist and art teacher, will appear as a guest of the Terra Linda Art Association on May 9 at 8 p.m.

The subject of the free program to be held at the Marinwood Community Center will be "New Dimensions" which will include slides.

The first public railroad to be operated in the U. S., was the Baltimore and Ohio.

Minority Group Youth Talks Set

The northern vice-president of the Mexican-American Political Association will keynote a Mexican-American youth conference Saturday at Sonoma State College.

Louis F. Flores, 38, a supervisor at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, will speak on "The Creation of a New Image" at 10 a.m. in the dining hall.

Other speakers will include Sal Alvarez, a member of the Bishop's Committee for the Spanish-Speaking of the Southwest, and Lino Lopez, project director for the Mexican-American Community Service Agency, Inc.

Sausalitans Lead War On Gas Rates

Five thousand petitions are being circulated throughout Northern California by a Sausalito-based group, Association of California Consumers, to urge the state Public Utilities Commission to hold down increases in the householder's gas bill.

Sylvia Siegel, executive director of the association, said if the increase requested by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. is approved, "it will hike each gas bill at least $1 a month. On the other hand, large industrial users would pay a smaller percentage of the total bill," she said.

Gardiner Seeks Aid In Juvenile Program

Juvenile Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner last night called for volunteers from the community to bolster Marin's juvenile probation program.

"The probation job can't be done by any number of probation officers," the judge said at a meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen at The Tamalpais, a retirement home, in Larkspur.

He envisioned "development of a large scale volunteer program comprising the community as a whole."

There has to be effective coordination among the probation staff, schools, parents and religious advisers to meet the juvenile problems, Judge Gardiner said.

"The job has to be done by you in your community," he told the audience. "There's no such thing as rehabilitation in an institution. Rehabilitation only can take place in a free community."

Judge Gardiner also advocated a coordinated countywide program by police juvenile officers, such as the countywide drug abuse program.

Juvenile problems are countywide and have to be dealt with countywide, he asserted. "There are no effective city lines anymore. We're all one community."

Judge Gardiner stressed the value of nipping juvenile problems at the start, as early as six or seven years of age. He noted that children, 9, 10 and 11, were involved in 75 burglaries and kids 12 and 13 are shooting 'speed'."

He pointed out that it costs $4,000 a year to keep a youth at a state institution and "twice $4,000 at Juvenile Hall."

The judge also commented on the recent death of 16-year-old Cynthia Hopps of Belvedere, a resident of Juvenile Hall. A coroner's jury decided last week that she had died as an indirect result of taking damaging drugs, and testimony at the inquest indicated it was relatively easy to smuggle drugs into Juvenile Hall.

Residents at the hall "are not angels when they get there," and probably "will not be angels anymore than in the past."

Smuggling drugs occurs at San Quentin and at jails, he said. "It happens and will keep on happening," the judge said. "The problem is to keep it in reasonable bounds. We need not go overboard and press the panic button."

About 150 persons, city and county officials and their wives, attended, and toured the building before dinner.

50,000 G.M. Workers Idle

DETROIT (AP) — Nearly 50,000 General Motors workers were idled and the production capability of the giant automaker was crippled today in the wake of strikes at G.M. plants in six states.

The strikes by members of the United Auto Workers are the result of a merger of operations last fall designed to increase efficiency.

Proxmire Slaps Navy For Bungling Gas Theft Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy was charged today with being "grudging and backhanded" in withdrawing a reprimand but refusing a commendation to a civilian employee who triggered disclosures of the multi-billion dollar theft of U.S. fuel supplies in Thailand.

"The Navy has a genius for confusing the point," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said in a speech prepared for Senate delivery today concerning John McGee, a civilian fuel inspector for the Navy.

Proxmire sharply criticized the April 18 action in which Navy Secretary John H. Chaffee gave McGee a routine, ordinarily automatic in-grade promotion, withdrew an earlier reprimand but said "I find no basis for commending you" and that his "association with the Navy had not fully met desirable standards."

"McGee uncovered a system which resulted in vast corruption," Proxmire said, charging "what Mr. McGee's superiors and the Navy have tried to do since Mr. McGee first attempted to change a lax system is to divert attention from the wrongdoing and corruption in Thailand to the alleged petty, and I mean petty, mistakes of Mr. McGee.

"In Thailand," Proxmire said, "there was vast thievery of American fuel. The inspection system was lax. While that system may not have been the cause of the thievery problem, it did not help to prevent it and, in many ways, contributed to it.

"This was apparent to Mr. McGee from almost the day he arrived," the Wisconsin Democrat went on, adding that when McGee tried to press through channels for changes, "his superiors prevented him from carrying out his duties as an inspector. They put him in mothballs."

Proxmire said the General Accounting Office investigation he requested after McGee came to him "proved that Mr. McGee's allegations were absolutely correct.

The U. S. exported more tobacco in 1968 than in any year since 1946. Atotal of 598.8 million pounds was sent ovearseas, an increase of 4.8 per cent.

Guilty Plea To Stolen Property

Kenneth Wayne Vernon, 29, of San Rafael, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to concealing property stolen from Disco Wonderworld in San Rafael.

He was told to appear in Superior Court May 12 for setting of a sentencing date.

Vernon had surrendered in connection with the $25,000 burglary. A bench warrant has been issued for another man named in connection with the burglary, Clifford James Thomas, 26, of Daly City.

Fulbright Asks Germ Warfare Treaty Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A treaty written in 1925 to ban gas and germ warfare should now be approved by the United States, Sen. J. W. Fulbright says after hearing a biologist report on the killing potential of biological warfare.

Matthew S. Meselson, a Harvard biology professor and former consultant to the U.S. Disarmament Agency, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee: "Biological weapons could pose a threat to the entire human species."

Fulbright, D-Ark., called the details, given yesterday in closed session, very gruesome and told newsmen: "The United States would be well advised to ratify the Geneva protocol of 1925." The treaty was withdrawn from the Senate in 1926 when it became obvious it could not be ratified, Fulbright said.

BART Layout Impresses Volpe

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe took a four-hour high spot tour of the uncompleted Bay Area Rapid Transit System Wednesday and said he was "impressed."

"I can assure you that the Department of Transportation is watching you, and I know from my travels that so are other metropolitan areas worldwide," Volpe said.

Volpe activated an electronic computer console in the Lake Merritt Station in Oakland yesterday. The console will be part of the $26-million automatic train control system for Bart's 75-mile rail network.

Pope Elevates French Prelate To State Post

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A hard-working, chain-smoking Frenchman, Jean Cardinal Villot, has risen to the second highest post in the Roman Catholic Church after only two years at the Vatican. Italians in the Curia aren't happy about it.

Pope Paul VI named Cardinal Villot, 63, Vatican secretary of state yesterday. The former archbishop of Lyon succeeded Amleto Cardianl Cicognani, 86, who retired because of age and ill health.

Cardinal Villot is the first non-Italian to be named secretary of state in 55 years, since a Spaniard held the post from 1903 to 1914.

Italian prelates at the Vatican expressed both disappointment and fear. Many were bitter because the Pope had passed over such Italian cardinals with diplomatic backgrounds as Paolo Cardinal Bertoli, former nuncio to France, and Sebastiano Cardinal Baggio, former nuncio to Brazil.

Though he had a distinguished career in the French episcopacy before coming to the Vatican in 1967, Cardinal Villot has never held a diplomatic post. He is the first churchman in modern times who had no diplomatic experience before moving into the post which oversees the Vatican's embassies around the world.

One Italian prelate dismissed the appointment as another gesture by Pope Paul to give the church administration an international look. He suggested that the Pope would run things and Cardinal Villot would be a mere "letter signer."

Other Vatican officials, however, were fearful of a growing group of French prelates operating in the Vatican power structure. They reported that Italian members of the Curia, angered by the appointment, had leaked the cardinal's appointment earlier this week to create embarrassment at the Vatican.

Student Dies In Bus-Truck Wreck

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A massive milk truck and an elementary school bus loaded with children collided at a rural intersection today. A small boy was killed and the bus driver was critically injured.

All 22 children on the St. Helen's Roman Catholic School bus were rushed to Indian River Memorial Hospital. Administrator Frank O'Brien said three were admitted. The others were treated and released.

Dead on arrival at the hospital was Michael Studer, 7, of Vero Beach. His mother, Mrs. James Studer, was a maternity patient on another floor of the hospital.

Jewelry Worth $776 Taken From Home

A total of $776 in jewelry was reported stolen Monday night from the home of Fumiko Callas at 54 Twelve Oak Hill Drive, San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

The loot included rings, earrings and a watch. The thief entered through a side door, police said.

Pontiff Calls On Church To Upgrade World's Poor

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI called on the Roman Catholic Church today to work "untiringly and without fear" against the economic exploitation of man and for the betterment of the world's poor.

"Development is the new name of peace," the pontiff declared in a May Day speech at the third of three consistories in which 33 prelates from 19 nations were made cardinals.

The Pope spoke from the main altar in St. Peter's Basilica to the new cardinals and a crowd of more than 20,000 including diplomats from 60 nations.

Immediately after the speech the Pope gave each of the new cardinals the ring of his rank. Then together he and the new princes of the church concelebrated a mass.

"The working class," said the Pope in his 2,000-word address, "has become less fortunate, and even, in certain situations, is oppressed and humiliated. Hence arise those struggles which have made their mark of deep disturbance on our times, of which they are characteristic, struggles which, if they have produced undeniable improvements, yet do often divide men's minds, to the real detriment of the common good."

Speaking in English, he said:

"Today there are too many peoples who are not yet sufficiently developed. The working classes are still in large measure excluded from social wellbeing and security.

"Economic equalities which have already been resolved are again arising, with alarming effect.

"Man is still sometimes used as a mere tool, according to the cold calculations of the laws of economy. It is therefore necessary that we provide action, untiringly, without fear and without remorse . . . in the name of the Lord—for it is He who wills this."

State Supreme Court Upholds Drug Testing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Supreme Court has ruled the state can require tests of convicted narcotics users who are outpatients even though they are also members of the Synanon program.

The high court issued a unanimous ruling yesterday in the case of Richard Marks and noted that it did not "presume to judge the merits" of either the state rehabilitation program or Synanon.

Marks was under sentence for possession of heroin in early 1968 and had been granted outpatient status when he became "quite involved" in the Synanon program for narcotics addicts.

Marks was ordered to report on June 12, 1968, for a nalline test for narcotics use by the State Narcotic Addict Evaluation Authority, but he refused.

He was then taken out of the Synanon program and returned to the California Rehabilitation Center at Corona, where he is now confined.

Unruh Calls For More Policemen

VALLEJO (UPI) — Assembly Democratic Leader Jess Unruh today called for the hiring of more policemen at a "decent salary" to reduce the growing number of lawbreakers who avoid arrest.

In remarks prepared for a Law Day conference, Unruh said California's system of crime prevention and control was "a costly and monumental failure."

He said only 20 per cent of the reported crimes against property are solved —"an astounding decrease in this kind of crime solution of 34 per cent in recent years." But he said police agencies are solving 65 per cent of crimes involving personal violence.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, May 1, the 121st day of 1969 with 244 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1873, the penny post card went on sale for the first time.

In 1884 work was started in Chicago on a 10-story building that was to be called "the skyscraper."

In 1931 the Empire State Building, world's tallest skyscraper, was dedicated by Gov. Al Smith in New York. It has 102 stories.

In 1960, the Russians shot down an American U2 plane on an intelligence mission over the Soviet Union.

Fall Signups Set At Sonoma State

New students who have been accepted at Sonoma State College for the fall semester must register for classes on May 8 and May 9.

Registration advisement is now available. Registration fees must be paid by May 9 from the student's own resources since no financial aid funds will be available before September, college officials report.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

French Team Could Pose Big Threat To The Italian Champs

The French will be among the five bridge teams competing next week in Rio de Janeiro, and many tournament buffs think the French may win their way to the finals of the world championship against the Italians, perennial winners. An example of the flawless French technique is shown in today's hand, played by Jacques Stetten during the French team selection contest.

SHREWD DEFENSE

The defenders shrewdly began by taking the ace and king of diamonds, and East then switched to a low spade. Stetten stepped up with the ace of spades, chased the king and ace of clubs and then ruffed a low club.

West overruffed and returned the jack of spades to declarer's king, but now south could afford to draw trumps with the ace and king. Since West had already used up one trump, the two trumps exhausted those held by the defenders. Stetten could discard a spade on the queen of clubs and another spade on the last club, making his contract.

FALSE SAFETY

Some of the other declarers who played the South cards tried to guard against a ruff by drawing two rounds of trumps before starting the clubs. This looks safe, but it actually costs the contract.

If declarer tries to cash the three top clubs after drawing two rounds of trumps, West ruffs the third high club. Now South wins the spade return and can lead a low trump to dummy's six in order to ruff a club. But there is no way to get back to dummy for the last club, and South must lose a spade trick.

GOOD CLUBS

If declarer draws two trumps, takes just two high clubs and then ruffs a low cub, West refuses to overruff. Now dummy's clubs are good, but South cannot get back to dummy. This way likewise, South goes down by losing a spade in addition to a trump and two diamonds.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠—Q 10 8 5
♥—J 9
♦—K J 9
♣—J 10 8 2.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades.

You have maximum values for this weak response and will accept any invitation to game, but you cannot afford to make a really invitational bid of your own. If partner decides to stop short at two spades you will shed no tears.

Candidates' Night

The Petaluma Young Republicans Club will host a candidates night program next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Sonoma Joe's restaurant. Aspirants for mayor, city council and board of education in the June 10 Petaluma election will be invited to present their views.

This older Volkswagen 2-Dr. coupe is in excellent condition for an older car. Former owner had a rebuilt engine installed within the past year and the interior and exterior make you think it's a later model Volks than a 1959.

This would make the perfect car for the family or kids to go to school. BKV 068.

ONCE SERVED MARIN

Coronado Ferryboats Due For Retirement

By CHARLES YOAKUM

Two more ferryboats which once plowed the salty commute run from Marin County to San Francisco appear headed for retirement.

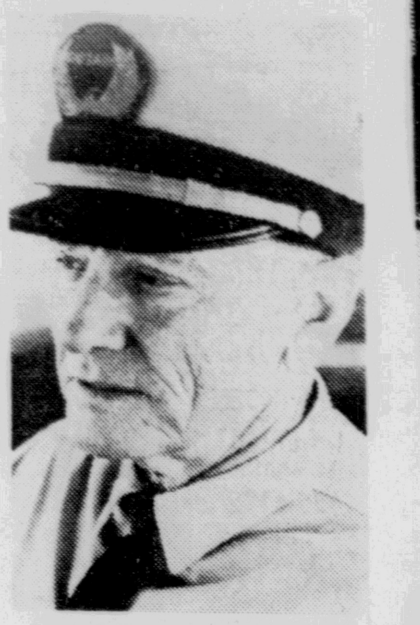
And all indications are that their final home will be San Diego.

Progress — in the form of a new $40 million bridge linking San Diego with Coronado Island — has spelled the end of auto ferry service and will bring about the final retirement of the craft once known as Golden Shore and Golden West.

The two ferries — now named North Island and Silver Strand— will be retired in mid-July when the new multimillion-dollar bridge is completed and opened to the public.

The two boats are now the oldest still making the run between San Diego and Coronado. Four other newer ferry boats in the fleet have already been auctioned off to the highest bidders.

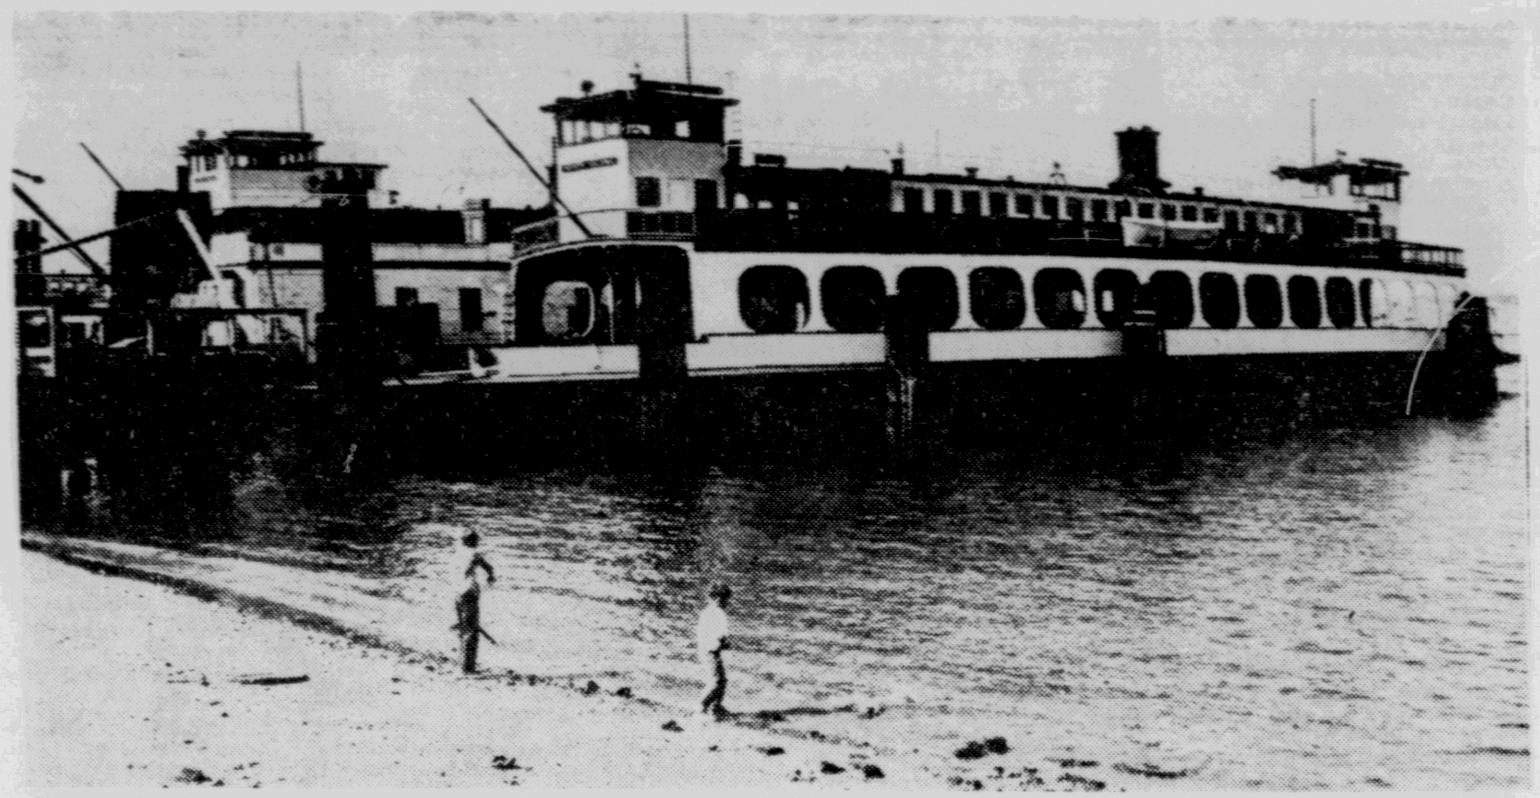
But the two older craft have been reserved for negotiated sale to communities in the San Diego bay area. Imperial Beach is known to be actively seeking at least one of them for use as a floating restaurant in its new marina development.



SKIPPER CURTIS ALLEN
He won't retire

The two craft — both wooden-hulled — were built in 1923 for use between Marin County and San Francisco. In the late 1930s they were sent to the state of Washington for duty on Puget Sound. In 1944 due to the heavy military buildups they were transferred to San Diego. Since 1944 they have been part of the fleet which handled most of the traffic between San Diego and the two huge Navy complexes, North Island Naval Air Station adn Coronado Amphibious Base.

The ferry fleet hauls an average of 4,000 vehicles per day now. The two former Marin County boats are only used during the peak rush hours.



AT REST — Not used during the slack hours, the two former Marin-San Francisco auto ferryboats are tied up at the foot of San Diego's Broadway. They also once were used on Washington's Puget Sound, and later saw wartime duty in San Diego.

NEMESIS TO PORT — Former Sausalitan Curtis Allen tends the con of the old ferry North Island, which once plied San Francisco Bay. Passing him is one of the newer ferryboats, and in the distance looms the nearly completed San Diego-Coronado Bridge which will put an end to the vessels' usefulness in commuter transportation. Noise Not Only Upsets Humans, But Bugs Beasts

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Noise is bad not only for man but also for beast.

The full impact of noise on the health of man has yet to be determined.

But, says the University of Georgia, its effect on laboratory animals is becoming known.

UNWANTED SOUND

Noise by general agreement among scientists is unwanted sound. It may be jack hammers in the street, the scream of sirens or jet airplanes, an endlessly ringing telephone, the clang of garbage cans being emptied or an ill-fitting manhole cones, the clatter of power tools, the buzz of lawn mowers, the roar of autos or motor bikes inadequately muffled, the barking of dogs in the night, or even the ringing of cathedral bells or the dawn chorus of robins, cardinals tit mice, and mocking birds.

If you don't like it, it's noise. According to the University of Georgia, researchers have discovered that dogs are annoyed by violin music.

When your cat drapes itself on top of the television set, according to other researchers, it isn't because it likes what it hears—it's trying to smother the thing.

Dr. W.B. Iturrian of Georgia's School of Pharmacy has been studying the effect of noise on mice of the sort used in medical research.

He found that noise can induce epileptic seizures in young mice and affect their growth.

BUSY PHONE BAD

Iturrian reported his research results at a recent international symposium here on laboratory animals. He said "noise pollution" should be eliminated from laboratory animal breeding rooms. He said "impact noise, such as hammering metal, is particularly troublesome." So is a busy telephone.

Once mice have developed abnormal response patterns to extraneous noise, Iturrian said, their value as research animals is diminished. They no longer "respond normally to standard tests intended to evaluate their behavior."

Hence, he said, use of animals suffering from noise pollution could result in "faulty evaluation" of new drugs tested with them.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Advice Could Be Costly

Be careful when you give free advice to a friend. He may rely upon what you say. And if he gets into trouble as a result, he can sometimes hold you legally liable.

In a recent case Jones asked his bank to find out whether the Ajax Company could handle a contract. The bank reported favorably on Ajax and the contract went through. Sometime later Jones asked the bank whether Ajax could handle a much bigger contract. Again the bank reported that Ajax was in "good condition." So Jones signed that contract too.

Then Ajax went broke. It had been in poor financial condition all the time. Jones sued the bank, claiming that it had misinformed him and had been grossly at fault.

The bank got no pay for its advice, nor was it obliged to give Jones the advice. Even so, it did have a duty to answer his questions with care.

In this case, however, the bank had warned Jones by disclaiming liability when it gave the advice, and the court did not make it pay.

Someone in a position of trust must also speak with care, even though no one pays him for his advice. This is the case with a guardian, an agent, an executor, a parent, a husband or wife, or a close relative — persons with whom you don't expect to deal "at arm's length."

Where the adviser is liable, the courts limit the liability to those whom he intended to hear his advice. Smith may make a false statement about a car that he wants to sell to his neighbor Jones.

If Jones repeats this statement to his friend Brown, who in turn relies on it, Smith is not likely to be liable. Brown is out of luck because Smith didn't intend him to hear the statement.

But suppose Smith, knowing full well that Jones is a blabbermouth, tells him something which Smith knows he will pass on to Brown. In that case the court may find that he meant Brown to hear the statement. If so, Brown can collect damages for the losses caused by relying on Smith's istatement.

U.C. Says Park Work Is Useless

BERKELEY (AP) — The University of California suggested yesterday that the volunteers who have been turning a vacant lot into a park are wasting their time.

The university bought the lot for an intramural sports field but recently volunteers have been making a park of it — planting grass, shrubs, flowers and trees, building tables and benches and beginning a wading pool.

A memo from the university appeared, saying: "In fairness to those who have worked on the land, the disutility of any additional labor must be pointed out. The area will be cleared soon in preparation for work on the recreational field."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Would you donate a kidney If Requested To Save A Life?

VAN DELLEN

Would you be willing to donate one of your kidneys to a blood relative? Let's assume that your brother-in-law calls about your 30-year-old sister who has been living on borrowed time with the aid of an artificial kidney.

They have two children and she is otherwise healthy, except for advanced kidney trouble.

THE PHYSICIAN WANTS potential donors from blood relatives becasue studies have shown that these transplants are less likely to be rejected when the donor and the recipient are closely related.

Doctors Carl H. Fellner and John R. Marshall interviewed 12 donors from five weeks to 18 months after having a kidney removed for transplant purposes. The initial request was by telephone.

Eight recalled that they made an immediate decision; four said they just went along with the tests hoping someone else would be chosen. Selecting an ideal candidate begins with blood tests to determine compatibility.

The donor accepts because he is convinced that the physicians are honest and sincere. He is told about the pros and cons of the operation. Many of the donors are so impressed with the physician that they will cooperate to the conclusion of the procedure.

IN ADDITION THEY undergo a rigorous medical examination and "it is good to know you are the healthiest of the bunch." Future donors may be interested to know that no one has ever died or was seriously ill during or after removal of a kidney for this purpose.

The waiting period can be quite distressful and many were greatly relieved when told to report for surgery. They wanted to get it over with. One donor said, "It was like a death sentence hanging over me."

Tomorrow we will discuss what happens to the donor after the operation. Does he become depressed and resentful when the recipient gets all the attention? Or, does it boost his self-esteem?

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelope to the I-J.)

VITAMIN A AND DRY SKIN

D. A. WRITES: Will taking cod liver oil capsules help dry skin?

REPLY

Yes, if dryness is due to a vitamin A deficiency. The skin of oldsters often improves when more cream, butter, fat meats, and olive or cod liver oil are added to the diet. Other causes of skin dryness are too frequent bathing, harsh soaps, the use of wool undergarments, overheated quarters, and thyroid deficiency.

MALIGNANCY IN UTERUS

A reader writes: What is carcinoma in situ? Please tell me if the condition could be caused by birth control pills.

REPLY

The term carcinoma in situ is popularly applied to a malignancy of the cervix or neck of the uterus. There has been some talk about "the pill" doing this, but we have no definite proof.

BOILS ON LEGS

A reader writes: Why do I keep getting sties on my legs?

REPLY

I've suspected some people of having eyes in the back of the head, but not on the legs. Sties are pimples, or boils on the eyelids and represent infections of the hair or lash follicles. Blame lack of cleanliness, irritation, or staphylococci for your leg lesions.

NUMBNESS OF FEET

O. T. writes: My feet are constantly numb. I was wondering whether the radiant heat in our floors could be responsible?

REPLY

No. Numbness of the feet may be caused by poor circulation, anemia, or a disturbane of the nervous system.

CLEANING FLUID FUMES

C. S. writes: I work in a knitting mill, sponging sweaters with a cleaning fluid. Is this bad for the health?

REPLY

Read the directions on any bottle of cleaning fluid and you will see the following statement: "This is a volatile solvent and should be used with adequate ventilation. Prolonged inhalation of the vapor should be avoided."

CONCEPTION IMPOSSIBLE

Mrs. A. N. writes: If a woman has had the uterus removed is there any danger of becoming pregnant in the tubes?

REPLY

No, because the tubes which are connected to the uterus, are tied off when the uterus is removed. Furthermore, there is no way for the sperm to reach the tubes.

WHY STROKE IN CHILD

S. T. writes: What could cause a stroke in a 6-year-old boy? Our son had one last week which left his speech impaired. He also has difficulty in using his right leg and arm.

REPLY

Among the causes are congenital defects or imperfections of the blood vessels such as aneurysm. Tumors and inflammation of the brain (encephalitis) also are possibilities.

Black Students Rampage Inside Pasadena High

PASADENA (AP)—The superintendent of schools was handed a list of grievances by Negro pupils at Pasadena High School. When he refused to say at once if things would change, the youngsters rampaged.

They smashed windows, overturned trash cans, tossed books out of the library's windows and threatened to burn the building.

In the melee yesterday, nine persons including six teachers suffered cuts and bruises.

A student was arrested by sheriff's officers and booked on suspicion of assaulting an officer, Sgt. S. L. Lanzini, who was among those injured.

The grievance list which the Negro pupils gave Supt. Ralph W. Hornbeck asked for more Negro counsellors and more literature, recreation and cultural studies dealing with Negroes.

Rejects Case

The juvenile court will not accept the case of James Anthony Gardner, 18, of Mill Valley, accused of an April 2 burglary, it was reported yesterday in Marin Municipal Court. A preliminary hearing was set for June 24.

HIS OWN BOSS

Barry Jr. Typical Of Young Western

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The new congressman for California and the senior senator from Arizona look alike, talk alike and even sign their names with the same flourish.

But Barry M. Goldwater Jr., handsome son of the Arizona senator, says he'll be his own man now that he's going to Washington.

"I plan to consult with my father, but certainly not on how to vote," Goldwater said yesterday, fresh from victory in the 27th Congressional District race. He won easily Tuesday over Democrat John Van de Kamp, with help from Republican volunteers — but none from his father.

"We've raised our children to be independent," said Goldwater Sr., in Los Angeles to help celebrate the victory. He added that "politics is a way of life in our family" and that he was not surprised at his son's candidacy.

The 30-year-old congressman stepped into the political spotlight with the aplomb of a professional. "He didn't look overwhelmed,'' said one observer. "He expected to win." Though Goldwater said yesterday, "I have no designs on the Senate at all" there was speculation about his political future.

"He's the most ambitious person I've ever known," says Jack Cox, 25, who worked with Goldwater in founding Western chapters of Young Americans for Freedom and later became his campaign press representative.

Friends and campaign workers see young Goldwater as a dynamo who can work 20 hours a day campaigning, has a "folsky touch" that gets through to voters, and appeals especially to the young.

A dapper dresser with a penchant for wide ties, colored shirts and Ivy League suits, bachelor Goldwater lives in a modern, two-bedroom, ranch-style house with a swimming pool. Occasionally he entertains a small circle of friends, mostly political associates.

Like his father, Goldwater is a flying buff and has his own four-passenger plane. For relaxation, he tinkers with electrical gadgets. He built his own hi-fi system.

Born in Los Angeles, the eldest of four children, Barry grew up in Arizona, and attended the University of Arizona and the University of Colorado. Upon graduation, he became a clerk on the floor of the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange in Los Angeles, then joined a brokerage firm, where he is a partner.

Goldwater said he will give up his financial involvements to concentrate on being a congressman.

Prepared for comparisons to his father, Goldwater says: "We think pretty much alike."

"Barry is typical of the young Western politician," says his father. "The young Eastern politician has to divide himself too much to please everyone. Out here in the West they're more independent in their thinking. They can follow their own line."

Black Panthers Talk At Sausalito School

Three representatives of the Black Panthers spoke to seventh and eighth grade social studies classes at Martin Luther King School in Sausalito Tuesday, outlining the Black Panthers' program in Marin City.

The appearance was arranged Monday through James T. Toliver Jr., guidance counselor for the school district. One of the Black Panther speakers was a College of Marin student who is employed under the Sausalito district's training program, according to Robert Thomason, principal of King School.

Bound Over

Terence Mark Petersen, 26, of San Francisco, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court for appearance May 13 on charges of stealing a car and concealing stolen property on Jan. 7.

'Ladies' To Fight Crime On Streets

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Seven police officers got new weapons yesterday -- lipsticks, wigs, dresses and maybe girdles —to give a lady-like boost to the city's war on crime.

The police department approved final plans for a new 150-man unit to battle street crime. The crime-busting squad includes seven men dressed as ladies to snare purse-snatchers, muggers and rapists.

Special orders for the new assignment, according to Lt. Gus Bruneman, included, "Don't mince or wiggle your hips —walk like a lady."

The undercover agents, sallying forth under feathered hats and wigs of all colors, will pack regulation service revolvers on their hips. They are all experts in karate and judo.

The seven officers will join six women officers who do similar undercover work. "Those six just weren't enough."

The men got make-up training from a theatrical expert on the use of lipsticks and compacts. Pancake makeup will be used to combat the five o'clock shadow.

Boy Injured In Bike-Auto Crash

Douglas Meiswinkel, 8, of 174 Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, was treated at Marin General Hospital for an injured right knee Tuesday after his bicycle collided with a car at the entry to Greenbrae School, the California Highway Patrol reported yesterday.

The patrol said the accident occurred at 4:50 p.m. when the boy rode into the path of a car driven by Royce W. Israel, 57, of 264 Via La Cumbre, Greenbrae, as Israel was leaving the school grounds.

Trout Anglers To Invade Marin County Lakes

By AL GIDDINGS

On Saturday every waterway, lake and stream in Marin County, with the exception of Devil's Gulch Creek in Samuel P. Taylor State Park, will be open to trout fishing. (Devil's Gulch Creek is a nursery area for juvenile salmon and steelhead.)

The magic hour for the opening is 5:13 a.m., which is one hour before sunrise, Daylight Saving Time. You will be able to fish until 9:04 p.m., which is one hour after sunset.

The season will run through Nov. 15, with a bag and possession limit of 10 trout, but not more than 10 pounds and one fish. You are permitted to use one rod and not more than three hooks. Most lures, flies and baits are legal with few exceptions in Marin County. Chumming is still illegal.

Regular $3 license is required, and in areas where trout are planted, two trout stamps are needed, making the total cost $5. In streams not planted, one stamp is needed and in salt water areas, only the basic license is needed. Children under 16? No charge.

Waters to be planted prior to the opening of the season include Lagunitas and Phoenix lakes south of Fairfax, both lakes to receive catchable size fish. Kent Lake was planted last winter with 50,000 subcatchables. Nicasio Lake will not be stocked as it is considered a warm water fish lake. Black bass and blue gill are the mainstays of this lake.

The above mentioned waters are all operated by the Marin Municipal Water District. A $5 use fee, in addition to a fishing license, is required for persons 16 or older. The lakes will be closed on Tuesdays this year instead of Sundays as in the past, with the exception of Nicasio Lake, open every day.

Rodeo Lagoon at Fort Baker will also be stocked with catchables before the season opening. No permits required. Alpine Dam should have a carryover of subcatchable plants from last year.

Stafford Lake at Novato opens Saturday, also. Black bass and blue gill fishing should be excellent. Permits needed from the North Marin County Water District for Stafford Lake.

All of the Marin streams have a population of wild fish. These fish are small, juvenile silver salmon and steelhead, usually not larger than six inches in length. I would recommend fishing the planted lakes, rather than the streams.

Those Were The Days Of Baseball, My Friend

REMEMBER?—I went to a Little League game the other day.

Which was a mistake because every time I see little squirts playing ball it takes me back to my own sandlot days. And I hate to reminisce because it makes me feel so old.

Perhaps you feel the same way. Remember? It was eons ago, our sandlot days, but the memory of your first mitt, the strawberry on your backside, the fights, the bad hops, your first home run are as indelibly implanted in your mind as your first kiss, your first car, your first paycheck.

Today's kids cavort on well-manicured fields, dressed in the finest flannels, using the best equipment money can buy. They have grandstands and scoreboards and real live umpires, coaches and managers. And I am happy for them.

We were considerably less affluent in our sandlot days but couldn't have cared less. Any clearing in the woods was our diamond in the rough. A stick, to us, was the most beautiful Louisville Slugger in the world. We used more friction tape repairing broken bats and gashed nickelbricks in one day than an electrician uses in a year. Our homers were the original tape jobs.

Any Old Rock Would Do

Bases? Hah! First base more than likely was a garment one of us swiped from Ma McCarthy's clothesline. Second base probably was a big rock. Third could have been an old hat, and home plate inevitably was the top of a garbage can. Poor Tony, the school janitor, never could figure out what happened to all those refuse lids.

Our field resembled a quarry. It had nore rocks on it than Pebble Beach. Which resulted in more bad hops than a condemned brewery.

Thus, infielders deserved medals for bravery. They would have been safer playing with hand grenades. A hard grounder was like shrapnel. They usually made the dumbest kid in town play third base — the hot corner. Which was why I had the purplest chest in town and had my proboscis fractured so many times I still sneeze through my ears and smell west when I'm facing north.

He Lost His Teeth Early

The toughest kid in town was the catcher because we had no protective equipment, the so-called tools of ignorance. His "tools" were his eyes, nose, mouth, chin. He would have been safer facing a firing squad. He was the local dentist's best customer and by the time he was 12 was gumming his meals.

Any kid who owned anything so valuable as a real baseball was the pitcher ". . . or else I'll take my ball and go home."

The first baseman had the hottest hands in town because if we infielders didn't fire the heavily-taped nickelbrick to him we'd substitute a rock because who would know the difference? We'd do anything to make a putout.

We'd station the least athletic twerp in right field because he couldn't do much harm out there in the boondocks except suck his thumb, read funny books and blow bubbles.

Those Old Dirty T-Shirts

We were probably the crummiest looking team in our T-shirts dirtied by the summer dust and perspiration, shredded jeans that begged to be patched and rock-torn Keds that bared the soles of our feet.

We wouldn't quit until our little sister arrived on the scene to announce, "Jimmy, you get home this VERY minute or Mommie will give you the spanking of your life!"

Then, after hours of glorious athletics in the sun . . . of laughs and some tears, some fights and some cheers, some heroics and some boneheads . . . we'd head into town, arm in arm . . . stop at the local fountain for a quick cherry phosphate, then down the street to mooch a slice of bologna from Rome the butcher, and finally home to dream of ourselves as the Babe Ruths and Lou Gehrigs and Ty Cobbs of Sandlotsville, USA.

I'm happy today's kids have it so good. But I wouldn't trade my sandlot for all the Yankee Stadiums, Candlesticks or Astrodomes in the world because . . . well, those were the days, my friends, those were the days. Remember?

Auto Races In Petaluma

There have been three different winners with Petaluma's Art Mossi winning the opener followed by Gary Pacheco of Union City and Fremont's Lon Williams.

The drivers will try again tomorrow at the Petaluma quarter-mile track with qualifying set to go at 7 p.m. and the first race scheduled for 8 p.m.

NO-HIT WINNER

Maloney Relaxed On Hill, Reckless On Basepaths

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Jim Maloney was relaxed on the pitching mound last night but he got a little reckless while running the bases.

After pitching no-hit ball for eight innings, he pulled a groin muscle while scoring in the last of the eighth after running through the coach's stop sign at third base.

But Maloney ignored the pain and retired the Houston Astros in the ninth inning to complete the second no-hitter of his career as the Cincinnati Reds romped to a 10-0 victory.

BEAT CUBS

On Aug. 19, 1965, Maloney pitched a 10-inning no-hitter to beat the Chicago Cubs.

(Maloney pitched 10 hitless innings against the New York Mets June 14, 1965, but lost it on two hits in the top of the 11th by a 1-0 score.)

While Maloney is celebrating his latest no-hitter, he'll have to take it easy. Trainer Bill Cooper said, "I don't know how serious the groin pull is but he won't be able to do his running for three or four days."

Elsewhere in the National League, Philadelphia edged Chicago, 3-1, San Francisco blanked Los Angeles , 3-0, St. Louis beat Pittsburgh, 8-1, after losing the first game, 2-1, New York edged Montreal, 2-1, and Atlanta topped San Diego, 6-3.

Cincinnati gave Maloney, now 3-0, strong support with a nine-

Dodgers' Alston Miffed At Giants

Complains Of 'Unfair' Treatment

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Walt Alston, the Los Angeles Dodger manager, feels Juan Marichal is a good enough pitcher that he doesn't need any special advantages—like warming up on the mound before a game.

Marichal warmed up on the mound last night and then pitched a two-hit shutout over the Dodgers, 3-0, as San Francisco surged to its ninth straight victory.

The win was the Giants' 15th in their last 18 games after dropping a season-opening three game set at Atlanta. It gave them first place in the National League's western division.

ALSTON MIFFED

Alston was mildly miffed over Marichal's pre-game routine. "It would be nice if we had the same choice," said the Dodgers' skipper. "I think it gave him the advantage.

"If the Giants had asked, I'd probably have said Okay, but I'll be damned if I like them making their own rules," he added. "Wait till we get them down in Los Angeles — I'll do the same thing."

'GOOD STUFF'

"It was Larry Jansen's idea," said Marichal, now 4-1. "I was ready in the bullpen, but Larry (pitching coach) told me to go to the mound because of the windy conditions in the bullpen.

"I don't think it made any difference, but my stuff was better than a lot of times," admitted the right-hander. "It was my best game this year. When it's so windy, you concentrate more."

Then he bore down and retired the last 12 batters he faced. Singer, now 4-1, had retired 14 in a row when Bobby Bonds was struck by a pitch with two out in the bottom of the sixth.

X-RAYS

Frank Johnson ran for Bonds, who was taken to St. Luke's Hospital for X-rays. They proved negative. Johnson went to third on first baseman Ron Fairly's error and scored on Willie Mays' bloop single to center.

JOHN PANAGAKIS

Ready To Face Basketball Challenge

By RALPH CHATOIAN

The 32-year-old Panagakis, one of the most fiery coaches to hit the Marin County scene, will be the head coach of the College of Marin basketball team next season.

He's taking over from a guy who coached College of Marin teams to 199 wins against 136 losses in the last 12 years. That's Cal Riemcke, who announced his resignation this week to take the head basketball coaching job at Whitworth College in Spokane, Wash., next September.

AT NOVATO

Panagakis was graduated from City College of San Francisco and Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo. He taught one year of high school in San Luis Obispo before coming to Marin and Novato High in 1961. He coached basketball, track and football at Novato.

He moved up to College of Marin three years ago as assistant coach in basketball and track.

Panagakis made his presence known in Marin County high school basketball, often jumping from the bench to scream, sometimes at officials, sometimes at players.

He has quieted down his fiery antics somewhat.

"It didn't help me in coaching," Panagakis admits. "But I did jump up twice this past year. I've learned it's better to sit there and watch the players."

QUIET MAN

Panagakis was of course referring to the coaching style of Riemcke, who repeatedly sat on the bench quietly taking in the game, appearing as if nothing at all was bothering him.

Now that he is head coach of the Tars, will Panagakis remain subdued during games? "Only time will tell," he said. "I certainly hope so."

As far as style of play goes, Panagakis says "It all depends on your material. Looking back, I started out as a control coach, and at College of MARIN WE and at College of Marin we ran a lot. It just depends on what you've got."

RUNNING

"When we had a talk with the players and told them that Cal was leaving," Panagakis said, "we told them that he can't take the hill with him." (Near the Kentfield campus is a steep hill, on which, during basketball season, young men can be seen running up and over. That was Cal's way of ending a practice.)

FOUR CHILDREN

Panagakis, who lives in Novato with wife Roberta and four children ranging in age from 4 to 9, says he's really looking forward to his new duties, and sounds like he's really ready to meet the challenge.

"But I'm really gonna' miss that guy," he said about the well-liked, and highly respected, Riemcke. "You wouldn't know it by that record of his, but winning was secondary to him," Panagakis said. "When he works in basketball, the player comes first, and basketball second."

10 STRAIGHT GAMES

Monday Trying For RBI Record

ANAHEIM (AP) — By batting in one more run tonight, Rick Monday can break Lou Gehrig's American League record of batting in at least one run for 10 consecutive games.

Monday tied Gehrig's record last night with a grand-slam home run in the third inning as Oakland pounded the Angels 9-4 at Anaheim Stadium. Gehrig, the New York Yankees' hall-of-famer, performed the feat three times between 1930 and 1934.

MAY VS. HUNTER

The Angels and Athletics collide again tonight as the Angels, still trying to escape the American League cellar, call on Rudy May, 1-1, to oppose Jim "Catfish" Hunter.

Monday credited Joe DiMaggio, another former Yankee slugger, with his hitting improvement. He raised his batting average from .067 to .310. The 23-year-old center fielder also noted that the streak, which began April 20 in Kansas City, coincided with the day he gave up chewing tobacco.

JOE KNEW

No one realized that Monday was approaching the record until DiMaggio mentioned it on the bench. "That man doesn't miss a thing," grinned Monday.

There was an appreciative audience in Anaheim last night to see the graduate of Santa Monica High School — his mother Nelda, and 13 aunts, uncles and cousins. Monday claims he once had 37 relatives in the park to watch him play.

FIRST SLAM

It was his first home run against the Angels and his first grand slam in the major leagues. He parked a George Brunet fast ball over the 375-foot mark in right field to highlight a six-run third inning that finished Brunet with one out.

Brunet absorbed the loss, his third against one victory. Blue Moon Odom went the route to pick up his fourth triumph in five decisions. Odom also went 3-for-5 at the plate and scored a run.

It's Wrist Wrestling Time

Strong arms and wills of iron will prevail tomorrow as contestants from all over the nation converge on Petaluma for the eighth annual Wrist Wrestling Championship of the World at 8 p.m. at the Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building.

Known for their colorful backgrounds and attire, the contestants will hail from all walks of life. As in past years, the weakest looking individuals find their ways into the finals through sheer determination.

A throng of cheering supporters act as back-up forces for the contestants and spur them on to greater strengths. The cheering section, with hands closed in fists, share the same emotions as the wrestlers when the wrists weave back and forth between victory and defeat. The gritting of teeth is also known as a vital part of successful wrist wrestling.

Missing from the scene this year will be "Snoopy," according to his creator, Charles Schulz. Apparently Petaluma's patron pooch was miffed last year when he was disqualified from the contest. "But beagles don't have wrists," the judges explained in vain.

TO DEFEND TITLE

Returning to defend his title will be Duane (Tiny) Benedix of Livermore, whose nickname, of course, is in direct contrast to his physique. Although the title has been won twice by one person, it's never been retained for two consecutive years. Benedix, of course, will try to change that tradition.

He will, however, be up against a crew of challengers who have been working out on everything from bar-bells to lifting cows. Old timers say the best practice is found in local taverns where impromptu matches at the bar are common training grounds. "You can even win a free beer out of it," they say.

Heilman Wins Split Decision Over Hernandez

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Nobody's going to call Rocky Hernandez a quitter.

The 160-pound Mexican fighter was decked three times by brawling Andy Heilman last night but still battled back to make their 10-round Winterland fight close.

Heilman, 160 3-4, San Pedro, Calif., was awarded the bout on a split decision, thus raising his career record to 38-5-3.

Heilman dumped Hernandez twice in the first round and again in the seventh to pick up a big margin but in the end Referee Fred Apostoli had the Mexican fighter ahead, 5-4.

However, Judges Jack Downey and Johnny Lotsey voted in favor of Heilman, 6-3 and 7-3, respectively.

Mays Gets Bat Shares For 600th

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Some time in the next few months Willie Mays undoubtedly will hit his 600th lifetime home run, making him, among other things, a stockholder in a bat company.

When Willie reaches the plateau—he has 590—the company whose bats he uses plans to award him one share of its stock for every foot the historic blast travels.

"It's selling at around 9 now," says Mays, who didn't get where he is today without learning one or two things about the stock market.

Mays will also receive an Italian car worth something like $15,000 when he hits his 600th, a figure reached previously only by Babe Ruth.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

Casper, Nicklaus Top List

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Bugged by bug spray, Buffalo Bill Casper, along with Jack Nicklaus, head a field of 144 who teed off today for a shot at the $20,000 first prize in the Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

A city-owned airplane flew back and forth over Lakewood Country Club's 7,020 yards late yesterday, spraying mosquito repellant on the cypress trees, water oaks and verdant fairways.

ALMOST PANICKED

Casper, just finishing the pro-am preliminary, practically panicked. The onetime fatman, who has so many allergies it takes several specialists to keep track of them, had a violent reaction in Florida earlier this year to bug spray.

"This is a different kind of spray than they use in Florida," said tournament chairman Gene Rutter to Casper, the buffalo-meat eating food fadist.

"Yeah," said Casper. "Well, I won't withdraw yet. We'll see what happens."

The long-hitting Nicklaus is the automatic choice as tournament favorite because of this long, flat layout dotted with lakes and monstrous sandtraps.

Jack Weiss, a longtime Nicklaus friend and official of this tourney for many years, decided to play a practical joke on the Golden Bear.

AND NURSE

Nicklaus, who had light-heartedly commented a week ago that he may be getting old at 29, was met at the airport by Weiss with a wheel chair, an attractive girl dressed in a nurse's uniform, and a sign which read: Greater New Orleans Open Welcomes Good OLD Jack.

The sun-bronzed Nicklaus went along with the joke, posing for pictures, and wise-cracking about his senior citizenship.

Football's Realignment Talks Go On

NEW YORK (UPI)—Now that the two professional football leagues seem to agree on the best method of realignment, the next step is to get everything on paper.

That might happen today when the two leagues meet jointly, or it might not happen at all this week. There are many ramifications to consider. But at any rate, progress seems to have been made.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle indicated as much yesterday when he said that both the National and American Football Leagues lean toward adopting a new realignment plan for 1970 which would balance the two leagues at 13 teams each by shifting three NFL teams to the AFL.

This proposal, if adopted, would enable each league to keep its identity—the thing that both leagues seem to feel is of utmost importance.

The big problem concerning the favored proposal is getting three teams to volunteer to join the AFL. Rozelle, however, said there were at least a half dozen teams which had approached him with the idea of exploring such a move.

Strange Not To See Drysdale Pitching

It seems strange not to see Don Drysdale in action in the current two-game series at Candlestick Park. Big D of the Dodgers rarely missed any pitching assignment and never one against the Giants, the club he loved most to beat.

Drysdale is on the disabled list for the first time in 14 major league campaigns. He may never pitch again because of a torn muscle deep in his right shoulder. The muscle tear was aggravated in his last appearance against the Giants in Dodger Stadium April 22 when he was knocked out of the box.

DRYSDALE hinted after that game that the pain was so great in his arm that he might be forced into retirement. Walter Alston, manager of the Dodgers, persuaded the 6-foot-6 righthander to postpone any retirement decision until after a 21-day rest on the disabled list.

Drysdale faced the Giants more times and beat them more times than any active pitcher in the majors. Counting his April 22 loss to them, Drysdale still holds a 34-31 career edge over the Giants. It was much more than a three-game edge prior to 1959.

THAT WAS the year Willie McCovey made his sensational debut in midseason with a perfect 4-for-4 performance in old Seals Stadium against Robin Roberts, a veteran of considerable ability. McCovey's success against Roberts soon was overshadowed by his duels with Drysdale.

In 1959 Drysdale was a sidearmer. He abandoned the sidearm stuff after his first five seasons against McCovey who forced him into a three-quarter delivery. During those first five seasons McCovey his .436 (24-for-55), including 10 homers, against Drysdale.

IN 1964-65, with his three-quarter delivery, Drysdale held McCovey to two singles and a double in 25 ABs. There were charges that Drysdale was throwing a spitter. Indeed, in later years Al Barlick and other umpires were to subject Drysdale to rigid inspections. On one occasion Barlick ran his fingers through Drysdale's hair but found no greasy stuff which Herman Franks charged Drysdale was applying to the ball.

McCovey never accused Drysdale of moistening the ball. He never specifically pointed the finger at any pitcher suspected of throwing a spitter. But McCovey has said on several occasions that the spitter it almost impossible to hit and batting averages would improve immediately if it were stopped.

IN ANY EVENT, from 1964 on McCovey never hit Drysdale the way he did from 1959-63. McCovey still has a respectable lifetime average against Drysdale, .320. His last homer against Big D in a Candlestick, May 3, 1966, was No. 11 for McCovey against Drysdale.

And now, with Drysdale seriously ailing, that homer three seasons ago may be the final one in the McCovey-Drysdale duel that thrilled Giant and Dodger fans for a decade.

FISHING

because the Marin Municipal Water District plans extensive use of copper sulfate to control algae. When used in large quantities, copper sulfate is deliterious to fishlife.

Other waters stocked close to Marin County are Lake Berryessa with 200,000 catchable rainbows and 30,000 catchable browns. Hennessey Lake, also in Napa County is receiving catchables.

North and south Lake Merced in San Francisco is heavily stocked with catchables. Permits costing $1 per season or 25c per day are required. Boats can be rented at the boat house.

In Sonoma County, Lake Ralphine in Santa Rosa and Spring Creek Reservoir will be stocked with catchables.

In Lake County, Anderson Creek, Kelsey Creek, Upper Blue Lake and Lake Pillsbury also were planted with catchables.

An estimated 5,000 anglers — and it could be more — will be hitting the trails for their favorite spots in Marin County. Get there early and have your gear rigged up and ready to go. Using light leaders will increase your chances considerably.

Although the Sierras will open also on Saturday, it is expected that this year's snowfall will keep most anglers below the 5,000 foot mark. I read the other day where they expect to have skiing at Squaw Valley until July 4 this year. Conditions like that will make most of the higher elevation streams and lakes impossible to fish until very late this year. Better stick to the bay area planted waters.

THANKS TO SUPER SUB

Oaks Take Series Lead

OAKLAND (AP) — Thanks to the "super sub," the Oakland Oaks have a 1-0 lead over the Indiana Pacers in a best-of-seven series for the American Basketball Association championships.

Gary Bradds dubbed super sub by teammates after he took over for Rick Barry who missed the second half of the season because of a knee operation, scored 40 points and grabbed 17 rebounds last night in leading the Oaks to a 123-114 victory.

The 6-foot-8 Bradds, former two-time All-American at Ohio State, hit 16 out of 25 from the floor and missed none of eight free throws.

Bradds has averaged 19.1 points for the Oaks in 11 playoff games.

With their fast break working to perfection before 3,290 fans, the Oaks moved to a 64-60 halftime advantage and led 73-72 as the last period started.

The next game is tomorrow night, also in Oakland Arena.

Record Homer For Robinson

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Robinson's April shower ended with a mighty thunderclap at about the same time spring finally arrived for the Cleveland Indians . . . as sudden as Sam McDowell.

Robinson climaxed a record April spree of 10 home runs last night when a two-run, upper deck blast at Detroit that powered the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-2 victory over the Tigers.

McDowell fired a three-hitter and struck out 12 in beating the New York Yankees 3-0 to snap Cleveland's 10-game losing streak and give the Indians their second victory in 17 April starts.

HOWARD'S 8TH

Elsewhere, Washington nipped Boston 1-0 on Frank Howard's eighth homer; Minnesota trimmed Seattle 6-4 for its fifth straight triumph; Kansas City shaded the Chicago White Sox 3-2 and Rick Monday's grand slam helped Oakland cuff California 9-4.

Robinson broke the old major league mark of nine homers in the month of April, set by Ken Williams of the 1922 St. Louis Browns, with a two-out wallop off Pat Dobson in the fifth inning. The homer, which boosted Robinson's league-leading RBI total to 24, gave Baltimore lefthander Dave McNally a 2-0 lead.

Boog Powell hit a bases-empty homer in the Orioles' eighth before the Tigers rallied for two runs in their half, chasing McNally. Pete Richert, the second reliever in the inning, got the last two outs, stranding the tying run on third and saving McNally's fourth victory without a loss.

'BEST START'

"I would say this is my best start," said Robinson, who is batting .368 after 23 games.

McDowell held the Yankees to a pair of scratch singles until the ninth, when Bill Robinson doubled, and survived seven walks in gaining his first 1969 victory after three losses.

The Indians clipped rookie Bill Burbach for the only run McDowell needed in the fifth on an error by third baseman Bobby Murcer, a single by Russ Snyder, a walk and Tony Horton's bases-loaded force play grounder.

"Before the game I decided to throw as hard as I could for as long as I could, but I mixed 'em up pretty good. We had to break that streak."

DECIDES DUEL

Howard's leadoff homer off Lee Stange in the fourth inning decided a duel between Washington right-handers Jim Hannan and Dennis Higgins and three Red Sox pitchers. Hannan allowed four hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the seventh and Higgins gave up one more in completing the shutout.

The victory was the sixth for Ted Williams' surging Senators in their last seven games.

Tom Hall, a last-minute pitching replacement for sore-armed Dean Chance, struck out nine Seattle batters in six innings.

Jim Canpanis scored on a passed ball by Duane Josephson in the ninth, sending the Royals past the White Sox. Josephson let a Wilbur Wood knuckler get away from him after Bob Taylor hit into a home-to-first double play with the bases loaded.

GIANTS

Jim Davenport's one-out triple made it 2-0 in the seventh. Singles by Johnson and Mays and third baseman Bill Sudakis' error added a run off reliever Al McBean in the eighth.

Mays' two singles gave him a hit in all 17 games he has started. "I was planning on giving Mays Thursday off," said King, "but with Bonds out we'll have to wait and see."

hit attack paced by Bobby Tolan, who banged out three hits and drove in four runs. The Reds scored seven runs in the fourth. Maloney also received a big assist from rookie shortstop Darrel Chaney, who made a one-handed somersaulting catch of Edwards' looping fly to left in the sixth. Edwards, a former Red who also used to be Maloney's roommate, caught the two previous games by Maloney in which he went into extra innings with hitless ball.

STRONG PITCHING

Strong pitching by Jim Bunning and Bob Gibson—both 2-2—was the key as Pittsburgh and St. Louis divided two games. Bunning tossed a five-hitter in the first game for his first complete game in a year. Rookies Al Oliver and Manny Sanguillen hit back-to-back doubles in the fifth as the Pirates scored their two runs. In the second game, Gibson pitched a four-hitter and helped his own cause with an RBI single in the five-run fourth highlighted by Joe Torre's leadoff homer and Lou Brock's two-run single.

Shoemaker's Career May Be All Through

INGLEWOOD (AP) — The brilliant career of jockey Bill Shoemaker could be over. He was injured seriously in a fall under his mount at Hollywood Park and won't ride Saturday in his 17th Kentucky Derby.

He suffered internal injuries and a broken pelvis in a freak accident just before the fourth race yesterday.

It was in the usually safe saddling paddock, not in the furious rush of a race, after Shoemaker had won the first two races.

The Shoe's mount, a fractious 3-year-old filly named Poona's Day, seemed to take one quick step forward, abruptly backed up, unseated the rider and literally sat down in his lap before he could escape.

Shoemaker, 37, suffered two fractures of the pelvis and a badly torn bladder. A team of doctors operated for an hour at a nearby hospital to repair the damage and Shoemaker was listed in satisfactory condition.

"She backed up and landed hard on my pelvis before I had a chance to get out of the saddle," Shoemaker said.

Racing fans gathered around the paddock amphitheater watched in silence as the little man was carried by stretcher to an ambulance.

The track physician, Dr. T.H. Haller, estimated Shoemaker will be sidelined for six months but said he expected normal recovery from the pelvis injury.

Shoemaker, with a steel rod still in his leg, was making a comeback since returning to action at Santa Anita last Feb. 11. He was one victory away, with far less mounts, from the leading winner at the Hollywood meeting.

His lifetime victories of 5,812 is second in history to Johnny Longden's 6,032.

Cain's Tires Wins In Softball Action

Jim MacDougall collected three hits and scored three runs last night to lead Cain's Tires to a 13-1 victory over the Broncos in the San Rafael Softball League at Albert Field.

In the evening's other game, Hamilton Air Force Base nipped Perry's Delicatessen, 4-3, behind the pitching of Bill Stafford. Dom Coleman hit a two-run home run for the losers.

Seals Deal Falls Short

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — An agreement to sell the Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League and save the team from financial disaster has apparently fallen through, the Buffalo Courier-Express reported in its morning editions today.

The Courier-Express said the deal was never completed and that four closing dates, the latest on April 25, had come and gone.

Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals won 15 straight games last season.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Parent, Sons Planning To Pool Funds On Shares

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. My four sons and I would like to pool our money and start a monthly investment plan in an oceanography company. What stock would you suggest?—J.F.

A. Since some of your youngsters are minors, there may be some technical problems in establishing a joint account. Alpine Geophysical, reviewed previously, is active in many areas of oceanography. The company and its subsidiaries manufacture marine instruments and systems, conduct geophysical surveys, produce a concentrated marine protein and operate a cargo fleet. A 50 per cent interest is held in both an offshore mining company and a West Coast seafood company and a 33 per cent interest in an Alaskan seafood cannery.

Alpine sold its 50 per cent interest in a cable TV system which will produce a nonrecurring gain of about 30 cents a share. In the fall, construction will begin on a $3 million plant for producing Marine Protein Concentrate. Test marketing by a pet food canner of a cat food with MPC was successful and nationwide distribution is planned. Nine months' earnings, through January 31, were 39 cents a share, up from 24 cents from last year.

Q. I am in my 70s and need more income. I hold American Telephone, Borg-Warner, El Paso Natural Gas, Pacific Lighting, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and two mutual funds—all worth about $15,000. What changes should I make?—W.P.

A. The highest yield could be achieved by selling and investing in high-grade bonds. Unfortunately, commissions and capital gains tax would probably eat up the additional income for several years. A few changes offer some relief. If you didn't tender Youngstown for Lykes' 7.5 per cent debentures, following the merger, you'll add 70 cents a share to your dividend when new preferred shares are received.

By replacing Borg-Warner with Republic Steel you will increase your return on this portion of your capital by about 2 percentage points to 5.5 per cent. You have not mentioned whether you accept both capital gains and dividends in cash from your mutual funds. If you are not doing this you should by all means notify your agent to make this change.

Shipbuilding Boom Reported

LONDON (London Express) — Big increases in world trade mean more ships are being built week.
than ever before Lloyd's register of shipping reported this

This booming shipbuilding has sent British shipyards up into the third position in the world's shipbuilding table. Japan still leads and Sweden is second with West Germany dropping to fourth position.

"Tonnage in the world's total order book," says Lloyd's, now stands at 53,332,563 tons and is again a record. It is more than double the total in June 1965 and the increase of 4,421,306 tons during the quarter is the largest on record.

Training Center

CHICAGO (UPI) — Westinghouse Electric Corp. has announced joint plans with Commonwealth Edison Co. to build a training center for nuclear power plant operators at a cost of $5 million.

Markets Expect To Retain Hours

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock markets are expected to stick to their shortened, trading schedules at least through the month of May.

The recommendations were to be taken up formally at weekly meetings of the boards of governors of the New York and American stock exchanges today.

Wall Street sources said the Securities and Exchange Commission figured largely in the panel's decision to brush aside mounting pressure for a return to normal trading hours. The SEC reportedly has been getting a heavy flow of mail from investors complaining about poor service from brokerage firms.

Electronic Sales

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sales of the electronics industry may reach $25 billion in 1969, according to Herbert H. Adise, president of Computer Instruments Corporation of Hempstead, N.Y.

Sells Interest

NEW YORK (UPI) — Brandon Applied Systems, Inc., has sold a 20 per cent interest in its English subsidiary, Business Intelligence Services, LTD., to A. G. Becker & Co. of New York and has obtained additional finance for the subsidiary from a major U. S. investment bank.

Profit Taking Cuts Gain On Wall Street

NEW YORK (UPI)—Profit taking gave the market an irregular look today. Turnover was heavy, but not like yesterday's near-record 19.3 million shares.

Vietnam peace hopes, an inspiration to traders in the previous session, burned even brighter. There was much speculation the return of North Vietnam's No. 2 negotiator to Paris from a long consultation in Hanoi may bring a breakthrough in the Vietnam peace conference, especially since the Viet Cong said yesterday it was willing to begin talks with "other parties" to help get the talks moving.

Shortly before the final bell, the UPI stock market indicator was up 0.17 per cent on 1,569 issues on the tape. Of these, 721 advanced and 638 declined.

The Dow Jones industrial average, up 16.08 in the previous session, eased 0.83 to 949.35 near the close. Volume approximated 14 million shares.

New Retail Drapery Outlet In Business At Pacheco Plaza

Principal here is Mrs. Calla Enlow of Bel Marin Keys, who has been an artist and designer and is now engaged, with the help of her son, in custom draperies and bedspreads, fabricated in San Francisco according to specifications. They have been associated with the wholesale segment of custom draperies for many years and are now entering the retail field.

Hours are from noon to 7 p.m. Mondays through Fridays; from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Saturdays; and on Sundays by appointment.

DOTTO GLASS, INC., 101 Joseph Court, San Rafael, which has owned property at 76 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park for some time, is preparing to built there very soon.

Plans are being prepared for a 10,000-square-foot of building, and depending upon when construction can get under way, completion may be this summer. Owner Ray Dotto expects to occupy 3,000 or 4,000 square feet and the balance will be leased out for office and warehouse space.

A NEW SHOP called the This and That Shop opened today at 532 Third Street, San Rafael, and is being operated by the Social Service Auxiliary of Marin.

Staffed by volunteers from the auxiliary, it features boutique items made by the members and also new and "distress" clothing. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays.

THE LEASING of diesel power units, generators and pumps has become such an important part of the operation of John Tate, Inc., San Rafael that a new corporation called John Tate Leasing has been formed to expand in this field. Both operations will continue at 40 Woodland Avenue.

NORMAN F. DACEY, who lectures nationally on estate planning and probate reform, and author of "How to Avoid Probate," will speak on that same subject at Olney Hall, College of Marin, Kentfield, at 8:15 p.m. next Tuesday evening. His estate planning material has been distributed by banks, insurance companies and investment firms throughout the country.

Dacey Martin

INSURANCE: John R. (Jack) Martin, new resident of San Rafael, is newly appointed regional manager of the San Francisco office of Bond Insurance Agency. He was formerly with a Houston insurance agency. . . . Robert A. Davies of Belvedere has qualified for a four-day educational sales conference by New York Life for writing over $1 million in individual life insurance during the first quarter of 1969. . . . John L. Kassab of San Rafael, an agency manager in San Francisco for Prudential Insurance, has returned from a three-day regional business conference of the company in Phoenix.

A RECENT LUNCHEON for the past presidents of the Better Business Bureau of San Francisco, Ltd. brought out Reynolds J. Barbiere of San Rafael, who presided in 1953; John H. Hoefer of Belvedere, president in 1964; and former Ross resident David Plant, president in 1966 and 1967.

Also in attendance were Vernon Libby of Fairfax, bureau manager from 1955 to 1966; and current bureau manager Charles Thurber of Terra Linda.

THREE WEDNESDAY EVENING classes on stocks, bonds, investments and mutual funds are being held at the Emporium at Northgate in the street floor clubroom from 7:30 to 9:15 p.m. Classes began last night, to continue May 7 and May 14 and are under the sponsorship of the investment firm, Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis. Reservations can be made by mail or by phoning Christine Clausen at the San Francisco office.

CHARLES C. PURGH of San Anselmo, preisdent of W C P, Inc., which provides a personnel service for the computing industry, was a featured speaker Tuesday before the peninsula chapter of the Data Processing Management Association.

IRA JOSEPH ALLYN of San Rafael has been cited by Visirecord, business systems and equipment manufacturer, for distinguished sales achievements.

MONTGOMERY WARD is repeating its classes on the art of interior decorating, commencing May 26. There will be eight 90-minute classes. Cost is $19.50. Further information may be secured from the Corte Madera store.

ATTORNEYS
— you be the judge

The case: legal notices in the I-J vs those in any other publication in Marin.
The evidence: in the I-J an attorney's firm name goes into 45,000 homes daily. His name is seen, noted, remembered. In other publications his name is seen by but a fraction of the families who subscribe to the I-J.
The question: if you wanted your firm name to become familiar, to be REALLY known, which publication would you choose?
The judgment: "Are you kidding?" All of which demonstrates that a legal notice in the I-J is also a legal notice of YOU multiplied by 45,000. And that's kinda nice!

Fuchsias

A favorite hanger—many colors—profuse bloom—likes shade.

Asparagus Fern

Lotus

CARE FREE GERANIUMS

F1 hybrid, the status symbol of flowering plants, brings new distinction to geraniums with introduction of the carefree strain. It took a little doing. Hybridizers of the Pan-American Seed Co. of West Chicago worked at it for eight years, but it was worth the effort. They came up with eight colorful varieties that grow true to color from seed and which develop into robust, superior plants as hybrids should. All of the virtues of hybrid breeding-vigor, abundant flowering, and disease resistance—put the Carefree in a class by themselves.

Plant them generously in your beds and borders and brighten your window boxes with a few.

May Day Precedent By Breshnev

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev gave a precedent-breaking May Day speech in Red Square today as the Kremlin sought to play down its military image in the wake of the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

For the first time the annual worker's parade past Lenin's Tomb was not preceded by a military display, and Brezhnev replaced the Soviet defense minister as the speaker for the occasion.

Ambassadors from the nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization were present. They had boycotted the last big Red Square celebration, on Nov. 7, the anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, as a protest against the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

The Communist party's general secretary, coatless on a beautiful spring day, refrained from direct attacks on the United States, China or any other country. The closest he came was to express "the sympathies and support of the Soviet people" for "the patriots fighting against imperialist aggressors in South Vietnam . . . the Arab peoples fighting against imperialism . . . the men of the liberation armies in Angola and Mozambique."

Brezhnev told the crowd of 10,000 packing the square that the Soviet government is dedicated to the relaxation of international tensions, the settlement of international questions by negotiations and to peaceful coexistence.

He praised "our powerful armed forces" and said the country "will spare no means in its defense." But references to the military were only a small part of his 20-minute speech.

Signups Slated At Santa Rosa

Early registration for the six-week summer session at Santa Rosa Junior College gets underway Tuesday and will continue through May 17. Summer classes begin June 19 and end Aug. 1.

Present students, high school graduates and June graduates may register in advance of the session. In addition to a wide variety of academic courses, the college will offer a college readiness program intended for students from ethnic minorities with educational deficiencies.

Class schedules will be available at the registrar's office in Bailey Hall with registrations taken daily from 12:30 to 4 p.m.

Morphine Stolen At Medical Office

Congressmen Worry Over Food Cost Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several congressional economic experts say the government must do something about the unexpected rise in the cost of food now predicted for this year if inflation is to be controlled.

But there was no agreement on what to do, with solutions ranging from possible wage-price controls to a revamping of federal farm subsidies.

The Agriculture Department said this week that earlier forecasts that food costs would rise this year 2 to 2.5 per cent were being revised upward. An official said the figure would more likely be about 3 per cent.

Food prices last year jumped 4.3 per cent. The pric eof food makes up 20 per cent of the overall cost of living, which climbed 4.7 per cent in 1968, the biggest jump since the Korean War year of 1951.

One congressman, Rep. William B. Widnall of New Jersey, indicated the unexpected rise in food costs are the result of a general inflationary psychology. If it continues, he said, "I am afraid we'll see the last thing I want to see—direct controls on wages and prices."

Another member of the committee, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., said the administration's goal for containing inflation this year allowed for too much increase to begin with, and the rise in food prices would push it still higher.

"The Agriculture Department's absurd policy of subsidizing wealthy corporate farms not to grow crops causes food prices to rise," Reuss said.

Panel Wants To Keep Job Centers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee has approved and sent to the floor a resolution asking the Nixon administration to postpone its decision to close 59 Job Corps centers.

The resolution, if approved, would put the Senate on record in asking for delay until Congress acts on the full antipoverty program later this year. All closings are to be effective by July 1.

The vote was 10-6 with Democrats in the majority on the party-line vote. The proposal could come up for debate in the Senate by the middle of next week.

SIGN FOR A SIT-IN—Stanford University students and sympathizers raise clenched fists in voting to conduct the school's second sit-in in two weeks. Last night's decision and the following occupation of the campus administration building were short-lived, however. Some 300 demonstrating against Stanford links with military research left the building this morning after police were summoned. (AP Wirephoto)

Stanford Sit-Ins Routed By Police

Students Avoid Arrests

About 300 demonstrators, protesting military-related research at Stanford and the Stanford Research Institute, seized the four-story sandstone Encina Hall on the Stanford campus at 1 a.m. after brief fist fights with other students seeking to bar the doors.

BROKE DOORS

Many started drifting away about dawn as word spread that officers had been called.

The remaining 100 quickly cleared out at 7:20 a.m. when 100 officers deployed in front of the building and Deputy Sheriff C.D. Marron walked through the halls with a bullhorn, ordering dispersal.

A force of 50 Santa Clara County sheriff's deputies then made a sweep of the building. No arrests were made.

About 75 faculty members joined the officers in sweeping through the building in accord with university administration arrangements to protect the rights of the students.

FACE SUSPENSION

The sheriff's deputies, reinforced by 50 San Jose police, were called to the campus by Stanford President Kenneth S. Pitzer and Provost Richard Lyman.

The university announced that any student identifiable as a demonstrator was automatically suspended.

Other demonstrators in groups of 30 to 40 wandered

Writer Allowed To View Logging

A Berkeley Barb writer was told in Northwest Marin Justice Court today by Judge David R. Baty that he is forbidden from demonstrating at the Bolinas Ridge logging site but that he may appear there as an observer for the underground periodical.

The four adults, Lampe; David L. Horowitz, 18, of 200 Ethel Avenue, Mill Valley; Bennett D. King, 18, of 29 Glen Court, Sausalito, and Leslie A. Ferris, 18, of Overlook Road and Elm Drive, were arraigned today.

Ferris pleaded "not guilty" and his trial was set for 11 a.m. next Wednesday. Time for plea was continued to the same time for the other three, clerk Stella Phillipscheck reported.

All were booked into Marin County Jail yesterday afternoon on investigation of refusing to disperse and all, except Ferris, were also booked for investigation of blocking a roadway.

Two juveniles, a 15-year-old from Sausalito, and a 17-year-old from Mill Valley, were booked into Marin Juvenile Hall yesterday afternoon on suspicion of failure to disperse and blocking a roadway, sheriff's deputies reported.

Lampe, according to Mrs. Phillipscheck, asked Judge Baty what bail money, should it have to be posted, is used for and the judge replied to train peace officers. "I think they're already overtrained," Lampe told the court.

The adults were arraigned in court today despite the sheriff's office report earlier that they were to appear next week.

Meanwhile, about 20 gathered today and picketed quietly along the side of the road without interrupting work. Highway Patrolman Irwin W. Cantieri reported the group said it believed it was succeeding without being a public nuisance.

Shoreline Crash Kills Drake Student; Companion Serious

One high school junior was killed and another severely injured last night when their car smashed into trees on a twisting section of Shoreline Highway north of Bolinas, the California Highway Patrol said.

Michael John Ross, 16, of 81 Laura Lane, Fairfax, was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital. Bruce Jay Holler, 17, of 2109 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax, was reported in poor condition today with a head injury in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital.

Sheriff's deputies had to cut the top from Holler's small foreign car with hacksaws to free the two youths, the patrol said. Both were students at Sir Francis Drake High School.

The patrol said the accident occurred at 9:45 p.m. three miles north of Bolinas when Holler's car, traveling at high speed, went off a sharp curve, severing and eight-inch diameter tree, then smashing top-first into a larger tree.

Ross's death was the 10th traffic fatality in Marin this year and the third in a week. There were eight traffic deaths in Marin by this date last year.

Ross, born in Scotland, was a citizen of the United Kingdom. He had lived in California eight years and in Marin six years. He is survived by his parents, John A. and Olwen Ross, and a brother, Harold, all of Fairfax.

Funeral is pending at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Policeman Killed; Quartet Hunted

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Policeman Joe Brodnik was killed and his partner, Paul McGoran, of the famed Mission 11 antiburglary team, was wounded today while on a routine investigation.

Police reported they were shot when they checked a suspicious car occupied by four young men in front of 433 Alvarado Street, in the Noe Valley district.

The suspects fled into a house.

The house was saturated with tear gas and officers burst in and make a quick search without result.

"We think they have skipped," a police spokesman said.

Wind Snaps Line

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — High winds snapped an electrical line yesterday leaving parts of the Hunters Point housing project without power for five hours.

State Shaping Guides For Saving Bay Panel

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Major compromises in the hot legislative fight to save the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission from extinction are being prepared by the Reagan administration, it was learned yesterday.

The amendments, to be incorporated in the bill the administration is supporting, will ignore the commission's proposed master plan for the bay. Instead, they will spell out "general objectives" for the commission to follow in regulating bay filling and dredging during a two-year study of the plan by a joint legislative committee.

The general guide line will be keyed to such objectives as air and water quality and protection of fish and wildlife, but will not be presented in detail for a week to 10 days, reported A. Alan Hill of San Rafael, assistant to Norman B. Livermore Jr., secretary of the Resources Agency.

If the commission's life were extended, but without giving it some standards to judge filling and dredging permit applications, the commission would have nothing to hang its legal hat on when it rejected an application. Its current standards were designed to protect the bay while the plan was being drawn during the past three years.

The compromise avoids the plan's controversial recommendations that its jurisdiction be extended to salt ponds and a band of the shorelines around the bay.

"There are a multitude of issues involved," Hill told the Independent-Journal, "but the central issue to us that is absolutely vital is that BCDC be extended. There is no question about that, and the governor and all of us are going to fight for that position.

"The question of whether to go to regional government, and whether to extend jurisdiction, and whether to endorse the bay plan are separate questions. They are equally important, but they're separate," he said.

The administration's proposal "would save the BCDC with its powers intact so then we can move on to these other questions, but only after we make sure that we have a BCDC and controls over dredging and filling," Hill declared.

The bill being supported by the administration is SB 117, by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, and AB 827, by Rep. Don Mulford, R-Oakland. They are virtually identical.

As initially introduced, the bill simply would have deleted the 1969 expiration date from the act that set up the BCDC. Later, it was amended to adopt the plan, but then amended again to delete this provision.

Conservationists generally have termed the bill "a minimum," instead throwing their support to a stronger bill by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, which would extend the BCDC's jurisdiction to the salt ponds and shoreline.

Other legislators, including Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, have introduced bills which conservationists contend would end the effectiveness of the BCDC.

Nixon Selects Colombian Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon announced today he will nominate Jack Hood Vaughn, former director of the Peace Corps, to be ambassador to Colombia.

Vaughn, 48, will succeed Reynold E. Carlson who is resigning.

A former instructor of French and Spanish at the University of Pennsylvania, Vaughn served as ambassador to Panama and as assistant secretary of state for Inter-American affairs before moving to the Peace Corps in 1966.

Dixie Strike Charges Hit By Lawyers

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Attorneys fought a courtroom battle today over contempt trials for 98 demonstrators arrested in the six-week-old strike by Negro workers at two Charleston hospitals.

Defense lawyers argued an injunction restricting picketing at the hospitals was void because it was vague and was issued without notice to defendants. Union attorneys also contended the hospitals were not exempt from the National Labor Relations Act which permits collective bargaining, an issue in the strike.

State Attorney General Daniel R. McLeod sought to try groups of the defendants, including the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. Defense lawyers want separate trials.

The SCLC has led demonstrations supporting the strikers.

In Columbia today, Gov. Robert E. McNair said at a press conference he is considering declaring a state of emergency in Charleston and placing a curfew on the city. "The situation grows more serious minute by minute, day by day," he said.

The mass picketing took place despite a court order prohibiting more than 10 pickets at a time at the South Carolina Medical College Hospital and the Charleston County Hospital. Arrested last Friday, Abernathy and the others were jailed when they declined to seek bail.

About 525 persons have been arrested as a result of demonstrations, and National Guardsmen were called in Friday to

Property Tax Rebate Wins In Lower House

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly voted today to give an estimated 500,000 to one million confused taxpayers another chance to get some money back from the state.

After a brief debate, the lower house approved and sent to the Senate an administration-backed bill reopening the period for filing for a $70 property tax rebate. The vote was 64-2. Only Republican Assemblymen William T. Bagley, San Rafael, and Robert H. Burke, Huntington Beach, voted against the measure.

Carole Tregoff Wins Parole In Finch Case

The once sleek and shapely receptionist in the then wealthy physician's office was sentenced to prison April 17, 1961. She was released from the California Institution for Women here.

Dr. Finch, her co-defendant in three sensational murder trials, is serving a life term at the California Institution for Men at Chino.

Iverne Carter, superintendent of the women's prison, said Miss Tregoff, 31, got the news she had been paroled after a hearing at the prison yesterday.

"She made a specific request that there be no publicity surrounding her release," said Mrs. Carter.

Mrs. Carter said she was unsure where Miss Tregoff went, but she has parents in the Los Angeles area.

"She's trained as a medical secretary," said Mrs. Carter. "She'll have to get a job after she's out."

Miss Tregoff, she said, is still "a good-looking young woman, but she's much thinner than when she came here."

The red-haired Miss Tregoff worked as a medical secretary in prison.

Miss Tregoff was sentenced to five years to life on a second-degree murder conviction and to a life term for conspiracy to commit murder. Finch is serving life terms for first-degree murder and conspiracy.

Finch and his attractive wife were active in Los Angeles society and members of the country club set in the suburb of West Covina.

She was found dead outside her home the night of July 18, 1959, shot in the back, her skull fractured.

The prosecution charged that Dr. Finch surprised her when she returned from an evening out, pistol whipped her and shot her when she ran. He was found asleep the next day in Miss Tregoff's apartment. Miss Tregoff was arrested after telling conflicting stories.

The prosecution charged the lovers conspired to eliminate Mrs. Finch to keep her from getting a share of $750,000 assets she listed in a suit for divorce.

Both Finch and Miss Tregoff became eligible for parole last year but both lost pleas for freedom.

'Free Huey' Rally Draws 1,500 Outside Courtroom

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Demonstrators gathered outside the Federal Building today chanting "Free Huey Newton" as a hearing went on inside on a petition to release the imprisoned Black Panther leader.

Marching around the building and gathering in the plaza, the demonstrators, predmoninantly Negro, carried placards bearing a picture of Newton superimposed on a red star.

Police estimated the crowd at midmorning at 1,500 but it appeared to be growing.

Black Panthers distributed placards as demonstrators arrived.

Authorities said virtually all available U.S. marshals were on duty and General Service Administration guards were called from other federal buildings.

Tight security measures were imposed inside the Federal Building with limited access to the floor where the hearing was in progress.

U.S. District Judge Alfonso Zirpoli took the case under submission after an hour-long hearing, and said no ruling would be issued for at least two days.

Today's rally, planned for weeks since the hearing was set, took on added significance amid hints of federal legal action against the militant Negro party Newton heads.

The outgoing federal Grand Jury, just before dismissal yesterday at the end of its one-year term, spent most of the day questioning several Negroes brought here on short notice from other cities.

However, the jury returned no indictments against either the witnesses or the Black Panthers.

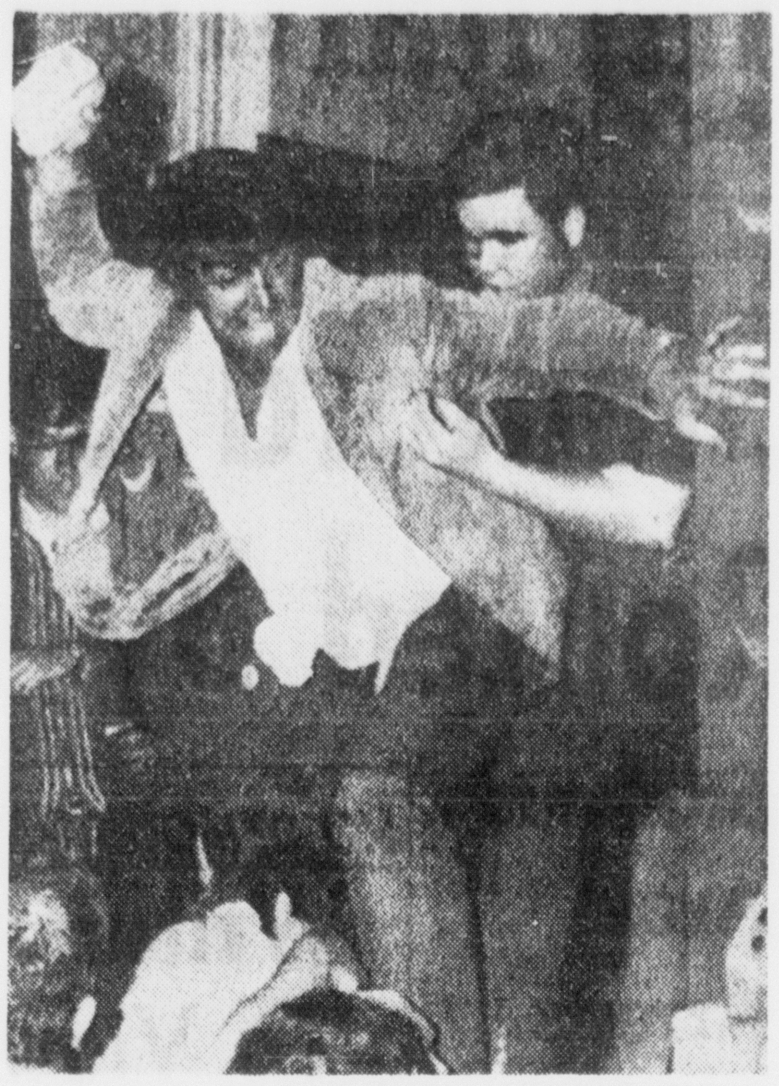
By ASSOCIATED PRESS



COUNTERATTACK REPULSED — A Columbia University sit-in threatens to use a brick to fend off conservative students attempting to roust SDS demonstrators from one of two buildings occupied on the campus last night. (AP Wirephoto)

Protesters led by Students for a Democratic Society have seized two buildings at Columbia University, repulsed a counterattack by other students and jeered a sheriff who warned them to leave. (See also Stanford University story, page 1.)

Four other New York City campuses are beset by student turmoil, but elsewhere around the nation fewer campuses reported trouble.

Several hundred students at Columbia stormed into Mathematics and Fayerweather halls yesterday, clubbed in the face a professor who got in their way and barricaded the doors.

The double sit-in, in support of black students' demands for a larger role in the admissions process, came exactly one year after 1,000 police ended an eight-day sit-in in five Columbia buildings by making more than 700 arrests.

Under Sheriff William H. Kehl tried to enter Mathematics Hall to give the protesters a court order requiring them to show why they should not be charged with contempt of court for breaking an earlier injunction against disruptive protests.

Turned away by a blockade of furniture and sprayed with a fire extinguisher, Kehl took up a bullhorn and said, "It's my duty to inform you that if you violate this order you can be committed to 30 days in jail plus $250 fine."

Supporters of the sit-in, clustered in front of the building, shouted, "Pig!" and, "We don't want to hear you!"

When scuffling broke out in Mathematics Hall, university Proctor William Kahn stepped in between the opposing groups and ordered the counterdemonstrators to leave the building. "There could have been real violence if I hadn't cleared this building," Kahn said.

Nine professors remained in Fayerweather, and said they would not leave until the sit-in ended.

The Student Afro-American Society, which first advanced the black demands, remained aloof from the SDS sit-in. The crowds on the 17,500-student campus were far smaller than last year.

More than 100 students broke into the president's office at Brooklyn College, sprayed paint on the walls, smashed an end table, ripped out a telephone and started a fire with mail in the office.

The vandals raided the office as officials of the 28,000-student school met with student representatives to discuss demands for open enrollment of all high school graduates and abolition of attendance and required courses.

At City College, negotiations con tinued between President Buell G. Gallagher and black and Puerto Rican students who have seized half the campus to demand enrollment of more minority group students and a separate school of black and Hispanic studies.

Gallagher told a meeting of 500 faculty members that progress was being made. City College has 20,000 students, about 4,500 of them Negroes and Puerto Ricans.

At Queens College, several hundred students remained in the administration building and barred all workers for a second day. They refused to allow any food to go to a handful of administrators who remain in their offices. Some food was hoisted to them by rope.

The students demand amnesty for 38 students and a professor arrested in an earlier demonstration. Queens, with 25,000 students, canceled morning classes to hold faculty meetings today.

At Queensborough Community College, a sit-in continued over President Kurt R. Schmeller's refusal to rehire a leftwing English professor. Schmeller said he would reinstate for the fall term two of the three professors he fired for joining the sit-in. The faculty has voted to support student demands.

Black and Puerto Rican students at Manhattan Community College ended a two-day sit-in after discussing with faculty members their demands for a minority studies program and a larger role in decision-making.

Cairo, Ill., Race Tensions Ease Under Heavy Patrols

CAIRO, Ill. (AP) — Heavy police and National Guard patrols and an all-night curfew enforced a second night of quiet in racially troubled Cairo.

The second session of a special Illinois House committee investigation was to meet today in Springfield to seek an answer to the conflicts that led to three nights of firebombings and shootings.

A Civil War-era building, used until recently as a tuberculosis sanitarium, and a nearby small building were destroyed and six other buildings were damaged slightly in the disturbances that reached their peak Monday night.

Illinois National guardsmen and state police were sent to aid the city's 15-man police force Tuesday. Both white and Negro residents of this city of 9,000 at the confluence of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, expressed fear that violence would flare again if some settlement were not reached before the National Guard is withdrawn.

Roger Nathan, executive director of the Illinois Human Relations Commission, met yesterday with city officials and leaders of the Negro community in an effort to bridge the gap between them.

"We have a real communica tions hangup here," Nathan said in an interview. "The basic relations with government that white people take for granted just don't exist here for blacks."

Agnew Makes ABM Pitch To Governors

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew appealed to the nation's Republican governors today to support President Richard M. Nixon's decision to deploy the Safeguard missile defense system (ABM).

A check in advance of the speech showed strong support among the GOP state executives for the missile system.

Agnew argued at a closed business session of the conference that Safeguard would preserve the equilibrium of U.S. and Soviet nuclear capabilities and leave the way open for diplomatic negotiations with the Russians.

"If a major political breakthrough leads to disarmament, construction can be immediately stopped," he said. "If a major research breakthrough leads to the development of a genuine national defense umbrella, it is because Safeguard's expenditures were research oriented."

Agnew said the President's decision ought to be supported by the governor "if for no other reason that it is less expensive than the Sentinel system proposed by the previous administration."

Twelve of 21 governors reached in an Associated Press survey said they support the decision. These included Govs. Ronald Reagan of California, chairman of the conference; John A. Love of Colorado, former chairman; Daniel J. Evans of Washington, keynoter at the Miami Beach, Fla., convention, and Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, co-chairman of the Governors Association Policy Committee. Rockefeller and Evans did not attend the conference.

Only Govs. Don Samuelson of Idaho and former chairman Francis W. Sargent of Massachusetts expressed public doubts about Safeguard.

In the midst of dining and watching a "Governor's Stakes" race last night, the governor themselves became horsemen as their host, Kentucky Gov. Louie B. Nunn, presented them—all 30 of them— with a yearling Kentucky thoroughbred.

All of the governors will own n equal share of the colt and ny money he wins will be doated to their favorite charities.

Sonja Henie Gets Award Of $15,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sonja Henie, the former skating star and actress, was awarded $15,000 damages yesterday in Superior Court.

Judge Stevens Fargo ruled that a fence and other structures of Dolly Doris Bright, widow of industrialist David E. Bright, are encroaching one and one-half feet on Miss Henie's Bel Air property.

Ask Asylum

BERLIN (AP) — An engineer and a woman conductor drove one of East Berlin's interurban trains to the end of the line in West Berlin today and asked for asylum, the West Berlin police reported.

Normally trains into West Berlin on the S-bahn, or elevated railroad, are operated by West Berliners although the system is controlled by the East Germans. The police refused to say how the 58-year-old man and 54-year-old woman managed their escape.

New Leader Selected

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Maj. James Chichester-Clark, a 46-year-old former soldier with little experience in politics, today won the battle to become prime minister of Northern Ireland by one vote.

A caucus of the ruling Unionist Party elected Chichester-Clark party leader 17-16. Prime Minister Terence O'Neill, who gave up the party reins Monday because he could not reconcile the province's Protestant majority and Roman Catholic minority, will now turn the government over to Chichester-Clark.

Israelis Killed

TEL AVIV (AP) — Five Israelis were killed and one was wounded in the heavy fighting along the Suez Canal yesterday, the Israeli army announced today.

The five men—three soldiers and two civilian army employees — were wounded near Port Taufiq at the southern end of the waterway and died during the night, a spokesman reported.

The spokesman said one of the soldiers, a 19-year-old private, was hit by a sniper, and two others were shot trying to get him to safety.

A communique from Cairo said there were no Egyptian casualties.

Watch Levees

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP) — Residents of Mississippi River towns in Iowa and Missouri stood guard today as levees continued to hold up under pressure from waters risen 2 to 6 feet over flood stage.

The Army Corps of Engineers said 700 miles of the Mississippi remained in flood stage and warned there was danger — even upstream from the crest — that battered levees could cave in.

The worst of the Mississippi flooding yesterday was in a stretch from Burlington, Iowa, to Clarksville, Mo.

There was no threat of flooding on the Illinois side of the Mississippi because of high levees and high natural terrain.

Natalie To Wed

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It will be a May 30 wedding for actress Natalie Wood and English movie producer Richard Gregson, her spokesman announced yesterday.

Miss Wood, 30, won Academy Award nominations for "Rebel Without a Cause" in 1955 and "Love With a Proper Stranger" in 1964. She and actor Robert Wagner were divorced in 1962.

Gregson, 38, was divorced in 1967 from his first wife. Their three children, Sarah, 10, Charlotte, 9, and Hugo, 7, will participate in the ceremony at the Church of the Holy Virgin Mary, the spokesman said.

Approves Nominee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee has approved President Richard M. Nixon's nomination of James E. Allen Jr., of New York for U.S. commissioner of education.

The nomination, approved yesterday without dissent, will also make Allen an assistant secretary in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. He has been New York State commissioner of education for 14 years.

Steam Bus Talk

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Industrialist William P. Lear says he hopes to have a steam-powered bus ready for testing around the middle of July or the first of August.

Lear, designer of a jet plane which bears his name, said yesterday the government should subsidize one of the major automobile manufacturers to develop a steam-powered private car which would emit virtually no air pollution.

He estimated it would cost $100 million for a company to tool up for production of such cars.

Allied Toll Ebbs; Red Losses Heavy

SAIGON (AP) — American battlefield deaths in Vietnam last week dropped to their lowest total in nearly four months while the enemy toll remained high, the U.S. Command reported today.

A U.S. spokesman attributed the reduction in American casualties to a decrease in the Viet Cong offensive. He said enemy casualties remain high because there has been no slackening of U.S. and South Vietnamese offensive operations.

The weekly casualty reports said 163 Americans, 237 South Vietnamese government troops and 3,662 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed in action last week.

The focus of the war appeared today to be shifting to border areas where the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops are in a more advantageous position.

Military spokesmen reported allied forces killed 186 North Vietnamese in seven clashes, and six of them were along the Cambodian border northwest of Saigon or just below the eastern flank of the demilitarized zone.

North Vietnamese gunners firing from inside the DMZ and from near the Laotian border also made two heavy mortar attacks on American troops during the night. The U.S Command said casualties were light but some Americans were killed or wounded.

In Washington, Pentagon sources say a recently captured Viet Cong staff document indicates the enemy plans to try for a political uprising in conjunction with major attacks on Saigon this summer.

Officials said the paper was believed to have figured in a Viet Cong military staff conference in late March.

The document, captured as the Viet Cong's winter-spring assault appears to be petering out, outlines plans for continuing enemy offensive activity, the sources said.

Disclosure of the new paper comes at a time when Pentagon authorities are challenging reports of major enemy pullbacks into Cambodia and disputing arguments of some critics that the enemy winter-spring offensive was in retaliation for intensified allied operations.

The military authorities claim that two North Vietnamese and two Viet Cong divisions, plus various units adding up to a fifth division, remain within striking distance of Saigon.

Citing other captured documents and interrogations of prisoners and defectors, the military sources also say it is clear the enemy was preparing for this year's winter-spring offensive as early as last August.

Designed by architects Marquis and Stoller of San Francisco, the building seats 300 persons and has six alcove rooms for small groups off the main dining room.

Laird Blames Soaring Jet Cost On LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon's Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has blamed mistakes in the expensive C5A supertransport airplane program on the Johnson administration and promises they won't happen again.

Almost as punctuation to his remarks, Laird mentioned replacement of two high civilian appointees of the Democrat era including an assistant secretary of the Air Force accused a day earlier of sanctioning cost-juggling on the C5A to prevent jeopardizing Lockheed Aircraft Corp. position in the stock market.

In his statement yesterday, Laird said, "I am very concerned by the situation which was inherited surrounding the C5A contract and procurement actions. Rapid corrective action is essential and is being taken.

"I am determined to insure that full and accurate information on C5A procurement, and on all other procurement matters, is given to the Congress and to the public promptly.

"I also am determined to insure that past mistakes in the procurement of this transport aircraft will not be repeated," said Laird, a former Republican congressman.

Meanwhile, Deputy Air Force Secretary Aaron J. Racusin went to Capitol Hill and denied the charges laid by Col. Kennedy N. Beckman, the officer in charge of the C5A contract.

Beckman had testified Tuesday before the House government operations subcommittee that Air Force officials knew as early as Feb. 2, 1966, that Lockheed costs on the C5A contract were soaring. That was 15 months before Air Force officials testified to Congress the program was coming in near target cost—$2.9 billion for 120 of the giant aircraft.

The latest Pentagon estimate on cost of the program, including research and development, is $5.2 billion.

Racusin told the subcommittee Wednesday cost estimates were withheld rightly. "There were not any doctored reports to Air Force management officials,' he said.

Retiree Kills Neighbor On A Gun Spree

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A retired security guard went on a shooting spree Wednesday, killed a neighbor woman, wounded her husband, and fired several shots at a second woman.

It took four policemen to subdue Fred Martin Thomas, a husky six footer still physically powerful at 66. One of the officers received a broken arm in the struggle.

Police said Thomas killed Mrs. Leta Griffins, 64, resident of an apartment complex next door to the one where Thomas lived, and fired three shots at close range into her husband Louis, 65.

"He shot us for no reason at all," Griffins told police before he was rushed to County-USC Medical Center. He was reported in critical condition with bullet wounds in the chest and arms.

Officers said Thomas approached Griffins with a drawn pistol while Griffins was mowing his lawn, and forced Griffins into his apartment. They were met in the kitchen by Mrs. Griffins, and Thomas allegedly opened fire.

As Mrs. Griffins fell mortally wounded, Thomas turned the gun on her husband, police said.

Then he went to the apartment of Mary Lou Fisher, 35, in the same building as the Griffins' dwelling, and demanded to be admitted. Mrs. Fisher refused. Thomas tried to force the screen door, then fired several shots into the apartment. Mrs. Fisher was not hit.

Bilingual Cards In Hijackings

MIAMI (AP) — Pilots of planes likely to detour to Cuba have been given bilingual cards of what to say when the hijacker comes.

The cards include eight numbered phrases—in English on one side and Spanish on the other. A note to the pilot instructs him to circle the Spanish phrase with the number corresponding to the English he is trying to convey.

"This is to prevent misunderstanding of the pilot's actions by a Spanish-speaking hijacker," said a spokesman for Eastern Air Lines, one of several issuing the cards. "If he doesn't get the message some hijacker might do something he doesn't want to do."

FEDERAL BLESSING

James Frazier, acting area manager of the Federal Aviation Administration, said the cards were discussed with the FAA before they were issued. He said National and Delta Airlines also have issued the cards.

"Some pilots have to reach into flight bags for maps or make radio contact," Frazier said. "This way he can explain to allay the hijacker's fears somebody is going to try preventing him from reaching Havana."

WHAT CARD SAYS

The cards carry instructions to the pilot at the top, telling him to circle the appropriate statement. The cards also inform the pilot he will routinely receive landing instructions from Havana Air Traffic Control and that approach maps for airports in Havana, Santiago, and Varadero, Cuba.

The card texts: 1. Proceeding to Cuba as directed.

2. I must open my flight bag for maps.

3. Not enough fuel to reach Cuba.

4. The weather will not permit landing in Cuba.

5. The aircraft is too heavy for landing, we must circle to burn fuel.

6. Traffic control has instructed us to circle ---- hours-minutes.

7. Aircraft has mechanical problem—can't make Cuba.

8. Emergency — must land nearest airport.

Sign Ordinance Suggested By Peninsula Group

The City of Tiburon's proposed sign ordinance should limit signs to one square foot for every four feet of building frontage, Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee directors agreed last night, according to publicity director Bea Mann.

The latest revision in the proposed ordinance establishes the sign ratio at one square foot of sign for every two square feet of building frontage with the sign not to exceed 48 square feet.

Mrs. Mann said the board's recommendation will be forwarded to the city council for action.

Directors also agreed to urge Tiburon and Belvedere to bring more pressure on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad to suggest a purchase price for the railroad right-of-way along Tiburon Boulevard.

The railroad has been promising to announce and acceptable purchase price since January 1968, Mrs. Mann said.

She also said directors reviewed the Buskirk-Noble plan for downtown Tiburon but took no action on it.

India's Pickpockets Show Some Honesty

NEW DELHI (AP) — Almost 16 per cent of the graduates of India's institutes of technology have gone abroad, a survey showed.

The survey, which indicated a serious drain on badly needed Indian brainpower, said 85 per cent of those who left India had passed in the first division (highest ranking) of studies.

James Orange, a SCLC organizer, said there would be demonstrations at the airport in Columbia when President Richard M. Nixon flies there Saturday to visit former Secretary of State James F. Byrne, who is 90 today and has been in poor health. Nixon planned to stop en route from Washington to the Kentucky Derby.

"We are going to welcome Nixon, and he is going to have to hear us before he leaves," Orange declared.

Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., widow of the former head of the SCLC, led a parade of about 2,000 marchers yesterday in support of the strike.

The 100 striking maids, orderlies, nurses aides and food service workers want higher pay and union recognition.

The South Carolina House approved yesterday a resolution supporting the hospitals' position that they cannot deal with a labor union because they are government agencies and their budgets are set by legislative action.

Drugs Are Studied In Heart Tests

JERUSALEM (SS) — The effectiveness of certain drugs in blocking the effects of scorpion venom on the hearts of dogs may have clinical application in the treatment of patients with acute heart attacks.

About seven per cent of the victims of scorpion sting die of heart failure and pulmonary edema. In research work on the effects of the sting of the yellow scorpion on dogs, Prof. Karl Braun of Hadassah-Hebrew University of Jerusalem has demonstrated that the damage occurring in the heart and the lungs is mainly due to the overactivity of hormones known as catecholamines. These hormones at first cause hypertension in the circulation of blood in the body and lungs and then result in damage to the heart muscles due to a lack of oxygen.

Experiments with dogs have shown that certain drugs, if given immediately after the sting, are effective in blocking the formation of catecholamines and thus in preventing the marked alterations in the cardiovascular system.

Teens Booked In Burglary Probe

Three teen-agers were booked into Juvenile Hall Tuesday on suspicion of burglary after two Marinwood homes were allegedly entered by two of the trio.

Booked were William Buttner, 14, of 2041 Huckleberry Road, Mainwood; Nadya Winters, 14, of 101 Nova Albion Way, and Amy Krohn, 15, of 594 Wake Robin Lane, Terra Linda.

The Independent-Journal yesterday omitted the name of Nadya Winters and gave her address for Buttner.

Deputies said Buttner and the Winters girl allegedly entered the houses while Miss Krohn waited outside, apparently as a lookout.

Buttner and Miss Krohn were released to their parents last night and the Winters girl was detained, juvenile authorities said.

India Feels Impact Of The Brain Drain

NEW DELHI (AP) — New Delhi pickpockets have a conscience, at least in part.

They remove the purse, help themselves to the money and deposit the purse in the nearest post box. With the help of the identity card, the post office has the purses delivered to the owners.

The burro descends from the North African gray donkey and probably was first tamed by man in the New Stone Age some 12,000 years ago.

Save-The-Bay Law Urged By Planners

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The California chapter of the American Institute of Planners has urged the Legislature and Gov. Ronald Reagan to set strong controls over filling of San Francisco Bay and development of its shoreline.

Noting that the BCDC is to go out of existence this year, the chapter urged legislation that would "continue controls over filling in San Francisco Bay, inititate minimum controls over shoreline development essentially as recommended in the San rancisco Bay Plan (by the BCDC), and exempt no individual corporation or any public agency from uniform regulation under the enacted controls."

The chapter, with 700 members throughout the state, warned that without new legislation "indiscriminate filling of San Francisco Bay will resume."

All bills extending the life of the BCDC have been bottled up in Senate and Assembly committees, and lobbyists for bay fill interest are waging a strong campaign either to kill the bills or come up with one that would take away all the BCDC's regulatory powers.

Stereos Taken From Two Auto

Cars parked at Albert Field and Terra Linda High School have been entered by thieves who took stereophonic tape players and tapes, police said.

James E. Standard of 29 Warner Court said a player and 10 tapes — total value $150 — were taken from his car parked on Albert Park Lane Tuesday.

James C. Watson of 1121 Idylberry Road, Marinwood, told police yesterday that a thief had entered his car March 15 at Terra Linda High and taken his tape player and 16 tapes.

Child, 4, Is Run Over By Front Tire

Anthony Williams, 4, of 31 Meadow Drive, Mill Valley, was reported in fair condition today in the intensive care unit of Marin General Hospital with possible internal injuries following an automobile accident at 10:30 a.m. yesterday.

Mill Valley police said the child apparently fell out of a car driven by his mother, Mrs. Robert B. Williams, and was run over by the front tire while she was backing out of a parking space. No other details of the accident were available.

40 Officers Quell Pinole High Brawl

PINOLE (UPI) — More than 40 police, deputies and California Highway Patrol officers quelled a melee among 200 high school students yesterday, arresting 25 persons, most of them juveniles.

Three injuries, none serious, were reported in brawling among white, Negro and Mexican-American youths at the 1,700-student Pinole Valley High School, scene of recent racial tensions.

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — Thomas C. Reed of Ross, California Republican National Committeeman, today was named by GOP National Chairman Rogers C. B. Morton to a 15-member national executive committee to serve as a planning board for the GOP National Committee.

Clam Limit Fine

Richard A. Camozzi, 44, of 2399 Stony Point Road, Petaluma, was fined $25 in Northwest Marin Justice Court today for reportedly having collected more than his limit of clams at Dillon's Beach on April 20. Camozzi's fishing license was also suspended for the balance of the year, clerk Stella Phillipscheck reported.

STUDENTS

aimlessly from building to building on the spacious campus but made no attempt at a new seizure.

The take-over of Encina Hall came after a night of rallies and speechmaking.

More than 1,000 counter demonstrators on Encina lawn chanted "Out! out! out!" to those holding the building shortly after the occupation, a Stanford spokesman said.

This was the second time in two weeks that students led by the April 3 coalition, have held a Stanford building. The Applied Electronics Laboratory was occupied peacefully for eight days through April 18 before demonstrators voluntarily left as the threat of federal action loomed.

"No university in the U.S. has done more to make its internal governing processes work than has Stanford," they said. "We do not despair that they can work in the future, but we are convinced beyond a doubt that they have failed to work in this case."

After five hours of debate last night in Tresidder Memorial Union there was a near tie vote on whether to hold a sit-in. A second ballot wound up 450-280 for an immediate sit-in. There were about 100 abstentions.

Pat Shea, recently elected student body president, had appealed to students to avoid "coercion" since the faculty's Academic Senate already is considering the relationship between SRI and the university.

In the afternoon, about 25 students walked out of a hearing when members of a trustee committee declined to answer questions about their personal feelings on military research.

Top officials of SRI defended the nonprofit institute.

Charles A. Anderson, SRI president, sharply attacked the "arrogant suggestion that a small group that does not represent a majority viewpoint should rule on the moral acceptability of research."

"This work must be done," said Don R. Scheuch, SRI vice president for engineering.

He said the Army recognizes that "it cannot expect complete objectivity from a manufacturer who could potentially sell a multibillion-dollar system. Precisely because the military services need objective advice, they turn to not-for-profit organizations such as SRI."

Fisherman Dies After Boat Tips

EMERYVILLE (AP) — Wesley E. Ingram, 65, of Berkeley, died of exhaustion and exposure Wednesday after struggling to shore from a capsized fishing boat.

His companion, L. T. Smith, 57, of Berkeley, said they had clung to the 12-foot boat for two hours before it drifted to the shore of San Francisco Bay.

Ingram collapsed after reaching the bank, Smith said.

Two Teeners Face Petty Theft Counts

Jerry Paul Ambrose, 18, and William Don Schmidt, 18, both of Santa Rosa, were arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on charges of petty theft and possessing stolen property Sunday in Sausalito.

The two were ordered to appear at 1:30 p.m. May 21 for a report on possible certification to juvenile court. Sausalito police reportedly found them in their truck with property taken from a car owned by Nancy K. League of Sausalito.

Guitar Valued At $550 Reported Taken

The theft was reported by Joseph Douglas Puskar, store owner.

Statue-Makers' Counsel Quizzes County Official

A county official conceded yesterday he had no personal knowledge of any building code violations in the 65-foot statue the county is trying to have demolished, according to the attorney for Statue-builders Christopher Roberts and Andrew Loveman.

Attorney Carl B. Shapiro said John W. Wolf, county housing inspector, also said under cross-examination that he had been on board the barge-based structure but had never gone above deck level into the towering wooden statue.

The hearing in Marin Superior Court adjourned to 10 a.m. Tuesday after Wolf's testimony. The county is asking that the statue, which Roberts calls a madonna and child, be abated as a public nuisance.

The county contends the statue may topple in a high wind, and that Roberts and Loveman have never applied for a building permit. The county first issued a stop-work order, then started abatement proceedings when work continued on the giant statue, which surmounts a 130-ton piledriver barge.

Cycle Driver Hurt In Wreck

Robert D. Elrod, 17, of 128 Evergreen Avenue, Mill Valley, was treated at 5:04 p.m. yesteray for a back sprain, multiple scrapes and a possible concussion at Marin General Hospital following a motorcycle accident at Tiburon Boulevard and Reed Ranch Road.

Tiburon sheriff's deputies said a car driven by Jane V. Cook of 1750 Lagoon Drive was also involved in the accident.

No other details were available from sheriff's dpeuties today.

Valley Square Group Names New Officers

Clorinda Schenoni was elected president today of the Village Square Association of Corte Madera for a one-year term. She succeeds Dwane Borkenhagen. Also elected were Auda Bordanaro, first vice president; Has Simpson, second vice president; Janice Valk, secreatry and Hanni Butter, treasurer.

Association members also agreed to enter a float in the Marin Traditional Fourth of July Celebration parade, Mrs. Valk reported.

Burglars Unable To Open Store Safe

San Rafael Patrolman Harold Pennington, noticing an open rear door at Seawy Marine, 145 Third Street, Tuesday night, found the office safe had been tampered with by burglars using tools from the office.

Though damaged, the safe had not been opened and nothing in hhe office appeared to be missing, police said.

Survey Of Social Security Recipents

A survey of Social Security recipients in Marin will begin soon to aid the government in improving Social Security programs, Ed Leuin, district manager, has reported.

Leuin said all Social Security recipients will receive questionnaires but emphasized participation is voluntary. Information will be used for statistical purposes and will be kept confidential, he said.

$1,825 In Clothes Stolen From Auto

Thieves took $1,825 in men's clothing from a car owned by Warren A. Brown of 601 Main Street, Sausalito, while the car was parked in front of his home between midnight and 7:30 a.m. yesterday, police reported.

Brown told police he had left the clothes in his locked car overnight because he planned to take them to his new residence today.

$18,324 Budget Liked By Panel

Stinson Beach Fire District directors last night approved a preliminary budget of $18,324, an increase of $1,341 over this year's budget, according to Harriet M. Greene, secretary.

Mrs. Greene said directors hoped that the normal increase in property values would allow the district to maintain the 39 cents per $100 assessed valuation tax rate charged during the current fiscal year.

The preliminary budget allocates $2,040 for salaries, $10,560 for maintenance and $5,724 for capital outlay including $1,025 for department improvements, $1,500, for purchase of a small pickup truck or Jeep, and $3,199 for installment payment on the fire truck.

A public hearing on the proposed budget will be held at 8 p.m. June 25 at the community center.

grand jury on May 14. They are Fred Crawford of Indianapolis, Larry Carter of Minneapolis and Sam Shead of Denver.

But no federal attorney — including two from the Department of Justice in Washington — would say what was afoot.

Attorneys for some of yesterday's witnesses said they will move to have the May 14 summonses quashed on grounds that their clients were "threatened and intimidated" by federal attorneys.

Attorneys Allan Brotsky and Fay Stender claim their clients were threatened unnecessarily with contempt of court action when they sought to take advantage of the presiding judge's ruling that they could leave the courtroom to consult with their lawyers.

Others who were summoned yesterday were Harvey McClendon and Wilfred Holliday, both of Oakland, and Walter Bell of San Francisco.

Tommy Jones of Berkeley, who was expelled from the Panthers last January as a troublemaker, appeared with a subpoena but without a lawyer.

Motorist Reports Rock Hits Auto

A San Anselmo motorist reported to Ross police last evening that a rock was thrown at her car as she drove through the intersection of Shady Lane and Norwood Avenue.

Alice Gade, of 222 Floribel Avenue, said the incident happened at 6:40 p.m. Police said the rock struck the middle of her windshield, spraying glass inside her car.

$3,400 Haul From Home Near Fairfax

Household items valued at more than $3,400 were taken from an unlocked home west of Fairfax Tuesday, sheriff's deputied reported today.

Robert M. Zweig, who lives near Sir Francis Drake Boulevars, west of Fairfax, reported Tuesday his home had been entered and a quantity of Stereo equipment, kitchen appliances, a painting, several antiques, a sewing machine, a television, clothing, bedding, a camera and lenses, jewelry and an electric typewriter were missing.

AMONG EIGHT

The burglary was among eight reported today by sheriff's deputies.

James Carl Pack of 112 La Pasada, Santa Venetia, reported Sunday that sometime Saturday night his vehicle had been forced open and seven stereo tapes stolen, deputies said.

Martin A. Tacoront of 301 Orange Blossom Lane, Terra Linda, reported Tuesday two slalom skis, valued at $165, had been taken from his car while it was parked at Miramonte Marina, two miles north of Novato Sunday. Entry was made by breaking a car window, deputies said.

A bottle of narcotics and $90 in cash were taken Tuesday from his home at 730 Pine Lane, Terra Linda, Bennett J. Valdez reported Tuesday evening. Entry was made by cutting out a window screen, deputies said.

Steve J. Newland of 351 Olema Drive, Fairfax, reported Tuesday three clothing bags containing a large assortment of men's clothing samples were taken from his car Monday night. Entry was forced, deputies said.

CASH TAKEN

Patricia A. Verrier of 27 Reed Boulevard, Mill Valley, reported Tuesday her apartment had been entered, possibly through an unlocked window, and $18 in cash taken.

An auto stereo valued at $110 was taken from his unlocked car while it was parked at his home, 14 Eden Roc, Sausalito, Monday night, Edmund E. Thornton reported.

Robert Rose of San Francisco reported Tuesday that a radio valued at $280 was taken from his open convertible while it was parked on Mount Tamalpais Sunday afternoon.

Postpone Session

The Kentfield Fire District board postponed its meeting last night to May 14 in order to give the commissioners more time to study the proposed 1969-70 budget, Asst. Chief Ray N. Vogel said today. They will meet at 8 p.m. at the firehouse.

Youths Ask Column Idea On Activities

Why not have a youth column appear regularly once a week in the Independent-Journal to keep youth advised of activities throughout the county, Youth Commission Formation Committee members asked at a meeting last night at Civic Center.

The idea came from Mark Litchfield, president of San Rafael High Schoool student body.

The youth committee, headed by summer youth coordinator Christopher Harris of Tamalpais High School, appointed young Litchfield as chairman of the communications committee and asked him to contact the I-J about the weekly column.

The group also set up three other committees: A juvenile delinquency committee to discuss such problems as drugs and curfew laws, a transportation and jobs committee to study summer employment and the problem of transportation to and from jobs and a recreation committee to discuss activities such as teen centers and drop-in centers.

The chairmen and members of these committee are still to be named.

The youth commission formation committee is the planning group that will lay the foundation for the appointment of a permanent younth commission of 11 members when school starts in September.

The next meeting of the formation committee will he held at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Room 426 at Civic Center, Harris announced.

ABAG Due $96,694 In Federal Aid

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — The Association of Bay Area Governments yesterday received approval of a $$96,694 federal grant for its regional planning program next fiscal year.

The grant will be matched by $48,347 in ABAG funds.

About $475,000 has been spent on ABAG's regional planning program since it started five years ago.

The new grant by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development was for the full amount sought by ABAG.

The coming fiscal year's program includes an economic resources study, a first draft of a capital improvements budget listing priorities for the region, and work on designing a five-year planning cycle.

A Kidney Donor Needed For Teen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— Unless a kidney is donated to Robert Maionchi "in the next year or so, he will very probably go blind and possibly die," his physician says.

Maionchi, 18, went into Franklin Hospital yesterday to have his diseased kidneys removed to abate a high blood pressure problem. He is being kept alive by an artificial kidney machine.

The physician, Dr. Sam Kuntz, kidney surgeon at the University of California Medical Center said he had a list of 80 persons who need kidney donors.

Cycle Injuries To Fairfax Man

Two Fairfax men were injured in a motorcycle accident at 10:18 p.m., yesterday, in San Anselmo when their cycle struck a tree at Ross Avenue near Kensington Road, police said today.

Ideas Viewed On Police Training Plan

Two-man teams composed of an attorney and a police officer could visit high schools to describe the rights and obligations of citizens, under a $97,000 police training program planned in Marin County with federal aid.

This was one of several ideas presented last night at a meeting of the Human Rights Commission's police-community relations committee, headed by Bella Aaron.

Another plan is to assign youth police aides to help regular officers with routine duries, said Mrs. Aaron.

Police chiefs and high school students, about 20 in all, met with the police-community relations committee at Civic Center.

Mrs. Aaron and Austin J. Thompson, executive director of the Human Rights Commission, asked each police chief to list facilities or speakers they can contribute to the police training program. Such contributions in kind can be used instead of cash as the county's 40 per cent share to match the 60 per cent which the federal government will provide for the training program.

You need as much rubber on the road as you can get

The Flat Tire.

The more tire you have on the road, the better you can control your car.

Provided you don't move.

Because under the stress of high speed driving, even the widest of tires lift off the road. In fact, they usually wind up just as much off the road as on.

The other tire in the diagram, the one that's smothering the road, is the Pirelli Cinturato CN72, The Flat Tire.

Even at speeds up to 130 MPH.

In fact, so fierce is its gripping power, many people use it as a snow tire.

It out-handles ordinary tires. The Flat Tire is less prone to skid than any other tire on the road. Be it wet or dry.

And it out-stops ordinary tires. The Flat Tire can stop faster than any other tire made.

What's more, The Flat Tire rides smoothly and silently on any surface. At any speed.

It has tread patterns specially designed for European and Japanese suspensions.

And it sells for anywhere from $21 to $48, depending on the size.

Both kinds of Flat Tires are worth every penny. Unless you think you lead a charmed life.

Marin Is Wooing Quiet Industry

By DAVID DIETZ

Hamilton Air Force Base transformed into a huge industrial park. A large research facility constructed on the East Corte Madera tidelands. Revenue-producing businesses lining the waterfront at Waldo Point.

Dreams or bold forecasts?

Dreams, most likely. And so runs much of the present thinking about the future of industrial development in Marin County. No one is certain where the county is headed.

One thing is sure: Marin's character as a bedroom or dormitory county will not change. If, then, you're one who thinks that Marin may develop like its bustling Bay Area neighbors, Santa Clara and Contra Costa counties, that's a mistake.

More industry will locate in Marin, but not in the scope that would ease property taxes. Planners, developers and chamber of commerce officials generally agree on the type of industry that will be attracted to Marin, but no one knows the county's potential.

A March report compiled by Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning for the County of Marin, cites the county's apparent growth toward a self-service economy.

Noting employment had decreased in Marin in the manufacturing, agriculture and mining trades but increased in people-related services such as banks, insurance and government in the past decade, Solnit said:

"What these figures indicate is that Marin is increaasingly developing an economy that seems to fit the classic description of a place getting along by taking in its own washing."

On the surface, Marin lacks three ingredients to become a large manufacturing market: inexpensive, readily marketable land; a large work force and transportation facilities. An underlying roadblock is the political desirability of an influx of big manufacturers.

Forecasters generally agree that the industrial destiny of the county is office buildings, warehousing and distributing — like the McGraw Hill Book Co. distribution center in Novato — tourism and some small manufacturing.

Carroll Snyker, executive director of the Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau, says there is a small office boom going on in Marin right now.

"Administrative offices are the thing," he said. "They've become something the past years." He mentioned the $5 million Quail Hill commercial and residential development underway at Northgate and plans by the Western Travelers Life Insurance Co. to move its headquarters from Los Angeles to San Rafael, where it and an affiliate will employ about 75 persons.

Of this type of industry, Snyker says: "It's adaptable and compatible. They're stable employers. And they divert persons from commuting."

Snyker, also eager to promote tourism in Marin, sees a future for facilities such as the Holiday Inn under construction opposite the Northgate Shopping Center.

"If that succeeds others will come," he said. We get 750,000 visitors a year. We're going to have to have facilities to keep them."

What's better than tourist business, Snyker said, is the convention trade. The banquet and meeting facilities at the Holiday Inn already have attracted two conventions for the fall, he added. Snyker said figures supplied by the City of San Francisco indicate that a conventioneer spends nearly $25 more per day than a visitor.

Tourism as an industry will be studied soon in the Marin County Planning Department. Director Paul C. Zucker said the county has applied for a one-year federal grant of $28,000 to determine how to capture more tourist dollars.

Zucker believes industrial research and development would be compatible in Marin. Solnit's report makes special mention of this so-called knowledge industry and carries a picture of the new Kaiser Research Center at Pleasanton on the cover.

"These centers are staffed by the kinds of people whose peers already live in Marin," according to the report. "They are therefore usually found in good environments on campus-like settings where their highly specialized staffs can feel both creative and happy."

Former supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, a land investor, sees Marin as a center of medicine, culture and education in the future of the North Bay, while preserving its recreational, suburban environment.

But he added, "We'll be a transportation corridor whether we like it or not. Santa Rosa will be the biggest city in the North Bay area. We can't be the isolated little Marin that we'd like to be. If our growth includes rapid transit and second decks, that's the way it'll be."

"Marin has gotten a bum reputation for being too damned demanding in zoning and planning aspects," Snyker says. "We've chased away a lot of business and industrial realtors don't steer clients here anymore."

"I don't buy the argument we're chasing industry out of the county," says Zucker. "The trouble is that Marin's efforts to attract industry are as poor as hell. The chamber may think its doing a good job, but it's just twiddling.

"If Marin wants industry, it should do more to sell itself. The question is, what are we doing to attract industry in the broad sense? Planning is only a little piece of it."

Zucker added, however, that he didn't think the county wanted to develop industry "at the expense of its recreational and residential environment."

"This is not an antidevelopment statement," he said, "but if you weighed industrial development and residential environment, I think the people would be willing to pay another $50 a year to save that environment. People don't move to Marin because of the tax rate; they move here because of the environmental qualities."

Kettenhofen argues that planning red tape is long in Marin, but also deplores inaction by Marin businessmen. He noted that San Rafael merchants had expressed an urgency to save the downtown area but had done little to plan the future of the soon-to-be-abandoned courthouse square.

Kettenhofen argued for a greater voice for private capital in its own projects. "If you let the planners run things," he said, "everything would be the same. But the other way, we'll have variety. Imagination is provided by private capital. Who did Ghirardelli Square? Not the planners. Who did the Alcoa Building? Not the planners."

Court-Martial Hears Doctor

FORT ORD, Calif. (UPI)—A psychiatrist told a court-martial board yesterday one of 14 Army prisoners on trial for mutiny couldn't stop himself from participating in a sit-down strike at the San Francisco Presidio stockade.

Dr. Martin Blinder testified that his client, Pvt. Ernest Trefethen, 20, of Buffalo, N.Y., knew right from wrong but was an "emotionally unstable, impulse-ridden individual with problems which manifested themselves by a compulsion to keep moving."

Trefethen was among 27 GI prisoners charged with mutiny for the Presidio demonstration last Oct. 17. They said they were protesting conditions at the stockade and the fatal shooting of a fellow inmate during an escape attempt three days before.

Wiretaps Lead To 263 Arrests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. courts report that 263 arrests have resulted from legally-tapped telephone conversations in a little more than six months.

More than 66,000 telephone conversations were overheard on 174 wiretaps in four states, 167 of them in New York.

The other states in which wiretaps sanctioned by judges were reported are Georgia with three and two each in Arizona and Massachusetts.

The wiretaps were directed toward crimes involving drugs, extortion, gambling, homicide and larceny with 71 of the taps on drug cases.

Veterans Officer Will Be Honored

W. P. (Doc) Duhamel, former veterans service officer for Marin County, will be honored by San Anselmo American Legion Post 179 at a past commanders dinner Saturday.

The dinner is set for 7 p.m. at the San Anselmo American Legion Log Cabin. No-host cocktails will begin at 6 p.m. Chairman will be Commander Richard D. Brown.

Andy Klapak, post historian, said Duhamel will be given a life membership gold card, "For long and outstanding service" as veterans service officer and for his role in pushing for the Civic Center Veterans Memorial Auditorium now under construction.

New Gains In Steam Auto Design May Conquer Smog

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Racing car designer Andy Granatelli has joined the swelling ranks of industrialists who believe steam-powered automobiles could be a practical answer to the smog problem.

Granatelli, president of STP Corp., told a news conference that his firm and Planning Research Corp. have joined forces to achieve "a significant technical breakthrough" in steam-engine design.

A proposal to draw up plans for a passenger car using the new design, which he said reduces the size of the power plant system, has been submitted to the National Pollution Control Administration.

The agency recently asked industry for proposals to design steam automobiles as a way of reducing the smog emitted by internal combustion engines. A dozen proposals have been received, including one from industrialist William Lear of Reno, Nev.

Granatelli said the joint proposal is only for a design study but added: "We are capable of producing such engines within our organization."

Granatelli, who formerly headed the Studebaker division which produced the Paxton steam car in 1957, said the design team includes PRC's computerized systems analysis facilities and STP's engineers, best known for a controversial turbine racing car.

Granatelli said the proposed engine would amply meet government requirements of 100 horsepower and be able to propel a six passenger car at a cruising speed of 75 miles an hour.

The breakthrough he cited was a reduction in the size of the condenser needed to convert steam back into water after the steam has been used to drive pistons. His design calls for a small jet condenser, which uses water spray to cool steam instantly, in place of a bulky radiator-condenser that collects water as the steam cools.

Like most steam engines, the PRC-STP power plant would run on cheap fuel such as unleaded gasoline or kerosene.

BRIDES TO PANCAKE MIXER

Rent-An-Anything Trade Booming Business Today

LONG BEACH (AP) — What does a wedding dress have in common with a cement mixer, a poker table and a massage machine?

They all can be rented.

The poker table? Complete with set of chips and ashtrays, it goes for $4.50.

Massage rollers are $24 a month. Also for the weight-exercise set are exercise bicycles at $15 and mechanical joggers for $22.50.

About that cement mixer. It went for free, the first time around.

A young lady from Anaheim, throwing a bash for 1,800, wanted, along with a dance floor for $30, something to mix pancake batter for the gang.

The rental agency, having a brand new cement mixer, suggested that and threw it in for free.

It worked just fine. But a year later when the lady came back and wanted to do it again, no go. By that time, the mixer was encrusted with crumbs of concrete. "I figured," said rental agent Jim Dizney, "it would be a little rough on the digestion."

There are many generalists, renting tools, trailers, machines and the like. Sporting goods stores rent camping gear and the whole gamut of sports equipment.

You can rent musical instruments at from $8 to $12 a month. Clarence L. Morey rented a piano to a man for 17 years. "He paid $10 a month and could have owned it a couple of times over but said he didn't want any responsibilities."

A local furrier will rent a mink stole for $12 a night, or a $200 rabbit coat for $7.50. Sparkling china dinner plates go for 10 cents each, a silver tea set for $10.50, a silver champagne fountain for $20.

And then there's the story about a housewife who rented a bolt cutter and sprung her husband from the calaboose.

Ed Hill, operator of a rental outlet says people are rent-minded. Part of this, he says, is due to lack of storage facilities.

"Years ago," he says, "you tried to own one of every tool on the market. This denoted wealth or equity. You used it once and your neighbor used it 20 times and then it just sat there."

Carpentry Students To Vie In East Bay

Carpenter apprentices in their last year of training will compete for the title of outstanding carpenter apprenctice in the Bay Area in a contest at 8:30 a.m. May 10 at the Sun Valley Shopping Center, Concord.

Marin contestants will be John Krummes, Doug Waterhouse and Barry Withers, all of Carpenters Union Local 35, San Rafael.

Car Looted

Golf clubs and clothing valued at $631 were stolen Tuesday from their car parked on Princess Street, Arthur MacNichol of Roseville and Harley Hooper of Sacramento told Sausalito police. They said they returned to the convertible at 1:45 a.m, and found the items missing.

Weather Scientist Makes Tiny Tornadoes In A Lab

Ward is a veteran researcher on tornadoes and thunderstorms at the National Severe Storm Laboratory at the University of Oklahoma and is a 30-year employe of the Weather Bureau.

In his work to help understand and perhaps eventually control the turbulence in the "tornado alley" of Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas, Ward has constructed what he calls a "model device for studying vortex motion."

His machine is a circular apparatus 10-feet across and 8-feet high. A rheostat controls the rotation of a 30-inch wire mesh screen around a platform, creating various wind directions and velocities.

"We've got a lot to learn about tornadoes," he said in an interview, "but we have amassed a great deal of information."

He inserted titanium tetrachloride smoke into his machine so that you could see the patterns in the wind—and then spun off one, two three and four dancing tornadoes.

He raised and lowered the platform to force various depths of converging air into the spiraling columns. An attached barometer recorded the swirling characteristics as a full-blown tornado.

He's trying to help predict what direction a tornado will take and how much damage it will do.

The most likely time for twisters is from April 1 to June 15 but they can occur any month of the year and anywhere in the United States.

Ward said because of normal temperatures in the Gulf of Mexico last winter there probably "will be a normal storm pattern of activity" this spring.

Working in conjunction with Ward and the tornado researchers are Air Force RB57s, which can photograph storm clouds from high altitudes and can measure developing turbulence. F11 jets probe turbulence at the edges of clouds. The F11s, like the RB47s, work with assistance from ground radar operators.

Ward, who developed his interest in storms as a boy in Lexington ,Okla., says he has yet to be in his first tornado.

"I did see one form back in 1964," he recalled. "We picked up a storm on radar and I went with a highway patrolman and watched a tornado build."

Marin Students On Honor List At Davis

Four Marin students at the University of California's College of Agriculture and Environmental Sciences at Davis have been named to the honor roll for the winter quarter.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Sex Education Exemption Bill Reaches Senate After Revision

The bill, by Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, was approved yesterday by the Senate Education Committee.

Also before the upper house is a companion resolution by Schmitz calling on all school districts to hold off implementing any new sex education courses until the Senate can study the controversy swirling around the courses.

As rewritten by the committee, the measure allows parents to refuse permission for their children to take sex education courses; requires schools to furnish parents with the materials used in the classes for their review and requires district attorneys to enforce the law in the courts if parents believe their children are taking sex education courses without their knowledge.

"This puts teeth into the whole situation," Schmitz said.

However, the author conceded his bill was weakened by the committee amendment that reversed the provision requiring parental permission before sex education could be taught any children. The committee changed it to give parents authority only to keep their children out of sex education classes.

Schmitz said the resolution urging a freeze on new sex education courses will not affect sex education courses already in operation but was aimed at districts on the verge of introducing them for the first time.

BILL AMENDED

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill extending the state law against paramilitary organizations to include groups that disrupt schools by violent activities cleared the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee yesterday.

But the committee, which sent the bill to the floor, amended the measure to add the words "by violence" after Coleman Blease, attorney representing the American Civil Liberties Union, pointed out that in its original form, the bill would class the American Federation of Teachers as a paramilitary organization.

Blease said the AFT disrupted education when teachers it represents went on strike.

The present law provides fines up to $1,000 and up to a year in jail for two or more persons who gather to practice with weapons and obtain training in guerrilla warfare and sabotage.

Author of the bill is Assemblyman Frank Lanterman, R-La Canada.

DRUG CURBS

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A bill making it a misdemeanor to be under the influence of LSD, amphetamines or other hypnotic drugs has reached the Assembly floor despite contentions the measure is "window dressing."

The Republican-controlled Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee approved yesterday the bill by Assemblyman Peter F. Schabarum, R-Covina. The voice vote was split with all Democrats opposing it.

Present law covers the sale and possession of marijunana, narcotics and dangerous drugs but covers only being under the influence of narcotics.

Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, called the bill "some more window dressing to wave at the public" rather than a constructive solution to the problem of drug abuse.

DAM OPPOSED

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The vice chairman of the Senate Water Resources Committee today asked Gov. Ronald Reagan to meet with him for discussions over the proposed Dos Rios Dam.

Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, who said he opposes the controversial project on the middle fork of the Eel River in Mendocino County, told Reagan in a letter that dam could affect the water quality in the Sacramento-San Joaquin delta.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has recommended the $400 million dam be built for flood control purposes and also to furnish 900,000 acre feet of water per year to the state water project.

Nejedly, a member of the Sierra Club which is opposed to the dam, said the flood control value of the dam would be minimal in relation to the cost of the project.

ANNUAL FAILURE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — This year's effort to get legislative passage of the Liberty Amendment was defeated yesterday by the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee.

The measure, by Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, would have called on Congress to submit a constitutional amendment for ratification by the states to prohibit the federal government from levying an income tax.

It is perennially introduced in the legislature but has never passed either house.

Youth Service Founder Nabbed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Rev. Jesse J. James, founder of the Mission Rebels youth service group, has been ordered to jail pending trial on misdemeanor charges of loitering and interfering with the activities of a school.

"There are just too many incidents involving this man," Municipal Court Judge Albert Axelrod said Wednesday as he revoked an order which had released James on his own recognizance.

James was arrested Tuesday at Mission High School after school officials complained to police that he used obscene language while urging students to go back to school.

Pair Narowly Misses Dunking

An Olema couple narrowly missed a dunking and escaped with minor injuries Tuesday when their car swerved off Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Jewell, the California Highway Patrol reported today.

A puppy was responsible for the accident at 9:10 p.m., Gwen Lee Beeman, 39, of Highway 1, Olema, told the patrol. She said the puppy crawled under her feet as she approached the curve, preventing her from braking. Her car went through a fence, taking out 75 feet of slats, and hit a tree next to the house — and swimming pool — of Richard Fallon.

Youth's Case To Juvenile Court

The case of Paul Christopher MacGowan, 19, of Tiburon, has been accepted by Marin Juvenile Court, it was reported yesterday in municipal court. The youth is charged with possessing methedrine and being in a place where narcotics were used on April 7 in Sausalito.

A preliminary hearing for two other young men arrested with MacGowan was set yesterday for May 20. The other defendants are Steven Michael Juracich, 20, of San Francisco, and Charles Michael Goldy of Berkeley.

Yorty Protests; Audience Hisses

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Sam Yorty charged to the podium, shouting: "If he intends to do this, I'm going to . . . ."

The crowd of about 500 booed and hissed. Councilman Thomas Bradley the mayor's opponent in the May 27 runoff, shook a finger at Yorty, saying: "I didn't interrupt you, Mr. Mayor."

"Let me say just one thing," replied Yorty.

That's the way things went yesterday as Yorty, seeking a third term, and Bradley had their first face-to-face meeting since the primary. Bradley, a Negro, tallied 41 per cent of the primary vote to 29 per cent for Yorty. A runoff was required since no one achieved a majority.

Frankly, we're ashamed to have to sell off such superior luxury broadloom at such incredible low prices, Friday & Saturday

"If they're so good, how come you're cutting their prices so drastically?" Good question. The sad answer is simply this. Our stocks didn't sell as quickly as they should have...(mainly because of the rains that tied us up, remember?) and new merchandise keeps pouring in till we're ready to burst. Something's got to go, and these gorgeous carpets are on the block. If it's dream-quality carpet you have been waiting to buy, wait no more. The selection's never been better, the prices never lower, and the time never better than now...at W. J. Gilbert, of course!

AIRMAN OF MONTH— Airman 1/C David A. Peters, 23-year-old information specialist at Hamilton Air Force Base, has been named the base's airman of the month. Peters, who lives at 2 Liberty Street, Petaluma, is assigned to the 78th Fighter Wing and works in the base's joint information office.

East Bay Pair Held As Suspects In Burglary

Two Oakland men were arrested on suspicion of burglary yesterday by Petaluma police after employees of the Western Auto store, 120 Petaluma Boulevard North, sounded the burglar alarm at 3 p.m. when they saw men attempting to steal merchandise.

Scheduled for arraignment in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court today were Sherman Lee Shaw and Lonnie Cooper, both 23.

When police arrived at the store, employee Dan Jorgensen pointed to Shaw and said he had stolen a portable television set by placing it under his coat and trying to walk out of the building. Jorgensen said Shaw's accomplice was still inside the store.

After the arrests, officers reported finding in the men's car clothing identified as having been stolen from Lombardi's men's store, 195 Petaluma Boulevard North, earlier in the day.

Officers said they also found a hypodermic needle and drug paraphernalia in the car and booked Cooper on suspicion of possession of a narcotics kit.

Two Autos Hit, Stereos Stolen

Louis Espinerre, 33 Jess Avenue, said a stereo tape player, two tapes and four packs of cigarettes had been taken from his car while at his home. He estimated the loss at $115.

Dorothy Stipp, 26 Payran Street, said her car was lotted of a stereo tape player, tapes, a bowling ball and a transistor radio, while parked at her home. Value of the items was set at $150.

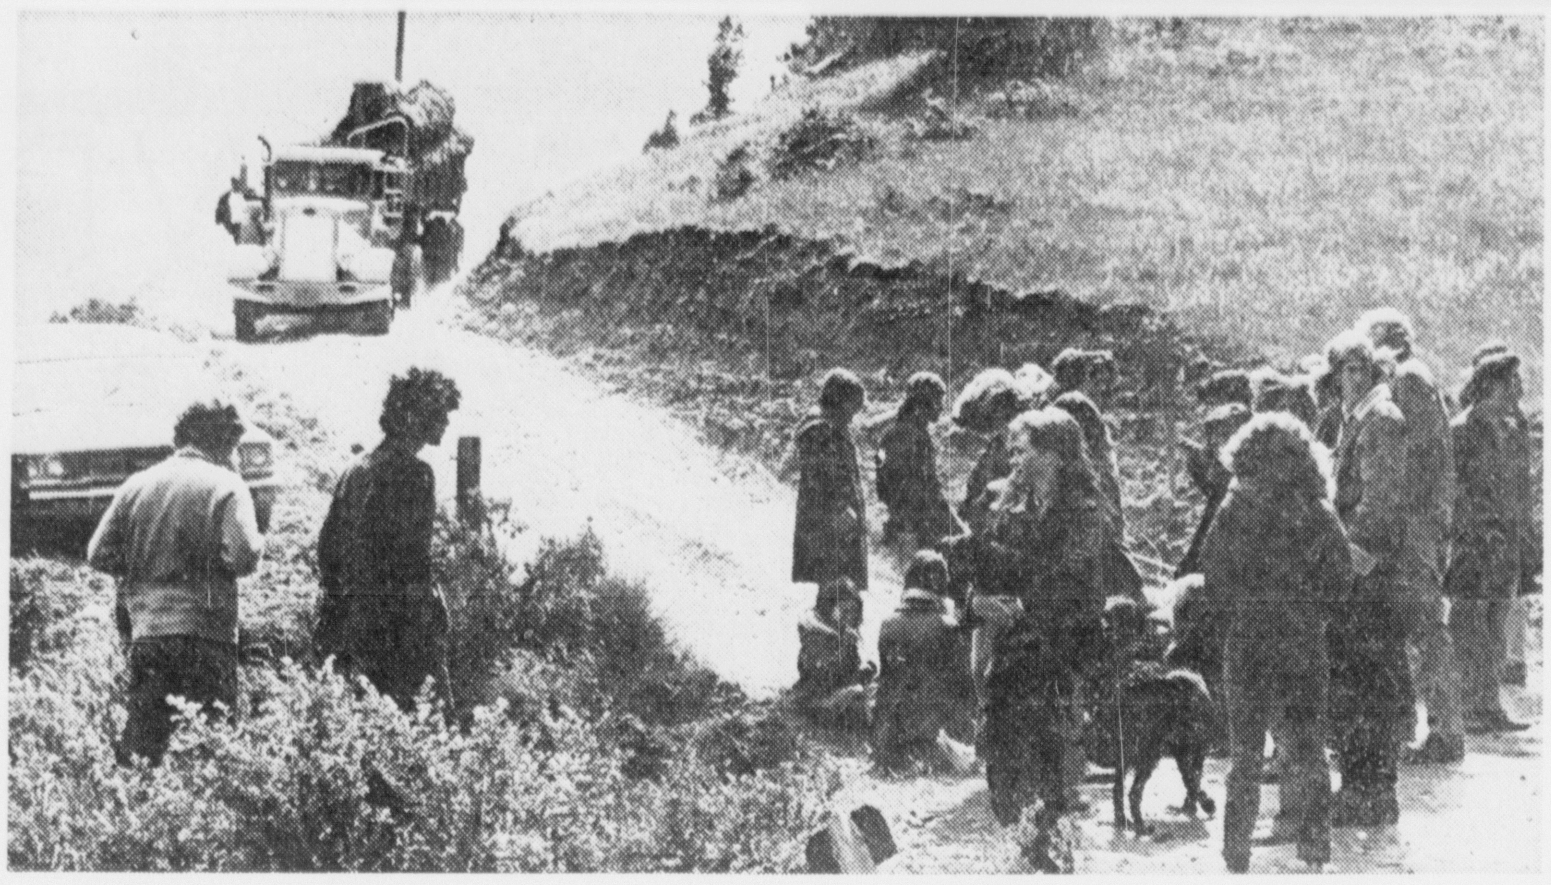
REMOVAL OPERATION — Highway Patrolman Harold Drady gently asks Keith Lampe, 38, of Berkeley, if he heard the order to move. Lampe held his ground until being removed to Marin County Jail. Standing stoically in front of the truck is Bennett D. King, 18, of Sausalito, while Patrolman Richard Treadwell urges his companions to move. (Independent-Journal pohtos by Bob Hax)



BARRICADE—Determined to save the trees on Bolinas Ridge and prevent what they claim will be additional siltation in Bolinas Lagoon, a group of about 30 conservationists plant themselves in the middle of a logging road. They were ordered to leave by the sheriff's department, and most of them did.

Antiloggers Return To West Marin

Undaunted by the Tuesday arrests of five of their group, conservationists turned out again yesterday to continue their campaign to stop logging in West Marin.

They halted work on the Righetti Ranch for about 10 to 15 minutes while four more persons were peacefully arrested and the rest of the loosely-organized group moved out of the way of the giant timber trucks.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of failure to disperse and failure to yield to a vehicle were Leslie A. Ferris, 18, of Bolinas, son of Melton Ferris, a member of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission; Keith R. Lampe, 38, of Berkeley; David L. Horowitz, 18, of Mill Valley, and Bennett D. King, 18, of Sausalito. Two younger teen-agers were turned over to juvenile authorities.

All were released on their own recognizance to appear at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Northwest Marin Justice Court.

The group started its campaign Monday and stopped logging for about two hours. Members returned Tuesday and were successful in halting work for another two hours.

A spokesman for the conservationists, Michael Alan Bond, 26, of Bolinas, said the group is worried about what the logging will do toward increasing siltation in Bolinas Lagoon.

The loggers, however, said there will be little or no more siltation than normal from the logging operation.

The owners of the timber, Matthews, Humbert and Walker Timber Co. of Coos Bay, Ore., plan to strip 80 per cent of the trees from the 1,700-acre ranch.

Proposed Timber Cut Only For U.S. Needs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An increased cut of timber from federal lands proposed by the Nixon administration to help relieve a domestic lumber shortage will not be eligible for export, according to Chief Edward P. Cliff of the Forest Service.

Cliff, who appeared yesterday before a Senate appropriations subcommittee, told Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., that the increased cut would be used to meet domestic housing needs.

The chief's statement came in response to a question as to whether any logs cut from national forests under the administration plan would be available for export to Japan.

Cliff appeared before the committee to urge a supplemental appropriation of $460,000 for the current fiscal year ending June 30 to help increase the timber harvest by 270 million board feet.

Additional funds for the program also have been requested in the regular budget for the 1970 fiscal year beginning July 1.

Crane Strikes Wire, Causing Traffic Jam

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A crane struck an overhead trolly-bus electrical wire at Montgomery and Sutter streets yesterday, producing a 50-minute traffic jam.

Buses were halted on Sutter and Kearny streets snarling vehicular traffic in the Market and Third street areas.

To Juvenile Court

The case of Philip J. Parker, 19, of Santa Rosa will be tried in Marin Juvenile Court, it was reported in municipal court yesterday. He is accused of stealing a car from a Novato man on March 30.

Prison Guards Return To Work

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The Ohio Penitentiary returned to normal today when a majority of its guards ended a two-day work stoppage over a wage dispute.

National guardsmen, who had been called in to maintain security at the 134-year-old Institution, were relieved last night by Ohio Adj. Gen. S. T. Del Corso when a full shift of prison employees reported for work.

Officials at the Mansfield Reformatory said some National Guard troops remained on duty late Wednesday when an "insufficient" number of guards showed up for work.

Elderly Men Routed Out In Blaze To House

Two elderly men were routed yesterday when fire wrecked the roof of their rented home at 15 Mariposa Street, San Rafael.

Firemen identified the occupants as Joseph Sanchez, 78, and Joseph Camizas, 76.

The blaze began shortly after 10 a.m. when sparks from an incinerator fire wafted onto the shingle roof of the two-story frame home, firemen said. The flames had begun to spread into the attic when they were checked.

Fire Chief Vance Trivett said the building, owned by L. Joe Vierra of San Rafael, was in such poor condition no damage estimate was made.

Sanchez is being cared for by the American National Red Cross, which said it is seeking a furnished room with kitchen privileges for him. The whereabouts of Camizas was unknown.

Stolen Property Warrant Issued

A bench warrant was issued yesterday by Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court for Robert Charles Baldi, 19, of San Rafael, who failed to appear in court for arriagnment on a charge of receiving stolen property on March 20.

Bail on the warrant was fixed at $2,500.

No complaint has been issued yet by the district attorney's office against Baldi in connection with his arrest Tuesday on suspicion of burglary. Police said they found an auto stereo, radio, several stereo tapes and a tachometer in the trunk of his car.

Bay Council Elects Enemark As Secretary

Fred F. Enemark, executive vice president of the Marin County Savings and Loan Association, has been chosen secretary of the San Francisco Bay Area Council, a civic and economic development organization of business and industrial leaders.

John E. Countryman, chairman of the board of Del Monte Corp., was elected chairman of the council at the council's annual dinner Tuesday, succeeding William E. Roberts, presidnet of Ampex Corp.

Newly elected council vice chairmen are Ernest C. Arbuckle, chairman of the board of Wells Fargo Bank, and Quentin Reynolds, president of Safeway Stores Inc.

Federal Probe On Bay Pollution

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House hearings on the pollution and filling of San Francisco Bay will open here May 15, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., announced today.

Reuss, chairman of the recently established conservation and natural resources subcommittee, said hearings also would be held Aug. 21-25 in San Francisco.

There is grave national concern over the future of the world famous San Francisco Bay," Reuss said. "We intend to ascertain how federal policies against improper filling and pollution of our fast-disappearing natural waterways are being carried out."

Doctor Masquerade Ends In Probation

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A former hospital orderly with a flair for acting, masqueraded as a doctor for five months at a hospital here before he was detected.

Manuel Mendez Estrada, 39, Sacramento, yesterday was placed on probation for three years after he pleaded guilty to three counts of practicing medicine without a license.

TURNING BASIN—The largely undeveloped harbor in Petaluma is new home part to a score of fishing and pleasure boats, but plans for a face-lifting will offer facilities for more mariners. Plans for the vacant land around the turning basin include a seafood restaurant and specialty shops which will reflect the river's atmosphere.

(Independent-Journal photos by Bob Hax)

Petaluma River A Pastoral Route To Port

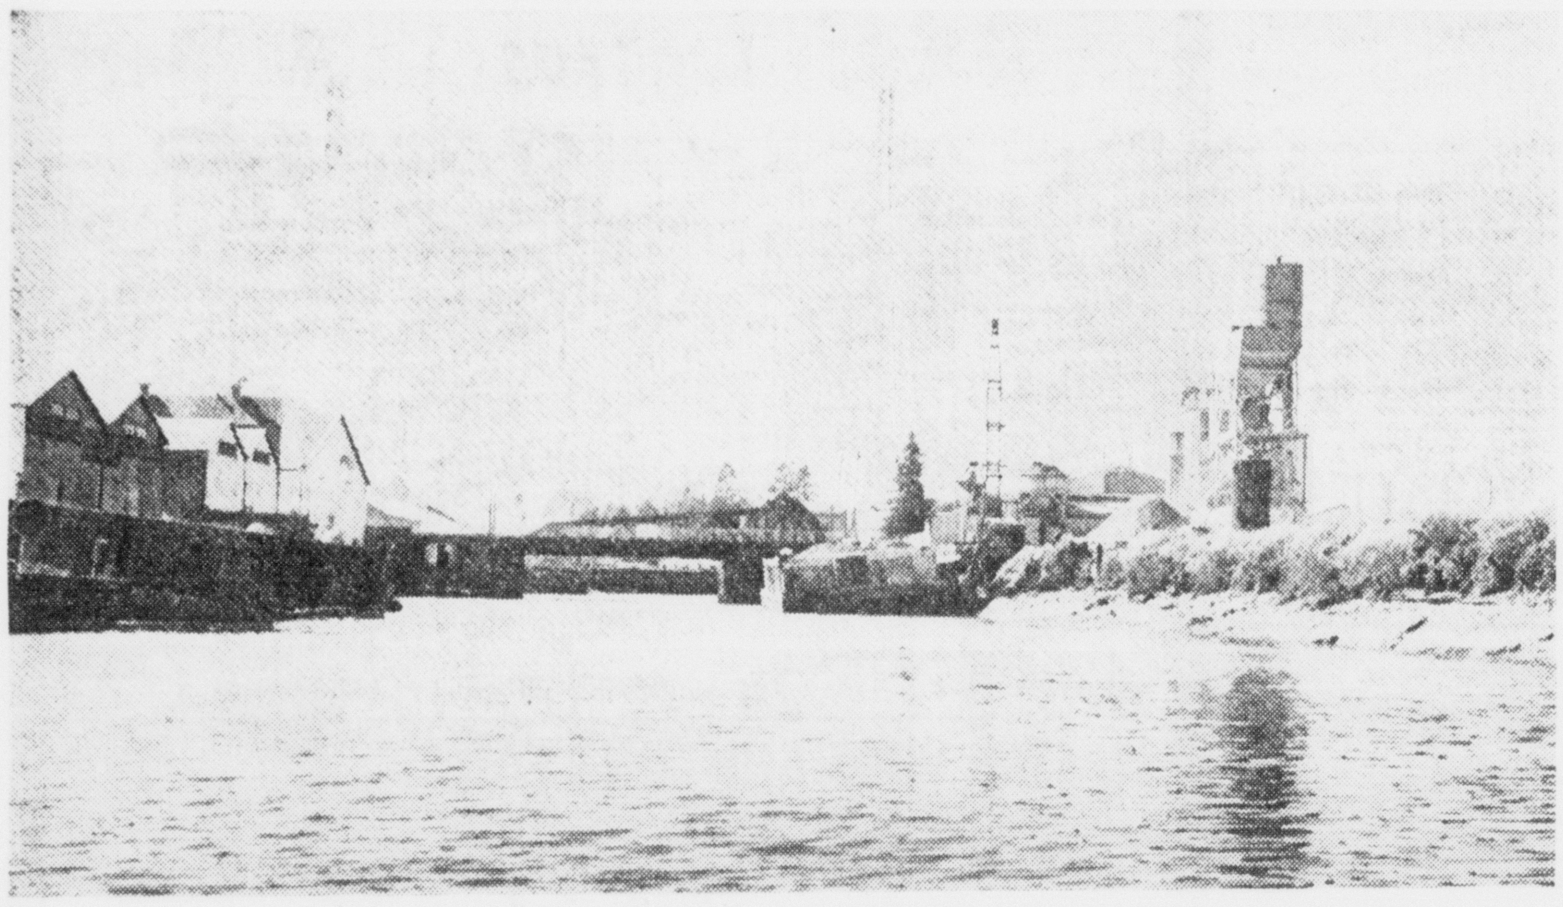
Petaluma River — the boundary that binds rather than divides Marin County and Southern Sonoma — roams through a placid valley edged by the scenic Sonoma Mountains and offers serenity and unusual solitude for mariners.

Largely undiscovered by area boating enthusiasts, the river meanders from the mouth of San Pablo Bay through rolling countryside that still wears the barb of spring greenery. The gentle river offers a cruise that could remind that with vivid imaginations of years when explorers and settlers first discovered the waterway.

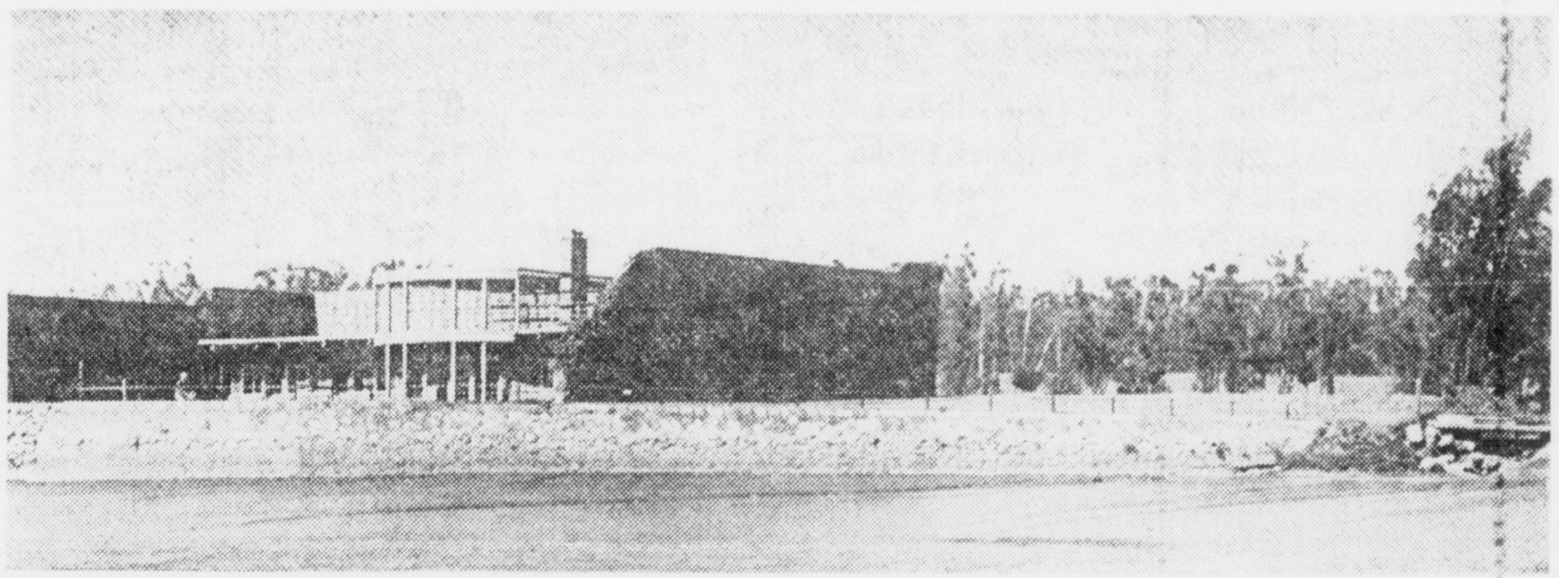
Recently dredged by the Army Corps of Engineers, the river accommodates virtually all pleasure vessels and low levees allow a panoramic view of the calm dairyland and background mountains.

Untouched by the encroachment of the twentieth century, the river scenes offer little to indicate the hectic era of rapid development until reaching the headwaters in Petaluma.

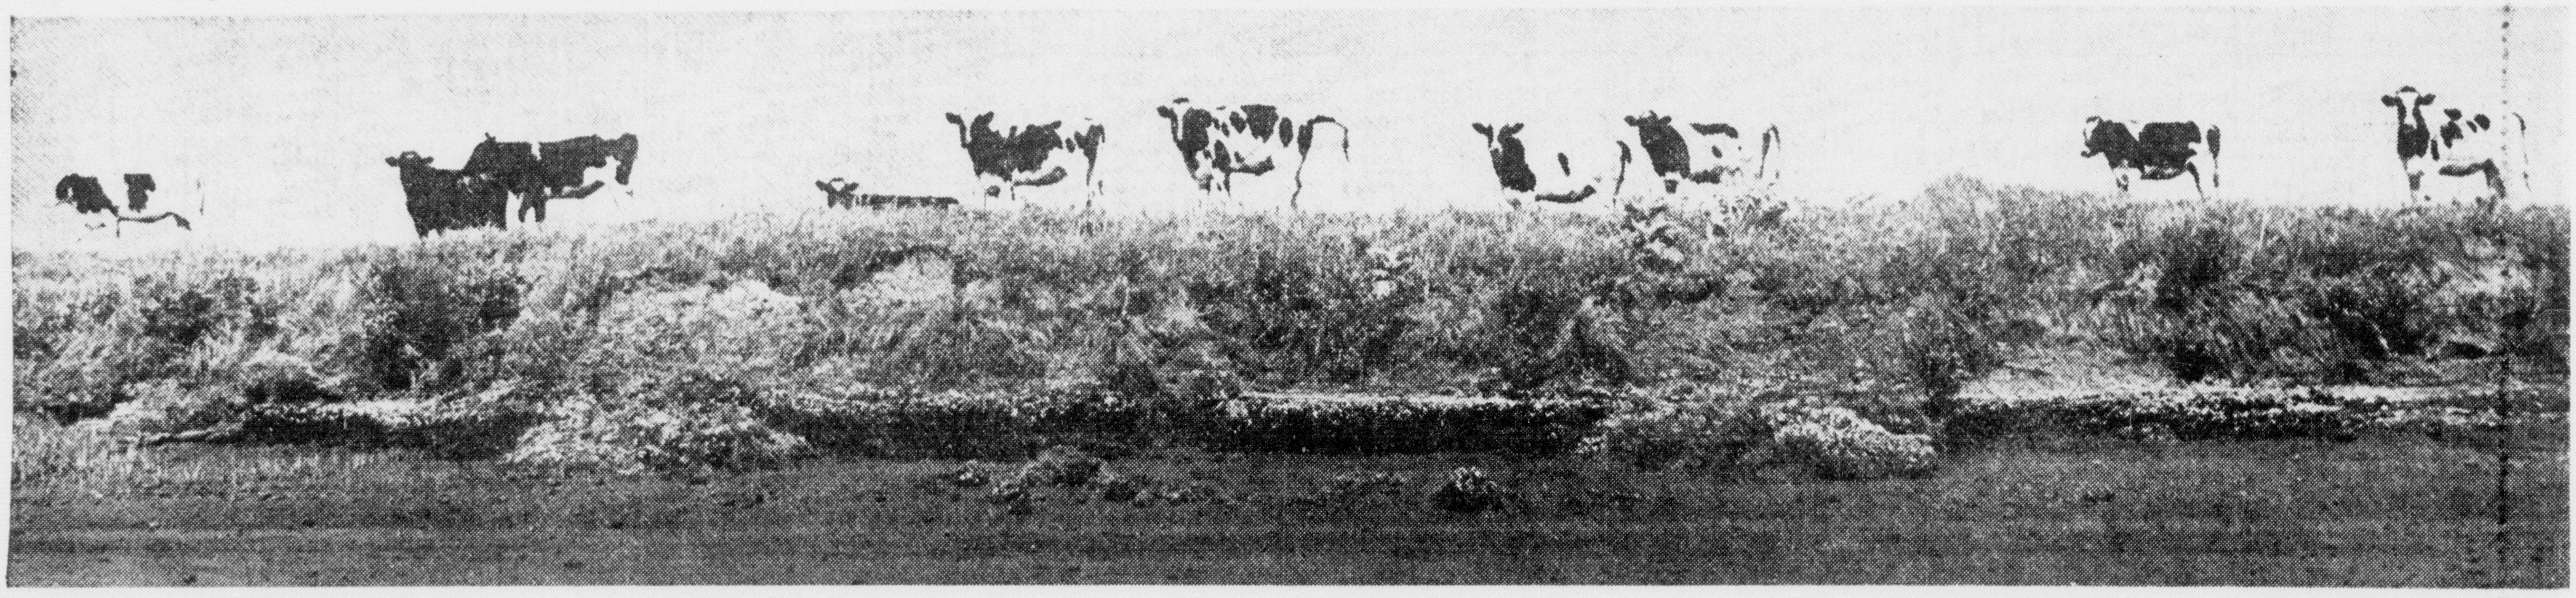
City officials, viewing the river as the center of the community, plan improvements to port facilities. They include a new boat launching ramp south of the city and plans to enhance the turning basin as a charming yacht harbor.



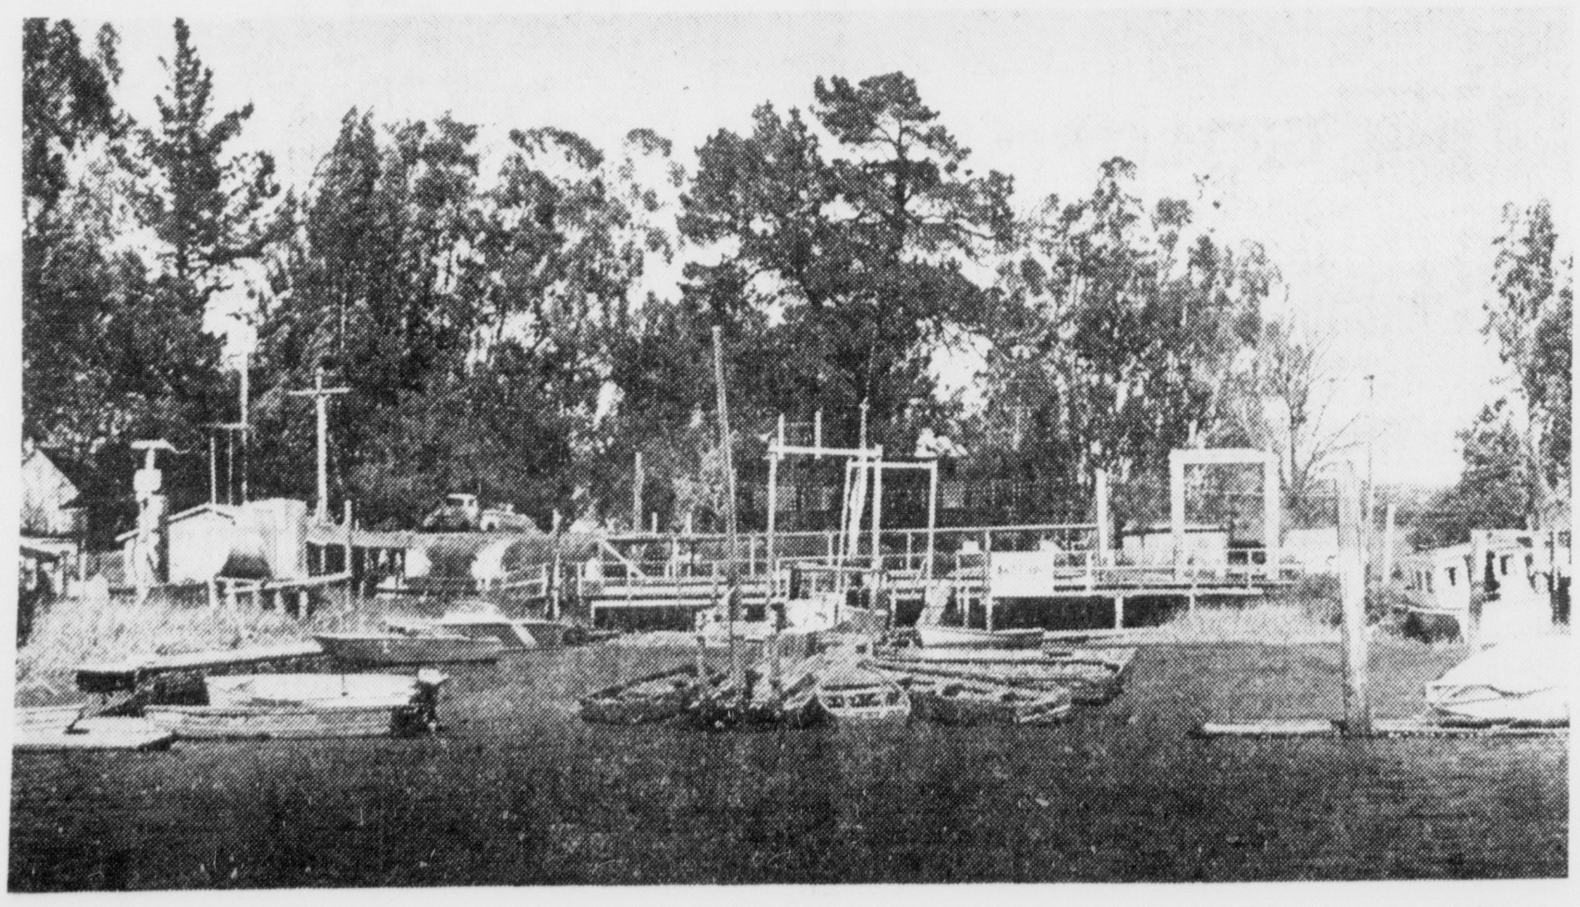
INDUSTRIAL ZONE—As boatmen approach the D Street bridge in Petaluma, barges are often seen unloading material for riverside industries. On the right, a barge containing shell is unloaded at the Pioneer Shell Co., which specializes in fertilizers.



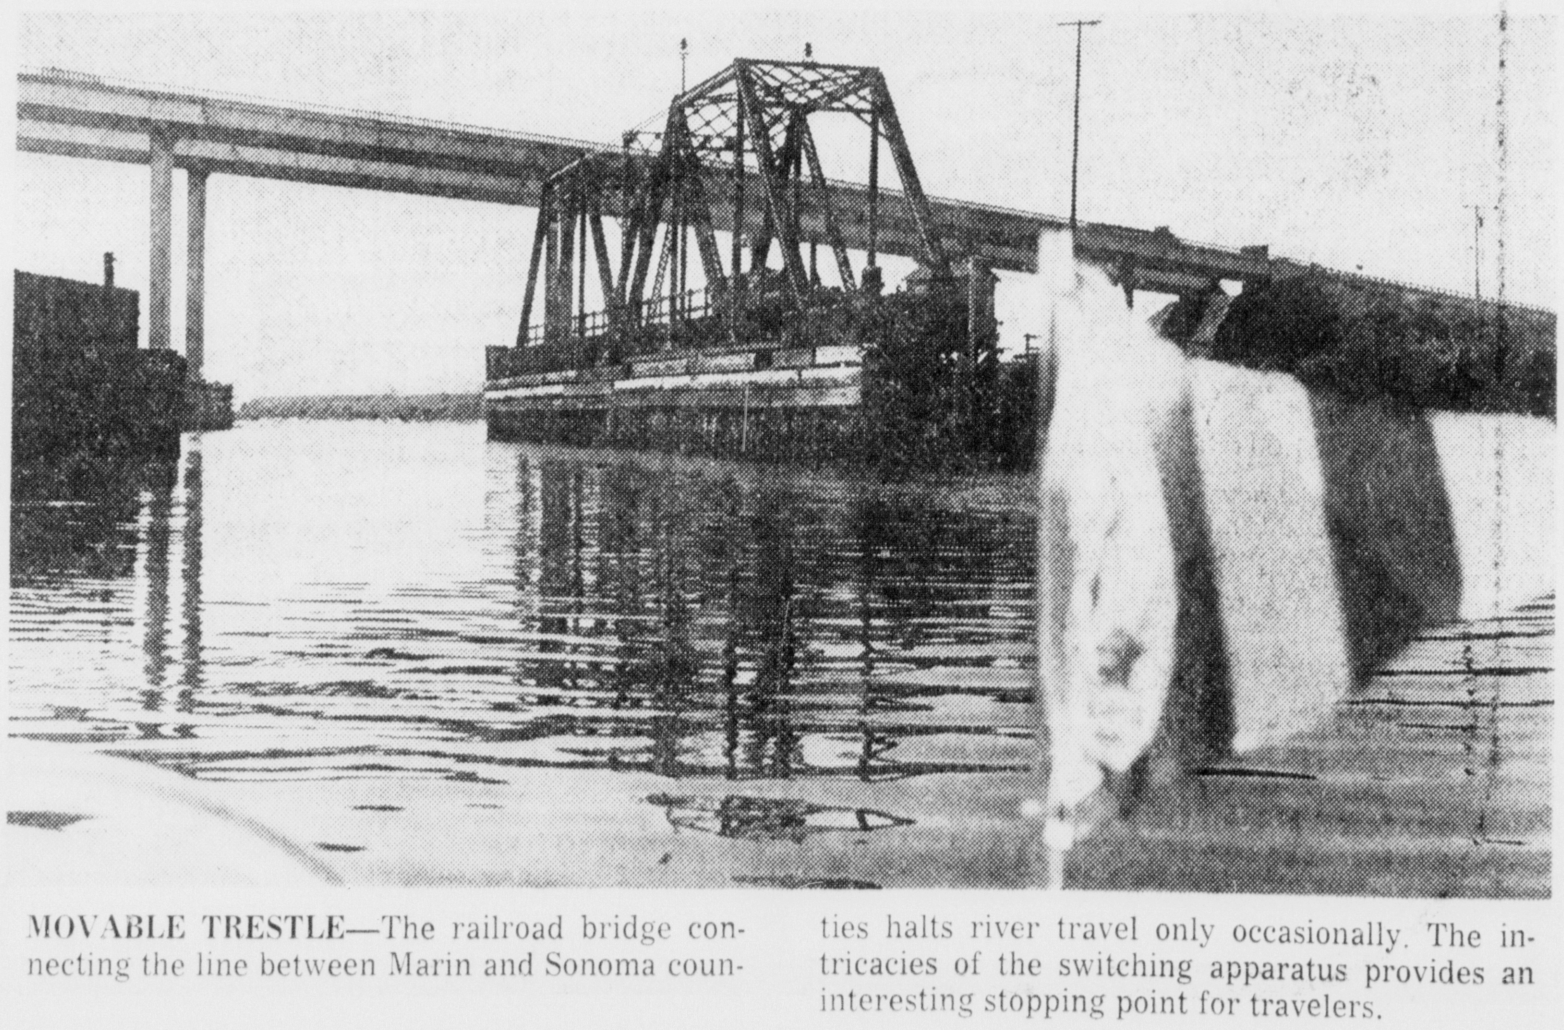
COMPLETE SECLUSION—One of the unusual homes fronting the river is one that is built within the shell of an old winery. Completely hidden from view on the Lakeville Highway, the modern home includes a swimming pool in the front yard.



CURIOUS COWS—Not yet adjusted to the increasing river traffic, the herds of dairy cattle that feed along the river banks always watch in amazement as crafts go by. When startled by sudden noise, the cows will run along the edge with speed that surprises city dwellers. The river binds Southern Sonoma and Marin counties. Recently dredged, the stream accommodates boats.



BASS FOR LUNCH—The waterway has long been known for the excellent striped bass that abound in the waters. Gilardi's, south of Petaluma, offers boat rentals for occasional fishermen and also mooring facilities.



MOVABLE TRESTLE—The railroad bridge connecting the line between Marin and Sonoma counties halts river travel only occasionally. The intricacies of the switching apparatus provides an interesting stopping point for travelers.

Himalayan Accident Kills Seven Mountain Climbers

NEW YORK (AP) — Five of the 10 Americans who challenged the world's seventh highest mountain have died on its icy slopes in western Nepal.

Two native guides also were killed in the accident, somewhere along the forbidding southeast ridge of Mount Dhaulagiri, 26,810 feet high.

First reports of the tragedy came from the State Department last night. A spokesman for the American Alpine Club in New York, sponsor of the expedition, confirmed the deaths.

Dhaulagiri, which means white peak, was first scaled by a Swiss team in 1960, after seven unsuccessful attempts. This was the first attempt on the southeast ridge.

"It's all very high up," French mountaineer Gaston Rebuffaut once said, "and above all it's technically very difficult: great walls and towers of ice, some rock, broken ground . . . There's absolutely no possibility of going that way."

But the Americans disagreed, and left New York March 31, led by Boyd N. Everett Jr., a 36-year-old New Yorker and the only man to climb North America's four highest peaks.

Everett and Vin Hoeman of Anchorage, Alaska, were among the victims, the State Department said. Other names were withheld pending notification of families.

News accounts at the start of the expedition identified the other Americans as William A. Read of Moose, Wyo., deputy leader; Drs. Jeffrey Duenwald of Pullman, Wash., James Morrisey of Olivette, Mo., and Californians William Ross of Portola Valley; Paul Gerhard, 26, of Lagun Beach and Louis Reichardt 26, of Palo Alto and James G. Janney III and David A. Seidman, both recent graduates of Dartmouth college.

In Seattle, Maria Duenwald said her brother had sent the family a message saying he had survived the accident. She said he provided no other information.

Driver Is Treated For Bruised Ribs

Mavis A. Gilmore, 39, of 1423 Monte Maria, Novato, was treated for bruised ribs and a head bruise at Novato General Hospital Tuesday after her car hit a light pole on Highway 101 in Santa Venetia, the California Highway Patrol said.

The accident occurred at 1:20 p.m. as she was entering the freeway from North San Pedro Road, the patrol said.

Zucker's Goals For Marin's Future

By WAT TAKESHITA

· PAUL C. ZUCKER
Planner tells goals

The number one goal for Marin's future is to preserve and enhance the residential-recreational environment, in the opinion of Marin County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker.

But beyond this primary emphasis on residential and recreational development, the future of Marin's physical growth is difficult to pin down, said Zucker, who retained his directorship last week by a cliff-hanging 3-2 vote of the board of supervisors after a marathon hearing at Civic Center.

"We are no absolutely certain where the county should go. We believe this is not a sign of weakness in our program but a sign of recognizing reality. The suburbs in their fully developed state across the country have left much to be desired. We're not certain Marin can avoid the direction other suburbs have taken. Nor are we certain what kinds of suburbs will be the most viable 10, 15 or 20 years from now."

He said he thinks planning has tried to deal too simply with extremely complex problems. "We must not only examine citizens hopes and aspirations for today but examine their viability for the future. The important point is that Marin's planning program is starting to ask and examine some of the important questions."

"I define my job as injecting my point of view in any debate. I have no right to insist on my point of view, and certainly no right to insist my point of view is accepted. The only thing I insist on is being allowed to express my point of view whether or not that's what they want to hear."

He acknowledged that tourism and industrial development are important for Marin. "In fact, the county really hasn't done much to capture the tourist market." In trying to attract tourism and service industries, Zucker believes a more intensive advertising campaign is needed to stress the quality side of Marin, the environmental qualities, and as a "place for executives to live."

But tourism and industrial development must be geared to the goal of protecting environment for pleasant homes and recreation, said Zucker. "To the extent that industrial development is a detriment to that environment, it has to be looked at very carefully. Industry can live with this environment, but with controls."

He said developers might disagree, but he is convinced that people in Marin are willing to spend a little more for an attractive environment.

"We don't have large parcels of flat, cheap land. We don't have much of a labor force for many types of industry. We have three strikes against us as far as industry goes. What we do have is a hell of a good place to live. So we've got to stress tourism, research or service type of industry, and quality residential."

Transportation is a major problem. A commuter county like Marin must move toward public transportation and away from the private automotible, says Zucker.

"I am convinced the people will choose public transit if the only alternative is more and wider freeways destroying the natural environment.

"Frankly, I think a lot more population is allowed in our general plans than transportation facilities can handle. This is what our balanced transportation study will look at. It will take all the general plans in the whole county and predict how much traffic we will have if we build the county the way the general plans say we'll do. It'll tell us how much traffic will be generated, where it will be going. Then we can start planning and making policies — either build more traffic facilities or change the land uses."

The transportation model which will come out of the study will be a research tool that can be kept current so that any new plans like Marincello or a ferry system can be "plugged in" to the model to see what the effects would be.

Zucker stresses the importance of research tools that can be used on a continuing basis instead of something that is completed and filed away to be forgotten.

"Through the years, we've concentrated too much on the end product approach to planning," said Zucker. "For example, we say here we have the Nicasio general plan to 1990 and it's all done. That's a bunch of baloney.

"The old kind of master plan is a bygone thing. It's useful to look ahead, but you can overdo it. The main thing we are emphasizing is that planning is a continuing process. It's what you do day by day, and each Tuesday at the board meetings that's important. We are not content to sit back in the back room and only think about the next 50 years."

It is his conviction that every variance from established standards must be carefully weighed because their sum total will determine what the county will look like 20 years from now.

So he wades in, arguing against a sign that he considers too tall, or a service station which he feels does not belong in Richardson Bay, or an apartment structure that has wall-to-wall paving with little or no landscaping. On occasion, he argues for industrial and against residential. In the area around Gnoss Field, the county airport, he argued for retention of industrial zoning and against residential and mobile homes.

How about the charge that his department hasn't accomplished much in the way of specific projects?

That is not true, says Zucker. And he ticked off these projects accomplished since he took over in January of 1966:

Everything except one-family homes now comes under design review.

Landscaping and grading requirements for subdivisions have been strengthened.

The mobile home ordinance was drawn up and approved, whereas formerly the county had no such ordinance.

Ordinances regulating houseboats and marinas have been completed.

The county's sign ordinance was updated, revised and made more specific.

The processing of planned developments has been simplified so that developers are able to reduce processing time by a month.

The county's subdivision ordinance and zoning ordinance, up to date, are available to any citizen. In fact, subscriptions may be taken for these ordinances, and the latest amendments will be mailed to keep the ordinances current.

An antilogging ordinance and an ordinance to control encroachments on Tomales Bay are also in the works, and the interim zone for all of West Marin was adopted.

One of the biggest and most time consuming projects is to rezone throughout the county to implement the master plans, said Zucker. "This need was sorely neglected for the last 10 to 15 years. Methodically, we have to go through the county and rezone all over — Kentfield corners, Muir Beach, Almonte, Black Point, the airport area, and others.

"There is no question that this caused bitterness among developers," said Zucker. "But rezoning is essential. Without rezoning, there's no use having a master plan."

Other projects in the works are the current experimental ecological study of Nicasio Valley, which will eventually result in a master plan, followed by rezoning, and may pave the way for several new planning approaches, said Zucker.

"Social planning and housing is also a whole new area. That's an area we'll be getting into — more housing for low and moderate income families."

One of the major accomplishments, he feels, has been the creation of the City-County Planning Council. This council is directing the balanced transportation study and is about to receive federal funds to undertake studies on tourism, environmental quality, housing and other related studies. "For the first time, the cities and the county are moving together to prepare a countywide plan."

Saigon Envoy Flying Home

PARIS (UPI)—Ambassador Pham Dang Lam, South Vietnam's chief negotiator at the Vietnam peace conference, left unexpectedly for Saigon today to report to his government.

Lam flew to Saigon 24 hours after the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front (NLF) said it was ready to discuss with "other parties" moves to make the deadlocked conference progress.

South Vietnamese delegation officials said Lam would be back in time for next Thursday's 16th scheduled session of the conference.

$169,000 Rec Budget Is Endorsed

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission last night accepted without change an operating budget for fiscal 1970 of $169,000 for the recreation division.

The proposed budget, which was sent to the city manager for approval before going to the city council, was up $35,000 from the current fiscal year.

Parks and Recreation Director Andrew J. Snyder Jr. said the added money will provide two new full-time employees, a recreation supervisor and a clerk-typist, as well as part-time recreation leaders for summer programs, a half-time clerk-typist, supervised after school, evening and Saturday programs aimed at teen-agers and after school recreation programs at four schools which do not presently have such programs.

The budget also provides for an increase of $5,500 for supplies and services and $1,350 more for capital outlay.

The commission already has passed on a $83,407 budget for the street, tree and parkway division of the parks and recreation department and $119,846 for the parks division.

The street, tree and parkway budget is up from $72,846 this year, and the parks budget is $6,000 higher than the present budget.

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission also:

SCHOOLS — Approved $24,000 contribution by the schools for the city-school recreation contract for the current fiscal year.

BAHIA VISTA — Accepted a petition bearing 200 signatures from residents of the East Canal area asking that six acres of city-owned land near Bahia Vista School be provided for recreational use for students and residents of that area. The commission told Snyder to make a study of the proposal.

GERSTLE — Received a letter from Mrs. Louis Canevari asking for improvements in Gerstle Park. Snyder said most of the requested improvements are on the department's spring sprucing-up schedule.

BIKES — Heard Brian Wittenkeller, park planner for the County Parks and Recreation Department, review proposed plans for bike pathways throughout Marin County.

Thieves Take Tires, Wheels From Autos

Thieves took tires and wheels, valued at $85, from two Volkswagens parked in the 500 block of Miller Avenue between 8 and 9:45 p.m. yesterday, Mill Valley police reported.

The two cars belonged to Robert E. Evans, 239 Glen Park Drive, San Rafael, and Gloria Paula Makowitz, 2 Shelly Drive, Mill Valley, police said.

Only Minor Injuries In Overturned Auto

Six Mill Valley teen-agers were injured yesterday when their compact car overturned on Highway 101 in Corte Madera, the California Highway Patrol reported. All six escaped with minor injuries.

The accident occurred at 5:30 p.m., the patrol said, when driver Mark C. Jandura, 17, of 15 Vasco Drive, was changing lanes. A witness said the car suddenly turned onto its side and skidded across two lanes onto the shoulder, where four girl passengers were thrown out.

Three were taken to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Rafael. Didier Van Moppes, 16, of 11 Amicita Avenue, was treated for a scraped left arm; Jeanne Byrne, 15, of 16 Alameda Way, for scrapes and bruises, and Sally Madison, 13, of 6 Upper Hill Road, held for observation with multiple bruises and scalp and ankle cuts. She was to be released today.

Physician Due Court Hearing

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Dr. Donald A. Churchill, 50, a Sausalito physician, was to appear in Municipal Court for arraigned today on charges growing out of the alleged sale of a cure-all medicine called Vitarth.

He is accused of misbranding a drug, unlawful advertising and unlawful sale of a new drug.

Churchill, of 106 West Street, is on probation after pleading guilty to earlier charges of illegally prescribing narcotics and falsifying medical records. The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in reporting that Churchill was awaiting trial on these charges.

Petaluma Driver Hurt In Wreck

A Petaluma man was injured yesterday at 8:50 p.m. in a three-car accident on Petaluma Boulevard South at D Street, Petaluma.

Thomas Preston, 35, of 1096 Lindberg Lane, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for a neck injury.

Police said the accident occurred when a car driven by Mildred Rossen, 31, of 11490 Valley Ford Road, Petaluma, failed to stop for a traffic signal and struck the rear of Preston's car. In the chain reaction, Preston struck the rear of a car driven by Clarence R. Poncia, 22, of Sonoma.

Seven Youths Nabbed At Drug, Liquor Party

Seven San Marin high school students were arrested yesterday at a drug and liquor party attended by about 20 students, Novato police reported.

Two boys were booked into Marin Juvenile Hall for truancy and resisting arrest, and two girls and four boys were cited to the juvenile probation department. All were 16 and 17 years old.

Mescaline and marijuana were found in the yard of the San Marin home where the party was held, police said. They stressed that investigation of the incident was expected to lead to the arrest of more students. No adults were present.

Police were called at 11:12 a.m. to the home, where one of the girls resided, and the studnts fled throughout the neighborhood. The seven, who were caught by the five officers, were chased a block before being apprehended.

Innocent Plea

Martha Ann Woods of San Francisco pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Muncicpal Court to signing another person's name to a credit card March 7 in order to obtain a rental car which she didn't return. A preliminary hearing was set for June 12.

Civic Affairs Group Picks New Slate

New chairman Margaret Azevedo and a new slate of officers were elected last night by the Marin Council for Civic Affairs at the Civic Center.

Other new officers are George Ellman of Tiburon, vice chairman; Mrs. Fred Cowden of San Anselmo, secretary; Milen C. Dempster of Mill Valley, treasurer; and Mrs. Dewey J. Forry and Jack Schoop of San Rafael, members at large on the executive committee.

The council voted unanimously to join the Ecumenical Association for Housing in Marin, a group of organizations each pledging $200 to help promote low and moderate rent housing. Mrs. Harold Watkin and Henry Arian will be delegates to the ecumenical association.

The civic affairs council directors also agreed to set up a committee to study functions of the grand jury, but no chairman for that committee was named last night, chairman Azevedo reported.

The MCCA will continue to meet on the last Wednesday of each month at the Civic Center.

Driver Hurt In Sausalito Crash

A San Francisco man was injured at 2:20 a.m. today when his southbound car skidded over the double yellow line and hit an oncoming car on Alexander Avenue at South Street in Sausalito, police reported.

Police said Cohen's car hit a car driven by Keith Arthur Renshaw, 25, of San Leandro.

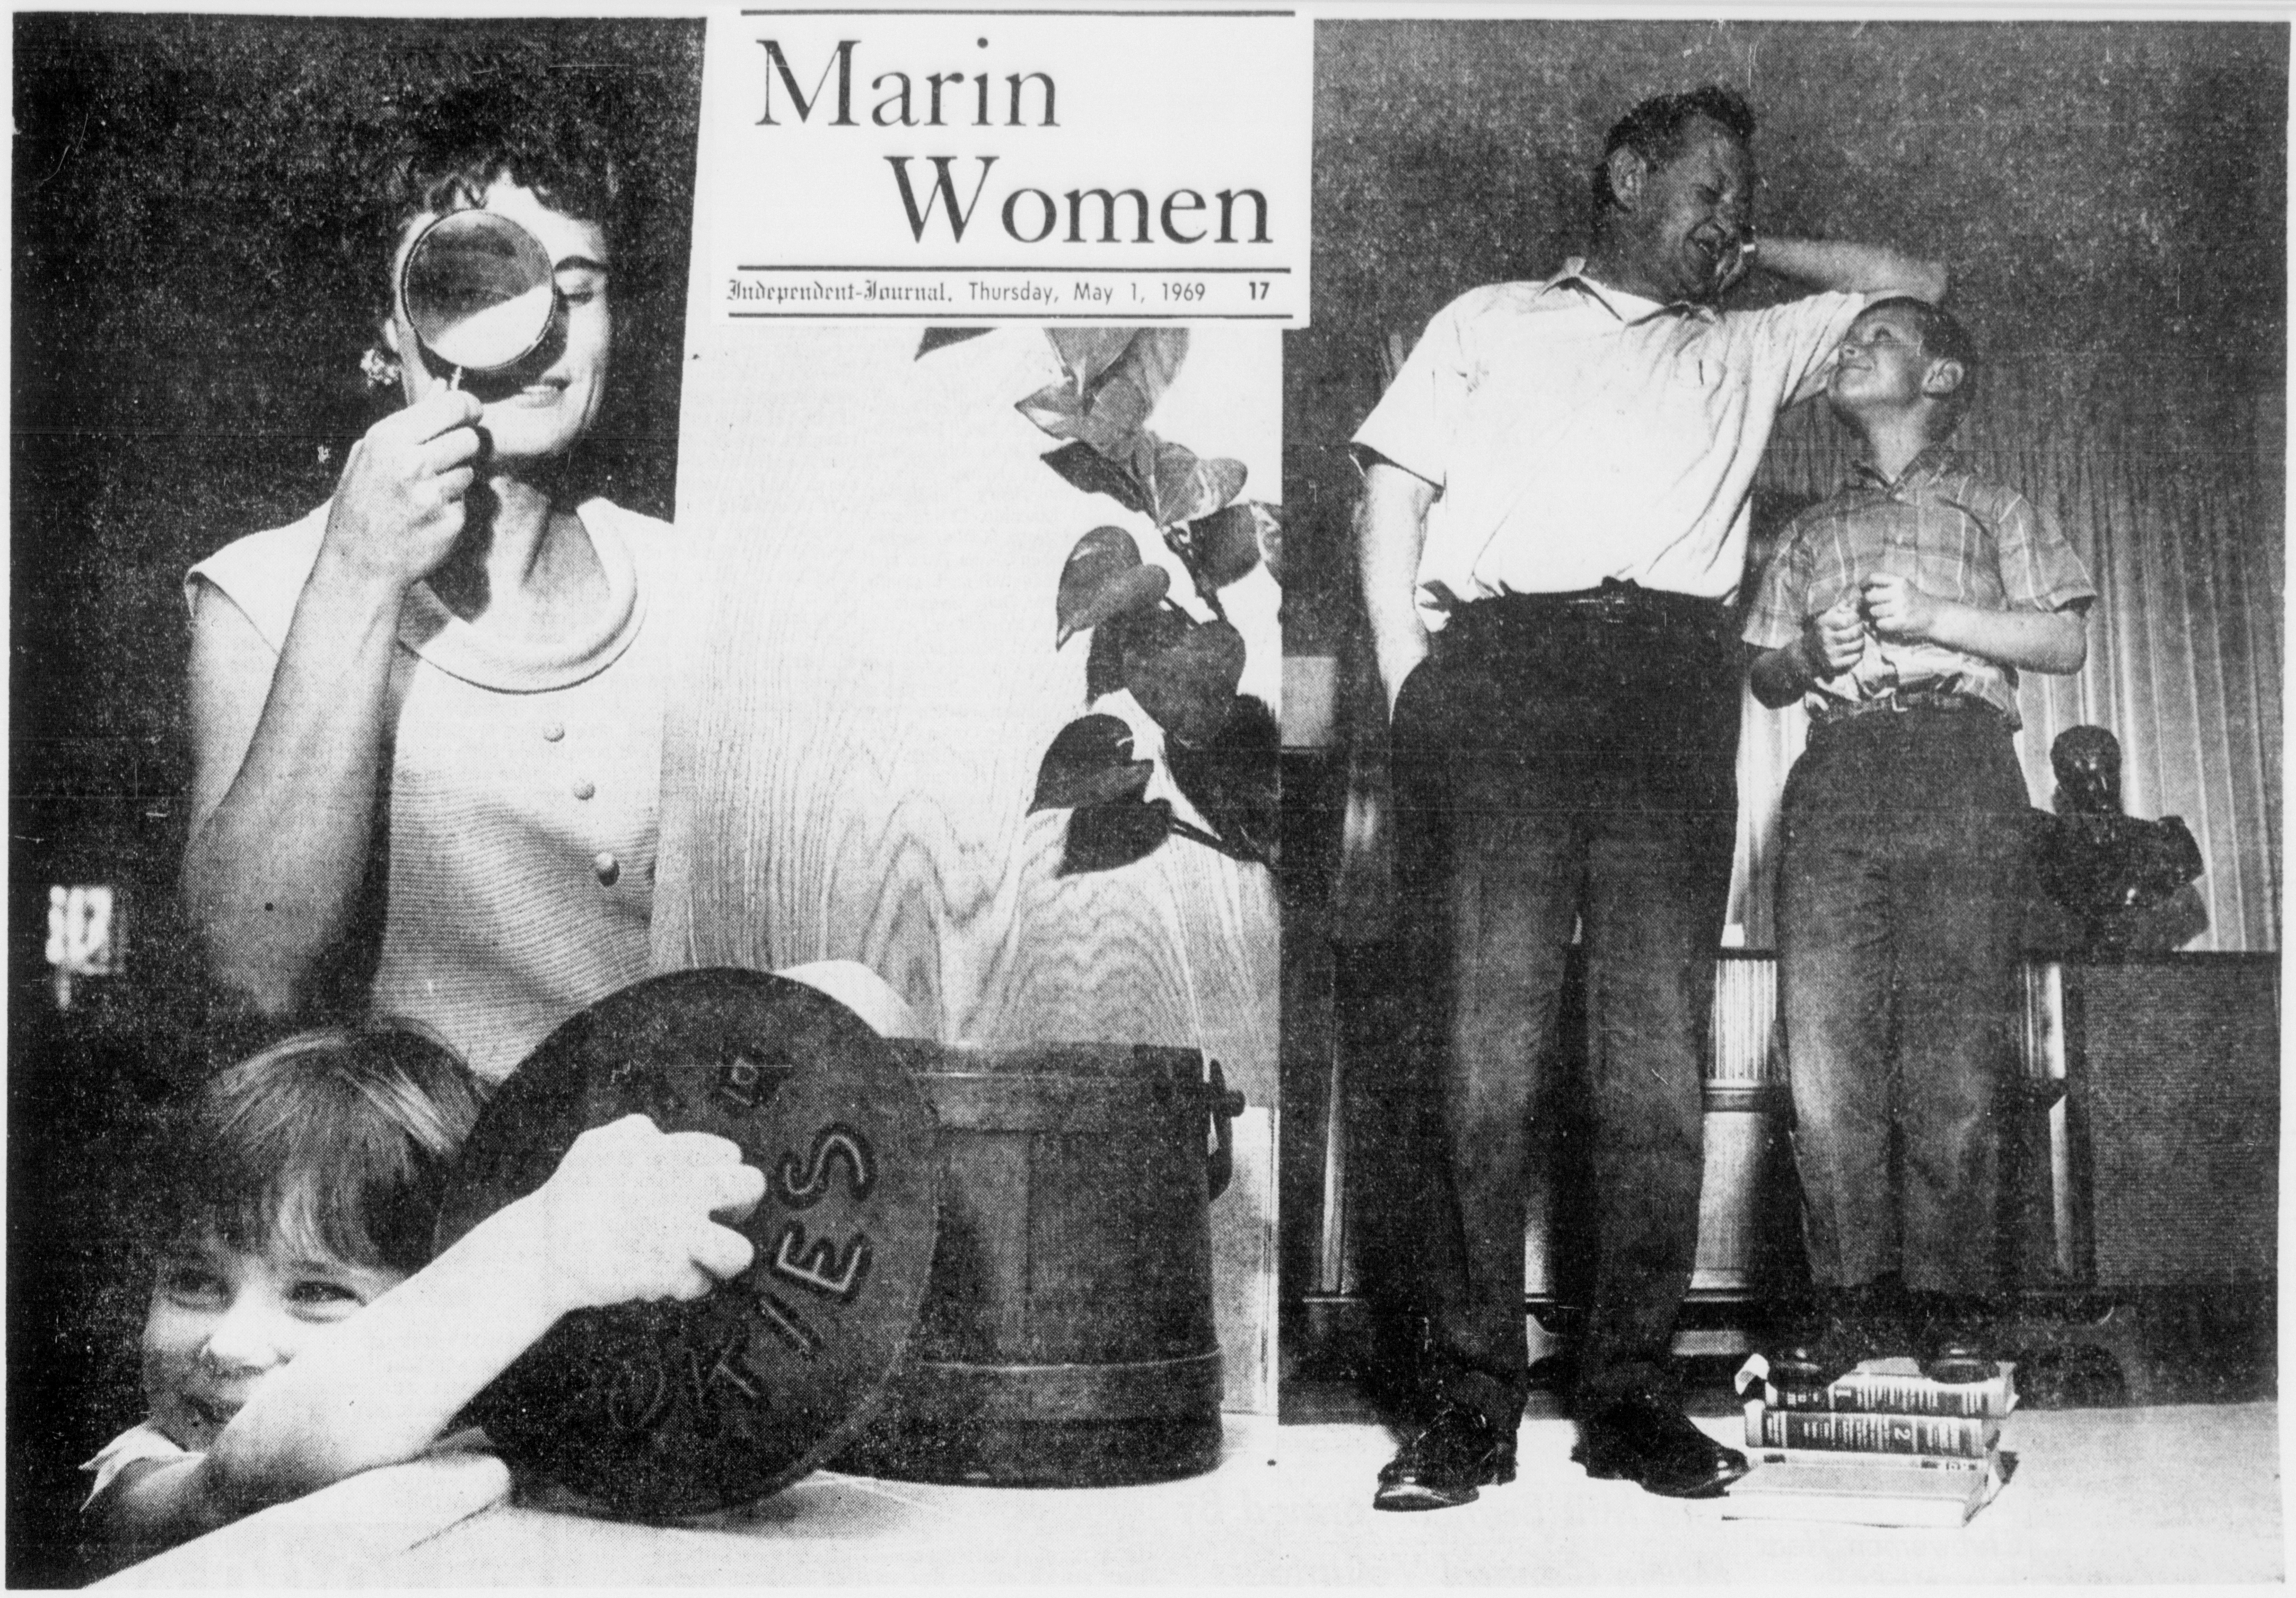
Marin Women



ENFORCING THE LAW in the Ernest Zunino home in Fairfax is Mrs. Zunino, left, as she 'spies' on daughter Laura — only this is one law that bends. Laura, 4, attends Alouette Nursery School in San Rafael and knows that cookie jars are made for 'snitching' from. In an attempt to measure up to his dad, eight-year-old Mark Zunino, right, stands on a stack of law books but he has a ways to go to reach the height of Marin County's deputy district attorney, his idol. Mr. and Mrs. Zunino are graduates of the University of California where they majored in criminology and Mrs. Zunino was employed in the Alameda County juvenile department for four years. The family has lived in Marin for seven years.

Attorney's Wife Says 'We Need Laws'

By GRACE HENDERSON

"It's the inside information -- about exciting things going on. You feel you have a stake in contemporary history as it is being made, here and now," is the way Mrs. Ernest Zunino describes her role as the wife of the Marin County deputy district attorney. She is a supporter of laws and the part they play as emphasized on this Law Day, 1969.

That she knows her subject well is evident in the deep interest in, and backing of, laws as they relate to people and communities. For Sally Zunino is, herself, a student of law and a graduate of the University of California where she majored in criminology. It was there that she met Ernest Zunino, then an assistant professor of criminology at the school. "It was in the pre-hippie days," she recalls.

HOW DID SHE meet her future husband? "Those notes were the cleverest thing I ever did," said Sally, telling of messages written to her instructor and placed in Blue Books prior to their introduction.

Was she the teacher's pet? "I don't know. I got poor grades — but he married me," she reminisced.

Speaking of plans for her own future which was to follow her career, Sally said "I was always going to be a doctor's wife so that when the kids got sick in the middle of the night, he could take care of them," but this didn't materialize.

FOLLOWING her college graduation, Sally accepted a position as probation officer in Alameda County, working from Juvenile hall there for four years. She feels her thoughts on the need for good laws is based on education and experience.

In fact, Sally was so interested in law that her parents purchased her one and only gun, upon hearing of her plans to be a policewoman.

Now Sally looks back to compare the rapid changes in laws. Quoting from Socrates and relating the troubles of his time to American turmoil today, the former juvenile officer related the similarities by saying "Today so many things are accepted as proper — that we acknowledge as understandable and good behavior that which should not be — we excuse that which should be stopped. These are immature outlooks with no regard for tomorrow," she concluded.

WHAT ABOUT LAW and order in the future? The blue-eyed mother of two expressed her views. "We should stop loosening laws to the detriment of society as a whole — go back to protecting the innocent instead of the guilty — have passion for the victims of crime instead of excuses for aggressors," she related.

As to her husband's work and his role in county government, his former student emphasized "My husband's work is important, he is devoted to service in the district attorney's office and I have a deep respect for his occupation. Every wife should respect her husband's labor and my husband has a vital job to perform."

What about the daily life of a couple whose college majors were in criminology? The home and its activities as the basis of a disciplined society is brought out by particiaption in everyday responsibilities for the Zuninos.

SALLY IS PRESIDENT of Delta Zeta Marin County Alumnae; treasurer of Beta Sigma Phi sorority city council and vice president of her chapter (Gamma Omicron); and room mother for son Mark's second grade class at St. Rita's Catholic School in Fairfax. Laura, who is enrolled at a San Rafael nursery school, promises to demand more time from mother later as she becomes involved in activities linked with her education.

Ernest is past president of the Marin County Peace Officers Assn.; member of the Elks; Native Sons, Fairfax Parlor; and a vice president of Marin Chapter of Alpha Lambda Epsison. He was assistant producer for a Douglas-Kelley series "The Criminal Man" produced in San Francisco in 1957.

Following graduation from Berkeley, Ernest joined the Marin County Probation Department where he organized the work furlough program, the first of its kind in the state. He enrolled in San Francisco State School of Law from which he graduated in 1964.

HOW HAVE LAWS changed since the Zuninos studied criminology? "The laws were stricter then, regarding behavior and the attitudes toward law-breakers was different," Sally explained, adding (referring to trails), "Because I'm a lawyer's wife no one will allow me to serve on a jury — I'd be a dandy jurist."

LAW DAY
MAY 1
RESPECT THE LAW - IT RESPECTS YOU

The Zunino family has lived in Marin for seven years. And Mr. Zunino doesn't see enough of his family. Being in court every day he spends his evenings at work in his courthouse office preparing for the following day. What does his son think of Dad's occupation? He is happy his father "is getting rid of the hippies" and plans to be a deputy district attorney himself some day.

'Let's Get Rid Of The Middle Generation' Says Journalist

By BARBARA HOSMER

"You're not going to like me when I'm through," Adela Rogers St. Johns told her audience of 900 clubwomen at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel Wednesday. But they did, despite her challenges and admonitions.

Speaking at the convention of the California Federation of Clubwomen in San Francisco, the 75-year-old author and journalist surveyed her brightly attired audience, then remarked, "I look at all the power and glory out there and know we're failing. The state of the world depends upon the spiritual integrity of American women. You've got to reach more women every day and bring them in.

"We have to show young people something to trust, something to hold," Mrs. St. Johns stated. "Parents and teachers are responsible for the younger generation, and don't you ever forget it!"

AS TO THE generation gap, it's always been here, she said. "Let's get rid of the middle generation — the kids haven't yet lost hope and the older generation has regained hope. Younger and middle-aged parents are afraid of their children. Why?" she asked.

"And whatever happened to the Parent-Teacher Association? The single greatest power in the United States should be the Parent-Teacher 'Association. Why isn't it?"

"The spiritual authority of motherhood has to be there, even when we've come down to be equal with men," she remarked dryly, bringing cheers and applause from the clubwomen.

The highest authority should be the women, who has to be responsible for the home and the family, said the journalist, who covered top stories for the Hearst newspapers through three decades, and whose daughter and grandchildren were in the audience.

Children should be taught what discipline and authority are, she said. "Everything there is is on the straight and narrow path. To paint one of those abstract paintings you'll have to mix the colors on the straight and narrow path that Rembrandt used. We're gonna have to stand up and be counted much more than we do," she challenged the women.

ADELA ROGERS ST. JOHNS

When Chet Huntley reported on the astronauts reading from Genesis during their flight, the woman who got religion out of the schools and her supporters made 3,000 calls to the network objecting to Bible reading on a U. S. space ship, she said.

"Where were you? Did anyone write favorably?" she asked, adding, "I didn't because I never thought anyone would disapprove."

"AND YOU SAT still, too, over the television commercial showing how women got the vote and then continued, 'you have your own cigarette now, baby, you've come a long, long way'. You didn't say one word. Even the account executive I checked with was stunned that nobody complained. No one."

"And who buys the dirty books — middle-aged women," the peppery, weathered grandmother said. "Young people don't, generally. They're not the people who pay the $5 or 95 cents. In New York better bookstores they cover the books with bags for the ladies, she said.

"And who cares about hair — we've been going on about hair a long time," and it's not the important thing, Mrs. St.

This is a jumper.

We have jumpers too. A whole little collection of them. We have jumper dresses that can be worn with blouses or without. (Which would be especially clever of you to buy because it's like getting two for the price of one.) We have dresses with jumper jackets and others with jumper coats. (Which makes them the first completely right weight for the warmer days of spring and the cooler ones of summer.) We have jumpers that go over pants. We even have jumpsuits for you who are about to go to the moon. In other words, there are two places that are jumping with jumpers. One's Australia. The other's us. Take your pick.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Bad Eating Habits Bring Misery To Oversensitive And Others

DEAR HELEN:

I must live for another six months with a family that has atrocious eating manners. They smack, slurp, gulp and guzzle. My horse makes less noise!

My spine tingles when these people eat — and they do, constantly. I either have to leave the room or suffer, and sometimes I feel like screaming, but I only drop hints which are ignored.

Is it true that certain people can't help being noisy eaters?

—ABOUT TO CRACK

DEAR ATC:

True: Certain people are somewhat noisier eaters — and swallowers — than other perhaps because they're built that way. Even with their mouths closed, they can't help making unpleasant sounds. Add careless manners here, and wow! . . . Then there are those who are oversensitive to noise.

I doubt either side can change much, but it's only for six months, so bear up and try to tune out. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My father has never been inside any of the schools my sister and I have attended, and he never goes to our church. He sleeps until noon on weekends, then goes golfing, flying or fishing but never with the family.

He has never helped us with our school work or shown any interest at all, yet when we make poor grades, the restrictions are unbelievable. We can't talk on the phone, watch television or go anywhere, not even to church parties. Even if my grades come up to the usual B average, I can't do anything through the week and can go out only once on weekends. I'm 16, my sister is 14. She's so bitter she does nothing but sit in her room. The teachers have told my mother that we're being treated too strictly, but my father says "that's the way it's going to be."

He hardly ever speaks to us unless to criticize. We aren't bad looking, but I don't think he has ever told us we looked nice.

My mother is no housekeeper and smokes one cigarette after another. I can understand why now. He does nothing but criticize her too, and never listens to what she has to say.

Sometimes I think I hate my father for his meanness, and my mother for being so weak. I'd run away, but where would this leave my sister? I'm the only one she can talk to. Nothing has ever been done for love in this house.

JEAN

DEAR JEAN:

You've seen what "giving up" has done to your mother. Don't let it happen to you and your sister! A domineering father can make your life miserable but he can't ruin it, not unless you bow down and quit.

Develop an "I'll show you" attitude. Achieve in spite of his downgrading. Each time he criticizes, go out and prove him wrong. And when you feel bitterness taking over, exchange it for pity — not self-pity, but sympathy for a man and woman who have lost out on love. — H.

Saylors-Smith Vows In Novato

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold L. Smith of San Rafael, Linda chose her sister Jacqueline Smith of San Rafael as her maid of honor. Mrs. Karen Clark and Marilyn Hanson were the bridesmaids.

Best man for Richard was Gary Hugoboom of San Rafael and escorting guests to seats were Jack Frank of Novato, Gary Farrington of San Rafael and Ray White of San Anselmo.

The Lodge in Novato was the location of the wedding reception. After a trip to Washington, D. C., and the East Coast the newlyweds will live in San Rafael.

A graduate of Terra Linda High School, Linda attended College of Marin and is employed with the Permanente Medical Group in San Rafael.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Saylors of Chattanooga, Tenn., are Richard's parents. He is a graduate of Central High School in Chattanooga and attends Sonoma State College. He is employed with the American Service Bureau in San Francisco. Susan and Paula Saylors of Chattanooga and Mrs. James DeFoe of Florida are his sisters.

Clubwomen Hear Journalist

Urging a movement toward more spiritual belief, she said, "We've come to the moment in history when all science supports a belief in God. The spiritual mystery is still behind it."

CONTINUING ON her theme of training youth, she said that records today are very important.

"Did you go out and make 'Abraham, Martin and John' (a song about the assassinated humanitarians Abraham Lincoln, Martin Luther King Jr. and John F. Kennedy popular with youth) one of the great songs? You should. We ought to support them and use them as illustrations," Mrs. St. Johns said about such recordings.

"There is no communications gap with youth if we pay attention. This country is going to come out on top again when there is a widespread regeneration," she finished to a standing ovation from the women who represented 60,000 members in 610 clubs in California.

Russian Orthodox Rite For Mayer-Leonoff Vows

Mrs. Robert Vannucci of San Francisco was matron of honor for the bride, who is the daughter of Anatole Leonoff and Mrs. Frank Bauman of San Francisco. The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Richard Neely of Longview, Wash.; Mrs. Ecrole Rava and Gala Maria Norton of Sausalito; Natalie Zavialoff of Oakland; and Arlene and Diana Schandelmier of San Francisco were bridesmaids.

Best man was Michael Tiernan of San Mateo, and Dr. Alva Owyang of San Carlos, Guy Hopkins of Mill Valley, Richard Neely, Peter Sternloff of San Rafael and the bride's brother, Glenn Leonoff of Fairfax ushered guests to their seat.

Tanya attended George Washington High School, City College of San Francisco and San Francisco State College. She is employed in the marketing department of the Pacific Telephone Company in San Francisco.

Andrew is the son of Mrs. Elinor Rogers of San Rafael and Joseph Mayer of Honolulu and the grandson of Mrs. Otto Mayer. He is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and attended the University of California at Los Angeles. Jeff Mayer of Los Angeles is his brother. The bridegroom is the president of Profinancial, Incorporated in Menlo Park.

The couple will make their home in Menlo Park following a wedding trip to Puerto Vallarta and Mexico City.

Old Mill Branch Formed By Marin General Volunteers

The ninth branch of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers, Old Mill Branch, has been formed to raise funds for the hospital.

The new branch, limited to 30 members who are Mill Valley residents, is headed by Mrs. John Burnham, president. Other officers are Mmes. Joseph Witherow, vice president; Edmund Pearson, recording secretary; Francis Keene, corresponding secretary and Willaim Penn, treasurer.

Members' husbands will be associates of the branch.

Other charter members are Mmes. Joseph Brewster, Ernest Brymer, Leroy Everett, Jack Heard, John Holm, J. Paul Hurd, Robert House, Lowell Jett, George Kaehler, Roland Kelly, E. H. Laird, J. J. Linker, William Moen, Earl Reinke, Gordon Reynolds, Robert Stott and Fred Wight.

Donna Paddleford Is Engaged

Donna is the daughter of George S. Paddleford of Mountain View and Mrs. Kincaide Paddleford of Palo Alto. She is the sister of Diane, Robert, George and Henry Paddleford and Joel Kincaide. Donna was graduated from Menlo-Atherton High School in Menlo Park and will be graduated next month from Grace Ball Secretarial School in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Soden of Greenbrae are parents of the future bridegroom, and he has a brother, James Soden of Pacifica. Mrs. Lily Cuneo of San Francisco is his granmother.

Thomas is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and will be graduated in June from the University of San Francisco. He plans to continue studies toward a secondary teaching credential after the wedding.

Meat And Poultry Supplies Good For First May Weekend

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The following guide to the nation's food buys for the weekend was prepared by the U. S. Departments of Agriculture and Interior for United Press International.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that food shoppers will find good displays of meat and poultry and adequate supplies of some fresh fruits and vegetables in food stores and supermarkets this first weekend in May.

Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys head the list of abundant meats. Beef roasts and steaks are also in the abundant class and so are these pork items — bacon, ham and smoked picnics in all areas and chops, roasts and sausage in some areas.

Maine sardines, canned pink salmon, and fish sticks and portions continue to be the fish buys to watch for, according to the U. S. Department of the Interior.

Asparagus, cabbage, carrots, onions and potatoes are the most abundant fresh vegetables. Fresh fruit in best supply are grapefruit, oranges and strawberries.

On USDA's plentiful foods list for May are these additional foods — canned and frozen green beans, canned and frozen corn, canned beets, and canned tomatoes and tomato products.

In the West:

Beef prices generally are advanced in all Western markets while pork prices are mixed. Spring lamb is lower in all markets and chicken is higher in California.

Butter remains firm and eggs are lower only in San Francisco.

Beef loins are higher in California markets and other cuts are higher. Briskets and short plates are higher in San Francisco.

Fresh pork loins are higher in San Francisco. Spareribs are higher in California markets. Boston butts are higher in Los Angeles and lower in San Francisco. Smoked hams are lower and sliced and slab bacon are lower in all markets.

Medium size eggs are lower in San Francisco. Chicken hens are higher in San Francisco and broiler-fryers are higher in Los Angeles. Young tom turkeys under 22 pounds are lower in San Francisco while fryer-roaster and young hen turkeys are higher in Los Angeles.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include: Apples, avocados, bananas, grapefruit, oranges, strawberries, asparagus, cabbage, carrots, onions and potatoes.

Leftover Ham

Serve leftover ham in apple cases. Saute ¼ cup of chopped green pepper and 1 tablespoon of chopped onion in 2 tablespoons of butter until tender. Add 2 teaspoons of aromatic bitters, 1 teaspoon of dry mustard and 2 cups of finely diced ham. Hollow out 6 firm red apples, fill with ham mixture, brush with butter and bake 30 minutes in covered casserole in preheated 350 degree oven. Uncover and bake 15 minutes more Makes 6 servings.

Community Efforts Bring Recognition

The 60,000 member California Federation of Women's Clubs announced its radio - television and its motion picture awards at the convention in San Francisco Wednesday. On a vote of each district, film awards went to "Chitty-Chitty Bang Bang," "Finian's Rainbow," and "Yours, Mine and Ours."

Television and radio awards were voted to George Putnam for news presentation, "Family Affair," "The Hollywood Palace," and "Mayberry RFD." Programs were selected as meeting the CFWC family viewing standard.

For the first time individuals were singled out for the new outstanding service achievement award, an Oscar-like female statuette.

Winners were Mrs. Charles Strope of Redwood District for fostering the mental health program in Del Norte and Humboldt counties; Mrs. Franklin Evenson of San Diego for furthering a community effort toward tasteful development of the San Diego Airport and Harbor area; Mrs. Ralph Reynolds of San Francisco, Golden Gate District, for volunteer work toward scenic highway development; and Lawrence E. Martin of Fresno for furthering American Indian education.

Gwendolyn Bryant Education Award winners were, Area A, Colusa Woman's Club; Area b, Porterville, Women's Club; Area C, Tuesday Afternoon Club; Area D, Banning Women's Club.

The Josephine Seaman Award winners were Saratoga Federated Women's Club, Orinda Women's Club, Richmond Women's Club, Sierra Madre Civic Club, Progressive Home Club (Fresno District); and Claremont Women's Club.

For motion picture education, winners were Orange, and Marina, Loma Prieta and Kern districts. Club award winner was Tustin Area Women's Club.

Radio and television awards were given to Sierra Cahuenga and Kern districts. The Woman's Club of Arroyo Grande took the club award.

State Initiates Program For Eliminating Poisonings

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Pennsylvania has taken steps to reduce the possibility of lead poisoning in children—a hazard which threatens the young nationally.

Since most lead poisoning occurs as a result of eating chipped paint, standards of the state health department now provide that "when interior painted surfaces are readily accessible to children, paints shall contain less than one per cent lead by weight."

Previously, the standards specified only the use of "non-toxic" material.

New Concept In Music Education

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A new concept in music appreciation — one that ties in live performances with the general educational program — is creating much excitement among students and teachers in San Rafael schools.

Instituted last year by Hugo Rinaldi, head of music in the San Rafael Schools, it has reached a peak this year with a full fledged chamber opera, Menotti's "The Old Maid and the Thief." It is being presented for five weeks on Wednesdays from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. in the San Rafael High School auditorium. The first performance took place yesterday.

The opera is completely staged with costuming, sets, and orchestra in the pit composed of members of the San Rafael City Schools music department and some members of the San Rafael High School Orchestra.

In leading roles are three professional singers: baritone Byron Jones, who is also head of vocal music in San Rafael schools, soprano Marian Marsh and mezzo soprano Rosemary Bryans. Another major lead is sung by soprano Jan Leidel, and San Rafael High principal Dr. Alan Ellenberg has a walk-on part as a hippie at the end.

For each performance 500 youngsters, ranging from kindergarteners through third graders to fourth graders through high school seniors, are bussed to San Rafael High.

An important objective of the program, Rinaldi explains, is "to expand the musical horizon for all youngsters in the schools, regardless of ability or background, so that it is really a music appreciation program exposing them to different kinds of performances that tie in with what they hear and see in their school work." This may include other subjects than music, such as history, literature and art.

"Most of the kids had never even seen an orchestra or gone to a concert," Rinaldi says.

While entertainment and enjoyment are legitimate aims of going to concerts, preparation on the part of both students and teachers insures maximum participation and educational results.

Before performances each student receives a folder containing material explaining the music he will hear, something about the composer and thought provoking questions that he is to think about at the concert. Sometimes the boys and girls meet the musicians and may ask them questions.

The teacher is provided with a guide to help lead discussions, after the concerts the youngsters are expected to report on what they have seen and heard and their personal reactions.

The cost, such as the fees for professional musicians, is not paid by the school district. All it pays is the expense of bussing the children to San Rafael High. Proceeds from public admission to the San Rafael Schools' annual vocal concert in February provide funds for all other expenses.

33 Marinites To Receive PG&E Honors

Pacific Gas and Electric Co.'s North Bay Division will honor 33 employees from Marin with more than five years of service at a dinner next Thursday at the Los Robles Lodge in Santa Rosa.

Enid Monteiro will receive a 35-year award; Ben B. Dell'Era and Melvin A. Cox, 30 years; Lewis Wehrer, Robert T. Burkell, Leon Millsap, John Silva and Fred O. Carlsen, 20 years.

Thirteen employees from Marin will receive 5-year awards; seven will receive 10-year awards and two will receive 15-year awards.

Typewriter Stolen

Frank Pinkard of 30 Waverly Place, San Anselmo, reported to police at about 10:30 p.m. yesterday that, while his car was parked on Austin Avenue near Waverly Place, someone forced open a wing window and stole his $60 typewriter and threw his brief case onto the sidewalk.

Fairgoers Will See Pacific Ballet Again

London Goes Wild Over Betty Grable

LONDON (AP) — World War II's favorite pinup girl, movie actress Betty Grable, made a smash comeback on the London stage last night dodging bullwhips and gun fights and emerging intact from a burning saloon. But she didn't get a single review from British drama critics.

The blonde glamor girl, now a matronly 52 years old but still equipped with million-dollar legs, won six curtain calls in the opening of the musical "Belle Starr" and then got hit by a May Day strike of newspaper workers that kept the critics silent.

Dressed in an ankle-lenth pink peignoir that hid her famous legs, Miss Grable broke into tears as applause erupted from 1,462 customers at the Palace Theater, and she told the sell-out audience: "This is wonderful, wonderful—thank you very much." Men in the crowd shouted back: "We love you, Betty."

"It looks to me like the show could run for 20 years," said theatrical agent Frank Rainbow, "but we won't really know until the newspapers come out again."

The applause began as soon as Miss Grable appeared on the stage and strutted down from a Wild West saloon balcony. It burst out again as her long negligee parted and revealed a glimpse of the Grable legs, and then erupted throughout the show, which is punctuated by such unmusical frays as a bowie-knife fight, a bull-whip duel and 16-man brawl. Plumpish Miss Grable plays the saloon owner, but every night the saloon burns down.

Man Arrested As Petty Theft Suspect

Loren J. Liptak, 26, who gave his address as Pennsylvania, was placed under citizens's arrest yesterday after he reportedly walked out of Disco, a department store at 1 Larkspur Plaza, Larkspur, with an unpaid-for leather punch and some brads, police reported today.

Disco employee David Hebel made the arrest. The items were valued at $1.82.

Vermont was the 14th state to join the union.

Identification Of Cast Is Corrected

The Independent-Journal's review of "The Impossible Years" incorrectly identified Janice Richey as playing the part of Alice Kingsley. Miss Richey plays the part of Abbey Kingsley, the bratty young sister in the play.

Marinite Takes Colorado Post

G. R. M.CConnell, administrative consultant in the Marin County Schools office and superintendent of the Mill Valley School District from 1957 to 1967, will start work June 1 at a $21,000 a year as assistant superintendent for personnel in the Adams-Arapahoe School District Aurora, Colo.

McConnell left the Mill Valley job to conplete doctorate work at the University of California, and had worked in the county schools office while completing graduate work.

The Colorado district has 18,000 pupils in 26 schools.

SHOP SAN RAFAEL FRIDAY

This important purchase and clearance sale of inexpensive and extra high quality carpet is so big and one of the most sensational sales in the last 12 years that you can buy carpet at a price far below regular prices. Frankly, we have not always sold this high quality carpet because we did not think many people would pay up to $15.00 a yard for carpet, but now this same carpet can be purchased at a fraction of that price.

PLANS FOR HARMONY

It's Geronimo! In The Valley

The truce between previously warring factions in the San Geronimo Valley was reinforced last night in a burst of harmony and cooperative planning for the future at another "town meeting."

About 90 people attended the session although leaders of the sponsoring San Geronimo Valley Association insisted that only 32 people should have attended.

That was the number of people who signed up for a committee at a previous meeting to work to bridge the gap between old-line property owners and newcomers to the valley.

The meeting was not announced publicly and the press was not invited.

Despite the unhappiness of a few of the association members, the meeting was generally friendly and orderly and everyone seemed to be trying to get along with everyone else.

After a lengthy general discussion of the valley's problems, including a question and answer session with Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom and Deputy Sheriff Weldon C. Travis, the group elected Lagunitas artist Jean Berensmeier and Ron Thelin, who said he represented the valley's hip community, as its co-chairmen.

Mrs. Berensmeier and Thelin then set May 18 for a sort of community day for the valley's four villages.

Mrs. Berensmeier said the morning would be devoted to organized clean-ups in Lagunitas, Woodacre, Forest Knolls and San Geronimo, followed by lunch and "conversation so we can get to know each other better."

After that, she said, there would be dancing, outside and inside Lagunitas School, with both rock and more sedate music. "Those of us who don't care for the noisy music (rock) can always go inside and dance to music we like." Mrs. Berensmeier said.

It was loud music that made the long brewing feud in the valley erupt last month after a rock band played on two Sundays near Shirley's Cafe. Subsequently, the cafe was the target of arson and shotgun blasts.

It was Shirley's Cafe that sparked the only angry exchange at last night's meeting. After a woman said that one of the valley's problems was "militant harassment and vigilante type vandalism," a long-time resident shouted for proof.

This brought an angry reaction from Richard Green, owner of the cafe, who said a friend of his, Gary Shafer, had had his nose broken as a result of the feud in an altercation last Sunday.

The woman said it had nothing to do with the valley as such, but was a personal problem. Green disagreed, saying, "This is very much apart of community . . . this is what this community has spawned."

He went on: "The problem here is a bunch of people saying what they don't like. Let's find out what people do like and then try to get it."

Earlier, Mrs. Berensmeier had asked members of the audience to list problems in the valley to be attacked. There were two dozen suggestions, including narcotics (Travis said San Geronimo Valley has a reputation for being a haven for big-scale drug dealers), litter, noise, fire, theft, ecological versus job culture, transportation and environmental health.

A variety of speakers agreed that the biggest problem probably was a failure to communicate with each other. One speaker, Winifred Frederick, was applauded when she said, "We are all here on one side . . . to solve the problems of the valley."

The nearly three-hour meeting frequently bogged down in repetitious exchanges between members of the separate factions in the valley.

During one such exchange, R. D. Poppe of Forest Knolls said, "A lot of the straight citizens are uptight and afraid if we have this loud music, it would attract people to a 'happening.' We are really concerned that San Geronimo might become the Haight-Ashbury of Marin County."

A member of the audience countered, "At a happening, nothing happens but people enjoying themselves. People's children ars not going to be corrupted by loud music."

The new group, which agreed on the name Geronimo!, decided to meet the first Monday of each month.

SCHOOL OUTING

Mary Sees How Sheep Get Haircut

The city kids went to the country yesterday to see the sheep shorn.

"It was very fantastic," said 8-year-old Daniel Popovich.

"I thought it was scary. I closed my eyes," said 8-year-old Maxine Blumberg.

Both Daniel and Maxine are third graders at the Greenbrae School and were among first, second and third graders from the school who visited Tomales High School to witness a special demonstration of sheep shearing by agriculture students there.

The controlled chaos of putting together two four-day-old lambs, several older sheep as unwilling shearing models, 69 wide-eyed kids, some curious high schoolers and a school board president who is also a sheep rancher was a solid educational experience, all hands agreed.

"That machine is amazing . . . unbelievable," said 9-year-old John Heffernan, also a third grader, as students John and Bill Jensen and Mike Furlong wielded the shearing clippers under the direction of Tomales High School District board president Roy A. Parks.

THE BARBER—Phil Jensen, a Tomales High School freshman demonstrates his sheering technique for the Greenbrae School youngsters at yesterday's visit to the West Marin School. Instruction in sheering is part of the Tomales school's agricultural science program.

To dark-eyed and serious-faced Mary Ann Maggi, 7, it was "very interesting." She had, she said, never seen a sheep before.

"It was kinda good," said 7-year-old first grader Greg Fermbacher. "I liked it when they showed the teeth."

"Look at his funny face," said Marsha Pizzo, 8, a third grader holding one of the lambs. "He stuck his tongue out at me," giggled another 8-year-old third grader, Mark Tognotti.

Another girl, Andrea Green, also held a lamb and announced, "I've seen sheep before because they have sheep in Santa Rosa where my dog is."

Smith had to be patient because he arranged the whole expedition. "He doesn't have a name," Smith solemnly told the youngster. "There are just too many sheep around here to give them each a name."

POPULAR LAMB — Susan Kuizenga, a Greenbrae School teacher who led the expedition tc the farmlands of West Marin, is surrounded by first, second and third graders trying to pet the 4-day-old lamb in her arms.

San Quentin Is Back To 50 Pct. Operation

San Quentin Prison was reported "about 50 per cent back in business" today after a general lockup ordered Monday in the wake of a series of killings.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park also reported that about 1,200 inmates in the north and west cell blocks were unlocked this morning to return to their normal work routines. Also, about 300 to 400 inmates nn the south and east blocks have been unlocked to resume essential jobs, he said.

Asked how long the lockup would continue for the other 1,600 inmates, Park said "I have no idea at this time."

The inmates who were released, he noted, "are a better class of prisoner. The tensions are less and the problem potential is much less in these two blocks," Park added.

Meals, served only twice on Tuesday, are on "a relatively normal schedule," he said.

The shakedown of the prison is almost completed, and has turned up about 48 assorted weapons. The shakedown will continue today, he said.

Thirty-six inmates have been locked up for investigation in the racial incidents, and "there probably will be some more" held for investigation, Park said.

Several of the suspects being locked up for investigation are from the "militant white element," Park said, and were found circulating near incidents when they should have been at work assignments elsewhere.

Inmate Dies In Prison Hospital

Earl Hughes, 51, a sex offender due for release Monday on parole from San Quentin Prison, died early today in the prison hospital.

Prison officials said he apparently died of a heart attack.

He was serving a sentence of one year to life for a 1959 conviction in Kern County on a sex offense.

A farm laborer, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hughes, address unknown.

Three-Car Crash Injures Driver

A San Rafael man suffered minor injuries yesterday when his auto was involved in a chain-reaction crash on Third Street, west of A Street, in San Rafael.

His car and ones driven by Herbert Robinson, 29, of 31 Latham Street, and Ernest Handy, 25, of 1567 Fourth Street, both San Rafael, collided at 3:50 p.m. Police said Handy was unable to stop his vehicle in slowing traffic, triggering the crash.

Teener Accused Of Shoplifting

Heidi Louise Schindler of 122 Cornelia Avenue, was seen placing the items in her purse and walking from the store by a clerk, police said.

Miss Schindler, booked into Marin County Jail, was released in her own custody to appear tomorrow in Municipal Court.

Candidates' Night Reset In Petaluma

The candidates' night program planned by the Petaluma Young Republicans Club for next Thursday has been postponed until May 15 because of conflicts in candidates' schedules, club officers reported.

Scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Sonoma Joe's restaurant, aspirants for mayor, city council and board of education in the June 10 election will be invited to present their views.

Petaluman's Husband Dies In War

Marine Pfc. Richard A. Walker, 19, husband of Ann Owen Walker of Petaluma, was killed in action in Vietnam on Saturday, the Defense Department has reported.

Officials said Walker died in a bomb explosion while on a search and clear mission south of Da Nang.

A native of Bedford, Ind., he had lived in Winnemucca and Reno, before entering the Marines. He had been in Vietnam for two months. His wife, who is expecting their first child this month, lives at 210 Bodega Avenue.

Alexandre Gustave Eiffel, the French engineer known for his work on the Eiffel Tower, also designed locks for the Panama Canal and built the framework for the Statue of Liberty.

Muir Beach Nude Capers Due Study

Citizens of Muir Beach will confer with county officials tonight at Civic Center to map strategy on coping with increasing vandalism and nudism at Muir Beach.

The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the supervisors' chambers on the third floor.

County Supervisor Michael Wornum said he had been notified of tonight's meeting by Muir Beach resident Ernest Emig. Wornum said he will attend for a few minutes, but must leave for another meeting in Tamalpais Valley, which starts at 8 p.m.

County officials including the sheriff, district attorney and the county counsel will attend or send representatives.

The meeting is an outgrowth of last Sunday's disturbance at Muir Beach, where sheriff's deputies were called because of a large gathering of people, some of them frolicking in the nude, who littered the beach and damaged adjacent property.

Plea Date Set On Loitering Charges

Freddie Leon Center, 22, of San Rafael, was arraigned yesterday in Marin municipal Court on two counts of loitering on private property and ordered to plead to the charges at 1:30 p.m. May 19.

Center was arrested Sunday after he knocked on the front door of a Bret Harte residence shortly after midnight. The resident said he had been prowling around the house four months ago.

Tape Deck Stolen

Ralph Glotzer of 22A Circle Drive, Tiburon, reported to the sheriff's department Monday that someone had stolen a stereo tape deck from his car while it was parked in his carport, officers said yesterday.

Indians Give Legislators Lesson In Citizenship

The American Indian is noted for his taciturnity; but he is also known for reaching decisions affecting the tribe in open council.

Now a group of Indian organizations has broken the traditional taciturnity to demand that the state's commission that controls Indian affairs reach its decisions in open council.

It hasn't been doing so, declared the Indians in a suit filed last week in Sacramento Superior Court.

THE COMMISSION is the California Advisory Commission on Indian Affairs. Its membership includes two state senators — John L. Harmer and Randolph Collier, and three members of the Assembly — Pauline L. Davis, Eugene R. Chappie and Kent H. Stacey. It also includes Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction.

These worthies and the other commission members have been meeting behind closed doors, the suit contends. It charges this constitutes "contempt for Indian wishes, California law and democratic principles of government."

Attorney George F. Duke, representing the Indians, filed with the court copies of six letters sent to Senator Harmer, the commission chairman, and Berenice Pate, its executive secretary, since last Aug. 9, all asking for notification of meeting dates and times. He filed one reply, from Mrs. Pate last Oct. 29, saying "you will be notified when hearings or meetings are scheduled."

However, charged the attorney, meetings have been held and no notice has been received.

The complaint, on behalf of the California Indian Education Association, Susanville Indian Rancheria General Council, United American Indians of Santa Clara Valley, and Mission Indians of Soboda Reservation, plus several individuals, calls up memories of the red man's tragic past as it alleges:

"THE AMERICAN INDIAN generally and Indians in California in particular have been dominated by non-Indians for over a century. The federal and state governments have been unmitigatingly paternalistic." But, it declares, there is "renewal of Indian pride and increasing desire for self-determination."

Such self-determination, it continues, is blocked when the commission violates the Ralph M. Brown Act by meeting behind closed doors and without proper notice.

Further, it claims, the commission has violated the Bagley Open Records Act by keeping secret from the plaintiffs copies of most of its records.

WE'RE ALL for the Indians on this one. That a commission set up by the California government is continuing in the year 1969 the arrogant paternalism that marked dealings with the red men a century ago is almost unbelievable.

Also, we doff our head dress to the California Indian Education Association et al for going to court to give their white brothers — including two state senators, three Assembly members, and the state superintendent of public instruction — a basic lesson in American citizenship.

The Imbalance Of Nature

There exists an imperfectly understood myth that mankind has disturbed the balance of nature in recent decades and that, as a direct result, we are headed on the road to perdition. In reality, mankind has been disturbing the balance of nature ever since he gave up hunting and fishing for the cultivation of fields and animal husbandry. By producing far more of certain plants and animals than would exist naturally, man destroyed the balance of nature and at the same time took a long step forward toward being civilized.

But what man has been destroying in recent years is a certain always precarious stability in the imbalance of nature. There is a classic case we read about in a natural science magazine not long ago which illustrates our point. In New Guinea a large village as sprayed with DDT to kill the malaria mosquitos. It got rid of them allright, but it also make the little lizards that fed on the posioned mosquitos sick. The sick lizards were eaten by the village cats. The cats died and within weeks the village was overrun with rats, spoiling food and threatening the village with a potential outbreak of bubonic plague. The DDT also killed a variety of wasp which fed on a species of caterpillar which eats wood. As a result, the village houses fell down.

With more second-thoughts, tragedies like this can be avoided. And the stabilty in the imbalance of nature can be preserved.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Everybody Has A Tax Plan, But Most Are Full Of Holes

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — With the controversy over the method of tax reform, the big question now is whether the people of the state will get any reform at all this year.

Legislators as well as Gov. Ronald Reagan and his administration are well aware that there is a growing demand for tax reform, but the big question is how to achieve the goal.

Sen. William E. Coombs, R-Rialto, says there are nearly a half dozen proposals before the legislature. Coombs has one of them himself, the "gross margins" method, whech he presented after nearly two years of study as a substitute for the property tax.

GOVERNOR REAGAN has presented a tax reform program which proposes about a 50 per cent increase in personal income tax. This is meeting, Coombs says, with strong resistance from middle income and young family groups.

Coombs also points out that extension of the sales tax to repair labor and packaging materials is being attacked as an additional tax on low-income groups.

Coombs challenges as ridiculous the estimates of yield of a compulsory withholding tax, also opposed by Governor Reagan.

"They tell us," he says, "that California is losing many millions of dollars in personal income tax through failure to withhold. I have heard figures ranging from $90 to $115 million. . .

"The figure on it's face is ridiculous. If it were correct, it would mean that 900,000 persons, each with an average of $5,125 on net taxable income, would be leaving the state without paying their tax or leaving a forwarding address. This is approximately five percent of the population. The mere statement is enough to throw serious question on the validity of the entire argument for withholding."

THE GROSS margins tax proposed by Senator Coombs, would be, he says, a "neutral" tax.

"This plan," Coombs states, "creates a tax system which is very sensitive to changes in the economy, and provides permanent relief to over-burdened and over-taxed property owners."

College Welcomes Help For Students

The report in the April 25 edition of the Independent-Journal about the College of Marin Board meeting of the 24th indicated that some of the citizens present felt that students could go to the people and raise plenty of money to help them remain in college.

This letter is written to encourage all who may be interested in either making a cash contribution (or other asset) or in hekping to solicit funds for student financial aid to contact A. E. Rucker, president of the College of Marin Foundation; Galen Foster, chairman of the fund-raising campaign, or Mrs. Earlene Jones, in charge of publicity for the college. All may be reached through Mrs. Jones, c/o College of Marin Foundation, College of Marin, Kentfield. Such assistance would be most welcome.

The College of Marin Foundation was formed about five years ago for the express purpose of raising money to help students. A few dedicated people have worked very hard on this project and with some success. It is evident, however, that many of our citizens do not know of this organization. It is also clear that much more could be done than is being done and it is hoped that all of those who expressed an interest in financial help for students at the meeting Thursday night will come forward and lend a hand.

Nothing could be more encouraging to those of us who have been working to raise money for students than to have dome new, eager hands join the effort.

April Cruelest Month For Marin

"April is the cruelest month" for Marin County's youth and general citizenry. Perhaps they don't even know that it is. The first cruelty was the landslide defeat of the tax override issue April 15.

The second involved the total absence of communication between the College of Marin students and the board of trustees at the board meeting April 24, in which the board adjourned under difficult circumstances 25 minutes after it called the meeting to order, leaving the students to speak to the only people left with whom, it would seem, communication is still taking place — each other.

The third cruelty developed at Tamalpais Creek today (April 28) when the Army Corps of Engineers vivisected and mutilated the lush greenery that flanked the creek in preparation for pouring cement into its bowels.

Perhaps the last cruelty is symbolic of a final loss of innocence and not just for the students who peacefully dissented there. Many citizens who represent the establishment, the taxpayers and property owners suffered a loss of innocence too. The totally admirable efforts of Marty Kent Jones, in my mind a heroine, to work within the system, to try legal recourse, to present rational arguments and alternatives to the larger power structure failed, and the trees and creek and other living things she and her friends courageously defended still met a violent death. We who wait too long to help can now write the epitaphs for the dead.

Drunken Driving Deserves Penalties

Reader Jack Anthony's letter (I-J, April 24) protesting our drunk driving laws, coming just two days after the senseless death of Sen. (Alan G.) Pattee (courtesy of a drunk driver) has left me with an irresistable urge to volunteer my sentiments on this subject.

Each year more Americans are killed by drunk drivers than by the Viet Cong. When the state of Connecticut had the courage to enact really severe penalties for drunk and reckless driving, its high traffic fatality rate fell dramatically. . .

Given sufficient social and monetary penalties, the plain, it-could-have-happened-to-anyone type of motorist would make very sure it didn't happen to him again. A healthy individual would have learned his lesson. To this end, your policy of publicity does a real public service.

Still, our society has never faced up to the problem of the individual who is so sick that he allows such an arrest to occur again and again. He is the inadequate person who truly needs a keeper for his own and society's protection.

Until we ever do reach the stage of enlightenment where compulsory treatment, in a custodial setting, is routinely provided for these social inadequates, any effort on your part to warn (via embarrassing publicity) those in danger of becoming a public nuisance, or an involuntary killer, is all to the good.

Montecito Center Hardly An Excuse

I leave it to the owners and builders of Montecito Center to take him to task for maligning their pet property. But if Mr Cascone has an idle afternoon, he can stroll through this shopping center and buy his drugs and sundries, purchase his groceries and booze, have his shoes repaired, suit pressed and hair cut, and then cash a check and apply for a loan. Not necessarily in that order.

After eating his lunch, he can do his own laundry, repair his TV, get lumber for his deck and paint for his boat. Then with light afternoon snacks of fish and chips, pizza and beer under his belt, he can shop for a bridal gown for his daughter, a dress for his wife and clothing for the kiddies. After tasting sample wines, he can order a cat, pet a dog and gaze at goldfish. And leave his old jacket for resale. As the sun sets, he can go home with a fondue pot and a record album — and even find a special gift for Mother's Day.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

An obstreperous youngster made the mistake one afternoon of crawling all over the cantankerous W. C. Fields. "Our little Wilfred is certainly a problem," apologized his mother. "We don't know what to make of him." Fields seized a moment when Mama's head was turned the other way to give little Wilfred a neatly aimed kick on the shin and rasp, "How about a nice rug?"

A six-year-old girl, trying to dress herself, was overheard complaining to her mother, "How can I fasten my dress when the zipper is in the back and I'm in the front?" Another lass, about the same age, approached her hour of decision in the lingerie section of a fashionable department store. She examined a variety of brassieres, finally selected the most elaborate and asked the clerk, "Have you anything like this for beginners?"

MARQUIS CHILDS

Legend Of DeGaulle Lives As Hero Retires To Shadows

WASHINGTON — The legend is greater than the man, and it is the legend, now that Charles de Gaulle is in retirement, that will shed luster on the glory of France. Already the name of de Gaulle is being linked with Napoleon, the two figures in the Pantheon symbolizing for Frenchmen the immortality of La France.

Again and again he defied the hazards of assassination with lofty disdain. Returning to Paris in the first days of the liberation in 1944, he strode into the Cathedral of Notre Dame, ignoring the sniper fire that persisted as the last pockets of enemy resistance were wiped out. The looming, erect figure in the cavernous shadows of the ancient cathedral put a thrilling period to the long nightmare of the German occupation.

While it may be apocryphal, the story of the general's narrowest escape has a legendary quality. He was being driven with Madam de Gaulle down to his modest country place at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises when the car was fired on from an ambush. Madame de Gaulle instinctively, so the story goes, threw herself down on the floor of the car. Sitting bolt upright, the president-general said, "No, Yvonne, No!" Although several windows were shattered, they rode unscathed through the hail of bullets.

ENDING the Algerian war was de Gaulle's greatest act of courage, and one that only he could have performed. The Bitter colonial war, with incredible cruelties on both sides, had divided the French people in somewhat the same fashion that the Vietnam war has been deeply divisive in the United States.

It was beacuse he was the prisoner of the legend as well as its hero and author that de Gaulle exceeded the reach of a nation of 50 million people with limited resources. His was the romantic concept of the France of the sun king, Napoleon, and the empire of the 19th Century, to be re-created in the age of the super-powers.

He set out to give France a nuclear capability, a card in the nuclear power game. At the time of its initiation this may have made a certain amount of sense, reducing French dependence on America's nuclear shield. But even as France's first nuclear test explosion occurred in the Sahara desert nine years ago, the giant strides of the super-powers in missilery and toward multiple warheads had reduced the French venture to a meaningless token.

There is little doubt that this costly venture contributed to the inflationary price rise and diverted funds that might otherwise have gone to modernize the economy and enlarge the educational system to provide the technical training essential to a modern nation.

THE FAILURE to expand the educational framework, leaving the old rigidities out of an earlier time and a serious overcrowding in all institutions, was one reason for the "revolution" of a year ago. Rebellious students, joined by the trade unions, nearly brought France down, preparing the way after big wage hikes for the monetary crisis of November. This was the price for a glory out of the romanticized past with litte relation to the realities of the last third of the 20th Century.

Whatever else the weekend vote on the reform package meant, it showed the people of France were at last weary of de Gaulle's dramatics. They were prepared to elevate him in the Pantheon while nervously confronting a France without a national hero.

History, Bomb Restrict Freedom Of U.S. Action

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Secretary of State William P. Rogers said it when he declared: "The weak can be rash; the powerful must be more restrained."

It long has been accepted as a fact that the over-kill capacity of the United States and the Soviet Union has limited the maneuverability of both super powers while the smaller nations operating under the protective umbrella of either or both have assumed increasing freedom of action.

President Nixon's measured reaction to the downing of the EC121 American reconnaissance plane by two North Korean MIG jets took accounting of both.

He is committed to an end of the war in Vietnam as quickly as possible and does not want to become involved in another.

Retaliatory action against North Korea would have forced the Soviet Union to support Pyongyang, further reducing any chance for agreement between Washington and Moscow.

THE PRESIDENT also is committed to a policy of negotiation in the Far East, the Near East and the arms race, and so, despite some embarrassment caused by the fact that many were recalling his own pre-election demands for retaliation in the case of the Pueblo, he chose the soft voice.

Historically, the President also is bound by policies enunciated nearly 20 years ago.

In early 1950, the then secretary of state, Dean Acheson, defined the U.S. defense perimeter in the Pacific as including Japan, Okinawa and the Philippines. He omitted Korea and Southeast Asia.

Within months came the North Korean invasion of the south and President Harry S Truman's overnight decision to intervene in defense of South Korea.

As a result of that decision some 50,000 American troops remain stationed along the artificial boundary dividing the two Koreas.

THE DEFENSE of another artificial boundary, the one in Vietnam, also came about because of a U.S. policy switch.

After the fall of the Chinese mainland to the Communists in 1949, the official U.S. position was that it could not prevent the ultimate fall of Formosa to the Reds nor could it prevent a take-over of Southeast Asia because the people there had neither the ability nor the will to protect themselves.

Then came the defeat of the French in Indo-China, the birth of SEATO and a string of bilateral pacts designed to contain Red China.

THE MILITARY defend continuation of such spy flights as that by the downed EC121 on the grounds that satellites can not yet do the whole job.

Both the Soviet Union and the United States conduct extensive intelligence networks to keep track of each other and the remainder of the world. Between them a sort of gentlemen's agreement has been worked out.

The Russians may not approve of the bellicose actions of their tiny ally. But neither can they prevent them.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

I firmly believe that freedom of information is one of the most important weapons we have in the great struggle for freedom now going on around the world. — Robert F. Kennedy.

Troubled With Pigeons? Here's Marinite Who Invites 'Em In

The other day we went to see the pigeon lady of Coogan Gulch.

Vera Rivers said, "come in," showed us a picture of a band-tailed pigeon in a book and boasted: "They are real wild."

Then she got a two-pound coffee can of chick feed from the hall and took it out into the gulch and poured it into a feeder. She returned.

"See that one up there in the oak!" she cried.

In a couple of minutes, Mrs. Rivers heard a noise and we hurried to look out the kitchen window to see a band of blue pigeons with white ringed necks swooping down to the feeder.

"They swoop down just like airplanes in the war," said the amiable lady with daisy ear rings, "and, in the morning they look down on me like vultures."

Mrs. Rivers explained that she feeds them at about 8:30 a.m., even before she breakfasts.

She used to feed them twice a day but that got to be too expensive.

THE BAND-TAILS, also called blue pigeons, first send down a scouting party of two or three after the feed has been set out, then when the coast is clear, the rest follow, sometimes tumbling on top of each other on landing.

"My neighbor feeds them, too," Mrs. Rivers said, and during our visit, in walked the pigeon man from the hill — Donovan Lange.

Lange said there are 50 to 200 pigeons who come to his feeder. "They fight like everything," he declared. "They push each other around like chickens. In fact, they have a pecking order, too. But the young squabs are the most nervy."

Mrs. Rivers said that her late husband used to hunt wild pigeons in Napa County and, when they moved to San Anselmo, was delighted to have some in the area. He didn't hunt them, however.

"I catch one in my house once in awhile," Lange said.

"Yes, but don't cook it!" exclaimed Mrs. Rivers.

The pigeon lady goes to Petaluma for her feed where she buys 16 sacks of 100 pounds each at once. This lasts for six months.

THE BLUE PIGEONS do not bother Mrs. Rivers' swimming pool, she noted. She said, however, that one day she was answering a letter from a friend who had said, "I wouldn't have those dirty pigeons with your pool."

"I was writing her that nothing like that happened here when, all of a sudden, a pigeon came by and dropped something on my husband's stomach," Mrs. Rivers said.

She has fed the birds for four or five years, Mrs. Rivers continued. She thinks they go to Phoenix Lake for their drinks because the gulch is absolutely dry. At night, they roost in the bay trees.

"They've got a good thing in the gulley," said the lady with the daisy ear rings.

Saddest Day For Francophobe: Le Grande Charlie Says Adieu

WASHINGTON — The first person I called when I heard De Gaulle had resigned was my Aunt Molly in Brooklyn. If you recall, Aunt Molly was so mad at De Gaulle about a year ago that she wouldn't make French toast or buy French mustard or eat French fried potatoes. To show how really angry she was, she cut off all of the French cuffs on my uncle Phil's shirts.

I thought she'd be overjoyed by the news that De Gaulle was out of power, but she wasn't. As a matter of fact, she sounded as if she had been crying.

"WELL AUNT MOLLY," I said. "You finally got rid of him. I guess you're happy now."

"It's funny. I thought I'd be, but somehow I'm sad."

"But why, Aunt Molly? You were so mad at him all the time."

"That's just it. Who am I going to be mad at now?

"There will be another French president."

"A pipsqueak compared to De Gaulle," Aunt Molly said. "De Gaulle had breadth, height and majesty. When you were mad at him, you knew exactly who you were angry at. There will never be another Frenchman in his class."

"YOU SURPRISE me, Aunt Molly. I thought you would be celebrating."

"What's to celebrate? Tomorrow morning I'm going to pick up the newspaper, and there's going to be nobody there. At least with De Gaulle we had some excitement."

"There are always the Soviet leaders, Aunt Molly."

"Name one," she said.

"I can't name them offhand. But I'm sure there is a Soviet leader you can hate."

"NO ONE could get my blood boiling like De Gaulle. I owe him everything. He personally made me into a Francophobe."

"That's high praise coming from you, Aunt Molly. But don't forget De Gaulle isn't dead. He's alive and well and living at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises. Can't you still be mad at him now that he is out of office?"

"It would be a waste of time. The appeal of disliking De Gaulle was that he was a know-it-all. He was always sticking his finger out on television, and I used to yell at him, 'Don't stick your finger out at me, Charley-boy.' I won't get a chance to do that any more."

"Probably not," I admitted. "But you're going to have to find somebody else to vent your anger at. What about Castro?"

"DON'T YOU DARE mention him in the same breath with De Gaulle."

"I'm sorry, Aunt Molly. What about Mao Tse-tung?"

"It's not the same thing. Mao Tse-tung never attacked the American dollar."

"He would if he could," I said.

"Please. Don't try to cheer me up. A De Gaulle comes only once into a person's lifetime. I'll never forget when he announced France was getting out of NATO. I was aggravated for a month."

"And what about when he said Quebec was part of France?"

"Oh," said Aunt Molly, "what nerve that man had! And what about when he wouldn't let the British into the Common Market? I was furious, and I'm anti-British."

"THOSE WERE the days," I said nostalgically.

"Do you think there's a chance he might come back?" Aunt Molly asked wistfully.

"There's always a chance," I said. "But I wouldn't count on it. You're going to have to find somebody else to get mad at."

I could hear her crying on the phone. "It isn't that easy. Last Sunday France only lost a president, but we American French-haters lost a way of life."

New Tiburon Planner Gets Tasks Before Job Starts

Tiburon's new planning director won't go on the payroll until Monday, but he got his first orders Tuesday night.

The Tiburon Planning Commission told planner Wayne Moody to prepare a streamlined procedure for city action on planned development projects, saying present procedure is too cumbersome.

The commission also handed Moody two reports from planning consultant George Gatter for study. One proposes a master planning program be drawn up so the city can get federal planning funds. The other outlines possible development plans for a civic center and cultural buildings at Blackie's Pasture.

Moody is to comment on the reports at the June 2 meeting.

The commission also reviewed a proposed rezoning in Strawberry which will come before the Marin County Planning Commission Monday. The commission said density control on the L. N. Fleischman property should "reflect current zoning density," supported cluster development to maintain open space, and opposed an increase in multiple-residential zoning. Fleischman is seeking multiple-residential zoning for the land, now in the agricultural-residential district.

Artist To Present Talk Plus Slides

Ann O'Hanlon, Mill Valley artist and art teacher, will appear as a guest of the Terra Linda Art Association on May 9 at 8 p.m.

The subject of the free program to be held at the Marinwood Community Center will be "New Dimensions" which will include slides.

The first public railroad to be operated in the U. S., was the Baltimore and Ohio.

Minority Group Youth Talks Set

The northern vice-president of the Mexican-American Political Association will keynote a Mexican-American youth conference Saturday at Sonoma State College.

Louis F. Flores, 38, a supervisor at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, will speak on "The Creation of a New Image" at 10 a.m. in the dining hall.

Other speakers will include Sal Alvarez, a member of the Bishop's Committee for the Spanish-Speaking of the Southwest, and Lino Lopez, project director for the Mexican-American Community Service Agency, Inc.

Sausalitans Lead War On Gas Rates

Five thousand petitions are being circulated throughout Northern California by a Sausalito-based group, Association of California Consumers, to urge the state Public Utilities Commission to hold down increases in the householder's gas bill.

Sylvia Siegel, executive director of the association, said if the increase requested by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. is approved, "it will hike each gas bill at least $1 a month. On the other hand, large industrial users would pay a smaller percentage of the total bill," she said.

Gardiner Seeks Aid In Juvenile Program

Juvenile Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner last night called for volunteers from the community to bolster Marin's juvenile probation program.

"The probation job can't be done by any number of probation officers," the judge said at a meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen at The Tamalpais, a retirement home, in Larkspur.

He envisioned "development of a large scale volunteer program comprising the community as a whole."

There has to be effective coordination among the probation staff, schools, parents and religious advisers to meet the juvenile problems, Judge Gardiner said.

"The job has to be done by you in your community," he told the audience. "There's no such thing as rehabilitation in an institution. Rehabilitation only can take place in a free community."

Judge Gardiner also advocated a coordinated countywide program by police juvenile officers, such as the countywide drug abuse program.

Juvenile problems are countywide and have to be dealt with countywide, he asserted. "There are no effective city lines anymore. We're all one community."

Judge Gardiner stressed the value of nipping juvenile problems at the start, as early as six or seven years of age. He noted that children, 9, 10 and 11, were involved in 75 burglaries and kids 12 and 13 are shooting 'speed'."

He pointed out that it costs $4,000 a year to keep a youth at a state institution and "twice $4,000 at Juvenile Hall."

The judge also commented on the recent death of 16-year-old Cynthia Hopps of Belvedere, a resident of Juvenile Hall. A coroner's jury decided last week that she had died as an indirect result of taking damaging drugs, and testimony at the inquest indicated it was relatively easy to smuggle drugs into Juvenile Hall.

Residents at the hall "are not angels when they get there," and probably "will not be angels anymore than in the past."

Smuggling drugs occurs at San Quentin and at jails, he said. "It happens and will keep on happening," the judge said. "The problem is to keep it in reasonable bounds. We need not go overboard and press the panic button."

About 150 persons, city and county officials and their wives, attended, and toured the building before dinner.

50,000 G.M. Workers Idle

DETROIT (AP) — Nearly 50,000 General Motors workers were idled and the production capability of the giant automaker was crippled today in the wake of strikes at G.M. plants in six states.

The strikes by members of the United Auto Workers are the result of a merger of operations last fall designed to increase efficiency.

Proxmire Slaps Navy For Bungling Gas Theft Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy was charged today with being "grudging and backhanded" in withdrawing a reprimand but refusing a commendation to a civilian employee who triggered disclosures of the multibillion dollar theft of U.S. fuel supplies in Thailand.

"The Navy has a genius for confusing the point," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said in a speech prepared for Senate delivery today concerning John McGee, a civilian fuel inspector for the Navy.

Proxmire sharply criticized the April 18 action in which Navy Secretary John H. Chaffee gave McGee a routine, ordinarily automatic in-grade promotion, withdrew an earlier reprimand but said "I find no basis for commending you" and that his "association with the Navy had not fully met desirable standards."

"McGee uncovered a system which resulted in vast corruption," Proxmire said, charging "what Mr. McGee's superiors and the Navy have tried to do since Mr. McGee first attempted to change a lax system is to divert attention from the wrongdoing and corruption in Thailand to the alleged petty, and I mean petty, mistakes of Mr. McGee.

"In Thailand," Proxmire said, "there was vast thievery of American fuel. The inspection system was lax. While that system may not have been the cause of the thievery problem, it did not help to prevent it and, in many ways, contributed to it.

"This was apparent to Mr. McGee from almost the day he arrived," the Wisconsin Democrat went on, adding that when McGee tried to press through channels for changes, "his superiors prevented him from carrying out his duties as an inspector. They put him in mothballs."

Proxmire said the General Accounting Office investigation he requested after McGee came to him "proved that Mr. McGee's allegations were absolutely correct.

The U. S. exported more tobacco in 1968 than in any year since 1946. Atotal of 598.8 million pounds was sent ovearseas, an increase of 4.8 per cent.

Guilty Plea To Stolen Property

Kenneth Wayne Vernon, 29, of San Rafael, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to concealing property stolen from Disco Wonderworld in San Rafael.

He was told to appear in Superior Court May 12 for setting of a sentencing date.

Vernon had surrendered in connection with the $25,000 burglary. A bench warrant has been issued for another man named in connection with the burglary, Clifford James Thomas, 26, of Daly City.

Fulbright Asks Germ Warfare Treaty Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A treaty written in 1925 to ban gas and germ warfare should now be approved by the United States, Sen. J. W. Fulbright says after hearing a biologist report on the killing potential of biological warfare.

Matthew S. Meselson, a Harvard biology professor and former consultant to the U.S. Disarmament Agency, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee: "Biological weapons could pose a threat to the entire human species."

Fulbright, D-Ark., called the details, given yesterday in closed session, very gruesome and told newsmen: "The United States would be well advised to ratify the Geneva protocol of 1925." The treaty was withdrawn from the Senate in 1926 when it became obvious it could not be ratified, Fulbright said.

BART Layout Impresses Volpe

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe took a four-hour high spot tour of the uncompleted Bay Area Rapid Transit System Wednesday and said he was "impressed."

"I can assure you that the Department of Transportation is watching you, and I know from my travels that so are other metropolitan areas worldwide," Volpe said.

Volpe activated an electronic computer console in the Lake Merritt Station in Oakland yesterday. The console will be part of the $26-million automatic train control system for Bart's 75-mile rail network.

Pope Elevates French Prelate To State Post

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A hard-working, chain-smoking Frenchman, Jean Cardinal Villot, has risen to the second highest post in the Roman Catholic Church after only two years at the Vatican. Italians in the Curia aren't happy about it.

Pope Paul VI named Cardinal Villot, 63, Vatican secretary of state yesterday. The former archbishop of Lyon succeeded Amleto Cardianl Cicognani, 86, who retired because of age and ill health.

Cardinal Villot is the first non-Italian to be named secretary of state in 55 years, since a Spaniard held the post from 1903 to 1914.

Italian prelates at the Vatican expressed both disappointment and fear. Many were bitter because the Pope had passed over such Italian cardinals with diplomatic backgrounds as Paolo Cardinal Bertoli, former nuncio to France, and Sebastiano Cardinal Baggio, former nuncio to Brazil.

Though he had a distinguished career in the French episcopacy before coming to the Vatican in 1967, Cardinal Villot has never held a diplomatic post. He is the first churchman in modern times who had no diplomatic experience before moving into the post which oversees the Vatican's embassies around the world.

One Italian prelate dismissed the appointment as another gesture by Pope Paul to give the church administration an international look. He suggested that the Pope would run things and Cardinal Villot would be a mere "letter signer."

Other Vatican officials, however, were fearful of a growing group of French prelates operating in the Vatican power structure. They reported that Italian members of the Curia, angered by the appointment, had leaked the cardinal's appointment earlier this week to create embarrassment at the Vatican.

Student Dies In Bus-Truck Wreck

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A massive milk truck and an elementary school bus loaded with children collided at a rural intersection today. A small boy was killed and the bus driver was critically injured.

All 22 children on the St. Helen's Roman Catholic School bus were rushed to Indian River Memorial Hospital. Administrator Frank O'Brien said three were admitted. The others were treated and released.

Dead on arrival at the hospital was Michael Studer, 7, of Vero Beach. His mother, Mrs. James Studer, was a maternity patient on another floor of the hospital.

Jewelry Worth $776 Taken From Home

A total of $776 in jewelry was reported stolen Monday night from the home of Fumiko Callas at 54 Twelve Oak Hill Drive, San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

The loot included rings, earrings and a watch. The thief entered through a side door, police said.

Pontiff Calls On Church To Upgrade World's Poor

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI called on the Roman Catholic Church today to work "untiringly and without fear" against the economic exploitation of man and for the betterment of the world's poor.

"Development is the new name of peace," the pontiff declared in a May Day speech at the third of three consistories in which 33 prelates from 19 nations were made cardinals.

The Pope spoke from the main altar in St. Peter's Basilica to the new cardinals and a crowd of more than 20,000 including diplomats from 60 nations.

Immediately after the speech the Pope gave each of the new cardinals the ring of his rank. Then together he and the new princes of the church concelebrated a mass.

"The working class," said the Pope in his 2,000-word address, 'has become less fortunate, and even, in certain situations, is oppressed and humiliated. Hence arise those struggles which have made their mark of deep disturbance on our times, of which they are characteristic, struggles which, if they have produced undeniable improvements, yet do often divide men's minds, to the real detriment of the common good."

To stress the universality of his message, the Pope gave parts of his speech in different languages—Latin, German, French, Spanish, English and Italian.

Speaking in English, he said:

"Today there are too many peoples who are not yet sufficiently developed. The working classes are still in large measure excluded from social wellbeing and security.

"Economic equalities which have already been resolved are again arising, with alarming effect.

"Man is still sometimes used as a mere tool, according to the cold calculations of the laws of economy. It is therefore necessary that we provide action, untiringly, without fear and without remorse . . . in the name of the Lord—for it is He who wills this."

State Supreme Court Upholds Drug Testing

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Supreme Court has ruled the state can require tests of convicted narcotics users who are outpatients even though they are also members of the Synanon program.

The high court issued a unanimous ruling yesterday in the case of Richard Marks and noted that it did not "presume to judge the merits" of either the state rehabilitation program or Synanon.

Marks was under sentence for possession of heroin in early 1968 and had been granted outpatient status when he became "quite involved" in the Synanon program for narcotics addicts.

Marks was ordered to report on June 12, 1968, for a nalline test for narcotics use by the State Narcotic Addict Evaluation Authority, but he refused.

He was then taken out of the Synanon program and returned to the California Rehabilitation Center at Corona, where he is now confined.

Unruh Calls For More Policemen

VALLEJO (UPI) — Assembly Democratic Leader Jess Unruh today called for the hiring of more policemen at a "decent salary" to reduce the growing number of lawbreakers who avoid arrest.

In remarks prepared for a Law Day conference, Unruh said California's system of crime prevention and control was "a costly and monumental failure."

He said only 20 per cent of the reported crimes against property are solved —"an astounding decrease in this kind of crime solution of 34 per cent in recent years." But he said police agencies are solving 65 per cent of crimes involving personal violence.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, May 1, the 121st day of 1969 with 244 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1873, the penny post card went on sale for the first time.

In 1884 work was started in Chicago on a 10-story building that was to be called "the skyscraper."

In 1931 the Empire State Building, world's tallest skyscraper, was dedicated by Gov. Al Smith in New York. It has 102 stories.

In 1960, the Russians shot down an American U2 plane on an intelligence mission over the Soviet Union.

Fall Signups Set At Sonoma State

New students who have been accepted at Sonoma State College for the fall semester must register for classes on May 8 and May 9.

Registration advisement is now available. Registration fees must be paid by May 9 from the student's own resources since no financial aid funds will be available before September, college officials report.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

French Team Could Pose Big Threat To The Italian Champs

The French will be among the five bridge teams competing next week in Rio de Janeiro, and many tournament buffs think the French may win their way to the finals of the world championship against the Italians, perennial winners. An example of the flawless French technique is shown in today's hand, played by Jacques Stetten during the French team selection contest.

SHREWD DEFENSE

The defenders shrewdly began by taking the ace and king of diamonds, and East then switched to a low spade. Stetten stepped up with the ace of spades, chased the king and ace of clubs and then ruffed a low club.

West overruffed and returned the jack of spades to declarer's king, but now south could afford to draw trumps with the ace and king. Since West had already used up one trump, the two trumps exhausted those held by the defenders. Stetten could discard a spade on the queen of clubs and another spade on the last club, making his contract.

FALSE SAFETY

Some of the other declarers who played the South cards tried to guard against a ruff by drawing two rounds of trumps before starting the clubs. This looks safe, but it actually costs the contract.

If declarer tries to cash the three top clubs after drawing two rounds of trumps, West ruffs the third high club. Now South wins the spade return and can lead a low trump to dummy's six in order to ruff a club. But there is no way to get back to dummy for the last club, and South must lose a spade trick.

GOOD CLUBS

If declarer draws two trumps, takes just two high clubs and then ruffs a low cub, West refuses to overruff. Now dummy's clubs are good, but South cannot get back to dummy. This way likewise, South goes down by losing a spade in addition to a trump and two diamonds.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold:

♠—Q 10 8 5
♥—J 9
♦—K J 9
♣—J 10 8 2.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades.

You have maximum values for this weak response and will accept any invitation to game, but you cannot afford to make a really invitational bid of your own. If partner decides to stop short at two spades you will shed no tears.

Candidates' Night

The Petaluma Young Republicans Club will host a candidates night program next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Sonoma Joe's restaurant. Aspirants for mayor, city council and board of education in the June 10 Petaluma election will be invited to present their views.

ONCE SERVED MARIN

Coronado Ferryboats Due For Retirement

By CHARLES YOAKUM

Two more ferryboats which once plowed the salty commute run from Marin County to San Francisco appear headed for retirement.

And all indications are that their final home will be San Diego.

Progress — in the form of a new $40 million bridge linking San Diego with Coronado Island — has spelled the end of auto ferry service and will bring about the final retirement of the craft once known as Golden Shore and Golden West.

The two ferries — now named North Island and Silver Strand— will be retired in mid-July when the new multimillion-dollar bridge is completed and opened to the public.

The two boats are now the oldest still making the run between San Diego and Coronado. Four other newer ferry boats in the fleet have already been auctioned off to the highest bidders.

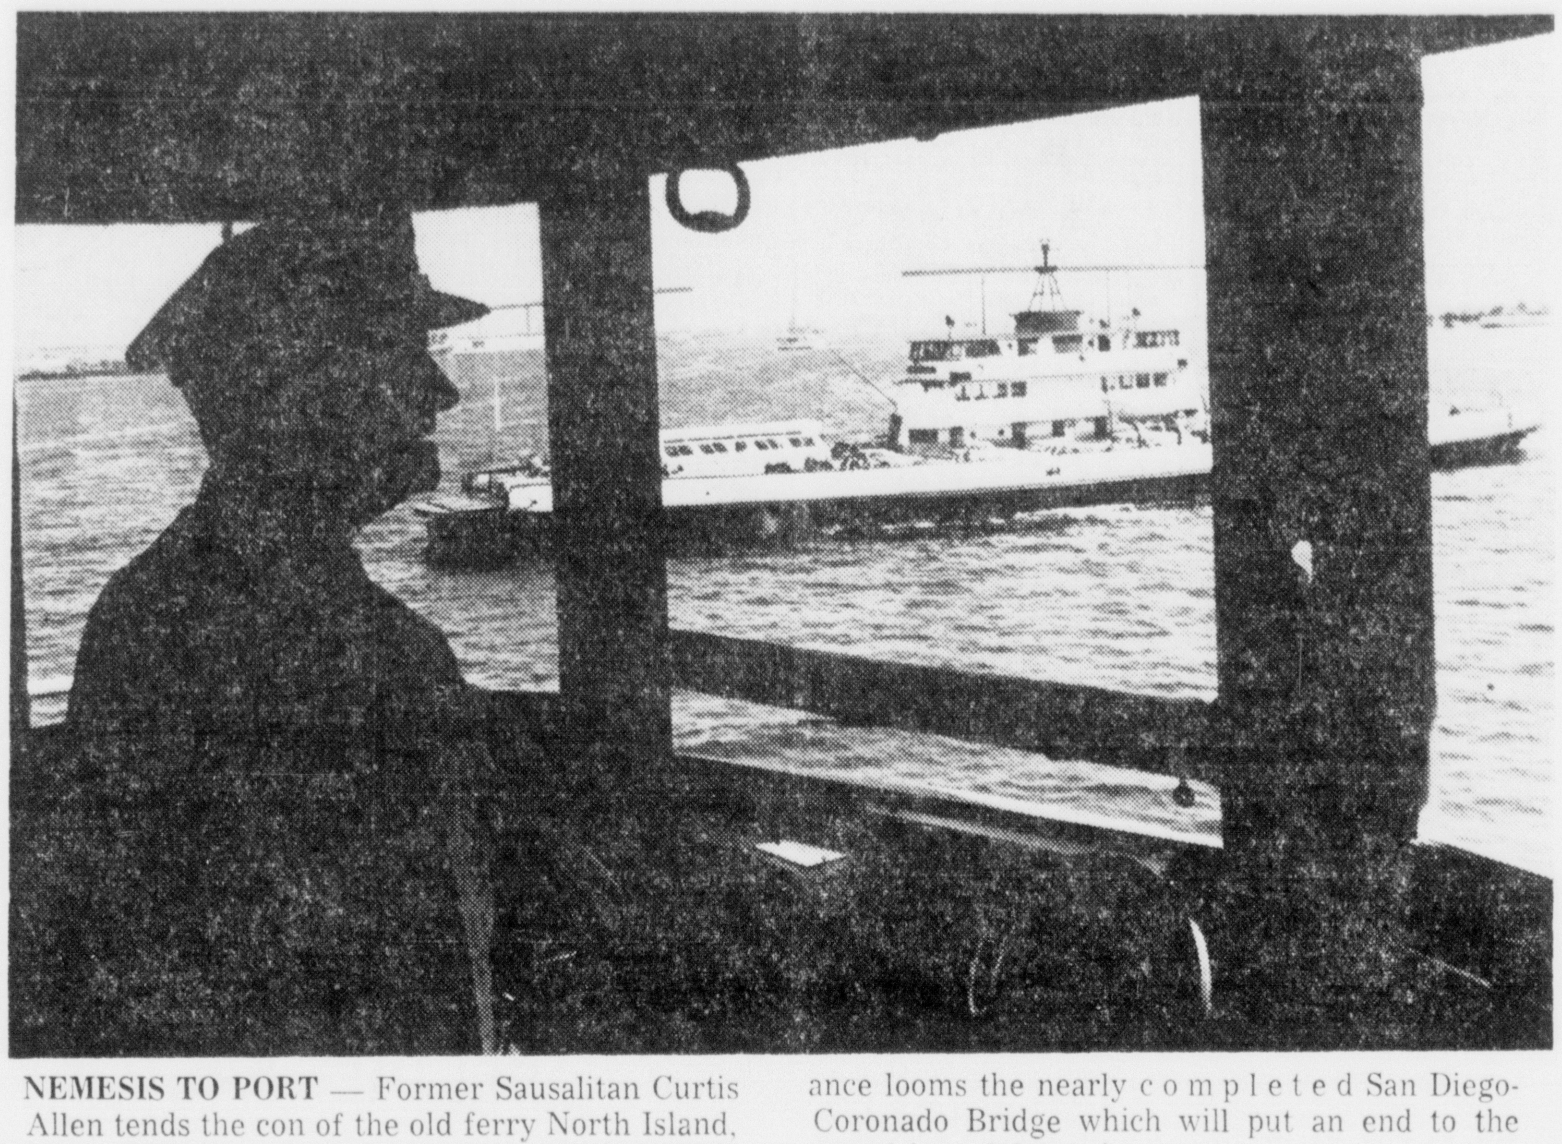
But the two older craft have been reserved for negotiated sale to communities in the San Diego bay area. Imperial Beach is known to be actively seeking at least one of them for use as a floating restaurant in its new marina development.

SKIPPER CURTIS ALLEN
He won't retire

The two craft — both wooden-hulled — were built in 1923 for use between Marin County and San Francisco. In the late 1930s they were sent to the state of Washington for duty on Puget Sound. In 1944 due to the heavy military buildups they were transferred to San Diego. Since 1944 they have been part of the fleet which handled most of the traffic between San Diego and the two huge Navy complexes, North Island Naval Air Station adn Coronado Amphibious Base.

The ferry fleet hauls an average of 4,000 vehicles per day now. The two former Marin County boats are only used during the peak rush hours.

AT REST — Not used during the slack hours, the two former Marin-San Francisco auto ferryboats are tied up at the foot of San Diego's Broadway. They also once were used on Washington's Puget Sound, and later saw wartime duty in San Diego.



NEMESIS TO PORT — Former Sausalitan Curtis Allen tends the con of the old ferry North Island, which once plied San Francisco Bay. Passing him is one of the newer ferryboats, and in the distance looms the nearly completed San Diego-Coronado Bridge which will put an end to the vessels' usefulness in commuter transportation. Noise Not Only Upsets Humans, But Bugs Beasts

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Noise is bad not only for man but also for beast.

The full impact of noise on the health of man has yet to be determined.

But, says the University of Georgia, its effect on laboratory animals is becoming known.

UNWANTED SOUND

Noise by general agreement among scientists is unwanted sound. It may be jack hammers in the street, the scream of sirens or jet airplanes, an endlessly ringing telephone, the clang of garbage cans being emptied or an ill-fitting manhole cones, the clatter of power tools, the buzz of lawn mowers, the roar of autos or motor bikes inadequately muffled, the barking of dogs in the night, or even the ringing of cathedral bells or the dawn chorus of robins, cardinals tit mice, and mocking birds.

If you don't like it, it's noise. According to the University of Georgia, researchers have discovered that dogs are annoyed by violin music.

When your cat drapes itself on top of the television set, according to other researchers, it isn't because it likes what it hears—it's trying to smother the thing.

Dr. W.B. Iturrian of Georgia's School of Pharmacy has been studying the effect of noise on mice of the sort used in medical research.

He found that noise can induce epileptic seizures in young mice and affect their growth.

BUSY PHONE BAD

Iturrian reported his research results at a recent international symposium here on laboratory animals. He said "noise pollution" should be eliminated from laboratory animal breeding rooms. He said "impact noise, such as hammering metal, is particularly troublesome." So is a busy telephone.

Once mice have developed abnormal response patterns to extraneous noise, Iturrian said, their value as research animals is diminished. They no longer "respond normally to standard tests intended to evaluate their behavior."

Hence, he said, use of animals suffering from noise pollution could result in "faulty evaluation" of new drugs tested with them.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Advice Could Be Costly

Be careful when you give free advice to a friend. He may rely upon what you say. And if he gets into trouble as a result, he can sometimes hold you legally liable.

In a recent case Jones asked his bank to find out whether the Ajax Company could handle a contract. The bank reported favorably on Ajax and the contract went through. Sometime later Jones asked the bank whether Ajax could handle a much bigger contract. Again the bank reported that Ajax was in "good condition." So Jones signed that contract too.

Then Ajax went broke. It had been in poor financial condition all the time. Jones sued the bank, claiming that it had misinformed him and had been grossly at fault.

The bank got no pay for its advice, nor was it obliged to give Jones the advice. Even so, it did have a duty to answer his questions with care.

In this case, however, the bank had warned Jones by disclaiming liability when it gave the advice, and the court did not make it pay.

Someone in a position of trust must also speak with care, even though no one pays him for his advice. This is the case with a guardian, an agent, an executor, a parent, a husband or wife, or a close relative — persons with whom you don't expect to deal "at arm's length."

Where the adviser is liable, the courts limit the liability to those whom he intended to hear his advice. Smith may make a false statement about a car that he wants to sell to his neighbor Jones.

If Jones repeats this statement to his friend Brown, who in turn relies on it, Smith is not likely to be liable. Brown is out of luck because Smith didn't intend him to hear the statement.

But suppose Smith, knowing full well that Jones is a blabbermouth, tells him something which Smith knows he will pass on to Brown. In that case the court may find that he meant Brown to hear the statement. If so, Brown can collect damages for the losses caused by relying on Smith's istatement.

U.C. Says Park Work Is Useless

BERKELEY (AP) — The University of California suggested yesterday that the volunteers who have been turning a vacant lot into a park are wasting their time.

The university bought the lot for an intramural sports field but recently volunteers have been making a park of it — planting grass, shrubs, flowers and trees, building tables and benches and beginning a wading pool.

A memo from the university appeared, saying: "In fairness to those who have worked on the land, the disutility of any additional labor must be pointed out. The area will be cleared soon in preparation for work on the recreational field."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Would you donate a kidney If Requested To Save A Life?

VAN DELLEN

Would you be willing to donate one of your kidneys to a blood relative? Let's assume that your brother-in-law calls about your 30-year-old sister who has been living on borrowed time with the aid of an artificial kidney.

They have two children and she is otherwise healthy, except for advanced kidney trouble.

THE PHYSICIAN WANTS potential donors from blood relatives becasue studies have shown that these transplants are less likely to be rejected when the donor and the recipient are closely related.

Doctors Carl H. Fellner and John R. Marshall interviewed 12 donors from five weeks to 18 months after having a kidney removed for transplant purposes. The initial request was by telephone.

Eight recalled that they made an immediate decision; four said they just went along with the tests hoping someone else would be chosen. Selecting an ideal candidate begins with blood tests to determine compatibility.

The donor accepts because he is convinced that the physicians are honest and sincere. He is told about the pros and cons of the operation. Many of the donors are so impressed with the physician that they will cooperate to the conclusion of the procedure.

IN ADDITION THEY undergo a rigorous medical examination and "it is good to know you are the healthiest of the bunch." Future donors may be interested to know that no one has ever died or was seriously ill during or after removal of a kidney for this purpose.

The waiting period can be quite distressful and many were greatly relieved when told to report for surgery. They wanted to get it over with. One donor said, "It was like a death sentence hanging over me."

Tomorrow we will discuss what happens to the donor after the operation. Does he become depressed and resentful when the recipient gets all the attention? Or, does it boost his self-esteem?

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelope to the I-J.)

VITAMIN A AND DRY SKIN

D. A. WRITES: Will taking cod liver oil capsules help dry skin?

REPLY

Yes, if dryness is due to a vitamin A deficiency. The skin of oldsters often improves when more cream, butter, fat meats, and olive or cod liver oil are added to the diet. Other causes of skin dryness are too frequent bathing, harsh soaps, the use of wool undergarments, overheated quarters, and thyroid deficiency.

MALIGNANCY IN UTERUS

A reader writes: What is carcinoma in situ? Please tell me if the condition could be caused by birth control pills.

REPLY

The term carcinoma in situ is popularly applied to a malignancy of the cervix or neck of the uterus. There has been some talk about "the pill" doing this, but we have no definite proof.

BOILS ON LEGS

A reader writes: Why do I keep getting sties on my legs?

REPLY

I've suspected some people of having eyes in the back of the head, but not on the legs. Sties are pimples, or boils on the eyelids and represent infections of the hair or lash follicles. Blame lack of cleanliness, irritation, or staphylococci for your leg lesions.

NUMBNESS OF FEET

O. T. writes: My feet are constantly numb. I was wondering whether the radiant heat in our floors could be responsible?

REPLY

No. Numbness of the feet may be caused by poor circulation, anemia, or a disturbane of the nervous system.

CLEANING FLUID FUMES

C. S. writes: I work in a knitting mill, sponging sweaters with a cleaning fluid. Is this bad for the health?

REPLY

Read the directions on any bottle of cleaning fluid and you will see the following statement: "This is a volatile solvent and should be used with adequate ventilation. Prolonged inhalation of the vapor should be avoided."

CONCEPTION IMPOSSIBLE

Mrs. A. N. writes: If a woman has had the uterus removed is there any danger of becoming pregnant in the tubes?

REPLY

No, because the tubes which are connected to the uterus, are tied off when the uterus is removed. Furthermore, there is no way for the sperm to reach the tubes.

WHY STROKE IN CHILD

S. T. writes: What could cause a stroke in a 6-year-old boy? Our son had one last week which left his speech impaired. He also has difficulty in using his right leg and arm.

REPLY

Among the causes are congenital defects or imperfections of the blood vessels such as aneurysm. Tumors and inflammation of the brain (encephalitis) also are possibilities.

Black Students Rampage Inside Pasadena High

PASADENA (AP)—The superintendent of schools was handed a list of grievances by Negro pupils at Pasadena High School. When he refused to say at once if things would change, the youngsters rampaged.

They smashed windows, overturned trash cans, tossed books out of the library's windows and threatened to burn the building.

In the melee yesterday, nine persons including six teachers suffered cuts and bruises.

The grievance list which the Negro pupils gave Supt. Ralph W. Hornbeck asked for more Negro counsellors and more literature, recreation and cultural studies dealing with Negroes.

Rejects Case

The juvenile court will not accept the case of James Anthony Gardner, 18, of Mill Valley, accused of an April 2 burglary, it was reported yesterday in Marin Municipal Court. A preliminary hearing was set for June 24.

HIS OWN BOSS

Barry Jr. Typical Of Young Western

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The new congressman for California and the senior senator from Arizona look alike, talk alike and even sign their names with the same flourish.

But Barry M. Goldwater Jr., handsome son of the Arizona senator, says he'll be his own man now that he's going to Washington.

"I plan to consult with my father, but certainly not on how to vote," Goldwater said yesterday, fresh from victory in the 27th Congressional District race. He won easily Tuesday over Democrat John Van de Kamp, with help from Republican volunteers — but none from his father.

"We've raised our children to be independent," said Goldwater Sr., in Los Angeles to help celebrate the victory. He added that "politics is a way of life in our family" and that he was not surprised at his son's candidacy.

The 30-year-old congressman stepped into the political spotlight with the aplomb of a professional. "He didn't look overwhelmed,'' said one observer. "He expected to win." Though Goldwater said yesterday, "I have no designs on the Senate at all" there was speculation about his political future.

"He's the most ambitious person I've ever known," says Jack Cox, 25, who worked with Goldwater in founding Western chapters of Young Americans for Freedom and later became his campaign press representative.

Friends and campaign workers see young Goldwater as a dynamo who can work 20 hours a day campaigning, has a "folsky touch" that gets through to voters, and appeals especially to the young.

A dapper dresser with a penchant for wide ties, colored shirts and Ivy League suits, bachelor Goldwater lives in a modern, two-bedroom, ranch-style house with a swimming pool. Occasionally he entertains a small circle of friends, mostly political associates.

Like his father, Goldwater is a flying buff and has his own four-passenger plane. For relaxation, he tinkers with electrical gadgets. He built his own hi-fi system.

Born in Los Angeles, the eldest of four children, Barry grew up in Arizona, and attended the University of Arizona and the University of Colorado. Upon graduation, he became a clerk on the floor of the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange in Los Angeles, then joined a brokerage firm, where he is a partner.

Goldwater said he will give up his financial involvements to concentrate on being a congressman.

"Barry is typical of the young Western politician," says his father. "The young Eastern politician has to divide himself too much to please everyone. Out here in the West they're more independent in their thinking. They can follow their own line."

Black Panthers Talk At Sausalito School

Three representatives of the Black Panthers spoke to seventh and eighth grade social studies classes at Martin Luther King School in Sausalito Tuesday, outlining the Black Panthers' program in Marin City.

The appearance was arranged Monday through James T. Toliver Jr., guidance counselor for the school district. One of the Black Panther speakers was a College of Marin student who is employed under the Sausalito district's training program, according to Robert Thomason, principal of King School.

Bound Over

Terence Mark Petersen, 26, of San Francisco, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court for appearance May 13 on charges of stealing a car and concealing stolen property on Jan. 7.

'Ladies' To Fight Crime On Streets

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Seven police officers got new weapons yesterday — lipsticks, wigs, dresses and maybe girdles —to give a lady-like boost to the city's war on crime.

The police department approved final plans for a new 150-man unit to battle street crime. The crime-busting squad includes seven men dressed as ladies to snare purse-snatchers, muggers and rapists.

Special orders for the new assignment, according to Lt. Gus Bruneman, included, "Don't mince or wiggle your hips —walk like a lady."

The undercover agents, sallying forth under feathered hats and wigs of all colors, will pack regulation service revolvers on their hips. They are all experts in karate and judo.

The seven officers will join six women officers who do similar undercover work. "Those six just weren't enough."

The men got make-up training from a theatrical expert on the use of lipsticks and compacts. Pancake makeup will be used to combat the five o'clock shadow.

Boy Injured In Bike-Auto Crash

Douglas Meiswinkel, 8, of 174 Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, was treated at Marin General Hospital for an injured right knee Tuesday after his bicycle collided with a car at the entry to Greenbrae School, the California Highway Patrol reported yesterday.

The patrol said the accident occurred at 4:50 p.m. when the boy rode into the path of a car driven by Royce W. Israel, 57, of 264 Via La Cumbre, Greenbrae, as Israel was leaving the school grounds.

Trout Anglers To Invade Marin County Lakes

By AL GIDDINGS

On Saturday every waterway, lake and stream in Marin County, with the exception of Devil's Gulch Creek in Samuel P. Taylor State Park, will be open to trout fishing. (Devil's Gulch Creek is a nursery area for juvenile salmon and steelhead.)

The magic hour for the opening is 5:13 a.m., which is one hour before sunrise, Daylight Saving Time. You will be able to fish until 9:04 p.m., which is one hour after sunset.

The season will run through Nov. 15, with a bag and possession limit of 10 trout, but not more than 10 pounds and one fish. You are permitted to use one rod and not more than three hooks. Most lures, flies and baits are legal with few exceptions in Marin County. Chumming is still illegal.

Regular $3 license is required, and in areas where trout are planted, two trout stamps are needed, making the total cost $5. In streams not planted, one stamp is needed and in salt water areas, only the basic license is needed. Children under 16? No charge.

Waters to be planted prior to the opening of the season include Lagunitas and Phoenix lakes south of Fairfax, both lakes to receive catchable size fish. Kent Lake was planted last winter with 50,000 subcatchables. Nicasio Lake will not be stocked as it is considered a warm water fish lake. Black bass and blue gill are the mainstays of this lake.

The above mentioned waters are all operated by the Marin Municipal Water District. A $5 use fee, in addition to a fishing license, is required for persons 16 or older. The lakes will be closed on Tuesdays this year instead of Sundays as in the past, with the exception of Nicasio Lake, open every day.

Rodeo Lagoon at Fort Baker will also be stocked with catchables before the season opening. No permits required. Alpine Dam should have a carryover of subcatchable plants from last year.

Stafford Lake at Novato opens Saturday, also. Black bass and blue gill fishing should be excellent. Permits needed from the North Marin County Water District for Stafford Lake.

All of the Marin streams have a population of wild fish. These fish are small, juvenile silver salmon and steelhead, usually not larger than six inches in length. I would recommend fishing the planted lakes, rather than the streams.

Those Were The Days Of Baseball, My Friend

REMEMBER?—I went to a Little League game the other day.

Which was a mistake because every time I see little squirts playing ball it takes me back to my own sandlot days. And I hate to reminisce because it makes me feel so old.

Perhaps you feel the same way. Remember? It was eons ago, our sandlot days, but the memory of your first mitt, the strawberry on your backside, the fights, the bad hops, your first home run are as indelibly implanted in your mind as your first kiss, your first car, your first paycheck.

Today's kids cavort on well-manicured fields, dressed in the finest flannels, using the best equipment money can buy. They have grandstands and scoreboards and real live umpires, coaches and managers. And I am happy for them.

We were considerably less affluent in our sandlot days but couldn't have cared less. Any clearing in the woods was our diamond in the rough. A stick, to us, was the most beautiful Louisville Slugger in the world. We used more friction tape repairing broken bats and gashed nickelbricks in one day than an electrician uses in a year. Our homers were the original tape jobs.

Any Old Rock Would Do

Bases? Hah! First base more than likely was a garment one of us swiped from Ma McCarthy's clothesline. Second base probably was a big rock. Third could have been an old hat, and home plate inevitably was the top of a garbage can. Poor Tony, the school janitor, never could figure out what happened to all those refuse lids.

Our field resembled a quarry. It had nore rocks on it than Pebble Beach. Which resulted in more bad hops than a condemned brewery.

Thus, infielders deserved medals for bravery. They would have been safer playing with hand grenades. A hard grounder was like shrapnel. They usually made the dumbest kid in town play third base — the hot corner. Which was why I had the purplest chest in town and had my proboscis fractured so many times I still sneeze through my ears and smell west when I'm facing north.

He Lost His Teeth Early

The toughest kid in town was the catcher because we had no protective equipment, the so-called tools of ignorance. His "tools" were his eyes, nose, mouth, chin. He would have been safer facing a firing squad. He was the local dentist's best customer and by the time he was 12 was gumming his meals.

Any kid who owned anything so valuable as a real baseball was the pitcher ". . . or else I'll take my ball and go home."

The first baseman had the hottest hands in town because if we infielders didn't fire the heavily-taped nickelbrick to him we'd substitute a rock because who would know the difference? We'd do anything to make a putout.

We'd station the least athletic twerp in right field because he couldn't do much harm out there in the boondocks except suck his thumb, read funny books and blow bubbles.

Those Old Dirty T-Shirts

We were probably the crummiest looking team in our T-shirts dirtied by the summer dust and perspiration, shredded jeans that begged to be patched and rock-torn Keds that bared the soles of our feet.

We wouldn't quit until our little sister arrived on the scene to announce, "Jimmy, you get home this VERY minute or Mommie will give you the spanking of your life!"

Then, after hours of glorious athletics in the sun . . . of laughs and some tears, some fights and some cheers, some heroics and some boneheads . . . we'd head into town, arm in arm . . . stop at the local fountain for a quick cherry phosphate, then down the street to mooch a slice of bologna from Rome the butcher, and finally home to dream of ourselves as the Babe Ruths and Lou Gehrigs and Ty Cobbs of Sandlotsville, USA.

I'm happy today's kids have it so good. But I wouldn't trade my sandlot for all the Yankee Stadiums, Candlesticks or Astrodomes in the world because . . . well, those were the days, my friends, those were the days. Remember?

Auto Races In Petaluma

There have been three different winners with Petaluma's Art Mossi winning the opener followed by Gary Pacheco of Union City and Fremont's Lon Williams.

The drivers will try again tomorrow at the Petaluma quarter-mile track with qualifying set to go at 7 p.m. and the first race scheduled for 8 p.m.

NO-HIT WINNER

Maloney Relaxed On Hill, Reckless On Basepaths

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Jim Maloney was relaxed on the pitching mound last night but he got a little reckless while running the bases.

After pitching no-hit ball for eight innings, he pulled a groin muscle while scoring in the last of the eighth after running through the coach's stop sign at third base.

But Maloney ignored the pain and retired the Houston Astros in the ninth inning to complete the second no-hitter of his career as the Cincinnati Reds romped to a 10-0 victory.

BEAT CUBS

On Aug. 19, 1965, Maloney pitched a 10-inning no-hitter to beat the Chicago Cubs.

(Maloney pitched 10 hitless innings against the New York Mets June 14, 1965, but lost it on two hits in the top of the 11th by a 1-0 score.)

While Maloney is celebrating his latest no-hitter, he'll have to take it easy. Trainer Bill Cooper said, "I don't know how serious the groin pull is but he won't be able to do his running for three or four days."

Elsewhere in the National League, Philadelphia edged Chicago, 3-1, San Francisco blanked Los Angeles, 3-0, St. Louis beat Pittsburgh, 8-1, after losing the first game, 2-1, New York edged Montreal, 2-1, and Atlanta topped San Diego, 6-3.

Cincinnati gave Maloney, now 3-0, strong support with a nine-

Dodgers' Alston Miffed At Giants

Complains Of 'Unfair' Treatment

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Walt Alston, the Los Angeles Dodger manager, feels Juan Marichal is a good enough pitcher that he doesn't need any special advantages—like warming up on the mound before a game.

Marichal warmed up on the mound last night and then pitched a two-hit shutout over the Dodgers, 3-0, as San Francisco surged to its ninth straight victory.

The win was the Giants' 15th in their last 18 games after dropping a season-opening three game set at Atlanta. It gave them first place in the National League's western division.

ALSTON MIFFED

Alston was mildly miffed over Marichal's pre-game routine. "It would be nice if we had the same choice," said the Dodgers' skipper. "I think it gave him the advantage.

"If the Giants had asked, I'd probably have said Okay, but I'll be damned if I like them making their own rules," he added. "Wait till we get them down in Los Angeles — I'll do the same thing."

'GOOD STUFF'

"It was Larry Jansen's idea," said Marichal, now 4-1. "I was ready in the bullpen, but Larry (pitching coach) told me to go to the mound because of the windy conditions in the bullpen.

"I don't think it made any difference, but my stuff was better than a lot of times," admitted the right-hander. "It was my best game this year. When it's so windy, you concentrate more."

Then he bore down and retired the last 12 batters he faced. Singer, now 4-1, had retired 14 in a row when Bobby Bonds was struck by a pitch with two out in the bottom of the sixth.

X-RAYS

Frank Johnson ran for Bonds, who was taken to St. Luke's Hospital for X-rays. They proved negative. Johnson went to third on first baseman Ron Fairly's error and scored on Willie Mays' bloop single to center.

10 STRAIGHT GAMES

Monday Trying For RBI Record

ANAHEIM (AP) — By batting in one more run tonight, Rick Monday can break Lou Gehrig's American League record of batting in at least one run for 10 consecutive games.

Monday tied Gehrig's record last night with a grand-slam home run in the third inning as Oakland pounded the Angels 9-4 at Anaheim Stadium. Gehrig, the New York Yankees' hall-of-famer, performed the feat three times between 1930 and 1934.

MAY VS. HUNTER

The Angels and Athletics collide again tonight as the Angels, still trying to escape the American League cellar, call on Rudy May, 1-1, to oppose Jim "Catfish" Hunter.

Monday credited Joe DiMaggio, another former Yankee slugger, with his hitting improvement. He raised his batting average from .067 to .310. The 23-year-old center fielder also noted that the streak, which began April 20 in Kansas City, coincided with the day he gave up chewing tobacco.

JOE KNEW

No one realized that Monday was approaching the record until DiMaggio mentioned it on the bench. "That man doesn't miss a thing," grinned Monday.

There was an appreciative audience in Anaheim last night to see the graduate of Santa Monica High School — his mother Nelda, and 13 aunts, uncles and cousins. Monday claims he once had 37 relatives in the park to watch him play.

FIRST SLAM

It was his first home run against the Angels and his first grand slam in the major leagues. He parked a George Brunet fast ball over the 375-foot mark in right field to highlight a six-run third inning that finished Brunet with one out.

Brunet absorbed the loss, his third against one victory. Blue Moon Odom went the route to pick up his fourth triumph in five decisions. Odom also went 3-for-5 at the plate and scored a run.

JOHN PANAGAKIS

Ready To Face Basketball Challenge

By RALPH CHATOIAN

The 32-year-old Panagakis, one of the most fiery coaches to hit the Marin County scene, will be the head coach of the College of Marin basketball team next season.

He's taking over from a guy who coached College of Marin teams to 199 wins against 136 losses in the last 12 years. That's Cal Riemcke, who announced his resignation this week to take the head basketball coaching job at Whitworth College in Spokane, Wash., next September.

AT NOVATO

Panagakis was graduated from City College of San Francisco and Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo. He taught one year of high school in San Luis Obispo before coming to Marin and Novato High in 1961. He coached basketball, track and football at Novato.

He moved up to College of Marin three years ago as assistant coach in basketball and track.

Panagakis made his presence known in Marin County high school basketball, often jumping from the bench to scream, sometimes at officials, sometimes at players.

He has quieted down his fiery antics somewhat.

"It didn't help me in coaching," Panagakis admits. "But I did jump up twice this past year. I've learned it's better to sit there and watch the players."

QUIET MAN

Panagakis was of course referring to the coaching style of Riemcke, who repeatedly sat on the bench quietly taking in the game, appearing as if nothing at all was bothering him.

Now that he is head coach of the Tars, will Panagakis remain subdued during games? "Only time will tell," he said. "I certainly hope so."

As far as style of play goes, Panagakis says "It all depends on your material. Looking back, I started out as a control coach, and at College of MARIN WE and at College of Marin we ran a lot. It just depends on what you've got."

RUNNING

"When we had a talk with the players and told them that Cal was leaving," Panagakis said, "we told them that he can't take the hill with him." (Near the Kentfield campus is a steep hill, on which, during basketball season, young men can be seen running up and over. That was Cal's way of ending a practice.)

FOUR CHILDREN

Panagakis, who lives in Novato with wife Roberta and four children ranging in age from 4 to 9, says he's really looking forward to his new duties, and sounds like he's really ready to meet the challenge.

"But I'm really gonna' miss that guy," he said about the well-liked, and highly respected, Riemcke. "You wouldn't know it by that record of his, but winning was secondary to him," Panagakis said. "When he works in basketball, the player comes first, and basketball second."

It's Wrist Wrestling Time

Strong arms and wills of iron will prevail tomorrow as contestants from all over the nation converge on Petaluma for the eighth annual Wrist Wrestling Championship of the World at 8 p.m. at the Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building.

Known for their colorful backgrounds and attire, the contestants will hail from all walks of life. As in past years, the weakest looking individuals find their ways into the finals through sheer determination.

A throng of cheering supporters act as back-up forces for the contestants and spur them on to greater strengths. The cheering section, with hands closed in fists, share the same emotions as the wrestlers when the wrists weave back and forth between victory and defeat. The gritting of teeth is also known as a vital part of successful wrist wrestling.

Missing from the scene this year will be "Snoopy," according to his creator, Charles Schulz. Apparently Petaluma's patron pooch was miffed last year when he was disqualified from the contest. "But beagles don't have wrists," the judges explained in vain.

TO DEFEND TITLE

Returning to defend his title will be Duane (Tiny) Benedix of Livermore, whose nickname, of course, is in direct contrast to his physique. Although the title has been won twice by one person, it's never been retained for two consecutive years. Benedix, of course, will try to change that tradition.

He will, however, be up against a crew of challengers who have been working out on everything from bar-bells to lifting cows. Old timers say the best practice is found in local taverns where impromptu matches at the bar are common training grounds. "You can even win a free beer out of it," they say.

Heilman Wins Split Decision Over Hernandez

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Nobody's going to call Rocky Hernandez a quitter.

The 160-pound Mexican fighter was decked three times by brawling Andy Heilman last night but still battled back to make their 10-round Winterland fight close.

Heilman, 160 3-4, San Pedro, Calif., was awarded the bout on a split decision, thus raising his career record to 38-5-3.

Heilman dumped Hernandez twice in the first round and again in the seventh to pick up a big margin but in the end Referee Fred Apostoli had the Mexican fighter ahead, 5-4.

However, Judges Jack Downey and Johnny Lotsey voted in favor of Heilman, 6-3 and 7-3, respectively.

Mays Gets Bat Shares For 600th

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Some time in the next few months Willie Mays undoubtedly will hit his 600th lifetime home run, making him, among other things, a stockholder in a bat company.

When Willie reaches the plateau—he has 590—the company whose bats he uses plans to award him one share of its stock for every foot the historic blast travels.

"It's selling at around 9 now," says Mays, who didn't get where he is today without learning one or two things about the stock market.

Mays will also receive an Italian car worth something like $15,000 when he hits his 600th, a figure reached previously only by Babe Ruth.

GOLF

PINEHURST, N.C. — Lanny Wakins, of Richmond, Va., and Wake Forest University, beat Dave Boyd, Atlanta, 5 and 4, and Bill Hyndman, Huntingdon Valley, Pa., 2 and 1 to reach the quarter-finals in the North and South Amatuer Tournament.

TENNIS

BOURNEMOUTH, England — Julie Heldman, New York, beat Mrs. Shirley Brasher, Britain, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4 in the third round and John Newcombe, Australia, whipped Mike Belkin, Canada, 8-6, 6-1, 6-1 in the second round of the British Hard Courts Championships,

BASEBALL

HORSE RACING

NEW YORK — Aqueduct was shut down for the fourth straight racing day because of a horsemen's boycott.

NEW ORLEANS OPEN

Casper, Nicklaus Top List

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Bugged by bug spray, Buffalo Bill Casper, along with Jack Nicklaus, head a field of 144 who teed off today for a shot at the $20,000 first prize in the Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

A city-owned airplane flew back and forth over Lakewood Country Club's 7,020 yards late yesterday, spraying mosquito repellant on the cypress trees, water oaks and verdant fairways.

ALMOST PANICKED

Casper, just finishing the pro-am preliminary, practically panicked. The onetime fatman, who has so many allergies it takes several specialists to keep track of them, had a violent reaction in Florida earlier this year to bug spray.

"This is a different kind of spray than they use in Florida," said tournament chairman Gene Rutter to Casper, the buffalo-meat eating food fadist.

"Yeah," said Casper. "Well, I won't withdraw yet. We'll see what happens."

The long-hitting Nicklaus is the automatic choice as tournament favorite because of this long, flat layout dotted with lakes and monstrous sandtraps.

Jack Weiss, a longtime Nicklaus friend and official of this tourney for many years, decided to play a practical joke on the Golden Bear.

AND NURSE

Nicklaus, who had light-heartedly commented a week ago that he may be getting old at 29, was met at the airport by Weiss with a wheel chair, an attractive girl dressed in a nurse's uniform, and a sign which read: Greater New Orleans Open Welcomes Good OLD Jack.

The sun-bronzed Nicklaus went along with the joke, posing for pictures, and wise-cracking about his senior citizenship.

Football's Realignment Talks Go On

NEW YORK (UPI)—Now that the two professional football leagues seem to agree on the best method of realignment, the next step is to get everything on paper.

That might happen today when the two leagues meet jointly, or it might not happen at all this week. There are many ramifications to consider. But at any rate, progress seems to have been made.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle indicated as much yesterday when he said that both the National and American Football Leagues lean toward adopting a new realignment plan for 1970 which would balance the two leagues at 13 teams each by shifting three NFL teams to the AFL.

This proposal, if adopted, would enable each league to keep its identity—the thing that both leagues seem to feel is of utmost importance.

The big problem concerning the favored proposal is getting three teams to volunteer to join the AFL. Rozelle, however, said there were at least a half dozen teams which had approached him with the idea of exploring such a move.

Strange Not To See Drysdale Pitching

It seems strange not to see Don Drysdale in action in the current two-game series at Candlestick Park. Big D of the Dodgers rarely missed any pitching assignment and never one against the Giants, the club he loved most to beat.

Drysdale is on the disabled list for the first time in 14 major league campaigns. He may never pitch again because of a torn muscle deep in his right shoulder. The muscle tear was aggravated in his last appearance against the Giants in Dodger Stadium April 22 when he was knocked out of the box.

DRYSDALE hinted after that game that the pain was so great in his arm that he might be forced into retirement. Walter Alston, manager of the Dodgers, persuaded the 6-foot-6 righthander to postpone any retirement decision until after a 21-day rest on the disabled list.

Drysdale faced the Giants more times and beat them more times than any active pitcher in the majors. Counting his April 22 loss to them, Drysdale still holds a 34-31 career edge over the Giants. It was much more than a three-game edge prior to 1959.

THAT WAS the year Willie McCovey made his sensational debut in midseason with a perfect 4-for-4 performance in old Seals Stadium against Robin Roberts, a veteran of considerable ability. McCovey's success against Roberts soon was overshadowed by his duels with Drysdale.

In 1959 Drysdale was a sidearmer. He abandoned the sidearm stuff after his first five seasons against McCovey who forced him into a three-quarter delivery. During those first five seasons McCovey his .436 (24-for-55), including 10 homers, against Drysdale.

IN 1964-65, with his three-quarter delivery, Drysdale held McCovey to two singles and a double in 25 ABs. There were charges that Drysdale was throwing a spitter. Indeed, in later years Al Barlick and other umpires were to subject Drysdale to rigid inspections. On one occasion Barlick ran his fingers through Drysdale's hair but found no greasy stuff which Herman Franks charged Drysdale was applying to the ball.

McCovey never accused Drysdale of moistening the ball. He never specifically pointed the finger at any pitcher suspected of throwing a spitter. But McCovey has said on several occasions that the spitter it almost impossible to hit and batting averages would improve immediately if it were stopped.

IN ANY EVENT, from 1964 on McCovey never hit Drysdale the way he did from 1959-63. McCovey still has a respectable lifetime average against Drysdale, .320. His last homer against Big D in a Candlestick, May 3, 1966, was No. 11 for McCovey against Drysdale.

And now, with Drysdale seriously ailing, that homer three seasons ago may be the final one in the McCovey-Drysdale duel that thrilled Giant and Dodger fans for a decade.

because the Marin Municipal Water District plans extensive use of copper sulfate to control algae. When used in large quantities, copper sulfate is deliterious to fishlife.

Other waters stocked close to Marin County are Lake Berryessa with 200,000 catchable rainbows and 30,000 catchable browns. Hennessey Lake, also in Napa County is receiving catchables.

North and south Lake Merced in San Francisco is heavily stocked with catchables. Permits costing $1 per season or 25c per day are required. Boats can be rented at the boat house.

In Sonoma County, Lake Ralphine in Santa Rosa and Spring Creek Reservoir will be stocked with catchables.

In Lake County, Anderson Creek, Kelsey Creek, Upper Blue Lake and Lake Pillsbury also were planted with catchables.

An estimated 5,000 anglers — and it could be more — will be hitting the trails for their favorite spots in Marin County. Get there early and have your gear rigged up and ready to go. Using light leaders will increase your chances considerably.

Although the Sierras will open also on Saturday, it is expected that this year's snowfall will keep most anglers below the 5,000 foot mark. I read the other day where they expect to have skiing at Squaw Valley until July 4 this year. Conditions like that will make most of the higher elevation streams and lakes impossible to fish until very late this year. Better stick to the bay area planted waters.

THANKS TO SUPER SUB

Oaks Take Series Lead

OAKLAND (AP) — Thanks to the "super sub," the Oakland Oaks have a 1-0 lead over the Indiana Pacers in a best-of-seven series for the American Basketball Association championships.

Gary Bradds dubbed super sub by teammates after he took over for Rick Barry who missed the second half of the season because of a knee operation, scored 40 points and grabbed 17 rebounds last night in leading the Oaks to a 123-114 victory.

The 6-foot-8 Bradds, former two-time All-American at Ohio State, hit 16 out of 25 from the floor and missed none of eight free throws.

Bradds has averaged 19.1 points for the Oaks in 11 playoff games.

With their fast break working to perfection before 3,290 fans, the Oaks moved to a 64-60 halftime advantage and led 73-72 as the last period started.

The next game is tomorrow night, also in Oakland Arena.

Record Homer For Robinson

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Robinson's April shower ended with a mighty thunderclap at about the same time spring finally arrived for the Cleveland Indians . . . as sudden as Sam McDowell.

Robinson climaxed a record April spree of 10 home runs last night when a two-run, upper deck blast at Detroit that powered the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-2 victory over the Tigers.

McDowell fired a three-hitter and struck out 12 in beating the New York Yankees 3-0 to snap Cleveland's 10-game losing streak and give the Indians their second victory in 17 April starts.

HOWARD'S 8TH

Elsewhere, Washington nipped Boston 1-0 on Frank Howard's eighth homer; Minnesota trimmed Seattle 6-4 for its fifth straight triumph; Kansas City shaded the Chicago White Sox 3-2 and Rick Monday's grand slam helped Oakland cuff California 9-4.

Robinson broke the old major league mark of nine homers in the month of April, set by Ken Williams of the 1922 St. Louis Browns, with a two-out wallop off Pat Dobson in the fifth inning. The homer, which boosted Robinson's league-leading RBI total to 24, gave Baltimore lefthander Dave McNally a 2-0 lead.

Boog Powell hit a bases-empty homer in the Orioles' eighth before the Tigers rallied for two runs in their half, chasing McNally. Pete Richert, the second reliever in the inning, got the last two outs, stranding the tying run on third and saving McNally's fourth victory without a loss.

'BEST START'

"I would say this is my best start," said Robinson, who is batting .368 after 23 games.

McDowell held the Yankees to a pair of scratch singles until the ninth, when Bill Robinson doubled, and survived seven walks in gaining his first 1969 victory after three losses.

The Indians clipped rookie Bill Burbach for the only run McDowell needed in the fifth on an error by third baseman Bobby Murcer, a single by Russ Snyder, a walk and Tony Horton's bases-loaded force play grounder.

"Before the game I decided to throw as hard as I could for as long as I could, but I mixed 'em up pretty good. We had to break that streak."

DECIDES DUEL

Howard's leadoff homer off Lee Stange in the fourth inning decided a duel between Washington right-handers Jim Hannan and Dennis Higgins and three Red Sox pitchers. Hannan allowed four hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the seventh and Higgins gave up one more in completing the shutout.

The victory was the sixth for Ted Williams' surging Senators in their last seven games.

Tom Hall, a last-minute pitching replacement for sore-armed Dean Chance, struck out nine Seattle batters in six innings.

Jim Canpanis scored on a passed ball by Duane Josephson in the ninth, sending the Royals past the White Sox. Josephson let a Wilbur Wood knuckler get away from him after Bob Taylor hit into a home-to-first double play with the bases loaded.

Jim Davenport's one-out triple made it 2-0 in the seventh. Singles by Johnson and Mays and third baseman Bill Sudakis' error added a run off reliever Al McBean in the eighth.

Mays' two singles gave him a hit in all 17 games he has started. "I was planning on giving Mays Thursday off," said King, "but with Bonds out we'll have to wait and see."

hit attack paced by Bobby Tolan, who banged out three hits and drove in four runs. The Reds scored seven runs in the fourth. Maloney also received a big assist from rookie shortstop Darrel Chaney, who made a one-handed somersaulting catch of Edwards' looping fly to left in the sixth. Edwards, a former Red who also used to be Maloney's roommate, caught the two previous games by Maloney in which he went into extra innings with hitless ball.

STRONG PITCHING

Strong pitching by Jim Bunning and Bob Gibson—both 2-2—was the key as Pittsburgh and St. Louis divided two games. Bunning tossed a five-hitter in the first game for his first complete game in a year. Rookies Al Oliver and Manny Sanguillen hit back-to-back doubles in the fifth as the Pirates scored their two runs. In the second game, Gibson pitched a four-hitter and helped his own cause with an RBI single in the five-run fourth highlighted by Joe Torre's leadoff homer and Lou Brock's two-run single.

Shoemaker's Career May Be All Through

INGLEWOOD (AP) — The brilliant career of jockey Bill Shoemaker could be over. He was injured seriously in a fall under his mount at Hollywood Park and won't ride Saturday in his 17th Kentucky Derby.

He suffered internal injuries and a broken pelvis in a freak accident just before the fourth race yesterday.

It was in the usually safe saddling paddock, not in the furious rush of a race, after Shoemaker had won the first two races.

The Shoe's mount, a fractious 3-year-old filly named Poona's Day, seemed to take one quick step forward, abruptly backed up, unseated the rider and literally sat down in his lap before he could escape.

Shoemaker, 37, suffered two fractures of the pelvis and a badly torn bladder. A team of doctors operated for an hour at a nearby hospital to repair the damage and Shoemaker was listed in satisfactory condition.

"She backed up and landed hard on my pelvis before I had a chance to get out of the saddle," Shoemaker said.

Racing fans gathered around the paddock amphitheater watched in silence as the little man was carried by stretcher to an ambulance.

The track physician, Dr. T.H. Haller, estimated Shoemaker will be sidelined for six months but said he expected normal recovery from the pelvis injury.

Shoemaker, with a steel rod still in his leg, was making a comeback since returning to action at Santa Anita last Feb. 11. He was one victory away, with far less mounts, from the leading winner at the Hollywood meeting.

His lifetime victories of 5,812 is second in history to Johnny Longden's 6,032.

Cain's Tires Wins In Softball Action

Jim MacDougall collected three hits and scored three runs last night to lead Cain's Tires to a 13-1 victory over the Broncos in the San Rafael Softball League at Albert Field.

In the evening's other game, Hamilton Air Force Base nipped Perry's Delicatessen, 4-3, behind the pitching of Bill Stafford. Dom Coleman hit a two-run home run for the losers.

Seals Deal Falls Short

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — An agreement to sell the Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League and save the team from financial disaster has apparently fallen through, the Buffalo Courier-Express reported in its morning editions today.

The Courier-Express said the deal was never completed and that four closing dates, the latest on April 25, had come and gone.

Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals won 15 straight games last season.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Parent, Sons Planning To Pool Funds On Shares

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. My four sons and I would like to pool our money and start a monthly investment plan in an oceanography company. What stock would you suggest?—J.F.

A. Since some of your youngsters are minors, there may be some technical problems in establishing a joint account. Alpine Geophysical, reviewed previously, is active in many areas of oceanography. The company and its subsidiaries manufacture marine instruments and systems, conduct geophysical surveys, produce a concentrated marine protein and operate a cargo fleet. A 50 per cent interest is held in both an offshore mining company and a West Coast seafood company and a 33 per cent interest in an Alaskan seafood cannery.

Alpine sold its 50 per cent interest in a cable TV system which will produce a nonrecurring gain of about 30 cents a share. In the fall, construction will begin on a $3 million plant for producing Marine Protein Concentrate. Test marketing by a pet food canner of a cat food with MPC was successful and nationwide distribution is planned. Nine months' earnings, through January 31, were 39 cents a share, up from 24 cents from last year.

Q. I am in my 70s and need more income. I hold American Telephone, Borg-Warner, El Paso Natural Gas, Pacific Lighting, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and two mutual funds—all worth about $15,000. What changes should I make?—W.P.

A. The highest yield could be achieved by selling and investing in high-grade bonds. Unfortunately, commissions and capital gains tax would probably eat up the additional income for several years. A few changes offer some relief. If you didn't tender Youngstown for Lykes' 7.5 per cent debentures, following the merger, you'll add 70 cents a share to your dividend when new preferred shares are received.

By replacing Borg-Warner with Republic Steel you will increase your return on this portion of your capital by about 2 percentage points to 5.5 per cent. You have not mentioned whether you accept both capital gains and dividends in cash from your mutual funds. If you are not doing this you should by all means notify your agent to make this change.

Shipbuilding Boom Reported

LONDON (London Express) — Big increases in world trade mean more ships are being built week. than ever before Lloyd's register of shipping reported this

This booming shipbuilding has sent British shipyards up into the third position in the world's shipbuilding table. Japan still leads and Sweden is second with West Germany dropping to fourth position.

"Tonnage in the world's total order book," says Lloyd's, now stands at 53,332,563 tons and is again a record. It is more than double the total in June 1965 and the increase of 4,421,306 tons during the quarter is the largest on record.

Training Center

CHICAGO (UPI) — Westinghouse Electric Corp. has announced joint plans with Commonwealth Edison Co. to build a training center for nuclear power plant operators at a cost of $5 million.

Markets Expect To Retain Hours

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock markets are expected to stick to their shortened, trading schedules at least through the month of May.

The recommendations were to be taken up formally at weekly meetings of the boards of governors of the New York and American stock exchanges today.

Wall Street sources said the Securities and Exchange Commission figured largely in the panel's decision to brush aside mounting pressure for a return to normal trading hours. The SEC reportedly has been getting a heavy flow of mail from investors complaining about poor service from brokerage firms.

Electronic Sales

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sales of the electronics industry may reach $25 billion in 1969, according to Herbert H. Adise, president of Computer Instruments Corporation of Hempstead, N.Y.

Sells Interest

NEW YORK (UPI) — Brandon Applied Systems, Inc., has sold a 20 per cent interest in its English subsidiary, Business Intelligence Services, LTD., to A. G. Becker & Co. of New York and has obtained additional finance for the subsidiary from a major U. S. investment bank.

Profit Taking Cuts Gain On Wall Street

NEW YORK (UPI)—Profit taking gave the market an irregular look today. Turnover was heavy, but not like yesterday's near-record 19.3 million shares.

Vietnam peace hopes, an inspiration to traders in the previous session, burned even brighter. There was much speculation the return of North Vietnam's No. 2 negotiator to Paris from a long consultation in Hanoi may bring a breakthrough in the Vietnam peace conference, especially since the Viet Cong said yesterday it was willing to begin talks with "other parties" to help get the talks moving.

Shortly before the final bell, the UPI stock market indicator was up 0.17 per cent on 1,569 issues on the tape. Of these, 721 advanced and 638 declined.

The Dow Jones industrial average, up 16.08 in the previous session, eased 0.83 to 949.35 near the close. Volume approximated 14 million shares.

New Retail Drapery Outlet In Business At Pacheco Plaza

Principal here is Mrs. Calla Enlow of Bel Marin Keys, who has been an artist and designer and is now engaged, with the help of her son, in custom draperies and bedspreads, fabricated in San Francisco according to specifications. They have been associated with the wholesale segment of custom draperies for many years and are now entering the retail field.

Hours are from noon to 7 p.m. Mondays through Fridays; from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Saturdays; and on Sundays by appointment.

DOTTO GLASS, INC., 101 Joseph Court, San Rafael, which has owned property at 76 Mitchell Boulevard, Northgate Industrial Park for some time, is preparing to built there very soon.

Plans are being prepared for a 10,000-square-foot of building, and depending upon when construction can get under way, completion may be this summer. Owner Ray Dotto expects to occupy 3,000 or 4,000 square feet and the balance will be leased out for office and warehouse space.

A NEW SHOP called the This and That Shop opened today at 532 Third Street, San Rafael, and is being operated by the Social Service Auxiliary of Marin.

Staffed by volunteers from the auxiliary, it features boutique items made by the members and also new and "distress" clothing. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays.

THE LEASING of diesel power units, generators and pumps has become such an important part of the operation of John Tate, Inc., San Rafael that a new corporation called John Tate Leasing has been formed to expand in this field. Both operations will continue at 40 Woodland Avenue.

NORMAN F. DACEY, who lectures nationally on estate planning and probate reform, and author of "How to Avoid Probate," will speak on that same subject at Olney Hall, College of Marin, Kentfield, at 8:15 p.m. next Tuesday evening. His estate planning material has been distributed by banks, insurance companies and investment firms throughout the country.

Martin

INSURANCE: John R. (Jack) Martin, new resident of San Rafael, is newly appointed regional manager of the San Francisco office of Bond Insurance Agency. He was formerly with a Houston insurance agency. . . . Robert A. Davies of Belvedere has qualified for a four-day educational sales conference by New York Life for writing over $1 million in individual life insurance during the first quarter of 1969. . . . John L. Kassab of San Rafael, an agency manager in San Francisco for Prudential Insurance, has returned from a three-day regional business conference of the company in Phoenix.

A RECENT LUNCHEON for the past presidents of the Better Business Bureau of San Francisco, Ltd. brought out Reynolds J. Barbiere of San Rafael, who presided in 1953; John H. Hoefer of Belvedere, president in 1964; and former Ross resident David Plant, president in 1966 and 1967.

Also in attendance were Vernon Libby of Fairfax, bureau manager from 1955 to 1966; and current bureau manager Charles Thurber of Terra Linda.

THREE WEDNESDAY EVENING classes on stocks, bonds, investments and mutual funds are being held at the Emporium at Northgate in the street floor clubroom from 7:30 to 9:15 p.m. Classes began last night, to continue May 7 and May 14 and are under the sponsorship of the investment firm, Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis. Reservations can be made by mail or by phoning Christine Clausen at the San Francisco office.

CHARLES C. PURGH of San Anselmo, preisdent of W C P, Inc., which provides a personnel service for the computing industry, was a featured speaker Tuesday before the peninsula chapter of the Data Processing Management Association.

IRA JOSEPH ALLYN of San Rafael has been cited by Visirecord, business systems and equipment manufacturer, for distinguished sales achievements.

MONTGOMERY WARD is repeating its classes on the art of interior decorating, commencing May 26. There will be eight 90-minute classes. Cost is $19.50. Further information may be secured from the Corte Madera store.

ARE YOU A PATSY FOR BURGLARS?
DON'T BE

DON'T leave keys under welcome mat, atop ledges, etc.
DON'T leave house in darkness. Use night lights.
DON'T neglect to report suspicious strangers in neighborhood.
DON'T forget to change locks when moving to new premises or after loss of keys.
DON'T forget to notify police when going on vacation.
DO ask for household inventory booklet from your local independent insurance agent, list household contents and you won't have to trust to memory if burglary occurs.

YOUR Independent Insurance AGENT
SERVES YOU FIRST

Your Marin County Independent Insurance Agent is listed on Page 265 of the Yellow Pages.

ATTORNEYS
— you be the judge

The case: legal notices in the I-J vs those in any other publication in Marin.
The evidence: in the I-J an attorney's firm name goes into 45,000 homes daily. His name is seen, noted, remembered. In other publications his name is seen by but a fraction of the families who subscribe to the I-J.
The question: if you wanted your firm name to become familiar, to be REALLY known, which publication would you choose?
The judgment: "Are you kidding?" All of which demonstrates that a legal notice in the I-J is also a legal notice of YOU multiplied by 45,000. And that's kinda nice!

Hanging Basket SPECIALS!

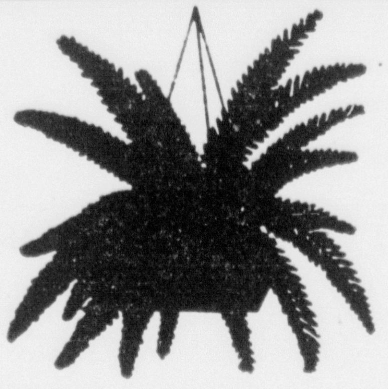
Good selection of large, vigorous plants. Suspend them from a porch roof, the eaves of your house, an arbor, patio overhead, or even from trees. Keep them moist and fertilize often for best results. WATERING TIP—To ensure the necessary complete moistening of soil in your hanging baskets, periodically immerse the plants—baskets and all—in a tub of water.

Complete with redwood basket—Just take 'em home and hang 'em up. Your choice

Regular $5.95 now $4.29

Fuchsias

A favorite hanger—many colors—profuse bloom—likes shade.



Asparagus Fern

Lotus

CARE FREE GERANIUMS

F1 hybrid, the status symbol of flowering plants, brings new distinction to geraniums with introduction of the carefree strain. It took a little doing. Hybridizers of the Pan-American Seed Co. of West Chicago worked at it for eight years, but it was worth the effort. They came up with eight colorful varieties that grow true to color from seed and which develop into robust, superior plants as hybrids should. All of the virtues of hybrid breeding-vigor, abundant flowering, and disease resistance—put the Carefree in a class by themselves.

Plant them generously in your beds and borders and brighten your window boxes with a few.

Regular $1.50
4" POT Now $1.19

AZALEAS

These evergreen azaleas will grow in shade or filtered sunshine. They are now in bud and bloom and are available in choice of beautiful colors.

COLOR • COLOR • COLOR

MARGUERITES

Yellow, white and pink. One of the most popular perennials. Beautiful in the garden, excellent as a potted plant. A favorite for long-stemmed cut flowers. Rapid growing. Flowers to 2½ inches across. Reg. 1.50

$1.19

PELARGONIUMS

Commonly known as Martha Washingtons. Large 2-inch-across, brilliantly marked flowers — bloom in clusters. A perennial shrub that seems to be made for potting. Pinch tips back to encourage bushy growth. Can be planted in a planter.

$1.19 4-inch pots
Regular 1.50

May Day Precedent By Breshnev

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev gave a precedent-breaking May Day speech in Red Square today as the Kremlin sought to play down its military image in the wake of the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

For the first time the annual worker's parade past Lenin's Tomb was not preceded by a military display, and Brezhnev replaced the Soviet defense minister as the speaker for the occasion.

Ambassadors from the nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization were present. They had boycotted the last big Red Square celebration, on Nov. 7, the anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution, as a protest against the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

The Communist party's general secretary, coatless on a beautiful spring day, refrained from direct attacks on the United States, China or any other country. The closest he came was to express "the sympathies and support of the Soviet people" for "the patriots fighting against imperialist aggressors in South Vietnam . . . the Arab peoples fighting against imperialism . . . the men of the liberation armies in Angola and Mozambique."

Brezhnev told the crowd of 10,000 packing the square that the Soviet government is dedicated to the relaxation of international tensions, the settlement of international questions by negotiations and to peaceful coexistence.

He praised "our powerful armed forces" and said the country "will spare no means in its defense." But references to the military were only a small part of his 20-minute speech.

Signups Slated At Santa Rosa

Early registration for the six-week summer session at Santa Rosa Junior College gets underway Tuesday and will continue through May 17. Summer classes begin June 19 and end Aug. 1.

Present students, high school graduates and June graduates may register in advance of the session. In addition to a wide variety of academic courses, the college will offer a college readiness program intended for students from ethnic minorities with educational deficiencies.

Class schedules will be available at the registrar's office in Bailey Hall with registrations taken daily from 12:30 to 4 p.m.

Morphine Stolen At Medical Office

A glass container of morphine was stolen during Monday night from the Permanente Medical Group offices at 4 G Street, San Rafael, by a burglar who entered through an alley window, police said yesterday.

The stolen morphine amounted to a regular dose.

Congressmen Worry Over Food Cost Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several congressional economic experts say the government must do something about the unexpected rise in the cost of food now predicted for this year if inflation is to be controlled.

But there was no agreement on what to do, with solutions ranging from possible wage-price controls to a revamping of federal farm subsidies.

The Agriculture Department said this week that earlier forecasts that food costs would rise this year 2 to 2.5 per cent were being revised upward. An official said the figure would more likely be about 3 per cent.

Food prices last year jumped 4.3 per cent. The pric eof food makes up 20 per cent of the overall cost of living, which climbed 4.7 per cent in 1968, the biggest jump since the Korean War year of 1951.

One congressman, Rep. William B. Widnall of New Jersey, indicated the unexpected rise in food costs are the result of a general inflationary psychology. If it continues, he said, "I am afraid we'll see the last thing I want to see—direct controls on wages and prices."

Another member of the committee, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., said the administration's goal for containing inflation this year allowed for too much increase to begin with, and the rise in food prices would push it still higher.

"The Agriculture Department's absurd policy of subsidizing wealthy corporate farms not to grow crops causes food prices to rise," Reuss said.

Panel Wants To Keep Job Centers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee has approved and sent to the floor a resolution asking the Nixon administration to postpone its decision to close 59 Job Corps centers.

The resolution, if approved, would put the Senate on record in asking for delay until Congress acts on the full antipoverty program later this year. All closings are to be effective by July 1.

The vote was 10-6 with Democrats in the majority on the party-line vote. The proposal could come up for debate in the Senate by the middle of next week.
